4 A.M. RUSH BY BUILDING LOT BUYERS

SLIGHTLY HURT when the car in which they were riding turned over several times at the five-mile turn on Highway 28 Saturday night, Arthur Crossman (on stretcher) and Bill Allen (sitting up) were taken to Civic hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises. Crossman was thrown out when the car landed right-side-up in a laneway (top photo). Another passenger, Carl Ainsworth suffered a bloody nose. Damage to the car, driven by Crossman, was estimated at $600. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

40 Lots Sold In 2 Hours For $64,725

Real Estate Rush To Purchase Lots On Hatton Property

In one of the most spectaeular real estate operations in Peterborough history, the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation within about two hours this morning sold 40 residential lots in the Manor Heights subdivision on the old Hatton property, southeast of Civic hospital. Total value of the lots sold was $64,725.

The Central Mortgage office on the second floor of the Cherney building on George St. resembled a land office in the old days of the opening of the West this morning as prospective purchasers crowded in to take advantage of the corporation's "first come, first served" policy.

The first buyer was on hand at 4 a.m. By 6 a.m. there were six people waiting to get into the office. By the time the office staff arrived at 8 a.m., there was a two-deep line-up down the stairs and out on the sidewalk.

When business started, the procedure was something like the war-time practices of candy stores when sugar was rationed. As each buyer entered the door, he was handed a numbered card indicating his place in the order of preference.

98 LOTS OFFERED

Then each person registered at the counter and the man with number one card was given first choice of the 98 lots offered for sale. Four girls were on hand to prepare offers to purchase and four men handled sales, so that the corporation was able to deal with eight purchasers at the same time.

Before 10 a.m., the last of the 40 offers to purchase had been signed. From then on, it was a matter of people calling to see what properties were left for sale, indicating that sales will be much slower from now on.

The Manor Heights subdivision lies north of Charlotte St. between Gordon St. and Dobbin Ave. and runs north to the north side of Walkerfield Ave. Lots sold included all but one of the

No Resident Licenses

TORONTO —(CP)— The Ontario government has no intention of introducing resident fishing licences, it was reported during the weekend. The idea was mentioned in a white paper presented at the legislature recently by Lands Minister Gemmell. The legislature's standing committee on fish and game, which will consider the white paper, has turned the plan down several times in the last few years.

Man Charged With Murder Of His Wife

TORONTO (CP)—Harvey Snider 23, early today was charged with murder in the strangling of his 22-year-old wife.

Police said that, in answer to a telephone call, they went to the couple's four-room brick bungalow in suburban Swansea at 12:20 a.m. and found the body of Mrs. Shirley Snider in a bed.

They said a three-year-old girl, whom the Sniders had recently adopted, was asleep in the bed beside the body of her mother.

Police said the Sniders had been married about six months. They believed Mrs. Snider had been dead about two hours when they arrived at the home.

PRIEST CALLED POLICE

Sgt. A. McLean of Swansea police said first word of the slaying came in a call from a priest at St. Michael's Roman Catholic cathedral that a man had told him he had killed his wife.

Officers went to an address given by the priest—a bungalow in the suburbs—and found it in darkness.

They said they found a door open, however, and they went in and found the dead woman and the baby. There were bruises on the throat which police said they believed had been caused by a pair of hands choking her.

Officers said the room where the woman's body was found showed no signs of a struggle. The child was sleeping peacefully.

Nehru Rejects Offer Of U.S. Arms Aid No Longer Neutrals

By SELIG HARRISON

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today rejected President Eisenhower's offer of arms aid for India and demanded the withdrawal of American observers with the United Nations cease-fire team in disputed Kashmir. By giving military aid to Pakistan, Nehru told parliament, the United States had intervened in the Indian-Pakistani fight over the Himalayan state and the American observers therefore "can no longer be regarded by us as neutrals."

At the end of 1953 the United States had 14 officers with the 48-member UN military mission supervising the Kashmir office.

Eisenhower's offer of American arms aid "has done less than justice to us or to himself," the premier declared, continuing:

"If we object to military aid being given to Pakistan, we would be hypocrites and unprincipled opportunists to accept it ourselves."

FOR DEFENCE ONLY

Announcing the aid to Pakistan last week, Eisenhower said the United States would give "most sympathetic consideration" to any request from India for such help. In a letter to Nehru he also assured India that the United States will see to it that Pakistan used the arms for defence only.

Nehru today made public his three-paragraph reply, thanking the U. S. president "for your personal message" and saying his government will continue to follow its present policies "which are based on a desire for peace." India now buys her arms where she pleases and does not accept direct arms aid from foreign governments.

Other than this, however, the letter made no specific mention of the U. S. arms offer.

"I have no doubt the president is opposed to aggression," Nehru said, commenting on Eisenhower's assurance that the aid to Pakistan would not be misused.

"But we know from past experience that aggression takes place and nothing is done about it. Aggression took place in Kashmir six and a half years ago and thus far the United States has not only not condemned it, but we have been asked not to press it in the interests of peace. Aggression may well follow in spite of the best intentions of the president and then a long argument will ensue on what exactly is aggression."

DEPARTURE LIKELY

American officials here said the withdrawal of U. S. personnel from the Kashmir cease-fire mission was a matter for the UN secretary-general to decide but they predicted Washington probably would

Fifteen Killed In Accidents During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three men killed when their car crashed into an elm tree on a highway near Hamilton were among 15 persons killed accidentally during the week-end in eastern Canada.

The car collided with another before it went off the highway and crashed into the tree. Dead are: Stanley Brezack, 35, Hamilton; William Greenburg, Toronto; and Raymond James Wolfe, 31, Fort Erie.

Ambrose Stainplecoskie, 36, of Barry's Bay and Felix Recoskie, 4, of Whitney, Ont., were drowned Saturday in Aylen lake, 100 miles west of Ottawa when their jeep pick-up truck broke through the ice two miles from shore.

In Swansea, a Toronto suburb, Mrs. Harvey Snider, 22-year-old mother, was found strangled to death. Later, her husband was charged with murder after talking to a priest at St. Michael's Cathedral.

WOUND FATAL

Leronzo Laberge, Jr., 32, died of a bullet wound soon after a revolver his father as cleaning in their Wakefield home discharged accidentally. The coroner said no inquest would be held.

At Hamilton, Joseph Menel, 34, was killed when two cars collided on wet pavement. Five other persons were injured.

Marsha Lynn Kelly, 2, was killed at Sault Ste. Marie when she walked into the path of a passenger train at a level crossing.

Mrs. Jean Oldacker, 62, Toronto, died at Aurora when she walked in front of a car. Frederick Block, 30, of Port Credit, near Toronto, was killed when his auto left the highway, jumped a curb and slammed broadside into a hydro pole.

Car Crashes Into Ditch Three Men Hurt

When the driver of a northbound car became dazzled by oncoming lights at 12.45 a.m. Sunday, the car went out of control at the five-mile turn on Highway 28 S., and rolled over in the ditch.

The three occupants, all Peterborough men returning from the Junior "B" hockey game in Port Perry, were injured.

The driver, 31-year-old Arthur F. Crossman, of 714 Water St., was thrown out of the car as it rolled over three times in the west ditch. But he escaped with only a cut on his head and body bruises.

The three hockey fans were returning from the game in Crossman's 1951-model car. As the northbound vehicle started around the sharp right turn, Grossman became dazzled by the headlights of an oncoming car and couldn't see the highway.

The car hit the west shoulder of the highway and then bumped along the ditch for 120 feet. It rolled over three times and stopped on a driveway, right side up and facing east.

Crossman was tossed 10 feet from the car but was not seriously hurt.

The car had both the roof and right side smashed. Damage is estimated at $600.

OPP Constables Thomas Armitage and Wallace Mohns investigated.

Triple Murder, Suicide Mother Shoots Family

ROCANVILLE, Sask. (CP) — A triple murder and a suicide were reported by RCMP today in this town 123 miles east of Regina.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Effie M. Hewitt, 49; her husband, Cyrus; a son, Basil, 19, and a daughter, Elaine, 15. Another daughter, Carol, 12, was slightly wounded.

RCMP said Mrs. Hewitt shot other members of the family and then turned the gun on herself.

CIO-CCL Ask For Check-off

BRANTFORD (CP)—A resolution asking that the Ontario Labor Relations Act be amended to provide for check-off of union dues was passed at a week-end meeting of Local 458, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL).

At Toronto Sunday night, the Canadian Manufacturers Association said a CCF bill in the Ontario legislature that calls for the compulsory checkoff is "unwarranted interference with free collective bargaining."

Syngman Rhee Threatens War

PUSAN, orea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today again threatened to use force to unify this war-battered, divided country.

"We shall surely join hands with our brethren and march up to the borders of our ancient homeland again," Rhee said in a speech prepared for delivery on the 35th anniversary of Korea's declaration of independence from Japan.

"We hope that our Allies will stand with us and will march with us," said the South Korean president. "But if they do not join with us, we shall have to go forward alone."

Rhee's address did not mention the April 26 Geneva conference called by the Big Four powers to take up the question of Korea's unification and the Indo-China war.

A Korean public information office spokesman said the speech was prepared before the Big Four decided in Berlin to hold the Geneva conference. All the nations which fought in Korea have been invited, but South Korea had not decided whether to attend.

Rhee has warned repeatedly the South Korean army would attempt to drive the Chinese Reds out of North Korea if unification of the country is not achieved at a political conference.

Pope's Condition Slightly Improved

VATICAN CITY (CP)—The Pope for the fourth consecutive day was reported by Vatican sources "very slightly improved today." These sources said he had spent a "fairly good" night.

There was no official announcement on the health of the pontiff, who marks his 78th birthday Tuesday. It will also be the 15th anniversary of his election as Pope.

Special prayers and other spiritual offerings for his recovery continued today. They began two days ago and end Tuesday with solemn high mass in St. Mary Major Basilica.

French Success In Indo-China

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — The French claimed new successes today in flushing Vietminh rebels out of the key Red River lowlands of north Indo-China, with 92 rebels killed and 114 captured.

A French army communique said tanks and other mobile units scattered one Red commanded Vietminh battalion in a sharp daytime fight in the Phu Van Dinh sector, 30 miles south of Hanoi. The French union forces had "light losses," the announcement said, while 92 Vietminh were killed and 98 captured. The French picked up nearly 100 abandoned guns.

Bucket Brigade Fails To Save Burning Home At Hall's Glen

HALL'S GLEN (ENS)—Despite the effort of a 100-man bucket brigade, a family of seven were left homeless today when their eight-room frame home, a mile east of Hall's Glen was gutted by fire. Homeless are a former Newmarket family, Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Watson, and their five boys, Roy, Bazil, Ian, David, and Robert. Besides losing their home, they lost most of their furniture, which all amounted to an estimated $7,000 damage.

As flames consumed the remains of the Watson home, their neighbors were making plans for relief. Wesley Rogers, a neighbor, took the Watson family home while others planned a fire shower to raise funds for possibly rebuilding the home and supplying some furniture.

CHILDREN AWAY

Only Mr. and Mrs. Watson were home when the fire was first noticed at 10 a.m. Mr. Watson, an American Nepheline Mines employee, was sleeping upstairs while his wife was cleaning the house. Four boys were at school while Basil, the oldest, was at a neighbor's.

Mrs. Watson went downstairs and found the kitchen filled with smoke. She woke her husband, saying that the chimney was on fire.

At the same time a call was sent throughout the neighborhood by telephone and also to Warsaw

Gloomy Outlook For Shipping

MONTREAL (CP)—Shipowners said Sunday the outlook for the coming season on the Great Lakes is gloomy unless foreign countries start some heavy buying to clear glutted grain elevators in Montreal and Lakehead centres.

Grain ship operators commenting on prospects of an early port opening, said that when the first lakers get in a trip or two the ships will be idle because of the slow movement of grain from overstocked elevators.

Last year scores of lake ships were idle for long periods here because they were unable to get their cargoes discharged.

One operator said 10 lake freighters are in port here still holding more than 1,000,000 bushels of grain from last year. Several more freighters are tied up in Prescott, first grain elevator west of Montreal.

Three of these must discharge their cargoes in Prescott as they are too large to navigate farther down the river, shipowners said.

It was reported unofficially that grain ships may delay their season until sufficient grain is shifted from downriver elevators to overseas markets.

Parents Jailed For Neglect

BARRIE (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bradnam, convicted of neglect in the death of their baby son when fire gutted their cottage, were sentenced in magistrate's court today.

Bradnam, 30, was given nine months in the Ontario reformatory, and three months indefinite. His wife, Betty May, 25, drew nine months indefinite. They were convicted Feb. 22 of "unlawfully exposing a child under two years whereby his life is endangered."

The couple's eight-month-old son, Andrew, died in a fire at their cottage near Collingwood, 75 miles northwest of Toronto Feb. 12 while the parents were away. Testimony at the hearing was that Bradnam and his wife were in Wasaga Beach and Elmvale drinking beer from morning until afternoon the day of the fire.

Their two other children, aged four and three, were rescued from the flames by Leonard Pitt, 9, and David Scott, 10, who were passing the house, saw the fire and heard children crying.

Report McNulty Seriously Ill

EDMONTON (CP)—Frank McNulty, convicted arsonist and murder suspect stricken with polio while in jail last week, was slightly improved but still in serious condition in hospital Sunday.

McNulty was placed in an iron lung after being removed to hospital from nearby Fort Saskatchewan jail, where he was lodged pending the outcome of his appeal against a three-year sentence for arson in connection with an attempt to set fire to the Calgary Salvation Army hostel.

He is wanted on a murder charge concerning a fire Nov. 15 which destroyed the St. Thomas YMCA and killed two men.

Renewed Opposition Check-off Legislation

TORONTO (CP)—Renewed opposition to any form for union dues checkoff legislation was expressed recently in representations by the Canadian Manufacturers Association to Premier Frost.

The association said a CCF bill calling for the compulsory checkoff was "unwarranted interference with free collective bargaining."

"If the process of removing bargaining issues from collective bargaining is begun," the association said, "the tendency will be for it to continue until there is no real collective bargaining."

Jeep Cracks Ice Two Drown

BARRY'S BAY, Ont. (CP)—Ambrose Stamplecoskie, 26, of Barry's Bay and Felix Recoskie, 44, of Whitney, Ont., were drowned in Aylen lake, 14 miles northwest of here Saturday when their jeep pick-up truck broke through the ice two miles from shore.

Joe Stamplecoskie, Ambrose's 10-year-old son, and Martin Stamplecoskie, 31, both of Barry's Bay, escaped drowning.

The three men and the boy were heading for the northern end of the lake to fish for lake trout through holes in the ice when the vehicle broke through. Barry's Bay is 100 miles west of Ottawa.

"There was no warning," said Martin Stamplecoskie. "The jeep just cracked through and sank."

Sentence Balcombe To Hang For Murder Of Quebec Girl

CORNWALL (CP)—Second Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24, convicted Saturday of murder in the October stabbing of a 21-year-old girl from the Quebec City district and sentenced to be hanged May 25, plans to appeal. Within minutes after the death sentence by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer ended the six-day trial, defence counsel J. M. P. Kelly of Ottawa announced he will appeal the conviction and sentence.

Balcombe, married and the father of two children, was arrested at Komoka near London, Ont., Oct. 28, three days after the knife-slashed nude body of Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville, Que., was found face down in a ditch 35 miles west of here. The girl's family said Balcombe previously offered to divorce his wife and marry the girl but she refused him.

UNIQUE CASE

Army authorities said they cannot recall any previous case since Confederation of a civilian court sentencing a serving officer in Canada to be hanged.

Capt. Raymond Savoie, who represented the adjutant-general's office at the trial, reported the verdict to his superiors in Ottawa.

It was reported that, if Balcombe is executed, he will not go to the gallows as an army officer. Action

News Dealer Released

CORNWALL (CP) — Edward C. Bryan, Cornwall news dealer sentenced to 10 days in jail on contempt of court charges arising from publication of magazine stories about the slaying of Marie Anne Carrier, was released from his sentence Saturday.

He was taken into custody after the jail term was imposed Friday.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, who presided at the trial which convicted 2nd Lieut. Peter Balcombe, said he granted the release in view of Bryan's good standing in the community. He said he believed the deterrent aspect of the sentence had been fulfilled.

Will Release Balcombe From Terms Of Service

OTTAWA (CP) — An army spokesman said today that 2nd Lieut. Peter Balcombe will be released from his commission and terms of service if he fails to win his appeal against a murder conviction.

The spokesman said no action will be taken pending the appeal. However, army regulations provide that an officer may be "released" from service on conviction by a civil power.

St. Laurent Says West Should Be More Modest

By WILLIAM STEWART

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the Western world perhaps should be "a little more modest" about its accomplishments.

He made the statement to a group of Colombo newspaper men at a three-quarter hour press conference held in the office of Canadian high commissioner James Hurley.

The Canadian leader said in two weeks in Asia he has seen some of the "marvellous" achievements of vanished Asian civilizations.

He recalled that on the outskirts of New Delhi in India he was shown an iron pillar that has withstood rust for more than 2,000 years.

"This iron pillar is of almost absolute purity," he said. "We can't produce that.

"It would perhaps be a good thing for us in the West to be a little more modest about our accomplishments," he said.

He was asked many questions about Asian and Middle Eastern political problems to which he replied in most cases that he had not sufficient background to express an opinion.

When one newspaper man asked if control of the Suez canal should not be turned over to a European, Middle Eastern, and Asian commission, he replied: "Perhaps I should be sitting where you gentlemen are and you here answering questions."

He told questioners once again that he does not believe war will occur.

He denied the suggestion that the purpose of his visit to Asia was to mediate India-Pakistan disagreements. "It sometimes happens that those who want to be mediators are known as meddlers. I don't want to be a meddler."

He added there was not the slightest suggestion on his part of trying to influence Prime Minister Nehru. Prime Minister Nehru, he said, was "very delicate" about not trying to exercise influence over him.

The prime minister said there is a growing recognition that too great a disparity exists between Eastern and Western living standards.

Govt. Tries Keep Public Order In Seething Egypt

By ROBERT HEWETT

CAIRO (AP)—The Egyptian government strove to keep public order today following the return of ousted president Gen. Mohamed Naguib as chief of state and a new outbreak of mob violence. All government universities—past hotbeds of mob action—were ordered closed indefinitely after wild demonstrations Sunday in which police wounded 12 rioters. One police officer also was hit by a shot from a student. The police opened fire as disorderly, slogan-shouting crowds of young people surged toward Republican Square from all over the city to cheer Naguib, their popular hero. The display of force nipped the demonstration before it endangered the country's shaky military regime.

Naguib, waving and smiling, appeared on a balcony at the presidential palace and appealed in an impromptu speech for "moderation and forgiveness."

Facing the first anti-government riots since the army overthrew ex-king Farouk 19 months ago, Naguib and the man who supplanted him briefly last week, Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, patched up their differences enough to make a show of unity.

VISITED VICTIMS

Then the two visited wounded riot victims in a hospital. There demonstrators, who had screamed against Nasser a few hours before the shooting, kissed him.

A joint statement Sunday by the cabinet and the revolution council said "some vicious elements and opportunists tried to exploit this national jubilance (over Naguib's restoration) in achieving their vicious aims."

This obviously referred to the underground Communists and members of the recently outlawed Moslem brotherhood. Both groups took advantage of the confused situation to come out into the open and try to stir up violence. A communique said a demonstrating student arrested was found to belong to the brotherhood.

In his unscheduled speech Sunday, Naguib promised that a "constituent assembly and parliamentary life will be restored to the country very soon." Later, however, a council spokesman told reporters such steps are "matters that concern the ruling government and revolution council." The council announced last year that elections would be held after three years of interim council rule.

Naguib took a sideswipe at Britain in his speech, saying the "enemy was profiting from the discussion in Egypt.

Duke Drives Unnoticed

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, wearing sports clothes and dark sun glasses drove unrecognized through the packed streets of Melbourne Sunday.

Thousands admiring the city's decorations took no notice of the car which left Government House through a rear gate. The duke was at the wheel. He had with him his private secretary Lt. Cmdr. Michael Parker, and Parker's brother Peter, whose home is in Melbourne.

They drove to the Naval and Military Club, played squash for about an hour, then back to Government House—and again nobody took notice.

PC Member Harvey Dies In Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—W. B. Harvey, 47, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Nipissing, died in hospital today after suffering what is believed to have been a cerebral haemorrhage Sunday night.

Mr. Harvey, a North Bay automobile dealer, was in Toronto for the current session of the legislature.

He was first elected to the legislature at the provincial election in 1948 and was re-elected in 1951.

TOULOUSE, France (AP)—Nine persons were killed and 14 injured Sunday when a cog railway train packed with Sunday skiers was derailed as it sped down a steep grade in the French Pyrenees mountains.

First reports said the train's brakes failed 3,700 feet up the mountain. The speeding train jumped the tracks, skidded over a pile of rocks, then plunged into a 1,500-foot ravine.

The fire fighters formed a bucket brigade and attempted to get some of the Watson furniture out of the flaming building. But the wind whipped the fire, filling the house with smoke and forcing the men outside. The buckets of water, taken from the barn, about 100 feet away from the house, were useless against the fire as the wind caused the fire to spread quickly. The only furniture rescued was a sewing machine, a buffet and several other minor items.

Within an hour the fire had levelled the Watson home and a small wood shed, attached to the kitchen.

At the height of the blaze, Mr. Watson became hysterical and attempted to enter his home to save his belongings. Three men were finally forced to put Mr. Watson in a nearby car. He got out several times and finally someone had to stay with him there.

A preliminary estimate of the damage was placed at $5,000 for the house and at least $2,000 for the contents. It is unknown how much insurance was carried, if any.

Polio, Strikes Interrupt Royal Tour

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—A polio scare and a waterfront strike today interrupted the smooth progress of Queen Elizabeth's Australian tour.

The Perth royal tour schools committee decided to meet tomorrow to discuss revision of plans for the Queen to review a large gathering of schoolchildren on April 1.

Western Australia has 25 polio victims, including Mrs. Kim Beazley, wife of a member of the federal parliament. Two weeks ago, she shook hands with the Queen in Canberra. Two suspected cases of polio were admitted to hospital in Canberra today. Sports events have been cancelled and children's activities restricted.

THEATRE VISITED

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh have been given injections of gamma globulin, a blood derivative which is supposed to strengthen resistance to polio. Today they were greeted by cheering crowds, after a 36-hour break from official engagements, when they visited Melbourne's Princess theatre to see the national theatre perform Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman."

But the royal stay in Melbourne was marred by a union call to dock workers to halt work on the royal liner Gothic and 42 other vessels in the port, in protest against the suspension of 19 co-workers.

The men working on the Gothic quit but were later ordered by their union to resume loading the vessel.

Thousands watched Sunday as the royal couple drove from St Paul's Cathedral, where they attended services, to Melbourne's Shrine of Remembrance, where the Queen lit an everlasting flame in memory of the dead of the Second World War.

"The number of sales is certainly gratifying to us," The Examiner was told by John Wocker, Peterborough manager of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. "It was just about twice as many as I had hoped for. I feel very happy that we're going to have so many more people in Peterborough who own their own homes."

ANXIOUSLY AWAITED

The opening up of the Manor Heights subdivision has been anxiously awaited in the city ever since the first of the wartime houses on the old Hatton property was torn down to make way for a new residential development. With a pleasant view of the city from the heights commanded by Civic Hospital, the subdivision promises to be a first class residential area.

Certain restrictions imposed on building plans reinforce this indication. The minimum floor area in a bungalow is to be 1,000 square feet, a 1½-storey house 1,250 square feet and a two-storey house 1,500 square feet.

PRICES VARY

Lot prices vary according to size and location. They range from $1,050 to $1,825. Average frontage on the property is between 60 and 70 feet.

These conditions and the fact that the subdivision is already serviced with streets, sewers and water are thought to have led many prospective home-builders to hold off a choice of site until the Manor Heights lots went on sale today. The fact that there were no lots sold before this morning led to the scramble for the choicest locations.

NO ADVANCE OFFERS

"In spite of rumors to the contrary, we didn't give any consideration to advance offers," Mr. Wocker said. "It was strictly first come, first served. Sales were limited to one lot to a customer; the only exceptions were cases in which a buyer wanted to build one house on two lots or two buyers wanted to build two houses on three lots."

Whether or not the boom in sales will lead to an immediate rush of building is uncertain. The corporation has stipulated that building must get under way within six months of their acceptance of the offer to purchase and houses must be completed within 18 months of the starting date.

But in any case, building will not get under way before April 1. The corporation has 14 days within which to accept the offers signed today; following that, the purchasers have another 15 days in which to seek clear titles to the land so that the sales cannot be closed before the end of this month.

Building on any of the lots other than those sold today would not get under way before May 1 because of the fact that the corporation's policy is to close all sales at the end of the month and the 29-day waiting period would carry over into May.

delayed, however, pending the outcome of an appeal.

To strip him of his rank might be The British-born Balcombe did not testify on his own behalf.

The chief justice took two hours and 40 minutes to deliver his address to the jury, comprising six farmers, three millhands, a mechanic, a salesman and a butcher. He said there was no possibility of a verdict of manslaughter in the case, that the choice was between guilty of murder and not guilty.

PART-TIME CWAC

He reviewed in detail the evidence for the crown and for the defence, beginning with the last time Miss Carrier, a typist by day and a member of a reserve army mixed unit in Quebec City some week nights, was seen alive in Quebec the night of Oct. 14.

He said two things stood out boldly from the evidence: that it was the body of Marie Anne Carrier that was found stripped of its clothing and that the clothes found in a cabin near Woodstock were hers, "not thrown aside carelessly, but put in an attic where they might never have been seen for years."

He traced from the evidence Balcombe's movements from an apartment he had rented near Quebec City at 9 p.m. Oct. 14, to Montreal at 2 a.m. Oct. 15, to Colborne at 8:30 a.m. and to the cabin near Woodstock at 2 p.m. Oct. 15.

The defence had contended Balcombe did not have time to commit the crime and reach these various places at the time he was seen.

MISSING HOUR

The chief justice took road mileages from point to point and said that, with an average speed of no more than 50 miles an hour, there was at least an hour not accounted for.

"With the clothing in that cabin, is there any possibility that someone took the clothes from this little girl and left them in the cabin the accused took—is there any other rational conclusion that it was anyone but the accused?

"Why was a married man giving Anne Carrier an engagement ring?

"Why did he rent a cabin at two o'clock in the afternoon and stay all night when he was only 50 miles from home where his wife and family waited? He told Clayton, the cabin operator, he was going to drive to Western Canada. Why was he, if he was the man who rented the cabin, telling Clayton lies?"

The chief justice told the jury: "The evidence points overwhelmingly towards the accused, but you are the sole judges of the facts."

The jury deliberated three hours and 47 minutes.

Balcombe, a dashing figure in his immaculate officer's uniform, was asked by the chief justice if he had anything to say before sentence was passed. He replied simply:

"No, my lord."

Observe Week Of Brotherhood In Synagogue

Beth Israel synagogue was filled to capacity Friday night with Christians and Jews who were marking Brotherhood Week in Peterborough.

Rabbi A. M. Babb said: "Jews and Christians by their very profession are dedicated to the strengthening of human brotherhood. This they can accomplish when they know and understand each other better."

He quoted a Chinese proverb: "When men come face to face their differences vanish".

"Friends—Jews and Christians—may differ," said Rabbi Babb. "Their views may be divergent. But you and I, Christian and Jew, are brothers. We have only drifted apart."

The Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United church represented the ministerial association.

Turning to Scriptures, Mr. Douglas recalled the stay of Joseph in Egypt. He told his brothers what they needed but did not possess: freedom from want, economic security, justice, material prosperity and an abundant harvest.

Mr. Douglas said that Canadians are in a favored position and should help out other less fortunate peoples.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist church read the scripture lesson.

Man Charged

Neighbors took care of her overnight and police said she would probably be put in the care of the Children's Aid Society later today.

Neighbors said the couple had lived in the bungalow for about six months.

Police chief James Lovell of Swansea said he had reports the couple had been involved in an almost continuous domestic squabble since they were married six months ago.

Neighbors, however, said the family "appeared quite happy."

Snider appeared in court today and was remanded in custody to March 4 when he will appear in New Toronto county court.

Police found Mrs. Snider's naked body lying diagonally across the bed. They said a St. Christopher's medal on a light chain was found underneath her body and a torn undergarment was lying nearby. St. Christopher is the Roman Catholic patron saint of travellers.

THOUGHT CHILD DEAD

Police at first notified the coroner that both mother and daughter were dead. They had found the child lying quietly beside her dead mother and were unable to feel a pulse. More than an hour later one of the officers noticed the child had shifted its position. Only then did they discover the little girl was only sleeping.

John Snider, father of the accused, described his son as a "doting husband."

"He was crazy about her and adopted the Roman Catholic faith so he could marry her. Little Linda was nearly three when they were married and I think he loved her more than he did her mother," he said.

Chief Lovell said Snider gave a statement to police after he was charged with murder.

The couple was married in St. Michael's rectory here last September. The slain woman's daughter, Linda Lee Holmes, was born in April, 1951. Police said Mrs. Snider had no other relatives and she was a ward of the Catholic Children's Aid Society and that her child had also been a ward of the society for a time.

Father of the accused said the couple lived a "strange life" before their marriage.

"Both were doing two jobs, working night and day, before the wedding. Then she just kept the day job and he went on with both," he said, working at city hall by day and as assistant manager of a suburban theatre at night.

"They had an argument on their honeymoon . . . they came back after three days."

Naguib Unpopular With Sudanese 100 Rioters Injured

By ZEIN NAGATI

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Police bullets beat off a wild attack on the British governor-general's residence today by yelling Sudanese tribesmen brandishing steel-tipped spears in a demonstration against visiting Egyptian President Mohomed Naguib. At least 20 persons were reported killed, including the British police commander, Col. H. S. McGuigan, and six of his men. More than 100 persons were wounded, 30 of them critically. Authoritative sources reported the Sudanese police chief, Brig. Martada el Mahdi, among the victims.

SHOUT "GO OUT"

Later the crowd outside Howe's home refused to obey police orders to disperse. Fearing a clash between the two factions, the police first used tear gas, then opened fire.

Several wounded remained lying on the pavement.

The city was tense as ambulances shuttled between the scene of the clash and the hospitals.

Authorities said that the disturbances were obviously started by the Umma Party headed by Sir Abdel Rahman El Mahdi, which opposed union between Egypt and the Sudan. The Umma faction was defeated badly in the first Sudanese parliamentary elections last November in which the pro-Egyptian National Unionists triumphed.

Egypt and Britain agreed a year ago to give the upper Nile Sudanese territory self-government by 1956 and to let it vote by then whether to unite with Egypt—as Egypt demands—or be independent.

The clash came after more than 30,000 demonstrators agitating for and against Naguib massed in the capital. Members of the pro-independence Umma party, brandishing spears and shouting anti-British and anti-Egyptian slogans, marched on the home of Governor-General Sir Robert Howe, where Naguib was being entertained after his arrival by plane from Cairo.

SEVEN SPEARED TO DEATH

Sudanese police, under British officers, first tossed tear gas grenades at the pressing crowd and then opened fire when the tribesmen charged with outthrust spears. The seven slain policemen fell before the spear charge.

Naguib came here with Egyptian Guidance Minister Slah Salem for the inaugural session today of the Sudan's first parliament. After the fighting, the governor-general announced the ceremony would be postponed indefinitely. Salem was one of the men who helped engineer Naguib's ouster last week.

Five Persons Killed In Explosion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Five persons, including three children in a neighborhood lunch room, were killed Sunday night when a violent explosion destroyed two buildings in a crowded section of south Philadelphia.

A 17-year-old girl, trapped for six hours in a public telephone booth under the mountain of rubble escaped unharmed. Twenty others including four firemen, were injured.

The blast of undetermined origin occurred in one of the most densely populated areas of the city. Deputy fire chief George E. Hink said it was "amazing" that the death toll was not higher.

The roofs of two adjoining three-storey brick buildings were lifted into the air, turned half way around and dropped on the rear of the structures. Not a wall was standing when firemen arrived and flames licked at the pile of debris. Some 500 persons were routed from their homes and Red Cross authorities estimated 50 families were sheltered for the night.

APARTMENTS UPSTAIRS

The buildings housed the lunch room and an adjoining jewelry store. The upper stories contained apartments.

The dead included the proprietor of the lunch room, Isadore Pearlman, 50, and three young customers. The bodies of Bruce Schwartz, 9, and Salvatore Baladino, 6, were found under the soda fountain. The body of 15-year-old Marie Marone was uncovered nearby.

The fifth victim was Mrs. Fanny Rudolph, 45, who lived in an apartment above the jewelry store. Her husband, Samuel, 45, suffered cuts and bruises.

The impact of the explosion bent an electric sign across the street into a U-shape. Windows for blocks were shattered. Patrons of a nearby theatre were shaken but remained in their seats.

The pelts now bring less than a dollar each, but Mr. Little remembers when $25 was average for a good pelt, with some running as high as $30.

Talk Our Way Into A Depression?

The Hon. George Drew, leader of the Opposition, told a Montreal audience of businessmen that merely because businessmen tell some rather depressing facts of business will not bring about a depression. True, as was his reminder that in 1929 the Great Depression was preceded by the most optimistic talk on record. "It was not because there were not enough warnings that such warnings as there were went unheeded".

An important difference between 1929 and this year is that now it is not the business men who are talking optimistically, but Government officials. Businessmen have been somewhat pessimistic. In 1929 they were the great boosters. They were wrong in 1929; they could be wrong this year. There are very good reasons why Government might be on the right track. The Ottawa Citizen remarks:

> Yet a depression depends on more material factors than the intangible of gloomy conversation. Among other things, it depends on shelves overstocked in relation to market conditions, as in textiles. It depends on shrinking markets abroad, perhaps due to the inability of foreigners to sell here; on insufficient earning power among the majority of people, who cannot absorb their own production; on the proportion of government spending in the economy. There can be no doubt whatever that public spending during and after World War II has been a major factor in maintaining full employment in the West. But a depression certainly does not depend on conversation. Its prevention is not to be found in silence, but in policies designed to broaden markets and to create work and wealth.

It is the business of business to do business; it is the business of Government to watch, to plan, to assess, to direct on a national scale, to keep affairs in balance. Business might have brought on the Depression in 1929, and Government, through lack of foresight internationally as well as nationally, might have abetted it. This is certain: business did not end the Depression. It was government policy and action that did—Roosevelt's New Deal, defence necessities and the like.

We are inclined to believe that if Government says that it sees no reason for, or certain signs of, a depression, it is not an idle boaster. (There is no Federal election in the offing; so politicians on the Government side do not need to pretend to good times ahead in order to make voters feel well.) Since the ablest economists and smartest financial policy experts in Canada are in Government, not in business. The Canadian Government and its senior civil servants in trade and finance are in intimate touch with world conditions—much more intimately than private business can be. The judgement of Government on these matters should therefore be pretty sound.

Another reason to accept the Governmental view is this: Government, not business, controls broad policies which can make or mar an economy; and it is the Government which has money to spend if the spending of money is a necessary stimulant to faltering economy.

It is not without significance that businessmen in the United States were crying havoc, and stock market prices reflected their pessimism. Then up spoke Government, in the person of the President. He said his Administration would not permit the welfare of the people to suffer, nor conditions to deteriorate. Up went stock market prices, and the voices of doom became less portentous. Government today in most Western countries is so big and powerful and important, because the industrial society is so complex, the Welfare State so pervasive and the impingment of foreign affairs so sharp, that Government above all, knows the tune and can call it.

Let's Persecute Another Town, For A Change

Why is Toronto persecuted, the butt of snide jokes, the recipient of nation-wide calumny? We shall not go into all the reasons here, and remark only two things: the bart-thrower is likely himself to feel inferior, that is why he is sour. Another reason is: Toronto is the hub of materialist Canada, the Canada that puts up churches and prays at the altar of dollars; works so hard six days in the week that it can only snooze in church. Toronto is so big and successful in these things that we all share in it. Everybody goes to Toronto sometime in his life, if only to see the monster his calumny has created. So we all have a share in Toronto. So we can criticize to our heart's content.

We think that Toronto should have a brief reprieve from unkind cuts—until April 1st, anyway. Toronto is in labour: creating of itself a big new Metropolitan Area, and digging itself into the bowels of the earth—by subway. These are both big things and we should keep decent quiet before them. Let the chromium and moving stairs and flossy coaches of the subterranean Toronto have a brief day of unpersecuted glory; we ought to be able to bottle up our criticisms until the subway is opened at the end of next month.

Meanwhile, since spleen must have an outlet, why not turn its flow to other towns? Not to one's own city, of course. That is always perfect, the finest town in Canada. But take Oshawa, for instance. What is the matter with Oshawa? Easier to answer what is good about Oshawa; you could do it in one breath—it has a highway bypass now. Poor Oshawa. Think of all those beautiful homes strung out on Number 2 highway. Who but misguided Oshawans, dispirited, uninspired, unimaginative, would put their finest residences along the busiest highway in Canada?

That is just one point. There is lots of time between now and April 1st to tear Oshawa to shreds; we shall hold our breath now—but lick our chops. One of the joys in tilling new pastures is that it freshens one's appetite. People have got dull and humorless in their Toronto jibes. Have a go at Oshawa, everybody. It's handy enough to the big city to be able to get back to it on the dot of April Fool's Day.

Highest Incomes

The three highest-paid professions in Canada are law, medicine and consulting engineers and architects (grouped together). Income tax return statistics compiled by the Department of National Revenue show each year one or the other of these groups at the top of the income pile. The last year for which figures are available is 1951; they appear in the 1953 green book of tax statistics. Lawyers head the list for that year, with a declared average income of $10,214. This compares with the preceding year when consulting engineers and architects were on top with an average of $10,995, doctors were second and lawyers third.

The latest revealed order is lawyers, medical doctors and surgeons ($9,975) and consulting engineers and architects ($9,628). These are all tidy incomes, taken as an average by and large across the country; certainly handsome compared with the average income of nurses, who are always at the bottom of the list. Their average income in 1951 was $1,817, somewhat better than the year before, when nurses' average earnings were $1,660.

Our readers may be interested in the average incomes, as declared for taxation purposes, of some other classes of workers. The latest tabulated figures (for 1951) are, (from fourth place down): Accountants $8,171; Dentists $6,287, Investors $6,244, Business Partners $5,689, Sole Business Proprietors with employees $5,123, Salesmen $4,831, Forestry Operators $4,774; Osteopaths and Chiropractors $4,700, Deceased $4,491, Fishermen $4,306 (this seems a high figure, considering stories one hears of the poor pay of Maritime fishermen), "Other Professional" (other than Deceased and Entertainers, we presume) $4,225, Farmers $3,748, Entertainers $3,371. So the list goes, down to Nurses. All "Employees" had an average income of $2,884.

There is a sub-classification of income taxpayers—those who are straight wage-earners, whose average income was $2,884 as stated above. Among these, employees of municipal governments rate highest ($2,940), the armed services come second with $2,932; employers of business enterprises third with $2,911. Employees of the Dominion Government had an average income during the year of $2,879 and those of "Educational Institutions" (these would be mainly teachers) had an average income of $2,839. Below them are Provincial Government employees, workers in agricultural enterprises and others unclassified. Incidentally, the average income of employees of "Educational Institutions" was higher than it was the year before; then it was $2,644.

How truthful these general statistics and averages are of the real situation we cannot say. They are, we remind our readers, compiled from what income taxpayers say on their forms; and they do not include people who paid no income tax.

NOTES AND COMMENT

That a band of Pakistani bagpipers greeted our French-Canadian Prime Minister in Karachi amply proves how far the tartan noose is flung.

'Women Hold Key To The Future', says a heading in the Belleville Intelligencer. Sure she really has it—or is she simply looking for it in her purse? If the latter, don't count on that future.

Venture In Cooperation

By CYRIL DUNN

A REMARKABLE essay in Anglo-American co-operation — the £37,500,000 oil refinery built at Fawley, in Southern England, on the edge of Southampton Water — is studied in a report just issued by Research Services Ltd. The huge refinery, completed two years ago, was built for the ESSO Petroleum Company. More than five thousand British workers were on the site when the work was at its peak. And the men in charge of the job were Americans.

THE PROJECT was an immence success. In a country with no great reputation for high-speed building, this job was finished almost six months ahead of schedule. Unofficial and on-the-spot labour troubles, usually stirred up by shop stewards, have afflicted at least two big construction sites in Britain — one of them the Anglo-Iranian refinery site on the Isle of Grain, in the Thames Estuary. But at Fawley, in two years there was not one major stoppage of work due to labour disputes. Stewards, including some known to be under Communist influence, were frustrated; trouble on the site was replaced by an exemplary union-management relationship.

HOW was it done? The researchers concede that the project had a good deal of fortuitous help. American materials and equipment could be paid for in dollars. When the project was started, materials were easy to get. Because it was of dollar-saving importance to the British economy, the job had the support of the British Government. But when allowance has been made for all these aids, the achievement is due to an exceptional mixture of American methods and the British industrial way of life, and to American drive, which most of the British workers seem to have found acceptable, and, in many instances, actively enjoyable. Indeed the drive seems to have had a rather more disturbing effect on one or two British company executives than it had on the labour force.

FROM the start, a conscious effort was made to reduce the complexity of this vast project. Most of the work was given to one big contractor — the American Foster Wheeler Corporation, with its British subsidiary — and sub-contractors were kept to a minimum. All labour was engaged under one contract, with one body — the Confederation of shipbuilding and Engineering Unions (C.S.E.U.) — representing labour.

FOR ALL crafts on the job there was one unified system of wages. The basic day wage was a high one, though not exceptionally so, and there were no piece rates. Extra payments usually made in this country — boot money, dirt money, money for working in a trench, and so on — were taken as covered by the day wage. This simplified system minimised friction between the men, and between management and men, besides reducing the work of calculating wage payments.

THE single labour contract established lines of authority for negotiating on labour questions. The researchers found that Foster Wheeler were prepared to listen to any statement of grievance from the men's stewards on the site. But where it was not an issue which could be settled quickly and amicably, they held that it became one for discussion with the area officials of the union concerned, and that the stewards' right to concern themselves with it ceased. They refused at all times to receive deputations of workmen led by the stewards.

THE MANAGEMENT at Fawley gave support to, and possibly enhanced, the authority of the union officials. The report comments on the "unusually smooth" co-operation between the management and the unions, and on the striking personal relationship between Mrs. R. W. Jones, Southampton secretary of the C.S.E.U., and the American project manager, Mr. Bob Cole.

A GREAT deal of the success at Fawley was evidently due to Mr. Cole and to the Standard Oil engineers who spent most of their time on the site. Mr. Cole is presented in the report as a man of great energy and firmness, who kept himself fabulously well-informed about the detail of daily progress on the site. He toured it every day, usually alone, and spent out of doors every minute he could spare. He drew up a daily instructions bulletin, sometimes containing fifty items, astonishing in their range and concreteness, and disclosing something like an all-seeing eye. "Ten tippers were idle at eight o'clock this morning with no drivers," one of them read. "At 8.05 there were still six. All trucks should be rolling at eight." The instructions were commonly addressed to individuals. One of them read simply: "Mallory, What happened to the radial saw?"

CONTACT with the project manager, the report says, was always easy and informal. And nobody on the site was ever heard to call him "Mr." Cole. Fawley had a high ratio of supervisors to workmen, among them craft supervisors from America. The report says this was not so much to keep an eye on the men and prevent them from slacking, but to make sure that there was always enough work for them to do and that they knew how to do it. Some of the men told the researchers that "the Americans pushed things all the time." But others said they had worked no harder than usual; some went so far as to say it was the easiest job they had ever been on.

WORKING hours were strictly enforced. There was a tea break ("a somewhat reluctant concession to a firmly rooted British habit," the report calls it), but it was kept rigidly to ten minutes. But in spite of this driving most of the men interviewed talked about the unusually pleasant atmosphere the Americans had given the job. The theme of most of these comments was that the American supervisors treated the men as equals and did not give themselves the airs of a superior class. They kept the same hours as the men and were continually on the site, not in the office. And they were ready to give a hand with the work. "They muck in," said a young pipe-fitter, "and an English foreman wouldn't do that."

EVEN the way the Americans talked, and the clothes they wore were found to have contributed to good relations. They wore tartan lumberjackets, fur-collared weather coats, brilliant pullovers and strange headgear normally seen only at the cinema, helping thereby to lift the job out of the drab English scene, and to keep people good-humoured. There was, says the report, a minimum stress on the symbols of inequality, without in any way minimising the supervisors' considerable authority.

THE MAIN concession made by the Americans at Fawley was found in the welfare arrangements on the site, described in the report as "lavish." These, the report says, were dictated by British traditions and the shortage of labour rather than by ideas imported from the United States.

An American Opinion: THE MONKEY ON HIS BACK

West Germany's Military Planning

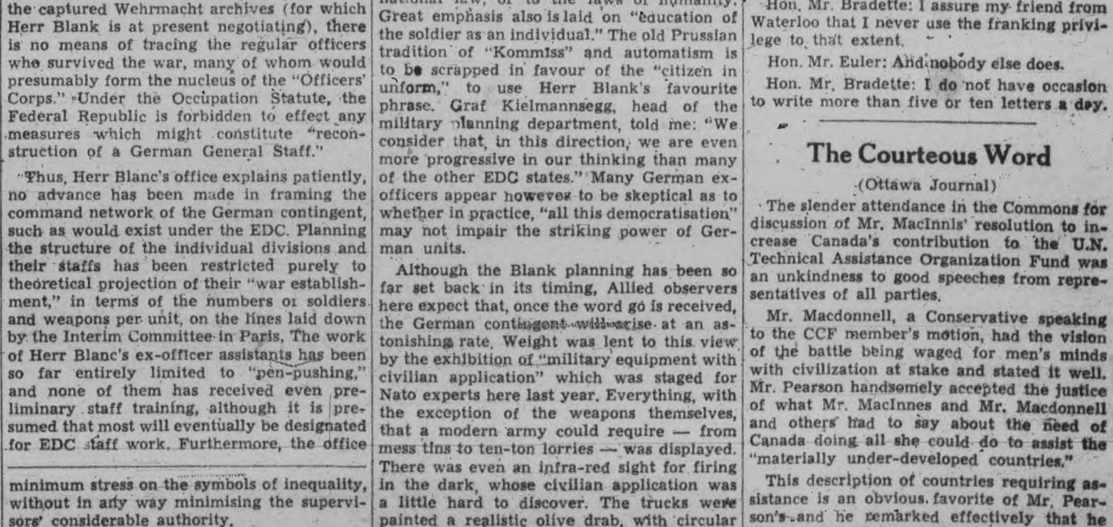
By A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

REPORTS from Paris that French opinion is stiffening in favor of the European Defence Community as a result of the Berlin conference deadlock has given new heart to the Western German Government's military planners in Herr Theodor Blank's Defence Office here.

Shortly after the signature of the EDC Treaty in May, 1952, the Blank Office predicted that by the beginning of this year, 1954, they would be able to present the first of the planned twelve German divisions, fully equipped, to take its place in the European defence system. In fact, as a result of a series of apparently endless delays on the political plane, not a single German soldier has yet been recruited, and some of Herr Blank's officers must have wondered if all their efforts were to be in vain.

In spite of the delays, planning has been carried ahead with great intensity and zest, in the teeth of monumental difficulties. Owing to the total disintegration of the Wehrmacht (German army), all planning has had to start from scratch, and even the legality of German rearmament as a whole is undecided. Until ratification of the treaties by the EDC countries, Her Blank can carry out no recruiting. The Bundestag (West German Parliament) has still not resolved the problem of whether conscription is allowed under the Constitution. Unless the Allies agree to return the captured Wehrmacht archives (for which Herr Blank is at present negotiating), there is no means of tracing the regular officers who survived the war, many of whom would presumably form the nucleus of the "Officers' Corps." Under the Occupation Statute, the Federal Republic is forbidden to effect any measures which might constitute "reconstruction of a German General Staff."

Thus, Herr Blanc's office explains patiently, no advance has been made in framing the command network of the German contingent, such as would exist under the EDC. Planning the structure of the individual divisions and their staffs has been restricted purely to theoretical projection of their "war establishment," in terms of the numbers of soldiers and weapons per unit, on the lines laid down by the Interim Committee in Paris. The work of Herr Blanc's ex-officer assistants has been so far entirely limited to "pen-pushing," and none of them has received even preliminary staff training, although it is presumed that most will eventually be designated for EDC staff work. Furthermore, the office is not permitted to project any weapon development or experimentation.



Restrictions on recruiting have not, however, prevented large numbers of Germans from volunteering their services already for the future contingent. About 120,000 applications have been received, in wide fluctuations according to prevailing prospects of the EDC. The peak was reached after Western Germany ratified the treaty last May. Applications have now exceeded the proportion of regulars planned for the 500,000-man contingent, but Herr Blank wishes as large a reservoir of volunteers as possible, so that recruitment for the "regular army" can be highly selective.

The draft of an entirely new military law has occupied much of the attention of the Blank planners. Eventually, a common code will be adopted for all the EDC members, but as this is not expected to be ready for at least two years after entry into force of the EDC, each country is preparing its own interim code. Due to the confusion caused to German military thinking by the war crimes edicts, completely new principles on the question of obedience and the acceptance of orders had to be evolved. Instead of the blind obedience hitherto expected of every German soldier the present draft law requires that a soldier refuse an order if his conscience dictates that it is contrary to international law, or to the laws of humanity. Great emphasis also is laid on "education of the soldier as an individual." The old Prussian tradition of "Kommiss" and automatism is to be scrapped in favour of the "citizen in uniform," to use Herr Blank's favourite phrase. Graf Kielmannsegg, head of the military planning department, told me: "We consider that, in this direction, we are even more progressive in our thinking than many of the other EDC states." Many German ex-officers appear however to be skeptical as to whether in practice, "all this democratisation" may not impair the striking power of German units.

Although the Blank planning has been so far set back in its timing, Allied observers here expect that, once the word go is received, the German contingent will arise at an astonishing rate. Weight was lent to this view by the exhibition of "military equipment with civilian application" which was staged for Nato experts here last year. Everything, with the exception of the weapons themselves, that a modern army could require — from mess tins to ten-ton lorries — was displayed. There was even an infra-red sight for firing in the dark, whose civilian application was a little hard to discover. The trucks were painted a realistic olive drab, with circular holes cut in the roof for the eventual sitting of an anti-aircraft machine-gun. It is obviously open to conjecture whether planning as a whole has not in fact gone beyond what is permissible under the strictest interpretation of the Occupation statute, and with a certain degree of Nelsonian approbation from the Allies.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it. For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? . . . Verily I say unto you, There be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom. (Mat. 16:24-26, 28.)

And after six days Jesus taketh Peter, James and John his brother, and bringeth them up into an high mountain apart, and was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light. And, behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elias talking with him.

Then answered Peter, and said unto Jesus Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, one for Moses, and one for Elias.

While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him. And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were sore afraid.

30 Letters A Day?

(Commons Hansard)

—Hon. Mr. Bradette:

In my calculation I have allowed each member of Parliament a maximum of 30 letters per day for six days a week, making a total of 180 letters a week.

Hon. Mr. Euler: May I interrupt my friend? He has calculated on an average of 30 letters per day for each senator and member of the House of Commons. Does he really think any parliamentarian writes an average of that many letters each day? I think he is giving the maximum.

Hon. Mr. Bradette: I assure my friend from Waterloo that I never use the franking privilege to that extent.

Hon. Mr. Euler: And nobody else does.

Hon. Mr. Bradette: I do not have occasion to write more than five or ten letters a day.

The Courteous Word

(Ottawa Journal)

The slender attendance in the Commons for discussion of Mr. MacInnis' resolution to increase Canada's contribution to the U.N. Technical Assistance Organization Fund was an unkindness to good speeches from representatives of all parties.

Mr. Macdonnell, a Conservative speaking to the CCF member's motion, had the vision of the battle being waged for men's minds with civilization at stake and stated it well. Mr. Pearson handsomely accepted the justice of what Mr. MacInnes and Mr. Macdonnell and others had to say about the need of Canada doing all she could do to assist the "materially under-developed countries."

This description of countries requiring assistance is an obvious favorite of Mr. Pearson's and he remarked effectively that he did not like to say only "under-developed countries" because they might have material shortages but in other ways be highly developed.

Men do not live by bread alone nor by technical assistance and dignity and pride must be preserved by such undertaking phrases if we are to go forward in democratic peace as equals.

Old Records May Be Spared In Conflagration

GODERICH (CP)—County officials said that a fire which destroyed the century-old Huron county court house here Friday night may have spared irreplaceable old records of county life which dates back for more than 100 years.

But they won't know until Tuesday when the record vaults are expected to be opened. A safe company official warned that the heat inside the vaults might still be so intense that the documents would burst into flame if the air were allowed in.

Modern documents not stored in the vaults—including information on police cases, unemployment insurance, cheques, and correspondence—were destroyed as the big building in the centre of this Lake Huron port burned down.

POUR WATER

Clerk-treasurer A. H. Erskine said he told firemen to pour water on vaults in four corner offices when it was apparent the building could not be saved. Sheriff Nelson Hill said he opened his vault Sunday and found it "just the same as when I locked it up."

The old court house was slated to be demolished next year to make way for a new county building. Clinton has offered to provide land for a new building and has asked the county's 24 municipalities for support.

Goderich officials offered the use of an old high school as a temporary headquarters and county officials move in today.

The new county building is expected to cost $500,000. The old one was insured for about $75,000. It cost £4,000 to build in 1854.

A FLORIDA CATCH—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols of Selwyn in company with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Melville Beatty are holidaying in Florida and in a letter received by Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald, Mrs. Nicholls stated that they had spent some time at Miami and had done some fishing and she sent along a picture of their catch. The large fish are called amberjacks and weighed 40 pounds each. They caught five of these and one barracuda, a smaller size fish. They plan to return home in March.

LITTER QUEEN — Queenie, a beagle from Wheeling, W. Va., set the canine world on its ear when she gave birth to these nine pups. It is rare for a beagle of her type to bear so many pups.

A Community Fund Agency

Salvation Army Works To Save Shattered Lives

The Salvation Army means little to many people more than a band and some obscure connection with down-and-outers.

But the Salvation Army is more than a musical group, more than a church, and more than a social agency. For many Army is the last hope before the end of the line in human degradation and misery.

The Salvation Army is one of the 10 agencies supported by the Red Cross and Community Fund which is asking for $100,000 in its 1954 campaign. The drive this year starts March 8 and lasts for two weeks.

Tramps and broken people can look to the Army for real help when they need it. The Army gives practical aid and showing Christianity in action work to repair shattered lives.

And after the Army has given practical help it attempts to get these people to affiliate with a church, not necessarily the Salvation Army.

In 1953 more than 1,000 free meals were given out by the Salvation Army in Peterborough. Family counselling and rehabilitation of broken lives was also provided. The aim, said commanding officer Major Horace Roberts, was "to change men's lives by the word of God."

STRENGTHEN COMMUNITY

The Salvation Army mobilizes most of its artillery to help those without faith, those ostracized by society, and those at odds with themselves and the world. They need their share of the Community Chest's objective to make useful citizens of Peterborough's outcasts and thus make the whole community stronger.

Many of these outcasts come before the police magistrate for a variety of petty and squalid crimes. On hand at almost every session of magistrate's court is retired Army Major Harry Everitt. Major Everitt operates on the old but generally unpractised theory that most every man is salvageable, and that a society which does not do a salvage job is not only unchristian but is slitting his own throat.

One could not estimate what effect Major Everitt and others like him have had in their endless pilgrimages to court, jail and reformatory. But many say they would have drifted into a life of crime if they had not been rescued by tireless Army workers.

Modern man's worst enemy, says Major Roberts, is drink. Much of the work of the Army is in patching up homes shattered by alcoholism. The Army tries to lure people away from the bottle, not so much by avowing that it's not right, but by showing how their lives can be better if better-controlled.

WORK WITH AA

There is some liaison between the Army and Alcoholics Anonymous and Major Roberts lauds the "excellent work" of this organization. But the AA, says the major, often does not go to "the very root of the trouble—the emptiness in a man's life which causes him to drink too heavily."

If you change the heart of a man, he can accomplish anything. This is the creed of Major Roberts and his corps of dedicated workers in Peterborough. The Army, then, is often a sort of clearing-house for those looking for some faith to cling to and who are often directed back to the faith they were baptized in "after we have tried to show them the way."

Of course, the Army is a church too, with more than 1,000 adherents on the rolls. Pews are generally filled for the Sunday services at Simcoe and Aylmer but this is not so important, relatively, as the rehabilitation and social-service work done by the Army, for it is this work that brings the people to church in the first place.

Another service provided by the Army is the care of unmarried mothers. There are 16 Salvation Army hospitals across the country mainly devoted to helping mothers get a new start in life. The Army also operates "Eventide Homes" for elderly folk without families and rivals the RCMP with its missing persons bureau.

Perhaps what makes the Army unique is its complete democracy in helping all who need help, and its complete lack of democracy within the group itself. Rigid Army discipline, says the major, is not provided "so we can play soldier" but so the Army can be strong enough to expand and help all who need help.

450 IN CITY

Each member of the Salvation Army, and there are 450 soldiers, NCO's and officers in Peterborough, is responsible to and takes orders from someone higher up in the Army hierarchy. Thus Major Roberts is responsible to the zone commander in Belleville, who holds the rank of brigadier. All the brigadiers, in turn, are under the Canadian Commissioner. The Commissioner takes his orders from the Army chief of staff in London, England, where Army policy is formed.

"We're just not interested in isms," declares Major Roberts. He sees the world split not so much in terms of totalitarian ideologies as in terms of the frustrations, yearnings and restlessness of a soul-sick human race. And he subscribes to the theory that it is futile to preach dogma to a man with an empty stomach or a tortured soul.

In essence, the Salvation Army is not a church but a sort of religious order, parallel to the Jesuits, within the Protestant fellowship. Salvationists can marry, (though not without the consent of their superior). And as with most orders, dogma does not intrude upon good works.

"Go for souls, and go for the worst," founder William Booth told his followers. This is still the clarion-call of the modern Salvationists. It is exemplified in the martial music of the Army bands, the soup kitchens for the very dregs of humanity, the proseletyzing in the slums.

NEEDS HELP

Because the Army cannot depend on its members, to provide the money to carry on its work, it must depend on the community. Major Roberts hopes that Peterborough citizens will rally round the Salvationists' banner of Blood and Fire.

Major Horace Roberts is a mild, soft-spoken man with more than a trace of a Scottish burr. If he weren't in uniform he might be a schoolteacher or a banker or a successful businessman. But he is none of these: "I'm a soldier and the battle is a long long way from over." But, as thousands can testify, because of the Army, the battle against squalor, neglect, broken homes, human misery and emptiness of soul is slowly being won.

Norwood Young Folk To Attend Rally

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Norwood United church Young People's Union met in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

Tom Starke led a sing-song, accompanied by Lorraine Girven. Velma Ivey conducted the worship service.

The service opened with a reading on "Faith and Evangelism," followed by a hymn. The scripture reading was read by Harvey Cuthbertson. Velma Ivey read a short story. The Rev. H. K. Wright led in prayer, followed by a hymn. Slides were shown and Mr. Wright led a discussion of them.

Gerald Ivey took over the business of the meeting. It was decided to drop the idea for a play. It was decided to send a card and basket of fruit to Margaret Clark, who is in the Civic Hospital in Peterborough after undergoing an operation for appendicitis.

The Young People will go to Lakefield as a group for their Mission Rally, Wednesday.

Man Killed, 7 Hurt In Bad Accident

HAMILTON (CP)—Joseph Menel 34, of Hamilton was killed Sunday night when two automobiles collided on wet pavement on highway 6 at nearby Freelton. Five other persons were injured.

Police said Menel was in a car headed for Hamilton with Edward Seraphin, 28, and Thomas Mazur, 40, both of whom were injured.

In the other car were Elmer Alexander, 49, of R.R. 1, Rockwood his wife, 48, both of whom suffered head and chest injuries, and their six-year-old daughter, Linda, also injured.

A motorist applied first aid until an ambulance arrived. Police said he was Kenneth Risdale of Guelph, a St. John's Ambulance Brigade man.

Rabbit Shoot, Russian Style Strenuous For Diplomats

MOSCOW (CP)—Hunters will go to almost any limit to engage in their favorite pastime, but a rabbit shoot—Russian style — was more than most members of the diplomatic corps in Moscow cared to handle.

U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen indirectly initiated the shoot when he suggested to the Russians that they resume the practice of bear hunts, organized by the authorities for the diplomats in the pulmier, less-restricted days.

There was no response to Bohlen's suggestion until he had gone to Berlin to attend the Big Four conference. Then the Swedish ambassador, dean of the corps, was notified by the Russians that a rabbit hunt had been organized.

The expedition involved a five-hour train journey, one-hour sleigh ride and one-hour ski tramp through the woods to the area selected for the hunt. The hunters would tote their own guns, skis and other equipment. The journey would begin at 4:30 a.m. and end at midnight.

Only four persons answered the call—two ambassadors, one counsellor and a first secretary. There were no Canadians or Americans among them.

"No guns," said the Canadians, "and it's too far to go to freeze as beaters."

Atomic Estimate

STOCKHOLM (CP)—An analysis of modern means of combat and the probable developments in ordnance has been made by the Swedish defence staff. In a published article they estimated the United States has probably considerably more than 1,000 atomic bombs and other atomic weapons, while the Soviet Union's stock of A-bombs may comprise a few hundred.

Bootlegger Is Again Thriving In United States

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The bootlegger is again enjoying boom times in the United States.

He's getting to be a big operator, just as he was in prohibition days. He is able to put up $25,000 to $60,000 for a still that will turn out 1,000 gallons of alcohol a day.

He has new lists of suckers eager to buy his cases of "smuggled" Scotch or Canadian whisky at cut-rate prices. He is again using counterfeit labels and tax stamps on a big scale.

The liquor industry says moonshine is being sold in parking lots, candy stores, gas stations, cigar stores, and by telephone. It says the bootleggers have henchmen working in hotels, apartment houses, business buildings and industrial plants all over the United States.

The post-war rise of the bootlegger has the regular liquor industry more than annoyed. Ralph Heymsfeld, 42, president of Schenley's and a spokesman for the industry, feels the government isn't doing enough to wipe out bootlegging.

"No one can say for sure how much illegal whisky is being sold," he said. "But I say you can go anywhere in New York—or any other major city—and buy bootleg whisky within 10 minutes. Anybody who wants it can get it."

ENFORCEMENT FUNDS LOW

Heymsfeld said the distilled spirits industry paid $1,840,850,650 in federal and state taxes in 1953, roughly $13.25 a gallon, but that the government spent less than 6-10ths of one per cent. of this revenue to enforce the liquor laws.

Heymsfeld thinks bootlegging could be cut down if the taxes on legal liquor were lowered, thus permitting it to be sold more cheaply. But he doesn't believe there is much prospect of getting the taxes lowered.

"The only way left to meet the moonshine menace is by stricter enforcement," he said. "We are considering setting up a number of pilot operations in which, in cooperation with government officials, the liquor industry can protect itself against bootleggers, just as banks hire pinkerton guards to protect themselves."

Junior Petes Win Over Pt. Perry To Stay In Series

Success crowned the efforts of Red Creighton's scrappy junior hockey warriors at Port Perry Saturday night, as they swept to a smashing 9-4 victory over Flyers in the fourth game of a best-of-seven final series for central Ontario junior "B" group supremacy. Smarting under a 3-0 series reversal, the battling league-leaders rose to heights to stun a packed house of fans — many from Peterborough — and left the Oshawa-Port Perry lads a leg-weary, beaten pack, at the finish. The fifth game is slated for Civic Arena tonight, when a new season's junior attendance record for Peterborough may be established.

"It was a great team effort all around, to keep us in the hunt for group honors, said manager and acting coach Dootch Vitarelli after the thrilling contest, while Red Creighton, whose three-game suspension ends tonight in the event of victory, was speechless with joy.

OPENED FAST

Play opened at a terrific clip both ways, with Delahey and Howe sharp at either end. Near the half-way mark, Gary Copeland broke the ice with Brodie and Romanuk, to score for Flyers with a 20-footer out front, on Brodie's rebound. Four minutes later, the midget lamplighters, Paul Doris, Gary Kearns and Bud McDougall, combined in a speedy sortie to draw abreast, as the latter caught the right corner. O'Connor was serving at the time, for interference. Flyers fought back, and tallied three, after the three-quarter mark, on neat tallies by Masters and Neil Attersley, the former with a backhander under legs near the crease with Frizzelle off, Dykstra and Copeland assisting, and the latter clicking near the cage in a wild scramble.

Paul Doris and his mates rushed furiously seconds later and the speedy, crafty winger, who registered three goals in all, made this first effort a beauty as he caught the mesh with an angle drive.

Continuing a blistering offensive in the mid-frame, the Petes capitalized on an early home penalty to Dunc Brodie, and Doris tallied twice in succession. The first was a 15-foot drive through a maze of players, the second a lovely play engineered by hard-driving Kevin Heffernan, who stick-handled down centre and flipped back to his flying mate to give Petes a lead they never relinquished. Kearns and Heffernan took the gate, but Gord Coyle, Lawrence Ball and Jerry Frizzelle held the fort as play reached a withering pace, with no quarter asked nor given.

THE PETES ROLLED

Gary Kearns potted a backhander at 6.04 with Heffernan still away; then Coyle came through in like manner a second before Heffernan's return, and the inspired Petes' knew no stopping. Later in the frame, however, Flyers scored one as Fisher combined with O'Connor to nip the left corner on a mad drive to the goalmouth. Despite a 5-3 edge in penalties, Petes outplayed Flyers by a good margin in the mid-stanza.

The final frame saw Petes display the finest defensive play of the season, coupled with an ingenious offensive at opportune stages that completely bewildered and decisively subdued their plucky but weary rivals. Playing fine positional, speedy hockey, with forechecking a specialty, Petes tallied three well-spaced markers from the sticks of Tim Hook from Gord Snape, Coyle from Heffernan and Frizzelle, and McDougall from Kearns and Doris to wind up an epic struggle. The first came with Johnson scoring at 6.36, the second as Coyle took a neat pass to skate in and outguess Howe, while the final goal proved a beauty on a three-way passing play that clicked effectively. Bob Delahey played brilliantly throughout, while his mates gave their best to a man. Masters, Copeland, Attersley, Fisher, O'Connor and Dyksta were best for Flyers.

Oshawa Wins Tourney Team Bowling

Oshawa team No. 25 captured the Molson's Classic handicap team bowling championship of Central Ontario here Saturday in all-day competition at Duffus' and Playfair bowling lanes. The winners rolled a total of 10,899, while another Oshawa team (No. 23) was second with 10,876. Campbellford No. 29 was third with a 10,808 total.

Oshawa No. 1 finished fourth with 10,[illegible]0, followed by Stirling No. 32 with 10,633, Peterborough No. 28 with 10,624, Campbellford No. 31 with 10,590, Stirling No. 34 with 10,561, Peterborough No. 26 compiling 10,553 and Oshawa No. 27 with 10,533.

The winning Oshawa team will be playing off with 11 other winning teams from all parts of the province at the Sportsmen's Show this month in Toronto.

Out of 34 teams rolling in the regional competition here were 10 from Peterborough, but Oshawa trundlers dominated the tournament, just as that city had won in the ladies' and men's competitions earlier at Oshawa and Campbellford in Molson Classic playdowns. There were teams here from such centres as Oshawa, Trenton, Brighton, Stirling, Campbellford, Lindsay, Peterborough, etc. The regional tournament was run under the direction of Toots Collins of this city.

KEEN CAGE ACTION AT SPS—St. Peter's senior and junior boy basketballers came through neatly here Saturday evening to defeat their Bowmanville and Port Hope rivals in group series, and they now meet Whitby and Uxbridge for the right to go into COSSA senior and junior "B" playoffs this spring. Some keen action in the second playoff at St. Peter's gym Saturday is shown under the basket, while below are seen (left) Dan Quinlan, starry junior SPS sniper; and (right) Ab Ryan, classy senior Saints' player, both turning in fine chores in the weekend games.

SPS Cagers Sweep Series In Junior And Senior Play

St. Peter's seniors trimmed Port Hope 69-38 at SPS on Saturday and St. Peter's juniors defeated Bowmanville 63-36 as both local cage squads captured their "B" group series handily. They now prepare for the next rounds with Whitby and Uxbridge to declare winners for the COSSA playoffs. A bantam exhibition here saw SPS win 67-26 over the Port Hope boys.

Ab Ryan was the big gun for SPS seniors as he dropped in 23 points in a fine showing, Quinlan being next high scorer with 13. Galvin got nine points, O'Rourke six, Fitpatrick and Braniff five each, and Newell and Feeley four apiece. Best for the losers was Kelly with 19 points. SPS led 25-22 at the half but racked it up in the last two quarters.

AN EARLY LEAD

St. Peter's juniors were in front 29-9 halfway through their playoff and also finished well. Dan Quinlan sparked their attack with 23 points, Ron Board also starring with a 21-point effort. Masterson was good for 10, Hickey six, and Allan three. Coldwell led Bowmanville with 14 points and Rittor was next with 12.

In the bantam exhibition, the Saints took a 24-10 lead at the intermission and coasted home in the last half. Tom Nolan was brilliant on the offensive for the victors as he hooped 24 points, all on field baskets, in the last half after getting 10 points in the first part. Eric Seidel was good for a total of 13 points, Len Collins 12, Ted Rankin six, and Martin and Kinlin two each. Kelly and Walden each got eight for the Hopers.

Shamrocks Get Goal Lead In Playdowns

Peterborough Shamrocks (sponsored by the Travellers Association) defeated Oshawa 5-4 in Port Perry on Saturday afternoon to open their home-and-home OMHA bantam "A" first playdown round. The victory gives Pat Doherty's local team a one-goal margin for the return playoff at seven p.m. Thursday night in Civic Arena, this game being followed at 8:30 by Barrie and the midget Shamrocks in their OMHA first playoff.

Play in Port Perry was keen all the way, fast, generally clean and real close from the opening faceoff until the final gong. Some Peterborough fans were on hand to cheer along the classy young Shamrock squad, which won the OMHA title before proceeding into provincial bantam "A" playdowns.

While all the winners from the goalie out turned in a first-rate effort, Drummond and McCarthy starred on the attack with two goals each while McFadden got the other. The Oshawa scoring was well spread around in the furious fray.

American Halfback Signs With Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jesse L. Thomas, 25-year-old halfback from Michigan State college, has signed with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union for the 1954 season, club president Ralph Misener announced Sunday night.

Thomas, who lives in Flint, Mich., plays both offence and defence. He weighs 180 pounds and stands five feet, 10 inches.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

General committee of the Memorial Community Centre met Saturday and named the following chairmen: Finance committee, Ford Warren; building, Lionel Browne; site, E. A. Outram; publicity, C. R. LaBlanche. They also chose an executive or steering committee from the general assembly as follows: Mayor Norman Graham, D. A. McGillis, Ford Warren, Lionel Browne, E. A. Outram, C. R. LaBlanche, Mrs. Weldon Fanning, Mrs. T. J. Carley, Charles Ray, Frank Buckland, Hurrell Dodds, Don Loucks, Alf Barber, Dick Ouimet, and one more to be chosen by the building committee chairman. A total of 15, which will be the hard core of the general setup, but responsible to the general committee.

* * * * * *

City Clerk Outram read and explained the legislative act on the Centre, passed in 1945, everything being laid down clearly, definitely and legally. It was pointed out that the building committee had to consist of seven persons, four to be named by the general committee and three from the city council. Other chairmen chosen last Saturday will select their own committees. The city hasn't yet been notified when the bill to take over a site in Morrow Park for the Centre will come up before the present Legislature, but such word is expected shortly. Chairman D. A. McGillis reported that already he had received a cheque of $1,000 for the Centre from O'Keefe's. He also invited members to go to Kingston next Sunday to inspect the arena there.

Junior Petes Stay In

Faced with elimination in Port Perry on Saturday night, the Junior Petes returned to form to trim Oshawa Ports 9-4 and earn it all the way. The victory kept them in the hunt, but they can't afford to lose any more or they've had it. Ports lead the best-of-seven group final by 3-1 now, and the fifth playoff is here tonight — a sizzler for sure. If the local lads hustle as they did Saturday, they should dump their doughty rivals again, as the P.P. players were plenty tired at the windup of the fourth fray. The Kearns-Doris-McDougall line in particular shone for the winners, with the defence strong and Bob Delahey in great goaltending form. But the team as a whole clicked and showed a hefty crowd why they finished the loop in top spot.

* * * * * *

Penalties hurt the Petes' cause in Kingston on Saturday night and they went down to defeat in the last game of the senior "B" schedule. Thus, they now go against Orillia Pontiacs in one semi-final set while Oshawa and Kingston face each other in the other bracket, both series being best-of-seven affairs. Oshawa finished in first place by one point over the Petes, while Orillia ended third and the Goodyears just got under the wire to catch the last playoff position. Our sawoffs start Wednesday here, second game being in Orillia on Friday and third here this Saturday. Rest of the series, if it goes all the way, has alternate games on Mar. 8-10-13-15. After four hard months of puck battling, 'tis money time. Yeah, playoffs are here.

Those Meanies Return

They call 'em Murder Incorporated around the pro wrestling circuit — the Mills brothers, Al and Tiny. Two huge hulks who sneer at rules, refs, rivals, police and public. Two miserable mat characters, but very tough guys, indeed. They show here Wednesday p.m. at the Brock in the main bout, a tag team scrap with huge Hombre Montana and Earl McCready opposing 'em. Fred Atkins is out after an injury last week, so Montana picked the driving-in and husky Earl McCready as his partner for this bout, and it shapes up as a hot one. Ike Eakins is matched with Golden Hawk (can't recall seeing either of those birds up this way before) in the semi-windup, while Toar Morgan is back after a lengthy absence to tackle Firpo Szybsko in the prelim.

* * * * * *

Bob Thorpe has reconsidered his decision to drop out as coach of the OLA senior Petes' Trailermen — thrice Mann Cup champions — and will be playing coach of the club and also manager this season. In addition, popular Bobby will be chief coach of the PMLA this summer, and the kids should get some first-rate tutoring in the fine points of the gutted-stick game from the chap who piloted Petes to the last two Canadian championships. It looks at the moment as if the senior loop will be pared down to four powerful packed clubs, the Petes, St. Kitts, Hamilton and Mimico. If so, they'll go in a 30-game schedule, opening the first week of May. Petes will pretty well stand pat on last year's champs, except that Denny Peterson will replace Ike Hildebrand this next campaign.

From The Old Grab-Bag

Sorry to hear of the death in Toronto of Joe Jebson, long-time chairman of the Memorial Centre Committee here; he was a conscientious worker on this oft-delayed project and keenly interested in it right up till his death . . . Oshawa team won the Molson Classic bowling tourney here on Sat'day . . . SPS junior and senior cagers came through to win series Saturday and advance in playdowns . . . Kingston Monarchs are only up five points on the intermediate Regents, the return playoff being here Saturday . . . Orillia puckists bowed 7-4 in [illegible]lla Villa to end their schedule . . . UCC beat Lakefield 6-2 . . . Montreal Jr. Canadiens and Hamilton meet tonight in Kingston in a replay . . . Kingston Captures Senior B Tilt Over Petes By 8-5

KINGSTON (Special)—It will be Kingston versus Oshawa and Peterborough versus Orillia in the Ontario Hockey Association senior "B" group semi-finals. These alignments were made official on Saturday night when Goodyears whipped the Petes by 8 to 5 in the Community Memorial Centre, and Orillia bowed to the Memos in Belleville 6 to 4.

Goodyears, strongly supported by a crowd of 3,653 fans, and paced by Kenny Partis, encountered stubborn resistance on the last night of the regular group race but were full value for their closing four-goal rush and decisive victory. Following two quick goals which forced a 4-4 deadlock early in the last period, the champions racked up four counters in less than 10 minutes, salted away the verdict and qualified to oppose the front running but stumbling Oshawans in the best of seven semi-final round.

The Petes also earned brackets by waging such stern warfare when handicapped by the absence of Gus Leonard who sustained an eye injury while playing against Goodyears on Friday night in the Liftlock City. The visitors left no doubt about their determination to win and cross the finish line ahead of the first-place Oshawans, but the onrushing locals were in no trifling mood and struck with dynamic force for six goals while the Petes were shorthanded through penalties.

Goodyears, who were assessed six of the 14 minor penalties meted out by referees J. Crombie and Bill Holway, were the more resourceful team and were not scored against when they were below full strength. Wily Ken Partis turned in his finest effort of the long campaign and electrified the crowd by scoring four goals. His alertness and deadly marksmanship were highlights of the show.

Goodyears held a marked advantage in letter-perfect team play and took full command of the situation during the last 15 minutes, notwithstanding the enforced absence of Joe Watts, one of their stalwarts. It was cohesion and not individual brilliance that made them so formidable in this outing. Nine players participated in the scoring exercises and Jack White, who was credited with five assists, skated with the elite.

Exhibiting marked superiority in territorial play, Goodyears were the more aggressive machine and would have reached double figures in scoring if goalkeeper Jack Donlevy hadn't turned in a sensational performance. Donlevy stopped shots delivered from all angles and distances whereas Ken Johnson had Peterborough's outstanding star. Goodyears, aided and abetted by an early penalty to Bill McMaster, forced the issue at the start, only to be balked by the cool and acrobatic Donlevy.

Peterborough: goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre, Prentice; wings, Fryia and Greenlaw; alts., Armstrong, Montgomery, Hill, Crowley, Belisle, Peterson, Collins and Munroe.

Playoffs Start All Leaders In Church Loop

All Saints blanked St. James 3-0 Saturday in the first game of their best-of-three Church Hockey League finals. Reid scored from Stephenson in the first period, Stewart added one next heat, and Davies counted in the third from Gilders and Reid in a clean game. Gatfield shone in goal for the winners, with Connors and Scholey best for Saints.

In midget sudden-death semi-final, St. James edged Park St. 5-4. Perritt scored in the first for Park St. as Elmsley and Patterson replied, Stevens helping on one. Ashby got the Saints' goal in the second, Scharfe and Davis counting for Park St., and Walling having an assist. Davis scored from Robinson for them in the third, and Huffman from Stevens for the other side. Huffan came though with the winner in overtime.

Another semi-final sudden-death tilt saw Mark St. sweep to a 9-1 win over George St. Hayman in the losers' goal suffered a broken nose in the first minute of play, being replaced by Tetlock, and the loss of the regular goalie made a lot of difference. Hawthorne got the losers' lone tally in the first from Trudeau and Dinsdale. Harding had two and Hendry and Grills one each in the first for Mark St., Innis and English getting an assist each. Hendry, Grills and Paul scored next heat, Dorrington and Hendry getting an assist apiece. In the third, Innis and Harding scored, paul helped once.

PEEWEES PLAY

St. John's peewees beat Knox 4-1 in a sudden-death semi-final, Scott scoring in the second for the only Knox marker. Dalliday and Welsh hit the mark for St. John's in the first, and Dalliday clicked for two in the third, Saints drawing all five penalties. Another peewee sudden-death between St. James and George St. ended in a 1-1 tie in overtime. Heard scored for Saints from J. Armour in the first and Milburn evened it in the third. This game will be settled at six tonight at Civic.

A midget game earlier to decide fourth place in the standing saw George St. Nose out St. John's by 2-1. Trudeau tallied in the second for the winners from Dinsdale and Lloyd, while Tetlock won it in the third. Falkner scored from Lustic in the third for St. John's only counter. George St. drew three of the five penalties. Further playoff announcements will be made within a day or two.

A "MUST" For The Petes!

Interest Mounting As Rangers Hard Press Bruins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's more than a simple question of mathematics. Should Boston lose a game or two while New York doesn't . . . Should the Rangers falter once or twice and the Bruins continue their present pace, it's all over. One team or the other is in. But there's another question: Can the respective coaches—and the lure of playoff money—keep their teams fired up for the last few games of the National Hockey League season? The Bruins are still that one big point ahead of the Rangers for the fourth and last playoff berth.

The Rangers ran cold and hot during the week-end by splitting a home-and-home series against the rugged Montreal Canadiens. They dropped a 5-0 decision to the Montrealers Saturday and came back with a 2-0 victory before 13,580 fans at New York's Madison Square Garden Sunday night.

BRUINS IDLE

The Bruins didn't play. In two other games, Toronto Maple Leafs, tied with Canadiens for second place, walloped Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 in Toronto Saturday and dropped a 2-1 game against the Hawks in Chicago Sunday night.

At New York, Ranger goalkeeper Johnny Bower registered his third league shutout as rookie Camille Henry and veteran Doug Bentley tallied the only goals of the night.

At Montreal, Canadiens struck for four goals in the first period and gave relief goaltender Jacques Plante his third shutout in seven games. The Rangers never looked strong in this one.

Maurice Richard scored his 34th goal of the season and the other counters went to Johnny McCormack, Jean Beliveau, Lorne Davis and Doug Harvey.

The Ranger defence sagged in the opening period and couldn't do a thing against the Montreal power. By the time the New Yorkers pulled themselves together it was too late.

OUT OF RUNNING

The Black Hawks, out of the Stanley Cup playoff running, were sharp and rough as they treated 8,406 hometown fans to their 11th victory this year. Jerry Toppazzini and Lou Jankowski beat Toronto goalkeeper Harry Lumley for the Chicago goals. Eric Nesterenko evened the score at 1-1 in the second period but the Hawks fought back.

In Toronto Saturday, it wasn't until the third period when Leafs scored three goals that Toronto was assured of victory. Leftwinger Harry Watson, with the 198th goal of his career, Nesterenko, Tod Sloan and Sid Smith accounted for the Leaf goals. Jankowski and Jack Price replied for the Hawks.

No games are scheduled until Wednesday, when the Rangers take a crack at coach King Clancy's Leafs in Toronto in the only tilt.

Sudbury Team Wins Skiing

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Sudbury's Nickel Teen Club won the team competition in the second annual Canadian junior ski championship during the week-end.

Halvor Shellesback, 19, of Vancouver won the senior Canadian jumping title.

Sudbury's victory, led by Jorma Tervo's record-breaking victory in the cross-country race Saturday, was conceded before the meet's concluding jumping contest. Chuck Austin, who placed second in the slalom and fourth in the downhill, won the combined championship.

Tervo, northern Ontario champion for the last two years, finished the cross-country in 22:30 minutes, more than seven minutes better than the previous course mark of 29:40.

Helen Weider, 13-year-old Collingwood skier, was the tournament's outstanding entry. She won both the downhill and the slalom in the women's division. Helen Wallace of Fort William was second in both events.

Possibility New Team In NHL Series

MONTREAL (CP) — The possibility of a second Montreal team in the National Hockey League was raised Saturday by managing director Frank Selke of the Canadiens who figured any new backers would need $500,000 to get the club well launched.

Selke told reporters junior and minor league hockey haven't been getting deserved patronage in Montreal and "it's no use trying to sell people something they don't want."

A new club would take over the franchise of the old Montreal Maroons, who retired from the league in 1938 and left the field to Canadiens. The dormant Maroon franchise is still owned by the Canadian Arena Company which operates Club de Hockey Canadien and farm clubs.

Selke made it plain there would be no dual ownership. Prospective backers of a NHL club would have to buy the Maroon franchise outright and be prepared to spend money in organizing and building up a team.

DRAFT SYSTEM

Selke said that with the proposed new draft system in the NHL, the possibilities for Montreal again having a second NHL team would be brighter. Under the draft each club would be able to protect only 18 players. No club could send a player to a minor pro league without getting waivers on him.

Selke also indicated he felt the parent company has done more than its share in providing player aid to both junior and minor pro—formerly senior—clubs in Quebec province.

The major point that has brought him to consider seriously the possibilities of a second NHL club is the tremendous demand for season tickets to Canadiens' games.

Thorpe To Coach Lacrosse Petes In A 4-Team Loop

Bob Thorpe has agreed to accept the post again of playing coach of the Peterborough Trailermen in OLA senior "A" competition. After he had twice piloted the Petes to the Mann Cup championship—they've won it three times in a row; once under Don Crowe—Bob last fall said he would play this year but not coach. However, he agreed at a weekend senior club meeting here to take over as coach again and will also act as manager, since Bob Curtin hasn't sufficient time for that job this season. During the summer months, Thorpe will be chief coach of the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association, as well.

He and Dr. Jack Epping will line up a coach for the junior OLA team, which will be operated this season by the senior club for the first time. Dr. Epping, vice-president of the senior club, will be president of the junior setup once more.

LIKELY FOUR

It was reported that Fergus Thistles must declare themselves this week or the senior league will go with four teams: Peterborough, St. Catharines, Hamilton and Mimico. As Fergus is not expected back, these four clubs will be packed with surplus players from such centres as Orillia, Brampton, Toronto, and Fergus. With the residence rule of March 1 put back in, Denny Peterson becomes the property of the Petes and they can also use any player living in Orillia as it is in their territory. However, president Bob Peirson intimated that the Trailermen would line up the same as last year, except that Peterson would replace Ike Hildebrand, who won't play lacrosse this year owing to injury and to NHL commitments.

"We should have four extra strong teams in this year," Mr. Peirson remarked after the meeting, "and, with playoffs due to start August 7, if it's a four-team league playing 30 games, we should start the first week of May. We would have five home-and-home games with each club."

NO WEAK ONES

Dissatisfied last year with some "weak sisters" in the strong circuit, and with Brampton defaulting games and folding up, the Petes' officials will be happy if four strong squads form the league this year, ensuring stiff competition. For instance, the good St. Catharines Athletics of last year could add four or five of their former players from Orillia, players of the calibre of the McNulty's, D'Amico and Croft. Hamilton and Mimico can get extra players through territorial rights from Toronto, Brampton and Fergus.

The Petes plan to put out season tickets (at $10) immediately, Bob Thorpe looking after this detail at present. Jim Fallen was added to the executive to join newcomer Ray Tanner, recently appointed to bring the slate up to 12 officers.

The local club has been assured that the OLA will air the Petes' claim for more Mann Cup money from the CLA at the annual meeting this spring of the Ontario body.

BACK AS COACH—Popular Bob Thorpe has agreed to again coach the Petes' senior lacrosse club this season, as well as playing, and he will also take over the managerial chores and head up the coaching staff of the PMLA this year. Thorpe twice piloted the Petes to the Mann Cup championship, after Don Crowe coached them to one title.

4 Titles Decided In Senior Badminton

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four of five 1954 senior open badminton titles were won or shared by a Toronto pair, Marj Shedd and Don Smythe, in the Canadian badminton championships.

Miss Shedd lost a share in the fifth when she and Bill Purcell, also of Toronto, lost to Mrs. Bardsley and Thompson 15-17, 15-8, 17-15.

Purcell and Joan Hennessy, also of Toronto, hold a share in the women's doubles and men's doubles titles with Smythe and Miss Shedd.

PLAYED THREE FINALS

Thompson, 1951 singles champion, played in three finals losing the men's doubles when teamed with Vancouver's Johnny Bouck and being edged 15-4, 4-15 and 15-12 by Smythe in the singles final.

Smythe's singles victory set a record as he became the first to hold the crown three straight years.

Quarter Finals In OHA Still Uncertain

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Would-be prognosticators aren't getting any co-operation from Windsor Bulldogs and Stratford Indians. On the basis of the first two games the outcome of their best-of-five-game Ontario Hockey Association Senior A quarter-finals is still a toss-up.

The Bulldogs, who were trounced 9-2 in the first game of the series Friday, Sunday evened the series by walloping the Indians 7-3. Home games may be the clue.

The Windsor loss was suffered on Stratford ice. The victory was in Windsor. Of the remaining games two will be played in Windsor, one in Stratford.

Referees called 72 minutes in penalties, including two five-minute majors and a 10-minute misconduct, in the hard-checking game.

GORDON GETS PAIR

Gary Gordon, with two goals, led the winners. Dick otanen, Gord Haidy, Earl Keyes, Clarence Jaster and Fred Hilddeband scored the other goals for Windsor. Stratford's tallies, all scored by defencemen, went to Lloyd Finkbeiner, Ron Ingram and Mike Delich.

Three games during the weekend wrapped up the regular schedule of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group. Pembroke Lumber Kings crushed Sudbury Wolves 12-1 in Pembroke Saturday while North Bay Trappers were edging Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds 3-2 in Sault Ste. Marie.

Sunday the last-place Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians scored a 3-2 home-ice victory over the Trappers but it didn't help.

Pembroke will meet the Greyhounds and North Bay takes on Sudbury in the semi-finals. Each is a best-of-seven-game series. Both start Tuesday.

Toronto Women Win Basketball

MONTREAL (CP)—University of Toronto won the women's intercollegiate basketball championship Saturday, defeating McGill 44-30 in the final of the two-day series in which four teams competed.

In an earlier game University of Western Ontario defeated Queen's 27-20 in the consolation half of the series. Each team lost in Friday's play.

Pat Demaray was high scorer for Western with 10 points, followed by Maxine Kole with eight. Norma Higgs led Queen's with 10.

Norwegian Wins World Slalom

ARE, Sweden (AP)—Stein Eriksen, 27-year-old Norwegian glamor boy, skied a bold, corner-cutting course Sunday to win the world's slalom championship with an unofficial time of two minutes, 20.06 seconds—five seconds faster than anyone else.

More than five seconds behind came Beni Obermueller, German carpenter from the Bavarian town of Rottach - Eger. Obermueller's total was 2:25.83.

Art Tommy of Ottawa made the best showing among the Canadians. He finished 28th in 2:42.01 with runs of 1:22.95 and 1:19.06.

Woman Ski Champion

ARE, Sweden (CP)—Ida Schoepfer of Lucerne, Switzerland, today won the ladies' downhill race of the world's ski championships. Her unofficial time was 1:29.2.

Canada Impresses With 2 Wins In World Hockey Tournament

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada is up with the leaders after three days' play in the world hockey tournament, tied for first place with Russia, Sweden and Czechoslovakia, the three other pre-tournament favorites.

Czechoslovakia, picked by many observers as the pre-tournament choice, whipped Switzerland 7-1 when the eight-team round-robin affair opened Friday. The next day the Canadians downed the Swiss 8-1.

Meanwhile Russia's flashy Moscow Dynamos were blanking Norway 7-0. Canada repeated the whitewashing job Sunday—but the score was 8-0.

The Canadians figure to run into tougher opposition tonight when they tackle Sweden, last year's champions and the fourth club with an unbeaten 2-0 record.

SUBDUE FINNS

But the Swedes, who didn't have to meet Canada, Russia or Czechoslovakia in winning their title, had their morale shaken Sunday when they barely squeezed by winless Finland 5-3. It took a three-goal Swedish outburst in the last 10 minutes to subdue the stubborn Finns.

In other games today the Russians meet Germany and Czechoslovakia plays Finland.

The Czechs and Russians sat out Sunday's action while winless Germany and Switzerland played to a 3-3 tie.

Czechoslovakia had a sobering experience with the Germans Saturday. After flashing to a 6-0 lead at the end of two periods, they found themselves outscored and outplayed in the last 20 minutes as they hung on for a 9-4 victory.

Eric Unger, the Canadians' smooth - skating centre, scored three goals against the Swiss and picked up two, together with two assists, against Norway.

SCORES TWICE

Centre Norm Gray scored twice Saturday and once Sunday. Left-winger Bill Sluce, on a line with Shill and Unger, picked up two goals against Norway. Bob Kennedy and Moe Galand each scored a goal both times out.

The Canadians also answered Swedish press criticisms of rough play. Adapting themselves to the unfamiliar European rules which outlaw body-checking, they won the support of the spectators with their clean play, drawing six penalties to Switzerland's four and four to Norway's five.

Canada draws another bye on Tuesday as Switzerland is slated to face Sweden, the Czechs meet the Russians and Finland is drawn against Norway.

U.S. Skier Wins Slalom Crown For Third Time

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP) Canadian-born Tom Corcoran took the Dominion slalom crown to the United States for the third straight year Sunday with two consistent runs over a melting course.

Corcoran, a native of St. Jovite, Que., now studying at Dartmouth College, ran what he described as a "cautious" race in manoeuvering the 38-gate course in times of 67.1 and 66.8 seconds for a total of 133.9. His only real competition came from Montreal Nordik's Bob Richardson, who checked in with 137.7.

The 22-year-old college senior succeeded Gutrum Berge to the title. Berge, a Norwegian, also represented Dartmouth in the 1953 race. He now is in Europe and did not defend the title. The 1952 championship was won by B. Davidson of Portland, Ore.

Corcoran's steady slalom run was good enough to put him at the top of the Quebec kandahar combined competition, which was run off in conjunction with the Dominion slalom meet. Richardson, the defending champion, again finished second.

BEST RUN

The best run of the day was 65.6, turned in by Franz Gabl of Mont Gabriel, who combined it with a second run of 69.1 to win the open class slalom in 134.7.

Rosemary Schutz of the Montreal Penguin Club made a clean sweep in the women's division, defending her 1953 slalom title in 161.5 despite a five-second penalty on her first run, and edging out Monique Langlais of St. Castin, Que., for the kandahar combined title. Rhoda Wurtele Eaves of Montreal was second in the slalom with 164.4.

Jim Georgas of Owen Sound could do no better than 12th in the slalom after ending the downhill in a tie for eighth place Saturday.

Royals Chasing Saqueneens

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Second-place Montreal Royals moved to within two points of the pace-setting Chicoutimi Saguenéens Sunday in the Quebec Hockey League by defeating the Saguenéens 4-1. Royals have a game in hand.

The Sagueneens beat Springfield Indians 6-3 Saturday. Third-place Ottawa Senators lost 5-2 in Quebec Sunday after being beaten 2-1 by Sherbrooke Saints Saturday.

Valleyfield Braves won 2-1 over the Saints Sunday after edging Quebec Aces 3-2 Saturday.

Rollie Leclerc's third-period goal gave Valleyfield its 2-1 win over Saints.

Quebec scorers Sunday were Rags Ragland, Roy Kelly, Ludger Tremblay, Larry Regan and Ray Powell. The Ottawa goals were by Howie Riopelle and Leo Gravelle.

Local Players Capture Doubles Titles

At Trenton RCAF Station, Saturday evening, one of the most successful tournaments of the Central Ontario Badminton Association was held.

Play was exceptionally keen and all matches were closely contested. The floor of the huge sports centre was a bit slippery and as a result there were a lot of charleyhorses and pulled tendons.

Peterborough was prominent in the distribution of prizes with Marg Baker and Maurice Charlton taking the ladies doubles from the strong team of R. Thompson and D. Reddock of Bowmanville, who have been winning tournaments in Toronto and New York State in recent tournaments. A fast shuttlecock upset the Peterborough pair in the first game, but with superior play the strong Peterborough team took the last two with a comfortable margin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlton reached the mixed finals and were defeated by the Bowmanville duo of Reddock and Gallagher.

WON THE DOUBLES

Bob Baker and Ed Johnston of Peterborough won the senior men's doubles—also the men's doubles consolation. Ed Johnston with his matchless energy and trick shots was the highlight of the tournament, and with an up-and-coming new player. Mrs. Joan Lye copped the mixed doubles in the consolation.

Marg and R. Baker reached the semi-finals of the mixed doubles, losing to the winners of the tournament, D. Reddock and Bob Gallagher of Bowmanville. The strong Bowmanville pair who, won the Toronto and district "B" tournament were too strong for the Peterborough pair.

R. Charlton of Peterborough reached the semi-finals of the men's singles to lose out to R. Swindell of Bowmanville.

Ladies Singles—R. Thompson, Oshawa, defeated K. Hopkins, Oshawa, 11-5, 10-11, 12-11.

Men's Singles—K. Smith, Oshawa, defeated R. Gallagher, Bowmanville, 15-12, 12-15, 15-7.

Ladies' Doubles—M. Baker and Maurice Charlton, Peterborough, defeated R. Thompson and R. Reddock, Bowmanville, 9-15, 15-12, 15-9.

Men's Doubles—Burgess and Tighe, defeated Swindell and Gallagher, 15-2, 15-12.

Mixed—Reddock and Gallagher Bowmanville, defeated Mr. and Mrs. R. Charlton, Peterborough, 15-12, 15-12.

CONSOLATION

Ladies Singles—P. Jones, Cobourg, defeated, Joan Lye, Peterborough.

Men's Singles—R. Wartman, Peterborough, J. Irwine, Cobourg.

Ladies Doubles—Jones and McDowell from Hill and Blythe, Ajax.

Mixed—J. Lye and E. Johnston, Peterborough, defeated Beamish and Legge, Oshawa.

Rugby Union May Adopt Four New Rule Changes

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Four rule changes dealing with safety touches, the now-famous Pete Karpuk incidents, rough play and eligible pass receivers will be submitted to the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union here March 26-27. It is likely all will be adopted.

The changes were recommended by the CRU rules committee at an eight-hour closed meeting here Saturday. The suggested changes: safety touches are scored at any off from the 25-yard line by the team scored against instead of the team retaining possession on the 25-yard line. The recommended new rule would apply only when safety touches are scored with less than five minutes remaining in the second and fourth quarters. The old rule would continue when safety touches are scored a tany other period of the game.

Tying in with the suggested new rule change, the committee recommended that a five-minute warning signal should be sounded at the end of each quarter instead of the present three-minute signal.

Pete Karpuk incidents: If an unauthorized person such as a player coach, trainer, equipment man or any other person permitted a place on the playing bench dashes onto the field to interfere with play an automatic touchdown would be awarded and the offending person would be disqualified from further participation in the game.

Rough play and piling on: The penalty should be increased from 15 to 25 yards.

Eligible pass receivers: The stipulation that a backfielder must be "at least one yard clearly back" of the wing-line to be eligible to receive a forward pass should be changed to read that such backfielder "must be clearly back of the wing-line."

This clarifies the position of the quarter as an eligible forward pass receiver.

Perfect Curling Weather For Opening Championships

EDMONTON (CP) — Perfect curling weather is expected today for the opening of the 25th annual Canadian curling championships.

The weatherman forecast a high of 10 below zero, a welcome change for the curlers from the recent thaw in that it will rule out any dripping from the roof of the Edmonton Gardens where the 10 draws will be played.

Various local rinks were plagued during the last week by dripping from the roof which resulted in "bumps" on the ice where the water froze on contact with the ice surface.

The 44 curlers from 10 provinces will parade onto the ice for the official opening shortly before 3 p.m. MST.

The first draw will see Saskatchewan, skipped by Garnet (Mac) Campbell of Avonlea, go against Matt Baldwin's Alberta champions. Manitoba will play Ontario's Ross Tarlton rink. Dr. W. L. MacDonald's rink from Charlottetown will play R. J. Kent's rink from St. John's, Nfld. British Columbia, represented by E. C. (Bung) Cartmell of Vancouver, will play Don Groom of Sudbury and his northern Ontario rink, and the W. R. Tracy rink from Arvida, Que., will meet Reg Piercy's foursome from Halifax. New Brunswick will have the bye on the first draw.

The second draw will open at 8 p.m. with B.C. getting the bye; Newfoundland meeting northern Ontario; Quebec playing Manitoba; Alberta playing Nova Scotia; Saskatchewan meeting New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island playing Ontario.

Five rinks will be trying to bring their respective provinces the Dominion title for the first time. New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, Quebec and Saskatchewan have yet to produce a national winner.

In the years since the Dominion curling championships were started in 1927 Manitoba has won the crown 14 times. Manitoba won it five straight years from 1928 to 1933. Alberta has won four times, Nova Scotia and Ontario twice each, and British Columbia and northern Ontario once each.

Manitoba, skipped by veteran Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg who won the crown in 1947, is considered a strong contender, and observers are watching the Campbell brothers rink from Saskatchewan.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., sank a putt on the last hole Sunday for a two-under-par 286 to nose out Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo for the Mexican open golf championship.

The victory gave Palmer $2,910 first prize money in the $12,200 tourney of the 6,679-yard, par-72 Club Mexico course. De Vicenzo's second place was worth $1,720—a difference of $1,200 which depended on one putt.

Third prize of $1,380 went to Johnny Witzel of Hershey, Pa. with 288—even par for the course. They were the only three finishers who broke or tied par.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., earned $433 by adding a 76 Sunday to his previous rounds of 72-73-70 for a total of 291.

They left by Ivan Fletcher's bus on Friday noon and arrived at Montreal via Ottawa in the evening. On Saturday morning they went aloft in a TCA plane for one hour of rubbernecking the city and immediate district over Montreal from 9,000 feet. After landing, the group toured the airport buildings and watched operations.

Lunch downtown, two hours of shopping and then to the Forum to see the Canadiens trounce the Rangers 5-0.

The tour left Montreal at 10 a.m. on Sunday and arrived back in Peterborough about 7:15 in the evening. According to circulation manager Stanley Pogue it was one of the best carrier trips that have ever been planned by The Examiner.

Officer Says Inter-Marriage Problem In Far East Forces Most Difficult To Handle

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KURE, Japan (CP)—The soldier with one of the toughest jobs in Canada's Far East forces is Staff Sgt. Bill Meder of Ottawa who gives advice to the lovelorn and keeps an eye on the stork's progress.

So far he's shepherded the brides and bridegrooms in 46 cases involving marriages between Canadian soldiers and Japanese girls.

Before he clears them for the altar he must be sure there are no impediments of health and character and see they are properly documented. Finally, if the marriage is carried out in Japan he must make sure that the wife, if pregnant, is not too close to confinement before putting her on a troopship headed for Canada.

"It's nothing, really," said Bill with a wide grin, and then seriously, "They all seem happy when they leave me. I hope they stay that way. But, of course, its chancy."

Bill is on the staff of Lt.-Col. J. A. K. Rutherford of Oakville, Ont., chief of the Canadian administrative unit here. This is the unit that's responsible for the handling of replacements and shifts of the men of the 25th Brigade in Korea. The job isn't as urgent as it was when the hot war was on and the casualties were coming in daily.

"But we keep the machinery well oiled just in case we have to be in a hurry again," said Col. Rutherford.

Also in this department come the handling of the casualty lists which are done in a delicate and humane way so as to make it as easy as possible for the next-of-kin at home.

In the case of fatalities the personal effects are handled with understanding by a quiet and business like crew who see that proper notification is made to the relatives and that belongings are shipped in the most thoughtful way possible.

ONE STILL MISSING

This branch of the army's Far Eastern operation also handled the prisoner-of-war exchange and through it was able to clear up all but one of the outstanding cases of men missing on the battlefield. The man unaccounted for is still listed as "missing, believed dead" but because all the documents have not been cleared through defence headquarters his name is withheld.

The inter-marriage problem is one of the most difficult handled by this branch. It's a lengthy process with 18 steps of investigation and documentation to get a Japanese bride to Canada. First the army, through the chaplain service and Red Cross, does its best to ensure that the Canadian is certain of his decision and realizes the delicate complications that may arise at home when he brings back an Oriental bride and starts raising a family.

This usually happens after the man has applied to his commanding officer for permission to get married. The CO is generally sympathetic if he thinks the girl is of good character and intelligence. It has happened however, that a commander has sent the soldier back to Canada with the suggestion that if he's still in love after a hitch at home he can re-enlist for Far East service and apply again for marriage. In a couple of cases the cooling-off period has been effective and the boy, usually with the guidance of his parents, has given up the idea. The remarkably resilient Japanese girl has found another boy friend among the Allied troops.

In the 46 cases which have been cleared or are still pending no insoluble problem has arisen so far. The nearest thing to this has been the case of a bride who developed tuberculosis which excludes her from entry to Canada. However, she's on the mend and should rejoin her husband at home in about 10 months.

All but four of the marriages have been performed by Canadian Christian chaplains. Of the nine Japanese - Canadians who have married native Japanese girls, four have used the Buddhist ceremony. There have been inquiries from soldiers interested in a Korean girl and they were given full instruction on the long procedure of documentation and the investigation this entailed. Few came back for further help so it is assumed ardor cooled in the interim. One corporal did receive permission and married a Korean nurse.

The other main obstacle to marriage besides health is the character of the Japanese girl. If she has any criminal record or fails to pass the security check she is automatically ruled ineligible for entry to Canada. This, of course, would almost certainly mean no marriage.

No Man Strong Enough To Be Stalin's Real Successor

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Joseph Stalin died a year ago this week.

Stalin died, according to official announcement, some time during the night of March 5, four days after suffering a stroke.

On March 6, the government was reorganized. Georgi Malenkov was premier, Lavrenty Beria his No. 2 man as first deputy, and V. M. Molotov No. 3.

The new government, apparently none too sure of itself, announced an amnesty for many prisoners in labor camps and announced a broad range of cuts in prices of consumer goods. Meanwhile, the government cut down the former 54 ministries to 26.

Then came a shock. Jan. 13, 1953, Pravda had announced nine doctors had been arrested and accused of plotting against the lives of Soviet leaders. Several of the doctors were Jewish and Pravda linked Zionism with the alleged plot. The doctors all "confessed."

STRUGGLE DEVELOPS

Then Stalin died. On april 4 the ministry of interior—beria's ministry—announced all the doctors had been cleared, that their confessions had been extorted by illegal means. It was clear then that a struggle for power was on in the Kremlin.

Moscow got another shock June 17. There was revolt in East Germany and it took the services of Soviet tanks and troops to save the Communist rulers there. It seems clear this revolt-hastened the showdown for power in the Kremlin. Less than 10 days later, Beria was under arrest as a traitor.

Soviet republics underwent severe purges. Men Beria had pushed aside reappeared to purge the purgers.

From the army the party exacted a pledge. With Defence Minister N. A. Bulganin, a party marshal, presiding, Marshals G. K. Zhukov, hero of Berlin, and others pledged allegiance to the aims of the Communist party.

The purging extended to satellites and to Communist parties in key non-Communist countries.

Stalin's concentration on building a vast network of heavy industry left the consumer situation close to chaos. After his death the party was brutally frank. Agriculture was in a sorry state. Consumer goods were scarce and shoddy.

The party's "new program" would fix things. By inference, it was Stalin who was at least a little wrong, who bore at least some of the blame. The inference was not lost upon the Soviet public.

Stalin in death became just another Bolshevik leader. The new campaign of the party against the "cult of personality" forbade glorification of him.

Under Malenkov, now a sort of chairman of the board of a collective made up of six leaders, only the Communist party could be glorified.

Restrict Number Of Ridings

TORONTO (CP)—The five new federal ridings in Ontario will not be represented at the Liberal party's provincial leadership convention here April 8-9, the Ontario Liberal Association decided Saturday.

Secretary W. G. Hale said the new ridings were anxious to send delegates but the association agreed to confine representation to the existing 90 provincial ridings. He said residents in the new constituencies of York Centre, York Scarboro, York Humber, Hamilton South and Nickel Belt will be covered by the existing provincial divisions.

Some 1,400 persons including 900 voting delegates are expected to attend the convention at which a party leader will be named to succeed Walter Thomson of Pickering who resigned in 1952.

Britain's Homes Ill Prepared For Cold Winter

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—At the height of Britain's February freeze, a shivering reporter in Glasgow put in a telephone call to what somebody told him was the coldest place in Canada—White River, Ont.

The station agent in White River replied it was a mild day, only 10 below zero. Sometimes, he added, it went as low as 60.

The newspaper man figured Glasgow residents would like to know why Canadians call it mild when the theremometer goes lower than Glasgow has ever seen it.

But the station agent spoiled the story.

"It's a dry cold over here—you don t feel it the same way at all."

That is the inevitable postscript, the imperishable cliche. The Briton goes to Canada and comes back complaining that central heating kept him lobster-red, couldn't get a decent breath, old boy. The Canadian likes the look of a crackling fireplace but can't keep both sides warm at the same time. Under a thin veil of levity, the differences run deep.

BRITONS ILL PREPARED

The fact is that British houses are about as well prepared for winter as a straw hut full of Hottentots. During the nine-day cold spell in February, the thermometer plunged to levels of frigidity unseen in these islands for 23 years. Canadians in Britain, shrugging off jokes about this being child's play compared with Canada, agreed it really was cold, by any standard.

And the long grey rows of semi-detached houses in the suburbs, nearly all with primitive, unprotected plumbing, water tanks fiendishly placed in uninsulated lofts, waste pipes outside the house; became a chaos of burst pipes and flooded floors tended by stoic house holders with grimy, frozen, chilblain-crusted fingers.

Courage and tenacity have long been accepted as standard British attributes. After the freeze-up, a third dimension was displayed—sheer cussedness. A serious Sunday newspaper said it didn't think any changes should be made in British houses.

"In matters of climate," said The Observer, "our Atlantic status is a much more important feature of our situation than a transient adherence to the community of continental cold."

So about the only place to keep warm was a movie house. And one of the documentaries seen during the big freeze was "Coal—Our Wasting Asset," which called Britons the champion coal wasters of Europe.

HOW TO GET A Friendly Loan

You know a lot of people the first time they come to Niagara Finance worry about whether or not it's the right thing to do. It's quite true that we don't make a loan every time anybody walks through our doors. Frankly, we'd be out of business if we did. But you'd be surprised at the number of people who do get loans, and chances are good that if you need money, you can get it too. We've grown to be a big organization now but the men we have in our offices spread across Canada, we like to think, are pretty well trained. They're trained to understand how to solve your money problems, in a friendly way. So if you need money, why don't you drop in? There are two good reasons why you should, you know. The first is that our rates are lower on many friendly loans . . . the second is that loans up to $1500, are life-insured, for you family's protection, at no extra cost to you. We think that these features make our loans a better deal than you get down the street. Inquire, won't you?

Quiz Contest Nightmare For Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—The pot of gold contains more than $2,500 already and every day it is increased by $50. And all sorts of people believe Trade Minister Howe is the end of the rainbow.

Mrs. Howe calls the whole thing "A nightmare."

Her nightmare is a "give-away" quiz program over an Ottawa radio station (CKOY). Listeners anxious for quick riches apparently believe the clues point to Mr. Howe as the answer.

So for the last four weeks, Mrs. Howe's telephone has been ringing from dawn to long after dusk with calls from persons trying to check "clues" by asking "outrageously impertinent personal questions" about the acting prime minister's private life.

"We can't sit down to a meal; I can't start a letter; it's impossible to read the paper without the phone ringing," Mrs. Howe said.

The callers have asked whether Mr. Howe wears a hearing aid, a wig, false teeth; does he own a gold mine, a million dollars; is he partial to sauerkraut and pretzels; where does he buy his clothes and for how much.

"Two weeks ago I called the station and told them that unless they could bring the contest program to an end quickly, I would sue for the prize money," she said.

"They only laughed at me."

Until about a week ago, callers had rung up the Liberal lobby in the Parliament buildings, taking Mr. Howe out of the House to answer their questions, but in an attempt to relieve the situation he instructed the Commons' pages to get the name and bus... callers before relaying their messages to him.

"Women have called," Mrs. Howe said, "and when I refuse to answer their questions they have pleaded that their husbands are jobless, their children starving, the rent unpaid, and that winning the prize money is simply life-or-death to them.

And as for broadcasters, Mrs. Howe said they "are a race apart. You just can't make sense with them."

Her chief hope now seems to be that someone will find the right answer soon, thereby ending the contest and putting her and her husband out of their misery.

POTPOURRI—Odds and ends left aboard airliners by forgetful passengers surround Stewardess Marla Wagner, who is holding a potted plant, lamp shade and fishpole. Other items in the fantastic assortment include several tin cans welded together, crutches, camera and baby buggy. They're a nationwide collection in the United Air Lines' Lost-and-Found Department.

Coal Mines In Belgium Worked By Italian Labor

By RONALD FRASER

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Italy and Belgium are seeking ways to improve the working conditions of Italians who now constitute a major part of the working force in Belgium's coal mines.

The Italians have been recruited in the poorest sections of Italy where work is scarce. Few Belgians now are going into the mines.

In all 202 miners out of a total of 117,845 lost their lives in Belgian coal mines last year. Belgians who might otherwise become miners fear not only the number of accidents but the high mortality rate from silicosis and the difficulty of finding decent homes.

The minimum wage is 196 Belgian francs ($3.92) a day for a 48-hour week. But since wages depend also on a miner's output, many Italian miners, in their desire to have done with mining as quickly as possible, earn up to 600 francs ($12) a day by working at a rate which almost inevitably leaves them sick men at the end of two years.

DUST PROVES FATAL

One Italian miner said: "To work like that, you've got to take off your mask or you stifle—and then the dust kills you in a couple of years."

The system also encourages the immigrants to take risks to dig coal as rapidly as possible, risks which account for a high proportion of the accidents.

More than 14,000 Italian miners' families, with 22,000 children, are living in Belgium at present. Roughly half these are lodging in nissen huts, wooden shanties and former prisoner-of-war camps.

Well-Known Actor Says "Shakespeare Makes Me Ill"

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Evans, a great Shakespearian actor, thinks the bard of Avon is a dead duck for either Broadway or the road.

"He makes me ill," quoth Evans.

But though these comments smack of heresy, they were tossed off with high good humor by a man busily engaged in modern mystery — as manager, producer and star.

On Monday, he's off on a 13-week tour as a scheming tennis rotter in "Dial M for Murder." But weekends—and at almost any other moment between performances—he's liable to show up back in town checking on any of his horde of interests, ranging from productions half way around the globe to raising west highland terriers.

Such sundry matters were under discussion, while Evans was having a pre-rehearsal smoke through a filtered cigaret, when Shakespeare came up.

MAKES HIM SICK

He fell to musing on the way he begins to ail whenever he's about to play Shakespeare.

"It's a funny thing," he said. 'About a week before opening, on comes the laryngitis. It just must be psychosomatic."

As for that "dead duck" reiction:

"Costs of those large casts and such items as all that lighting one needs to do him, makes it impossible to stage a play by Shakespeare profitably today," Evans remarked.

Even on television, for which Evans recently produced and starred in two Shakespeare classics witnessed by millions, plenty of performers are needed to put the bard across.

Despite Shakespeare's lamentable lack of economic foresight, Evans is looking forward eagerly to taking part in the Shakespearian festival that is being developed up in Connecticut. Right now a campaign is on to raise funds for a permanent centre there. The Rockefeller Foundation recently pledged $200,000 to the cause.

HAS SMASH HIT

Of more immediate concern to Evans is "Teahouse of the August Moon" the smash hit of the current season which he produced. He's working out a London production of the show in collaboration with Rodgers and Hammerstein, lining up an "August Moon" company to start off from the west coast next fall, and helping the U.S. Army with its plans to have three units do "August Moon" in its original setting on Okinawa.

"They're going to do one production with officers, one with enlisted men, and one with natives," says Evans. Profits, he hopes, will help a current rehabilitation program on the island.

Although he never got to Okinawa during wartime Pacific service, the "Teahouse" story has given Evans a sort of absentee paternal interest in Okinawans.

In looking after his multitude of interests, Evans is a rare blend of astute business man and artist who can successfully juggle histrionics and office affairs simultaneously.

There was the time, for example, when between "Dial M" performances he hustled out and found a blanket for a shivering goat in "August Moon."

GOAT TROUBLE

It wasn't the only time a goat bothered the star of Shakespeare and Shaw. Evans decided his Okinawa comedy hit should have a substitute goat available.

He found one, then started teaching it to perform an on-stage bit of drinking "brandy" from a helmet. The regular goat settled for a tidbit compounded of cola and cigaret butts, but considerable testing was necessary before it was discovered that the understudy would only emote for orange soda.

Evans has a simple explanation when asked how he manages to find enough time for all his interests.

"I don't," he says, without the slightest bat of an eye.

Govt. Considers Unemployment Temporary, Opposition Serious

OTTAWA (CP) — Debate on Canada's current unemployment problem—described as serious by opposition parties and temporary by the government—will enter its sixth day in the Commons this week.

The debate was launched Feb. 15 when the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties submitted two want-of-confidence motions. They were debated Feb. 15, 16, 17, 20 and 23.

The PC motion still before the Commons, asks for the establishment of a parliamentary committee to study unemployment and recommended a remedy.

The CCF motion, defeated last Tuesday by 129 to 68, called for action to "prevent further economic distress." It was supported by all opposition parties and three independent members.

HOWE GIVES REASON

During the debate, acting Prime Minister Howe said the current unemployment situation is caused by a temporary slowdown in business which coincided with the winter slack period. He said seasonal unemployment will end by spring and forecast that 1954 will be as prosperous as last year.

However, spokesmen for all opposition parties described the unemployment situation as serious and demanded prompt government action. They suggested increased unemployment insurance, an expanded public works program and extension of defence contracts to depressed areas.

If the unemployment debate ends by Tuesday, as expected, the House will debate the government's decision to move the national film board from Ottawa to a site in the St. Laurent district of Montreal. The move is opposed by opposition groups and the City of Ottawa.

Eskimo Not Ill Says Doctor said Saturday there is nothing wrong with a 25-year-old Eskimo woman who was flown on a 1,900-mile mercy flight from the Arctic to Edmonton.

The Eskimo, known only as Elizabeth, was flown from Arctic Bay, 445 miles inside the Arctic circle, because she was believed to have tubercular meningitis.

The RCAF Dakota took five days to complete the mission because of bad flying weather and engine trouble.

A doctor who examined the patient shortly after she was admitted to hospital Saturday night said he found nothing wrong with her.

He said she could have been ill 10 days ago but she is in good shape now and will stay in hospital until another plane can take her home.

An RCAF spokesman said the Dakota made the flight after Ottawa headquarters received word by radio that the Eskimo was seriously ill. A radio station at Arctic Bay sent the original message.

Find Scugog Muskies Have Cancer

Examine 2,389 Fish Seven Per Cent Are Found Diseased

Seven per cent of 2,389 Scugog muskies caught and studied by Dr. R. C. Ritchie, department of pathology, University of Toronto, were found to be affected by cancer.

This research conducted by Dr. Ritchie and assistants at Lake Scugog in the summer of 1953 was being made for Ontario Research Foundation at the Banting Laboratories where Dr. John Hamilton is working with a grant from National Cancer Institute. There are 22 muskies in the laboratory, from 23 to 36 inches, being studied to see if the disease will spread from the infected to the healthy group.

In the spring Dr. Hamilton plans to try a virus and bacteriological study to see if the disease gets its start through infection.

This information was revealed at Kingston on Friday at the eighth technical session of the Research Council of Ontario's Advisory committee on fisheries and wildlife.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Biologists Charles Weir, department of lands and forests, Lindsay, thinks Kawartha fishermen should not be unduly alarmed because, by his observations over the past five years, the infection in muskies is not increasing.

He stresses that muskies, or it might have been any other type of infected game fish, are being studied by the foundation to further research in the control of the disease in man. If environment has anything to do with the prevelance of the disease in some lakes more than others, it is yet to be determined, said Mr. Weir.

He thinks it would be a wise plan for fishermen who catch infected fish to let them go, but, if he takes the fish home to eat, infected parts can be cut away from the flesh. The remained may be eaten safely.

Joseph Mackness Recalls Surrender At Paardeberg

To Joseph Mackness, Lock St., Saturday brought back vivid memories of the surrender of 4,000 Boers at Paardeberg on February 27, 1900.

News of the relief of Ladysmith followed on Feb. 28, swift changes in the fortunes of the British troops under Lord Roberts in the South African war.

"We had Cronje's force pretty well encircled, and our artillery pounded them for ten days," Mr. Mackness remarked to the Examiner. "Paardeberg was a fairly shallow ford of the Modder River and I can remember that the very tallest of our men managed to make the crossing, carrying a rope which they held for the rest of us. We could make it on foot most of the way, and then it got a bit deep so we waded it, hand over hand along the rope."

Mr. Mackness said the first appearance of white flags along the enemy's front was nothing more than a trap.

"At least when some of our men stood up to investigate, it wasn't long until shots were fired at them. However, that was followed by an official meeting, and Roberts offered nothing but unconditional surrender.

DROPPED ARMS

"Cronje accepted finally, and the Boers marched out from their positions surrendering their arms. As they walked by in file they [illegible] on one side and their bandoliers on the other."

Mr. Mackness said he did not think there was anyone alse in Peterborough today who witnessed surrender at Paardeberg. He was with the R.C.R. and served again in the First World War.

American Press More Candid

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — American newspapers today are able to present facts to the public with greater candor than ever before, Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman Fellowships at Harvard University said Saturday night.

Lyons cited recent articles on rising unemployment in the country and on a possible relationship of lung cancer and cigarets as types of stories which would not have been reported candidly a few decades ago.

He addressed the annual dinner of the Rhode Island Press Club.

To talk of a depression in 1929 before the crash would have been looked on as subversive, Lyons said, but newspapers brought out signs of a possible depression as soon as they started appearing last fall.

Youth Trapped In Fannings' Pleads Guilty In Court

Since the installation of an alarm system at Fannings' Launderers and Dry Gleaning Ltd., King St., about five years ago, three break-ins have been detected, and three parties have been apprehended by police. Harold James (Bud) McCausland, 20, of 87 St. Patrick St., Lindsay, was discovered in the building by PCs J. Wilson and J. Armstrong about 8:20 p.m. Saturday. Police arrived at the scene shortly after the alarm was sounded at the police station.

McCausland pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering in magistrate's court, today. He was remanded one week for sentence pending further investigation concerning a mental illness examination thought to be previously given the accused.

PC's Armstrong and Jack Wilson were the first officers to arrive at the scene of the break-in following the alarm. While Constable Armstrong proceeded down the lane west of the building, Constable Wilson approached the front door. He spotted a man crawling from the front office to the manager's private office on his hands and knees, and shouted to Constable Armstrong to radio for more men to surround the building.

Constable Wilson watched the manager's office door, until detective Traynor and PCs William A. Scott, Bert Howden and Sherman Keliele arrived and all exits were guarded.

A window on the east side of the building was broken and constables Keliele [illegible] entered and opened a side door letting the other officers in.

UNDER MACHINERY

McCausland was discovered lying under some machinery with only his feet in view, and was grabbed by detective Traynor and taken to police station.

A check of the building showed that nothing had been taken, although a few drawers in J. D. Fanning's office had been opened.

Detective Traynor testified today, that McCausland appeared to have been drinking, but was not drunk.

McCausland's parents live in Peterborough, but he has lived in Lindsay for the past three years.

McCausland told police that he had come to Peterborough on Wednesday to deliver some chairs to an upholstering company and that the manager had allowed him to sleep in the store, Thursday and Friday nights.

Italy Airlines Grounded

ROME (AP) — Italy's commercial airlines, Lai and Ali Italia, remained grounded Sunday by a strike of ground personnel and mechanics. The employees, demanding pay boosts, called a 48-hour strike Friday and were to have returned Sunday. They said then the strike will continue for another three days. One plane bound from Rome to New York took off despite the walkout.

Lionel Browne To Guide Building Memorial Centre

Lionel Browne, manager of Canada Packers, on Saturday afternoon was elected chairman of the seven-man building committee that has the task of approving plans and supervising construction of Peterborough's long-awaited Memorial Community Centre.

Other committee chairman were elected. And a new committee, a streamlined version of the general committee, was created.

Here are the four chairman:
Lionel Browne, building;
E. A. (Ted) Outram, site;
C. R. (Bud) LaBranche, publicity;
Ford Warren, treasurer of finance.

TRIMMING

Most of the discussion at Saturday's meeting revolved around the proposal of Frank Buckland to streamline the general committee of 50 people down to being a body of more wieldly size. At [illegible] people would be just right, but by the time nominations were through the executive committee, as it will be called, had grown to 16.

Donald A. McGillis, who a week before was elected chairman of the general committee, is also chairman of the executive or steering committee.

Other members are the four chairman elected Saturday (Messrs. Browne, Outram, LaBranche and Warren, Mayor Norman Graham, secretary Robert Hamilton, Mrs. Weldon Fanning, Frank Buckland, Charles J. Ray, Hurrell Dodds, Don Loucks, Mrs. T. J. Carley, Alfred Barbet, Dick Ouimet, and one vacancy to be filled by Lionel Browne, chairman of the building committee.

"Everybody in Peterborough is in favor of completing the Memorial Centre," said Mr. McGillis to the group of 23 who attended the meeting in the general committee room. "It's just got to be done."

Street-Car Stolen

TORONTO (CP) — A street-car was taken Saturday night after motorman A. J. Deans left it to call police and ask for assistance in removing a drunk. The street-car moved several blocks before it crashed into a car and stopped. Romeo St. Pierre, 22, was charged with theft of the street-car.

Joseph A. Jebson Promoted Centre Dies In Toronto

Chairman of the general committee that organized the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre, Joseph A. Jebson, died early this morning at Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto.

As a veteran of the First World War he had been a patient there since November. He had lived here at 47 Kingan St., was manager of the Mason chain of grocery stores, and subsequently was assistant to Ernest C. Braund of the Braund chain.

The Memorial Community Centre is now in other hands with prospects of solution of the persistent difficulty of securing a site.

James Hamilton, mayor in 1943, when the Memorial project was first proposed, recalled the preliminaries of that funding campaign.

BEGAN IN 1944

"Our problem was get somebody to head up the committee to get the Centre under way in its first stage of financing by an appeal to the public for subscriptions," Mr. Hamilton said. "It was not until 1944 that a deputation was appointed to interview Mr. Jebson, the manager for the Mason Groceterias. Mr. Jebson undertook that responsibility although, as we recognized, he had to sacrifice time from his own work."

The subscription campaign was a big success, and with the money received from the public, and the taxpayers' approval of a grant of $75,000 from the city, it was felt that sufficient funds were in hand to build the Community Centre that had been designed.

JOSEPH A. JEBSON

Mr. Jebson had given the Memorial Centre the initial impetus it required, and since then the funds have been earning interest in passing of the ten years since that essential achievement, building costs steadily mounted until it became evident that the Centre's credit was not enough to cover the cost of the accepted design. At any rate Joe Jebson's contribution in promotive leadership was finished.

SERVED IN WAR

He was born in Yorkshire, England, had lived in Toronto in his early youth, enlisted in, the First World War, was advanced to a sergeancy and was wounded several times. From some of his friends it was learned that he was engaged with Dominion Stores, residing in Montreal, and prominently placed with them in the opening of branch stores across the country.

"I'm sorry to hear of Mr. Jebson's death," Mr. Hamilton said. "He did a good job for the community when we were trying to get leadership for the Community Centre."

The body is resting at the Trull funeral home, 1111 Danforth Ave., Toronto, where the funeral service will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Explosion In Cavan House Buckles Wall Starts Fire In Basement

Gasoline Seeping Into Drain Connected With House Believed Cause Fires Squelched By Occupant and Neighbor

A family of four had to flee their Cavan village home at 3 a.m. today after an explosion started several small fires in the basement, knocked down plaster inside, and buckled the north wall of the brick house. No body was injured. Occupants of the seven-room house, owned by Harry Tinney of Cavan, were his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Tinney, and their two infant daughters — Margaret 2½, and Jane 1½. The owner is vacationing in Florida.

A quantity of gasoline — presumably from Walter Dyer's White Rose gasoline pumps — is believed to have seeped into a drain connected with a drain in the Tinney house. From there the fumes filtered up into the partitions of the house. Something — possibly a spark from the Tinney's electric pump — touched off the explosion.

The whole left wall of the solidly - built, two - story brick house was buckled outwards. Gaps three and four inches wide were opened between the wall and first floor ceiling. Outside, the buckling is obvious.

A crack was opened in the brickwork and several of the bricks were loosened.

Three small fires that started in the Tinney's basement were extinguished by Mr. Tinney and his next-door neighbour, Harold Grills. The fires caused little damage but filled the basement with smoke.

"It's a lucky thing we were in the house when it happened," said Mr. Tinney early today as he looked over the damage. "If we'd been away the whole place would have gone up."

GAS IN DITCH

At present the leaking gasoline is a first-class fire hazard. The main drain that passes under the basement floor of the Tinney home empties into an open ditch, running along the east side of the Mount Pleasant road. The water in the ditch is a striking red from the coloring in the gas. And there is a strong smell of gasoline fumes in the air.

"If somebody passing in a car threw a lighted match or cigarette butt out the window, that whole ditch would go up in flames," a neighbor said. "Right now it's dangerous. Something will have to be done."

By early morning two officials from Cobourg had arrived to check and see if the seepage was from the White Rose tanks a hundred yards southeast of the Tinney home and on higher land. The tanks were only put in two years ago, just before the Dyers took over the general store in the village.

A puzzling feature of the incident is this: the drain which is believed to be carrying the gasoline passes under the basement floor of another house, between Tinney's and the gasoline pumps; yet there is no trace of gasoline or fumes in this neighboring house.

The Dyers said they had measured their supply of gasoline in the tanks intermittently since the explosion. They didn't detect any loss.

"We noticed the fumes a couple of months ago," said Mr. Tinney, "but then they disappeared and we haven't been bothered since."

The Tinney family were all in bed asleep when the explosion came. There was a loud bang which was heard by neighbors.

PLASTER FELL.

"The sound of plaster falling was the first thing I heard," said Mr. Tinney. Large chunks off the south wall over the staircase and on the side of the staircase, as well.

No windows were broken. The main force of the explosion was in the partitions with the north wall receiving the heaviest damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinney took the children next door to the Grills. Then Mr. Tinney returned with Mr. Grills to investigate. By this time the basement was filled with smoke from two small fires that had started. Centre of the blaze was the drain in the basement floor.

A garden hose and an extinguisher were used to douse the flames.

Provincial police were called and OPP Constable Thomas Armitage and Bruce Tillson investigated the cause of the explosion.

Francis Finn Wins Skating Trophy

Francis Finn of Peterborough Figure Skating Club was the trophy winner in the novice men's group at the inter-club figure skating competition in Hamilton on Sunday.

This was the second time within the past two months that Francis has won an award; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Finn of 12 Kirk St. On Sunday he edged out his club mate, Lorne Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hale of Bridgenorth.

Three contestants from the Peterborough club, Marilyn Clark, Dorothy Kingston and Carol Smitheram participated in the ladies' novice group and placed fourth, eighth and ninth, respectively in that event. First and second places were won by Joan Kelly of Oshawa and Dianna Wright of Hamilton.

No city skaters took part in the junior ladies' group which was won by Sonia Snelling of Toronto Granite Club; she is the younger sister of Charles Snelling who returned to Canada last week from competing for the world title in Oslo, Norway.

The Peterborough club were represented in Hamilton by M. J. Finn and F. B. Smitheram to determine how the city club may be regularly admitted to inter-club competitions. Tentative plans were made whereby one of these events may be conducted in Peterborough during the 1955 skating season.

THE FOUNDLING KEEPS WARM — "Amber," a baby fox, wandered into a night-watchman's hut in London quite a while ago, looking very lonesome and bewildered. A home was found for her at the London Zoo where she became quite tame and even begs for tidbits like a dog. The recent very coud spell in England made her shiver so she was provided with a warm scarf to ward off the chill weather. —(Federal Newsphotos).

Kingston Players Win Calvert Trophy In Ontario Drama Festival

BROCKVILLE (CP)—The Kingston Domino Players presenting "The Playboy of the Western World" won the Calvert trophy for the best presentation in the eastern Ontario drama festival which ended here Saturday.

Adjudicator Graham Suter said the play was one of the outstanding performances of the week. He said it was too bad it was witnessed by such a small audience when performed Tuesday night.

The George Fulford shield for the best Canadian play went to "Flood," by Robert McLeod, performed Saturday afternoon by the Ottawa Little Theatre. The Recorder and Times trophies for best individual performances went to Huguette Beaucaire, for her part as Gigi in the Ottawa production of Anita Loos "Gigi" and to Roland Hewgill for his part as old Mahon in the Kingston production.

The Senator Rupert Davies trophy for the best one-act play was won by the Ottawa Little Theatre, with its production of "Flood."

The final item of the week-long program was "Gigi" by the Ottawa Little Theatre Workshop, which Mr. Suter said was "most charmingly presented in a most outstanding manner, with exquisite setting, costume and direction."

The adjudicator said "Flood" was "a very distinguished piece of production which brought more to the performance than was offered in the original script."

"Fumed Oak" by the Belleville Little Theatre was "quite a problem to tackle, but a good theatrical performance."

"Rose and Crown" by the Kemptville Play for Fun group was "a little slow, but well undertaken and a worthy festival entry."

Trouble Ahead For Britain's Beveridge Scheme

By SUSAN STRANGE

LONDON (OFNS) — Britain's famous Beveridge Scheme is heading for trouble. After nearly five years, it is failing to provide state social security, "from the cradle to the grave," which was its original purpose; and it is also likely, from next year on, to go deeper and deeper "into the red". This means that unless drastically revised it will be adding years by year to the already too-onerous burden carried by Britain's taxpayers.

Its author, Lord Beveridge, now seventy-five years old, but still active, drew attention in the House of Lords recently to the dangerous plight of his brain-child, and to the inadequacy of the benefits it provides for the out-of-work and the aged.

These benefits, raised the year before last to $4.55 per week for a single person have been so outstripped by the rising cost of living that more and more of those who draw the state-insurance are obliged to go to the National Assistance Board, financed out of taxes, for extra help. When the Beveridge scheme started in 1948, the cost of living had already risen above the original estimates and the National Assistance Board was helping some half a million people to make ends meet. Now, nearly one and a quarter million people are finding their pensions not enough; one in four men and women drawing retirement pensions under the scheme are therefore seeking help from national assistance.

The government actuary's report to parliament on how the scheme has fared in its first quinquennium will be the signal for heavy pressure on the Government to raise, once again, the rates of benefits under the scheme.

AGEING POPULATION

The basic problem here, as everyone recognizes, is that Britain has an ageing population, which means that the number of men and women retitring and claiming pensions grows larger each year. To some extent the original plan allowed for this. But what was overlooked, for largely political reasons, was that to begin with people would be retiring and drawing on the fund without having contributed to it the full forty years of an average working life.

In other words, in theory the scheme forced people to insure against their own retirement; in practice their contributions are being used first to pay their fathers' pensions.

A secondary result is that the fund, although appearing large at its present level, cannot be kept actually to pay its own way.

If nothing is done the fund will be running an annual deficit by 1967 of £274 millions, even if the benefits are not increased; by 1977 the deficit will be £417. And this leaves out of account the possibility of more unemployment in Britain in the meantime.

In the circumstances, one of three things will happen to Britain's great experiment in State social security.

BORNE BY TAXPAYER

One, which will result from nothing being done, is that the cost of the scheme, like that of the National Health Service, will increasingly be borne by the taxpayers in one form or another.

Another, which might be expected to appeal to many Conservatives, is to do to the Beveridge Plan what has already been done to the food subsidies: to scale it down and, in effect, to change it out of all recognition. This might be done in two ways: by pegging the benefits, and by reintroducing the "means test" of hated memory, so that only those who could prove themselves in need would benefit from the funds. Since the inadequacy of the scheme in recent years has fostered the establishment of independent insurance schemes by companies, industries (even the National Coal Board has such a scheme) and professions, these could be used as an excuse for taking the alternative with the Beveridge Scheme.

The third alternative, more favoured by the Labour Party, is for the retirement pensions to be paid at a later age, and for men and women in Britain to work longer.

Lord Macdonald suggested in the House of Lords that the chivalrous provision which allows women to draw a pension at the age of sixty, where men must wait to sixty-five, could be reconsidered. And a committee set up by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, R. A. Butler, and now inquiring into the provisions for old age, may well suggest ways and means of persuading older people to stay longer at work. The chief difficulty here is that this might be resisted by juniors anxious for promotion, and might in any case take too long to be accepted as general practice in industry for it to give enough relief to the hard-pressed insurance fund, and, indirectly, to the taxpayer.

Fishing Season Opens At Port Dover

PORT DOVER (CP)—With nets mended, engines overhauled and hulls painted, most of Port Dover's 36-tug fishing fleet chugged out of harbor, early today to open the commercial fishing season on the north shore of Lake Erie.

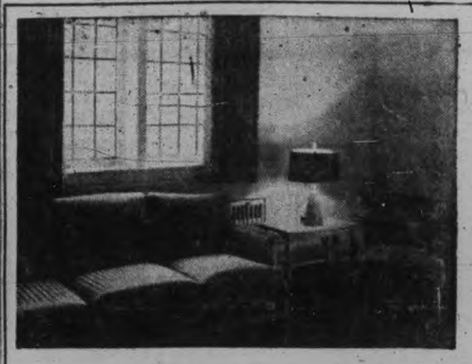
Six other tugs were unable to get out of Port Stanley harbor because of high waves and strong winds.

The Port Dover fleet lifted 9,484,000 pounds from Lake Erie during the first ninth months of 1953. Total take in Ontario by commercial fishermen during that period was 20,500,000.

This was a 13.3 per cent increase over the 18,100,000 pounds produced in the corresponding period in 1952.

Major portion of the increase was in Lake Erie.

Lake Superior, Lake St. Clair and Lake Ontario had decreases.



The St. Thomas district and Port Stanley 10 miles south got 1½ inches of rain Sunday and today. Most rivers and creeks in the district were running full to their banks.

SEVENTY THOUSAND ACCIDENT-FREE driving miles, mostly in the city, is the record of these five delivery drivers. They are, left to right, Roy Murphy, Orville Curtis, Frank Dorie, Victor Amyotte and Ted Cooney. The above drivers were presented with awards on Thursday night in Belleville together with many other company employees throughout a wide area of Eastern Ontario. Chamber of Commerce manager James Fraser and traffic Constable Don Mackay were present at the affair.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Most Ontario Centres Give Up Rent Controls

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most Ontario centres, for the first time since the wartime September of 1940, will be without rent controls when the province vacates the field Tuesday.

Only major centres to hold some form of rent control are Toronto and suburban York township, Ottawa, Windsor, Brantford, Brockville and Sault Ste. Marie.

Cities and municipalities to be without controls after Ontario rental regulations expire March 2 include Hamilton, Peterborough, Kingston, Kitchener, Teck township, Waterloo, Fort William, Port Arthur, St. Catharines, London and Westminster township, North Bay, Sarnia, Oshawa, Owen Sound, Welland, Niagara Falls, Stamford township, St. Thomas, Sudbury, Galt, Orillia, Woodstock and Guelph.

A decision is still to be announced by city councils at Belleville and Cornwall.

Ontario, along with Quebec, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia, entered the field of tenant-landlord relations May 1, 1951, the day after federal controls expired. Saskatchewan took over controls a year earlier when the federal government first opened the control field to the provinces. Other provinces made provision for municipal governments to put on local controls.

SAULT DIFFERENT

Regulations controlling rentals in all Ontario centres but Sault Ste. Marie are to be a somewhat modified version of the provincial controls. In Sault Ste. Marie they will be extended to cover every private dwelling in the city of 36,000.

In part due to a strong representation by Local 2251 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), Sault Ste. Marie council voted to set up a three-man board of rental appeals and appoint an investigator-appraiser.

The board will consist of a tenant, landlord and a neutral chairman and will administer regulations for one year. Cost of operating the rental agency has been estimated at $7,000 but no final study of the plan for salary requirements has yet been made.

A modified form of rental control is to be continued in Toronto for six months and in suburban York township for one year. Landlords in York township can raise rents 10 per cent; in Toronto a 10-per-cent increase is permitted if the approval of the rentals administrator is obtained.

ALLOW INCREASE

In Ottawa, where controls are to continue to Dec. 31, a seven-per-cent rent increase is allowed; shared accommodation is decontrolled and landlords no longer require a reason to dispossess a tenant at the termination of a lease.

In Windsor, modified controls will be in force until 1955 with a three-man commission expected to be named to handle complaints.

In Brantford, a three-man board is to hear appeals from landlords or tenants. There has been no date set for the lifting of controls. Dwellings untenanted after March 2 will be decontrolled also any cases where dwellings are leased for a year or longer. Only 90 days notice, instead of six months, will be required to vacate shared accommodation.

Brockville will continue modified rent controls until March 1, 1955. Landlords will be permitted to increase rents but tenants may appeal the increases to a rentals officer with the county judge as higher authority.

Bandits Strike Again

MANILA (AP) — Moro bandits killed two civilians in a new outbreak Sunday on southern Jolo island. Five soldiers and a civilian were killed in ambush Saturday.

Mob Violence In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The government held a number of persons for questioning today following a mammoth religious-political riot in which an army captain was killed, many persons injured, and two army barracks burned down.

The violence broke out Sunday as 250,000 Moslems gathered to protest "insults" to the Islamic religion in recent political speeches.

After burning the barracks, the mob marched on parliament. Then it converged on Vice-President Mohammed Hatta's residence, where the leaders presented their complaints.

The demonstration was backed by the Masjumi, the major Moslem political party in the country. It is struggling for power against the Indonesian Nationalist party, which leads the current coalition government.

Mr. Lewis was never married and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Rusaw. A brother, Allen Lewis, and a sister, Sara Lewis, both predeceased him within the past two years.

Mr. Lewis lived a quiet and unassuming life, never failing to lend a helping hand wherever possible. His close association with nature served to strengthen his faith in God.

The funeral was largely attended and was conducted by the minister of the Hastings United church of which Mr. Lewis was a member. Mrs. J. G. Thompson sang a solo "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" a hymn which was a favorite of the deceased. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Pallbearers were Jack Smith, Reg Chown, Harry Bolton, Richard Williamson, Donald Beamish and Howard Porter. Flower bearers were Ezra Peters, Arthur Beamish, Lewis Stinson, Gordon Dickey, Clarence Petherick and William McFadden. Interment service was conducted at the Trent Valley cemetery.

Lucano-Dennie Wedding

Pink and white snapdragons decorated the altar of St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic church for the marriage Saturday morning of Clara Rita Dennie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dennie, to Leiut. William Francis Lucano, BSc, BE, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lucano, all of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original imported gown of antique English net and lace over ivory satin. The short sleeve lace dasque was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline edged with scallops of lace and the very bouffant net skirt, worn over a hoop, featured narrow insertions of lace and a small chapel train bordered with matching lace. With this the bride wore a small sculpture cap of lace and satin and carried a small spray of stephanotis and ivy.

She was attended by Miss Helen Hajnik of Toronto as maid of honour and Misses Velma Adamson and Leona Lucano, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids.

All were in rosewood taffeta frocks, cocktail-length, with short shirred sleeves and bodices, low V-necklines and very full skirts worn over crinolines. They wore small white corded ribbon hats and carried colonial boquets of violet hyacinths and white tulle.

Lieut. George Kinney was groomsman and the ushers were Lieut William Connell and Leiut. R. M. G. McKenzie, all of London Ontario.

During the mass, Mrs. James Goldie sang "On This Day" and Gounod's "Ave Marie." and during the signing of the register, she sang "Panis Angelicus."

For going away the bride donned a brown suit, a small original model hat of beige milan straw, brown accessories and a beige cashmere topcoat and carried a cluster of white gardenias.

Lieut. Lucano expects to leave for Korea this month with the RCEME Corps.

Operatic Society Presents Chimes Of Normandy

With a cast of 77, riotous galaxy of costumes and decor to bring life to the wooden stage, Canada Packers Operatic Society on Saturday night presented the "Chimes of Normandy" to a near-filled PCVS auditorium.

A comic opera in three acts, the production was hampered by a limited stage.

However, it was jolly entertainment for those who took the opportunity to see it. The costumes were glorious, the lighting superb and in the second act, especially, did the scenery experts do a grand job.

For many years the company has stuck to Gilbert and Sullivan, a wise choice, always popular with both cast and audience, and full of grand wit and music that will never die.

The "Chimes of Normandy" scores with its music—incidently not up to Gilbert standards—and when 77 voices let go with a gusto it was good, really good. But, the story, while quite intericult for the actors, more so when they are amateurs.

Out of the 77 only 11 are taken for leading roles. Perhaps it is unfair to praise just a few, but like the president with his annual report, "there are one or two I feel I must . . ."

EXCELLENT PORTRAYAL

Of the 11, two shone out with excellent portrayals. They were Esther Haines as Serpolette and Emlyn Plummer who portrayed Gaspard.

Serpolette, a frivolous lass with high and mighty ideas and little else, demanded an audience and got it. An lack of confidence in her part would have ended in dismal failure. With a strong clear voice, Miss Haines was a hit from her first appearance.

Mr. Plummer, as Gaspard, can wear his laurels without misgivings. His performance Saturday night was something not to be forgotten in a long time. As a miser, mad with stolen money, he reminded one of Dickens' Scrooge. Well done Mr. Plummer.

The two leading roles fell to Barbara Franklin as the delightfully innocent maid, Germaine, and Arthur Selater, who played the part of Marquis de Corneville.

Miss Franklin is what I term a pleasing artist with a pleasing voice. It was easy to see she had been well trained for stage and voice, but a presentation for her appeared to be extra hard work. She did not falter, but at times wanted to tell her story to the scenery and not to the audience.

An armchair critic, overheard quite by accident, aired the view that Mr. Sclater was too old for the part of the Marquis. Not for a moment suggesting that Mr. Sclater is in his second childhood, I respectively submit that it would be difficult to find a younger amateur with experience enough for the part. It demanded a strong, mature voice, plenty of bravado, and again, experience. However, he slipped with his cues once or twice.

GOOD TENOR VOICES

Jim Hawkins who portrayed the scheming young lover, Jean Grenicheux, is blessed with a good tenor voice, and probably the ability to learn stage work. He has quite a bit to learn yet.

The Bailie, taken by Jack Jacobson, was good, but not as good as his would-be shadow, lighting, decor and costuming, which added so much to a successful presentation, of which producer W. Richard Curry can be proud.

The orchestra, no little cog in the wheel of entertainment, was conducted by Mr. Curry and provided an admirable background for a feast of choral music.

In these days everybody appears to be in a great hurry, Peterborough being no exception, but for one thing. Almost every time anyone goes to these legitimate theatre productions, they have to turn a blind eye at the advertised starting time.

The "Chimes of Normandy," presented under the auspices of the St. Paul's married couples club, was timed to begin at 8:15 p.m. It was 8:35 p.m. before the orchestra struck up with the overture.

It was reported the make-up kit had been left on the bus and the police had to be called to locate the vehicle.

However, what a scene there would be if the local picture theatres did not start screening until 20 minutes after the advertised time. People would be demanding their money back quick, and rightly so.

If you are going to put on a production, make your arrangements to accommodate any unforseen hitches and ring up the curtain on time. You will have at least one friend.—J.O.

St. Paul's Couples Entertain Opera Cast

St. Paul's Married Couples annual fund-raising project, an opera by the Canada Packers Operatic Society of Toronto, was presented on Saturday evening for a near-capacity crowd in the Collegiate auditorium. Proceeds this year are to be given to the building fund for the new St. Giles' Presbyterian Church in the south end of the city.

Members of the cast and directors, with guests from the Canada Packers executive of Peterborough plant, were entertained at a banquet previously. This was convened by Mrs. Howard Perry with the following wives assisting, Mrs. D. Flett, Mrs. G. Coleman, Mrs. F. Whitton, Mrs. G. Minty, Mrs. W. Boyce, Mrs. D. Wilson, Mrs. J. MacDonald, Mrs. D. Crowhurst, Mrs. C. Steadman, Mrs. W. Beath, Mrs. C. Ward and Mrs. A. Ballantyne.

Table favors made for the occasion by Mrs. C. G. Boyd were tiny bells, symbolic of the opera this year, "Chimes of Normandy."

Presidents Mr. and Mrs. William Murray presided at the head table and Mr. Murray extended welcome to the church. Mr. George Batley spoke for the local Canada Packers, and issued an invitation to the entire cast to be guests of the management for refreshments after the opera.

Director Mr. W. Richard Curry made some remarks about his company, introducing some newcomers who were taking leading parts. It was found that nine members present had been in the first operetta presented here nine years ago.

Convener of tickets for the opera was Mr. Ed. Fanjoy and publicity was handled by Mr. Murray and Mr. A. MacQuarrie.

Church Honors Mrs. Joseph Mann

Members of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church met recently in the church basement to honor Mrs. Joseph Mann who has served for more than 30 years as primary teacher in the Sunday school, choir leader and treasurer of the women's mission circle.

Mrs. Mann by her gentle and happy disposition endeared herself to the parents and children. Former tiny tots, whom she taught, still cherish the lessons learned in her class, lessons of love and patience, kindness to others and reverence for God's house and gratitude to the Heavenly Father for his care. The hospitality of her home has been an inspiration to many and the encouragement she gave young people to serve in the choir has helped to enrich the service of worship.

Miss Lillian McGregor led in the sing-song. Mr. John Edmison, Mrs. Lorne Reynolds and Miss Phyllis Moore conducted the games. Mrs. Russell Kidd read an address and the presentation of a serving cabinet and a purse was made by Lorne Reynolds and Miss Marilyn Scott. Miss Mann expressed her heartfelt thanks. A social hour was enjoyed under the supervision of Mrs. Ellison Kidd, Mrs. John Edmison and Mrs. Morris Telford.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wavering Woman Upset Because Man Obdurate

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going for some time with a divorced man, several years older than myself. I have grown to love him, but he hurts me so often that I don't know whether I'll ever be truly happy with him. He tells me things must always be done his way; when we go out, it's to places of his choice. Occassionally, when my heart is set on doing something special, he'll give in, but then he sulks all evening. If he has a problem and I try to help him out, he accuses me of running his life. Absolutely nothing I do pleases him; there's always a qualifying angle with at least one other girl, since his divorce, but she married someone else. Am I really the selfish and unreasonable person be claims I am?

ANSWER: It would be such a pleasure, Dolores, to tell you your beau will ultimately become the considerate suitor, and husband you want; but also, I'm afraid you are stuck with a super type of selfishness that grows worse with time. Such a man can bring no happiness to anyone; life with him would be unadulterated misery. This is strong judgment; but true. Your friend has been rejected by two women already (a review of his first marriage will almost certainly indicate that he was the cause of its failure.)

BEWARE SUCH A MAN

That he was ever in love with anyone, is doubtful. He felt attraction, undoubtedly, but no sensation that resembles devotion. Don't continue to have your life spoiled by someone who doesn't appreciate you at all. Why go on trying to please a person who is so palpably concerned with himself? A happy marriage or a happy friendship, is a blend of two congenial personalities, each eager to please the other. When all the concessions, all adjustments are up to one of the parties concerned, the relationship is destroyed. Your fine letter indicates you are a person of intelligence. Don't waste your gifts on an unappreciative male.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a high-school sophomore, in love with a college freshman. Almost every time we go out, he tells me not to get serious over him, since we are both too young. I realize that, but I'm unhappy if I don't see him at least once a week. No: it's been two weeks since he called me. I know he doesn't date other girls.

MARY C.

ANSWER: If you had any conception of the amount of work a serious college student has to do, you would wonder how he gets any time to spend with you. You say he lives on a farm, which undoubtedly adds the further complication of extra work when he gets home. Furthermore, since he's a day student, he must contend with the long trip to and from school. This is quite a formidable program. Don't add to his difficulties by being sulky because he doesn't call often enough. If you want more attention, better latch on to boys in your own school, who are more readily available and not quite so busy.

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend has invited me to his home, but requested that I refrain from smoking while I'm there. I think this is silly and intend to go ahead and smoke anyway.

ELSA.

ANSWER: You believe in going to extremes to create a bad impression. While you have the right to assert yourself, and do as you like, it isn't always the most tactful idea. If smoking means more to you than pleasing your young man and his family, by all means go ahead.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Superior Pancake Recipes

SUPERIOR PANCAKES

If you have a wide-mouthed pitcher into which your rotary beater will fit do your mixing in it, for it facilitates pouring when you are baking these. One and one-half cups unsifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1¼ cups milk, 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg (in pitcher or bowl), add milk and butter and stir to mix then add dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls or pour from pitcher onto preheated but ungreased griddle. Bake on one side until puffed and full of bubbles. Flip over and bake on other side. Pete makes this amount for Marianne and himself and me, but it's supposed to serve four normal appetites.

BUCKWHEAT PANCAKES (yeast)

To ½ cup lukewarm water add 1 teaspoon sugar, and sprinkle in 1 packaged granular yeast. Without stirring let stand 10 minutes, then stir. Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 2 cups buckwheat flour and ½ teaspoon salt. To the soaked yeast add 2 cups water, and stir this until smooth into the dry ingredients, and then beat hard for 1 minute. Cover and refrigerate overnight. In the morning stir in 1 tablespoon molasses, ¼ cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in ½ cup hot water. Let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Bake as directed above for Superior Pancakes.

I hope you have some maple syrup for these.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wavering Woman Upset Because Man Obdurate

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going for some time with a divorced man, several years older than myself. I have grown to love him, but he hurts me so often that I don't know whether I'll ever be truly happy with him. He tells me things must always be done his way; when we go out, it's to places of his choice. Occassionally, when my heart is set on doing something special, he'll give in, but then he sulks all evening. If he has a problem and I try to help him out, he accuses me of running his life. Absolutely nothing I do pleases him; there's always a qualifying angle with at least one other girl, since his divorce, but she married someone else. Am I really the selfish and unreasonable person be claims I am?

DELORES C.

ANSWER: It would be such a pleasure, Dolores, to tell you your beau will ultimately become the considerate suitor, and husband you want; but also, I'm afraid you are stuck with a super type of selfishness that grows worse with time. Such a man can bring no happiness to anyone; life with him would be unadulterated misery. This is strong judgment, but true. Your friend has been rejected by two women already (a review of his first marriage will almost certainly indicate that he was the cause of its failure.)

BEWARE SUCH A MAN

That he was ever in love with anyone, is doubtful. He felt attraction, undoubtedly, but no sensation that resembles devotion. Don't continue to have your life spoiled by someone who doesn't appreciate you at all. Why go on trying to please a person who is so palpably concerned with himself? A happy marriage or a happy friendship, is a blend of two congenial personalities, each eager to please the other. When all the concessions, all adjustments are up to one of the parties concerned, the relationship is destroyed. Your fine letter indicates you are a person of intelligence. Don't waste your gifts on an unappreciative male.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a high-school sophomore, in love with a college freshman. Almost every time we go out, he tells me not to get serious over him, since we are both too young. I realize that, but I'm unhappy if I don't see him at least once a week. No, it's been two weeks since he called me. I know he doesn't date other girls.

MARY C.

ANSWER: If you had any conception of the amount of work a serious college student has to do, you would wonder how he gets any time to spend with you. You say he lives on a farm, which undoubtedly adds the further complication of extra work when he gets home. Furthermore, since he's a day student, he must contend with the long trip to and from school. This is quite a formidable program. Don't add to his difficulties by being sulky because he doesn't call often enough. If you want more attention, better latch on to boys in your own school, who are more readily available and not quite so busy.

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend has invited me to his home, but requested that I refrain from smoking while I'm there. I think this is silly and intend to go ahead and smoke anyway.

ELSA.

ANSWER: You believe in going to extremes to create a bad impression. While you have the right to assert yourself, and do as you like, it isn't always the most tactful idea. If smoking means more to you than pleasing your young man and his family, by all means go ahead.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Superior Pancake Recipes

SUPERIOR PANCAKES

If you have a wide-mouthed pitcher into which your rotary beater will fit do your mixing in it, for it facilitates pouring when you are baking these. One and one-half cups unsifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1¼ cups milk, 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg (in pitcher or bowl), add milk and butter and stir to mix then add dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls or pour from pitcher onto preheated but ungreased griddle. Bake on one side until puffed and full of bubbles. Flip over and bake on other side. Pete makes this amount for Marianne and himself and me, but it's supposed to serve four normal appetites.

BUCKWHEAT PANCAKES (yeast)

To ½ cup lukewarm water add 1 teaspoon sugar, and sprinkle in 1 packaged granular yeast. Without stirring let stand 10 minutes, then stir. Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 2 cups buckwheat flour and ½ teaspoon salt. To the soaked yeast add 2 cups water, and stir this until smooth into the dry ingredients, and then beat hard for 1 minute. Cover and refrigerate overnight. In the morning stir in 1 tablespoon molasses, ¼ cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in ½ cup hot water. Let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Bake as directed above for Superior Pancakes.

I hope you have some maple syrup for these.

Seven Die In Flames At N.Y. Country Club

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Seven employees were killed and 26 injured Sunday as flames swept through a staff residence at the Grossinger Hotel and Country Club, largest in the Catskill mountains.

Prompt action by fire fighters kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings at the resort, which had a week-end guest list of 900, including heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marci no, who is in training here.

Most of the guests apparently slept through the early morning blaze, which took 45 minutes to get under control.

None of those injured was reported in serious condition. Many were hurt jumping from windows of the burning 2½-storey frame structure.

Alleged Suicide May Uncover $400,000 Fraud

DETROIT (AP)—An auto firm accountant's apparent suicide led police today on an inquiry which they said might uncover frauds of $300,000 to $400,000.

A full investigation was pending into the death of Edwin D. Smith, 37, whose body was found in an abandoned Detroit river gatehouse Sunday.

Police said embezzlements in large figures might be traced to Smith. They mentioned a total of up to $400,000.

Smith's body, expensively dressed, was found by a paper boy. Smith had been shot between the eyes. Beneath his body lay a new .22 calibre rifle.

Married and the father of two children, Smith had been missing for a week.

Two notes were found on the body. One willed "everything I own" to Mrs. Smith. The other said, "I only did as directed and eventually turned the cash over to the person or persons to whom I was directed to do so. I did not personally benefit from them."

Police said shortages had been uncovered at two companies for which Smith had authority to sign cheques.

ALS SIGN U.S. STAR

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Larry Grigg, the Oklahoma halfback who scored the touchdown that beat Maryland 7-0 in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1, has announced his signing of a professional football contract with Montreal of the Canadian Big Four league.

Grigg, a draft choice of Baltimore Colts in the National Football League, declined to say how much his one-year agreement calls for.

He becomes the second Oklahoma backfield star in as many years to pass up the Colts for a Canadian offer.

Billy Vessels, all-America halfback from Oklahoma in 1952, played with Edmonton last season.

The netminder for the Bears, who finished first in the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A big eight series, skated up to the Georgetown defence, passed to one of his players, took a return pass and fired a waist-high shot into the Raiders net. It was the final game of the regular schedule.

Owned by Harry F. Guggenheim and ridden by jockey Henry Moreno, Turn-To paid $4, $2.90, $2.60. Black Metal, ridden by Tony DeSpirito, was second and paid $6.60 and $4; Maharajah, with Ted Atkinson in the saddle, paid $3.10 for third.

OFFER SOVIET TOUR

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Greg Currie, trainer of Canada's world ice hockey championship team, said Sunday that Russia wants a Canadian team to tour the Soviet Union next year.

Boris Miyakinkov, Soviet team leader, told Currie in an informal meeting that Soviet delegates to the World Ice Hockey Federation's congress will extend a formal invitation to Canada when it opens here today.

The Soviet leader's approach to Currie, made through an interpreter, was informal. Currie would not bind Canada to accept since the invitation would have to go through the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

REJECTED WINS 'CAP

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The King Ranch's favored Rejected, a four-year-old bay with a rather drab history for winning races, brightened the picture tremendously Saturday with a furious stretch run to capture the $143,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker drove the brown Kentucky colt up from a dead last position to win the $105,900 top prize by a length and a quarter over the pace setting Imtros, and Cyclotron, a longshot, ran third, a length behind.

Indian Hemp, the second choice, owned by Alberta Ranches of Calgary, finished fifth. Indian Hemp's stablemate, Thirteen of Diamonds, was a late scratch.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters) —An incensed crowd threw hundreds of bottles onto the ground in the closing stages of Saturday's play in the third cricket test match between England and the West Indies at the Bourda Oval here.

When play ended West Indies were 241 for nine in reply to England's 435.

Find Wreck Of Airliner

In the first brief report from the scene by radio, state highway patrolman George Wilcox told the sheriff's office here: "It's a mess."

The Western Air Lines Convair, en route from the west coast to Minneapolis, disappeared Friday with six passengers and three crew members.

It first was located from the air Sunday.

To Build Atomic Pile In North Of Scotland

LONDON (AP)—A government spokesman announced today Britain will build its first regular atomic pile for civilian power on Scotland's northern shores.

Works Minister Sir David Eccles, opening a Commons debate on the atomic energy development program, "said "a big, fast (atomic) reactor of the breeder type" will be set up at Dounreay, in Caithness, Scotland.

The plant will be the sort that produces more fissionable fuel than it uses. It will feed electricity to Britain's industrial north.

Brothers Charged With Car Theft

HAMILTON (CP)—Two brothers from Sarnia who were picked up by local police Sunday are being returned to their home town today to face a charge of car theft.

Constable Jack Turner took Gordon McDougall, 23, and his brother James, 25, into custody when they asked him why he was towing their car away.

The car was one which provincial police from Sarnia had broadcast on their stolen car list.

Training Camp Notes

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Second baseman Billy Martin and outfielder Gene Woodling signed their contracts Sunday, ending all holdout problems of New York Yankees. Martin is believed to have accepted $17,000 and Woodling $27,000.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jack Robinson arrived Sunday and completed the regular Dodger squad. He started to work out almost immediately at second base, which is the position he is least likely to play.

"I have no idea where I am going to play and don't care too much about it as long as I help the club," said Robinson.

Pee Wee Reese also worked out for the first time.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Dan Topping and Del Webb denied rumors that they'll sell New York Yankees.

In a statement which he phoned here from Miami, Topping said: "I have received numerous telephone calls about a rumor that the Yankee franchise is for sale. We have even had some offers. I would like to make it clear, therefore, that any talk of the sale of the Yankees is completely unfounded.

"I definitely have not, do not and will not contemplate selling any part of the Yankee franchise. I have conferred with my partner, Del Webb in this matter and he co-authors this statement with me."

The rumors began shortly after they sold the Yankee stadium and the land underneath it last December, a deal by which each of the partners realized a clear profit of about $1,500,000.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Clark Griffith, president of Washington Senators, hinted he may trade first baseman Mickey Vernon because of the player's salary demands.

The Senators' owner was reported as saying that Vernon is demanding "more than double" the $19,000 he drew last year.

Vernon, who will be 36 April 22, led the league in hitting last season with a .337 average.

YMCA Regents Drop First Of Series To Kingston 60-54

Doug MacPherson's YMCA Regents, Peterborough's entry in the OABA intermediate "B" group this season, went down six points in their home-and-home series with Kingston Monarchs Saturday night. Playing the first game of the points-to-count series in Kingston, the Regents led until the fourth quarter when Kingston rallied for a 60-54 victory. The return game will be played Saturday at St. Peter's High gym, beginning at 8.15 p.m.

The Monarchs were expected to overpower the Regents after decisively winning the Eastern Ontario section from Belleville Crawfords. But the Regents overpowered the Monarchs until the last quarter.

Relying upon newcomer Bob Smith, former high school stars Dan Griffin and Don Ash, and veteran Bill Edger, the Regents romped to a 17-10 score in the first quarter and then took a 10-point lead, 31-21, at the half.

CLUNG TO LEAD

Throughout the third the Regents clung to their margin as the Monarchs pressed. The MacPherson-coached quintet held only a four-point lead, 40-36 at three-quarters, but were outscored 24-14 in the final minutes.

Smith topped the Regents' scoring with 12 points while teammates Griffin had 11, Edger had 10 and Ash eight. Edger also held the high-scoring Monarchs' star, Duncan, to only 15 points. Other high scorers for Kingston were Hartley, 13, and Soutter, 12.

WHITEY FINALLY IN FOLD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Whitey Ford capitulated Saturday to an ultimatum from New York Yankees and signed his 1954 contract for a reported $15,000. This was a raise of $4,000.

Ford, whose 18-6 record was the best on the world champion baseball team last season, is the last Yankee pitcher to sign.

West Provinces Swept By Storm

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The March lion roared across the Prairies but couldn't chase the lamb out of eastern Canada as March came in.

A cross-Canada check by The Canadian Press early today showed strong winds, snow and dust storms sweeping the West, while much of Ontario had rain and the Atlantic provinces had calm mild weather except for a bit of drizzle in southeastern Nova Scotia.

Biting wind estimated at 35 miles an hour cut Edmonton's Sunday high of 35 above to zero in six hours.

Ambulance Crashes Into Transport

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Police said an ambulance crashed into the side of a jackknifed transport truck on the Queen Elizabeth way two miles west of here late Sunday night.

Also injured was Mrs. E. Swan, who suffered leg injuries. She was travelling with the patient in the ambulance, Mrs. J. Powell of Jordan, who was unhurt.

Police said the truck driver told them the truck jackknifed after he applied his brakes suddenly. He said that just as he stepped out with flares the ambulance hit the side of his vehicle and jammed itself under the trailer section.

Aged Man Hurt Driver Surrenders

LINDSAY (ENS) — Harold Greer, 23 of 156 Wolsley St., Peterborough, is charged with hit and run driving after a Saturday night accident in which a 67-year-old Lindsay man was knocked down while crossing Kent St. Greer gave himself up on Sunday afternoon after consulting a lawyer, while local and provincial police searched for the driver of the car that struck Ernie Bell of Sussex St. North in Lindsay. Bell suffered severe head and facial lacerations in the mishap and was rushed to the Ross Memorial hospital, where his condition is reported as satisfactory.

Police Sgt. Gordon Eberts investigated and said the car which struck Bell did not stop. A wide search for the vehicle was started, but discontinued on Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon, Greer, after consulting a Lindsay Lawyer, reported to the Lindsay police and was taken into custody on a charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident. He was released on $2,000 bail for an appearance in police court today.

Indian Boy Puzzles Boston Policemen

His answer was a rattle of syllables in a language none of them had ever heard.

Just as they were about to call the anthropology department at Harvard, a man rushed into the police station and hugged the little boy.

He was a Canadian, Weldon Patles, who had come with his little son, Freeman, from Newcastle, N.B., a week ago.

"He's a Mic Mac Indian," said the father.

Snow, Ice Disrupt British Transport

LONDON (AP)—Snow and ice disrupted rail, air and road services over 50,000 square miles of Britain today. Yet in London, after an early morning swirl of snow, it was bright and springlike.

Hundreds of thousands of London commuters were late in getting to work. Frozen points on rail lines had delayed their trains for as much as three hours. Services returned to normal later in the day.

Eclipse Of Sun May Provide Measurements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force said Sunday an eclipse of the sun next June 30—first since 1947 to span the North American and European continents and the last to do so for the next 200 years—may provide more exact measurement of long distances.

The Air Research and Development Command at Baltimore plans to make history's most comprehensive study of a solar eclipse. The command said it would test three methods of measuring long distances—especially transoceanic distances—during the 2¾ hours of the eclipse.

"All are expected to give much more precise knowledge of the actual distance between points in the United States and Europe," the announcement said.

The air force said preparations for observing the eclipse have been under way for a year "because there will not be another total eclipse that spans North America and Europe until the year 2151."

ONTARIO POST

This eclipse actually will affect more than two continents. It will occur as the shadow of the moon races 3,000 miles an hour along an arc from Nebraska, at sunrise, to northern India at sunset.

The air force will have major observation sites along the centre line of the eclipse path and minor sites on the edges of the 80-mile-wide shadow—more than a dozen in all.

They include James Bay, Ont.; Knob Lake, Que.; the Okak slands off northeast Labrador; Greenland; the Faroes or Shetland islands; Norway; Sweden and Iran, plus satellite stations near the outer edges of the eclipse path.

"Diplomatic negotiations have assured the expeditions access to all sites in foreign nations," the air force said.

NEWFOUNDLAND ROADS—Despite the $29,000,000 spent on Newfoundland highways since confederation, it is impossible to drive from one end of the province to the other. Only 126 miles of the province's 6,500 miles of road are paved. This map shows the circuitous route of the road system, existing and proposed, including parts of the trans-Canada highway that have been completed. (CP Photo)

Roads In Newfoundland Still In Primitive Stage

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Although $29,000,000 has been spent on highways in Newfoundland since Confederation in 1949, it still is impossible to drive from one end of the province to the other.

But some progress is being made. Premier Smallwood says it should be possible within four years to drive from St. John's, at the eastern end, to St. Anthony on the northwestern tip.

It will be at least 1956 however before motorists can drive from St. John's to Port aux Basques on the southwestern tip of the island, where the ferry connects with Sydney in Nova Scotia.

TRANS-CANADA ROUTE

The route from St. John's to Port aux Basques is the one proposed for the trans-Canada highway. This would cover roughly 600 miles in the same direction taken by the railway—curving northwest from St. John's and then southwest to Port aux Basques.

Motorists at present cross Newfoundland by loading their cars on the train. Although there is a total of 6,500 miles of road in the province, only 126 miles are paved and another 2,000 gravelled; many miles of roadway are in separate pockets.

On the proposed St. John's-Port aux Basques route, only 123 miles are rough graded to trans-Canada standards. At least 100 miles of new road will have to be cut through rough terrain, including rivers and bogs. Nobody will even guess when this highway will be fully completed.

There are three gaps in the proposed trans-Canada route. One stretches for 57 miles between Clarenville and Gambo. Another eight-mile gap lies between Middle Brook and Soulis Brook. The third is a 42-mile stretch east of St. George's to a point about 12 miles from South Branch. The latter gap, not far north of Port aux Basques, is expected to be completed this year, giving the ferry terminal good road connections with Corner Brook, Grand Falls and Gander.

INDEPENDENT BOARDS

Road construction in Newfoundland had a troubled history until 1925 when the highways commission was established. Before then, road building was left to local boards, although finances came from the government in form of grants. These boards, operating independently, had no standard methods.

Even when the highways commission was established, construction was confined mainly to the Avalon peninsula where half the island's population lived. Five years later when roads were beginning to connect through the island, depression struck.

When stability came back to the province in 1934, the roads were in poor condition.

For the next few years road finances were mainly spent on repairs and when construction did resume, it was on a reduced scale. Construction picked up in the late '30s, but it was short-lived because of the Second World War.

BIG PROJECTS

During the last five years 318 miles of highways have ben constructed, 145 miles brought up to provincial standards and 123 miles of snowmobile trails have been built.

One of the most important construction projects now under way will connect the mining town of Buchans with Badger, on the route of the proposed trans-Canada highway in central Newfoundland. Buchans now is connected with the outside world by a railway line.

Due to lack of roads there are many transportation problems, but every community has its own system. In the north, dog teams are still common, when there's not enough money around to buy a snowmobile. Horses are often used in the outlying districts.

Boats are still the best means of transportation in the outports except in an emergency, when it's the airplane. Planes of Eastern Provincial Airways pentrate the entire province on emergency missions. Canadian and United States Air Forces also co-operate in this service.

Whose Cleaned?

HAMILTON (CP) — Some dirty thief stole William Groves' bathtub. Groves told police the new tub, worth $55, was sitting packed and crated in his backyard Saturday. Late in the afternoon it was clean gone.

Buff Bathing Found Legal If After Dark

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—(NEA)—Don't look now, but they've discovered that it's illegal to go swimming in the nude in the Atlantic Ocean at this popular seaside resort—if you time it right.

When the law permitting bathing in the raw was passed by Atlantic City officials back in 1878 there were movable bathhouses which were pulled close to the surf. Therefore, on a moonlight night it was possible to get out of your clothes and into the surf without too much exposure.

Today the nearest bathhouses are 300 feet and more from the surf, so nude bathing after dark is not such a simple process—from a legal standpoint.

Frank M. Butler, Atlantic City historian and retired newsman, wants the city fathers to repeal the "buff bathing" ordinance. Such a repeal would be a publicity move to give some nation-wide attention to the fact that Atlantic City this year is celebrating its 100th anniversary.

The 1878 law says it's illegal to bathe in the surf between Arkansas and Georgia avenues from 4 a.m. to 10 p.m. and in the surf elsewhere from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. when "so clothed as to prevent the indecent exposure of the body."

That left six hours uncovered, so to speak, and nude swimming after dark seems to have been a popular sport back in the 1800's. Said the Atlantic City Review in 1885:

"Many go down to the beach at night and take a buff bath. Buff baths are the proper caper around 1 a.m.

Maybe, comments an Atlantic City press agent, this is why the "Nineties" were so "gay."

"When the 1878 law was passed," says newsman Butler, "they had bathhouses close to the surf. Whether a nude could get away with it in the water or not today the problem would be to get back and forth without getting locked up.

In 1878 nobody wanted to get sunburned—or tanned. Women's bathing suits all included skirts, and took seven yards of wool flannel. Only the face and hands shows. All wore big straw hats like you use in the hayfield."

No female was allowed to even roll down her stockings here until 1921, and it was 1928 before they were allowed to discard them altogether. Men took shirts off by 1940. Today, bathers are not allowed on the boardwalk.

"In the Eighties," says Butler, "some women wore padded suits with curves in the right places.

"Bloomer suits started in 1907, but at first no women would wear them without a skirt."

Except, that is, after dark.

Scientists Work To Find Cure For Leukemia Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—Twice the little boy rallied. Twice he became nearly well as drugs helped him fight against acute leukemia, the blood cancer.

But the end was inevitable. Keener Bob Mosley, once gay and still brave, died at the age of 7½.

His grieving grandfather, J. K. Wadley, wondered why it must happen, why victims of leukemia cannot be saved.

"Because we simply don't know enough yet," said the physician, Dr. James M. Hill.

The grandfather who lost his only grandson took up the challenge. A lumber-and-oil millionaire, he dedicated part of his fortune to establish the J. K. and Susie L. Wadley research institute and blood centre here.

TREATS AND TRAINS

It is unique, in that it treats, studies and trains.

It treats patients with all varieties of blood diseases—leukemia, anaemias, the bleeding disease haemophilia, diseases of too many red blood cells, diseases of slow or too rapid blood coagulation.

It puts teams of scientists into research to solve disease mysteries such as, what are antibodies and how do they behave? Antibodies can be the soldiers to fight disease germs. Or they can be agents of destruction, like the RH factor, antibodies which can destroy a baby's blood.

The institute is a blood collection centre, with 30,000 persons last year donating blood to the centre's blood bank. It can supply any type of blood in any quantity, at any time. It supplies 90 per cent of the whole blood sent to Texas City in 1947 for victims of the disastrous harbor explosion.

CONTROLS NOT FOUND

Physically, the centre is a two-storey building with laboratories, treatment rooms, blood donor rooms and reception rooms. On the human side, it is doctors, scientists, nurses, technicians (80 employees in all), and thousands of citizens who contribute blood.

As yet, research has not turned up controls for leukemia, but all the newest treatments for leukemia are used here, and better ones are being sought.

As an outpost for new knowledge, the research offers a chance to answer the grandfather's question: "Why did Keener Bob have to die?"

No Soap Operas, No Gore Muscovites Have Their TV

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian television has no soap operas, no thrillers for children, no mystery plays, no disc jockeys, no comedians—and no commercials. Muscovites love it.

The U.S.S.R. has three station—Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. Altogether there may be somewhere around 250,000 TV receivers in use, most of them in and around Moscow.

The principal Soviet television station—in Moscow—is on the air 20 to 23 hours a week. Programs start at 8 each evening except Thursday (Thursday is the station's day off) and run to about 11 p.m.

On Sunday afternoons there is always a special childrens' program which runs about three hours. Sometimes on weekdays and Sundays there are special sports broadcasts, usually soccer games from the Dynamo Stadium.

Soviet television sets, selling in Moscow have four or five-inch screens. The Russians hope to get a set with an eight or 10-inch screen in mass production in the next year.

Russian stations present full-length motion pictures and plays from the studio or direct from the threatre; opera and ballet direct from the Bolshoi opera theatre, and what they call "concerts." These are variety programs presenting singers, elocutionists, acrobats, dancers and the like.

According to plans of the Malenkov government, Soviet television is to undergo tremendous expansion in the next few years. New stations will be built, with coaxial cables to link them in a network.

PETERBOROUGH OFFICE: TELEPHONE 2-3684

Dear Readers:

I want to thank you for the opportunity to appear before you in writing and would like to say at the start that my remarks are apt to be something in the nature of a family topic.

The title of these remarks is "WHERE ARE WE GOING FROM HERE."

The pronoun "WE" could be taken to mean all of our customers across the dominion which it is my responsibility to address. We are engaged in the manufacture and distribution of home-cleaning devices—we share one another's troubles as well as prosperity. When times are good, you and your family and our employees buy the product that WE have to sell; when times are not so good we all pull in our belts together. It is quite natural, then, that you should have an indication where we, as a Company, and as a not-inconsiderable part of a great industry, are headed.

In 1947, we took the first step to enter the Vacuum Cleaner Industry in Canada, after completing an expansion program in the British Isles and the United States. We have expanded since 1947 from coast to coast in Canada and in consequence we are able to supply merchandise direct to the consumer at manufacturers' prices.

Permit me to tell you most emphatically that our decision to expand was based upon as solid a foundation of information about the present and future prospects of this Country as could be obtained. We have improved our public relationship in Canada through the installation of a factory in Toronto, and modern workshops and warehousing facilities in the principal cities across the dominion.

During the last year or so, State Vacuum Stores of Canada Limited has come in for a good deal of favourable mention in the press. We have become, almost over night as one would say, the white haired boy of Canada's Vacuum Cleaner Supply Industry.

Spending by consumers for the purpose of household cleaning devices is expected to increase this year, so why not make an early start and try for yourself one of these bargains in your own home on a free trial basis.

I hope you will give us a trial because we CAN give service after purchase. In conclusion, we wish one and all continued happiness and prosperity.

Yours very truly,

A. R. OSBORNE,

Gas Pipeline Will Not Start To East Canada

EDMONTON (CP) — Provincial government sources Saturday denied a Toronto report that construction of the $300,000,000 trans-Canada gas pipeline to eastern Canada won't start this year because of Alberta's delay in granting an export permit.

Tentative date for the provincial petroleum and natural gas conservation board to hear an amended application by Trans-Canada Pipe Line Co. for the permit has been set at March 22 in Calgary. Company circles say all preliminary preparations undoubtedly will be completed for the hearing to proceed on that date.

The revised application was made necessary by the amalgamation of Trans-Canada Pipe Line Co. and Western Pipe Lines, which previously had separate applications considered by the board.

"Everything is being expedited as much as possible," a government official said. "Certain preliminaries have to be taken but the way is being cleared. If there is any delay, it is not at the Alberta end."

Top Hat, Striped Trousers, Umbrella London Stock Man Beckons 'Waiter'

LONDON (AP)—When a member on the floor of the London stock exchange needs a telegraph blank he calls for a "waiter."

To attract the attention of that attendant, who wears a red and blue uniform, he may wave an umbrella.

It isn't raining inside, of course, but the stock exchange member has the umbrella, and if he is a stickler for old forms he will be wearing a top hat and striped trousers. He doesn't seem to be in much of a hurry about anything.

The vast market, which lists 10,000 securities issues worth more than $70,000,000,000 has shown a great spurt of activity in recent months. Trading in stocks and shares has been going on at a tempo reflecting the liveliness with which British and Commonwealth business is expanding, reorganizing and risking new adventures.

TRADITIONS GO DEEP

The stock exchange takes boom or bust in its own steady stride. It finishes the day's work with calm efficiency. Its well - oiled machinery looks like a sturdy automobile of an old model.

The exchange here observes its traditions and that accounts for the "waiter" who brings the telegraph blank. Two centuries ago London stock traders used to meet in Jonathan's coffee house in Change alley, and the attendants who ran their errands were the waiters of the place. So an attendant in the exchange's modern quarters remains a waiter.

The umbrellas, which many traders insist on bringing to the exchange floor, leaning on them and pointing with them, had an ancient use. Traders' offices were in the little courts and unlikely alleys around the exchange. In days befort the telephone they had to dash back and forth frequently, and in London that often meant getting wet. Now the umbrella is a part of the uniform of the "city" men.

There has been agitation recently in the financial district against a very slight tendency to become informal. Some exchange members showed up with bright ties, and some didn't button their jackets all the way up. The trend has been checked, and the topper and umbrella are more firmly entrenched than ever.

But there has been some accommodation to change. Within recent months the exchange has built a glass-enclosed gallery from which anyone sauntering in from Throgmorton street can watch the traders at work. The exchange has decided that it should cease to be a mystery and instead should seek popularity and understanding of its work.

"It is not generally recognized that millions of people—estimated at two-thirds of the adult population—many of whom think they have no interest in the stock exchange, are nevertheless, directly or indirectly investors in securities," said Sir John Braithwaite, 69-year-old chairman of the exchange council.

"The savings of every person who has an insurance policy, or who contributes to a pension scheme or a savings fund, are invested largely though the stock exchange, so the operation and efficiency of the exchange are of the widest possible interest."

UNUSUAL RELATIONSHIP

Exchange members are proud of their organization, and believe particularly that the relationship of traders in London is unique among the exchanges of the earth.

There are about 3,600 authorized traders—brokers and jobbers—and their functions are strictly defined. One man can't be both.

The jobber is a principal, he or his firm holding stocks they are prepared to buy and sell. Jobbers saunter around their stations on the exchange floor waiting for brokers to approach.

The broker is an equal member, but he doesn't deal in his own securities. He is an agent of the investor, working for fixed commissions.

The broker with an order to execute goes to a jobber who specialized in the type of stock concerned, and what they and many other jobbers and brokers say to each other in the end fixes prices. According to the rules the broker doesn't say whether he wants to buy or sell. He merely asks prices the jobber offers. The jobber may say something like "29 and 30," meaning he will buy a certain stock at 29 shillings or sell at 30 shillings.

If the broker isn't satisfied he tries to find a jobber with a price suiting him, and only after getting a satisfactory offer does the broker reveal whether he is buying or selling. The system, say members, shakes every price to its proper level and provides a sensitive instrument reflecting the current judgment of the business world on any prarticular stock.

Broker and jobber scribble notes in little memorandum books detailing a transaction, but no documents are exchanged.

"My word is my bond," is the motto of the market. The verbal commitment is accepted by both sides, and offices of the traders promptly complete the transaction.

Should one party of the transaction fail to carry out his word, a traditional stock exchange instrument—the hammer—is fetched from its case. It is really a hammer, and after loud banging the appropriate official announces the misdeeds of the trader. He is ruined, of course, suffers many penalties and is banished from the world of business. The exchange, jealous of its reputation for utmost probity, uses a special fund to compensate any investor who has suffered from sharp practice by a member.

There has been very little need to use the hammer in modern times.

Study Habits Of Lamprey

KINGSTON (CP)—A man who has been studying the habits of lamprey for the last year says the greatest breeding grounds for the troublesome fish in the Great Lakes are streams from the Spanish river to St. Mary's channel north of Manitoulin island.

Dr. F. E. J. Fry, professor of limnology, University of Toronto, Saturday night described lamprey as the parasite fish which since 1940 have wiped out lake trout in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron and are making inroads into trout and whitefish in Georgian bay.

Dr. Fry made the statements in an address to a wildlife conference attended by about 60 Ontario wildlife and fisheries experts.

He said he and J. C. Budd of the Ontario lands department have been studying lake currents in waters around Manitoulin island. They believe these currents carry the lamprey from the mainland rivers into Lake Huron and Georgian bay.

He said trout are the first to be killed by lamprey while whitefish survive longer.

"There is a possibility that remnant of trout will linger in Georgian bay. Whitefish fishing in Georgian bay will be good for the next two years."

Commission Changes Freight Rates

Cut West Charges Boost Eastern Give Equal Scale

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners today laid down an equalized scale of basic freight rates for Canada to go into effect March 1, 1955.

The new scale, generally cutting western rates and boosting those in the east to bring regional levels closer together, substitutes for one the board proposed tentatively in December, 1952.

The commissioners have made changes in the original equalization program and also have retarded the effective date. The initial target date was Jan. 1, 1954. Last year it was put back to Jan. 1, 1955.

Today's order says the scale must be effective "not later than" March 1, 1955. The railways have called for a minimum of one year to make it operative.

The board's order directs equalization, between the Pacific coast and the Quebec-New Brunswick border, of the railways' "class" rates. These are the ceiling charges which carry about one-fifth the $1,000,000,000-a-year rail freight business and on which many other tolls are based indirectly.

ALL TRAFFIC

All traffic within the Atlantic provinces is exempted from equalization, in line with the 1951 parliamentary legislation ordering the board to level off rates as between different regions. The Atlantic rates are protected under the Maritime freight rates act of 1927.

Concurrent with the effective date of the new order, a board-directed general reduction of five-per-cent on previous ceiling rates within Western Canada will be wiped out. This went into effect last Nov. 15 as an "interim" measure pending prospective reductions in the equalized scale.

It was accompanied by permission to the railways to boost Ontario-Quebec class rates by a compensating 10 per cent, and this permission also will be rescinded as of next March 1.

Some major departures from the tentative board order of 1952 are contained in today's scale.

The chief one is that the new tolls will have a sharper "rate of taper" on long-haul traffic. This means that the charge per mile will dip more as the haul lengthens, cutting down the spread in charges between short and long runs.

This provision is expected to be of particular benefit to the three most westerly provinces in the shipment of their products

Sweet Innocence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Officers, seeking to serve six traffic warrants on Theodore Martin Sr., went to his home Saturday.

They said Mrs. Martin assured officer Jeremiah Taylor that Martin, an auto mechanic, was not at home.

Taylor went into the living room. There were empty chairs, a rug on the floor, an unoccupied sofa—but no Martin Sr.

And there was Papa Martin underneath.

4,000 Rioters Leave Khartoum

Naguib Departs For Home Sudan Quiet Again

KHARTOUM, Sudan (CP)—Police today shot dead two persons who forcibly resisted a search for arms following bloody riots here Monday.

The deaths came as troops and police searched all Sudanese tribesmen entering and leaving this capital. Unofficial estimates said between 100 and 150 persons have been arrested.

Earlier, a train packed with 4,000 members of the Umma (independence) party left here for south Sudan following police orders to get out of town.

At the same time Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib cut short his visit to Khartoum and flew back to Cairo.

The death toll from the riots rose to 33 today with the deaths of three persons critically injured in the clash among police, Umma followers and factions favoring the Sudan's union with Egypt.

CAIRO (AP) — One hundred and eighteen persons were arrested in connection with Sunday's rioting in Cairo, in which 13 were wounded by police gunfire, an announcement said today.

The Umma party, which wants independence for the Sudan, issued a statement accusing the government of installing "a reign of terror" in the capital. It blamed police for the riot, saying they had tried to halt Umma followers who were on their way to see Naguib.

NAGUIB GOES HOME

Khartoum was quiet as Naguib departed today.

He told reporters he plans to return March 10 to attend the postponed opening of the Sudan's first parliament "if circumstances permit."

Newly restored as Egypt's chief executive, Gen. Naguib came here Monday for the opening of the parliament, born of the promise that the territory by 1956 could choose its own course after half a century under the joint rule of Egypt and Britain.

But rioting by more than 30,000 demonstrators, agitating for and against Naguib, was so violent that the ceremony had to be postponed. A British police colonel and 17 policemen were among the dead. More than 100 persons were injured. Thirty-two tribal leaders were held for questioning.

A state of emergency was declared after police gunfire stopped spear-wielding Sudanese tribesmen from invading the house of Governor-General Sir Robert Howe, where Naguib was staying.

Shops reopened in Khartoum today and the population went about its usual business.

Wounded Member Critically Ill, Others Recovering

By WILLIAM G. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (A)—Congress added 30 guards to the capitol and resumed business as usual today, although still shaken by Monday's pistol attack by Puerto Rican fanatics which wounded five Congressmen in the House of Representatives. Representative Alvin Bentley, multi-millionaire Republican from Michigan and most seriously wounded of the five, remained in critical condition. In an 11:45 a.m. bulletin, the 35-year-old lawmaker's physician still gave him only a 50-50 chance to recover despite emergency surgery and four blood transfusions. Bentley, hit in liver and lung, was in an oxygen tent.

The other wounded men were all reported to be doing well.

PRAY FOR WOUNDED

About 200 members were in their seats when the House convened at noon. They stood with bowed heads as Rev. Bernard Braskamp, chaplain, prayed for the recovery of the victims, for strength and faith for their relatives, and for forgiveness for their assailants.

The four Puerto Ricans held for the attack were described by police as showing no signs of remorse.

Two of them, in interviews with reporters Monday night, had declared they were not sorry.

Lolita Lebron, 34, whoc laimed ther ingleader's role, said, "I do what I must for my country."

She said the attack was intended to dramatize the demand by Puerto Rican Nationalists for independence for the island.

One of her companions, Rafael Concel Miranda, brushed aside questions about the attack. "We don't talk about the little things," he said.

Also held are Andrew F. Cordero, 29, and Irving Flores, 27. All the Puerto Ricans are from New York City.

LONG TERMS POSSIBLE

U. S. Attorney Leo Rover announced the government will begin presenting evidence against the four to a federal grand jury Wednesday.

They are charged with assault with intent to kill against each of the five Congressmen. If convicted, they could receive sentences of up to 75 years in prison.

If Bentley should die, the charge would be changed to murder which is punishable in the District of Columbia by death in the electric chair.

In addition to the extra guards at the capitol, security precautions were tightened at the White House and at key department buildings.

Interior Secretary James McKay and Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson cancelled a proposed trip to Puerto Rico.

Auto Association Urges Cut In Car Tax

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian automobile association today urged a major cut in the 15-per-cent excise tax on automobiles and parts on grounds that owning a car is a basic right, not a luxury.

"The car is as much a part of the Canadian way of life as the telephone," the association said in a brief presented to Finance Minister Abbott.

The association, which says it represents 300,000 Canadian motorists, said car owners are burdened with an unfair proportion of sales and excise taxes.

The 15-per-cent excise tax on automobiles, rubber tires and tubes netted the government $89,883,000 in the year ended March 31, 1953. Another $72,117,000 was collected through imposition of a 10-per-cent sales tax, or a total of $162,000,000.

"The excise tax and sales tax combined amounted to more than the total amount of wages paid in the automobile industry," the brief said.

The average Canadian motorist paid $424 in taxes to the federal government, made up of $254.40 in excise tax and $165.60 in sales tax. The owner of a car in the United States paid a federal tax of $134.

The brief said about 36 per cent of the adult population use a car every day, while another 3,500,000 persons use a car at least once a week. Approximately 8 per cent of car use is for essential travel and 65 per cent of every 100 miles of travel is directly connected with how Canadians earn a living.

The association is composed of representatives of the Alberta Motor Association, Maritime Automobile Association, Royal Club of Canada, Quebec Automobile Club, Manitoba Motor League, Ontario Motor League, Saskatchewan Motor Club, Victoria Automobile Club and British Columbia Automobile Association.

Tito Asks World To Recognize Red China

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito says he believes war is further away than it was two years ago, and that the world should recognize Communist China.

He also hopes and believes Yugoslavia's relations with Russia will improve, but says they haven't gone far beyond routine diplomatic exchanges.

He set forth his views at a dinner given in his honor last Thursday by Belgrade's foreign press association. His remarks were released for publication today, with direct quotation barred.

It was a 5½-hour session, Tito's longest non-stop meeting with the foreign correspondents since he took office. He was in a jovial mood and sidestepped none of the questions tossed at him.

TEN MAJOR POINTS

The Yugoslav chief made these major points:

1. His administration plans to avoid participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and proposed European Defence Community but has no objection to its partners in the "little three" defence alliance—Greece and Turkey, both already NATO members—participating in a common European security organization.

2. The West should recognize the Peiping government.

3. Yugoslavia still intends to pursue an independent policy and never permit any country to interfere with its internal affairs.

4. Normalization of relations between Yugoslavia and the Russian-led Cominform, which broke with Tito in 1948, is moving forward at a much slower pace than anticipated.

5. Neither Yugoslavia nor the Cominform countries have made a move to resume trade relations. But Yugoslavia still hopes to re-establish normal trade relations with its European neighbors.

6. Approves of such defence organizations as NATO as long as they do not take on aggressive policies.

Canadian-Built Ships Supplying Vietminh Rebels

Written for The Canadian Press By F. K. WU

HONG KONG (CP)—The Canadian-built Ming Sung ships are being used to supply the Communist Vietminh rebels in French Indo-China, according to shipping circles here. These informants say the vessels are carrying military equipment and supplies to Haikou in Hainan island and to Kwankhouen, supply centres for the Red troops fighting the French government forces in Indo-China.

The ships were built in Canada after the war for the Ming Sung Company, under loans guaranteed by the Canadian government. When the Chinese Nationalist government collapsed, payments ended, and Canada has been unable to get the ships back.

(In the Commons at Ottawa acting prime minister Howe said Feb. 24 that $12,723,000 is still owed on the vessels. He expressed some hope of recovering the money.)

The seven vessels, which had been based here, suddenly left two years ago for Canton.

Though built originally for service on the Yangtze river, the ships are well adapted to coastal waters.

Communist China has been very much in need of ships for coastal service, particularly in view of Canton reports that more troops are being sent to Hainan island in anticipation of commando raids and possible invasion by Nationalist troops now based on the island of Formosa.

Chinese observers here said the Canadian-built ships also would be useful in transporting troops to such coastal ports as Swatow, Amoy and Foochow in view of the absence of railroads in that area, where highway travel is slow.

The seven Ming Sung vessels could come in handy for transferring troops among these ports, since the high command at Peiping cannot afford to concentrate—before an emergency—too many troops at any single point.

Puerto Rico Gov't Condemns Shooting

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rica (AP)—The Puerto Rican legislature adopted a resolution today condemning the shooting by Puerto Rican Nationalists of five Congressmen on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives Monday.

The resolution was supported by the majority Popular party and the Statehood party, both of which favor continued association of Puerto Rico with the United States. Members of the small Independence party, which seeks freedom for the island through peaceful means, abstained on the balloting although a resolution proposed by the party also condemned the shootings.

The independence faction's resolution went on to lay the blame for the incident on the "present colonial system" in Puerto Rico. It was not voted on.

Increased Pay For Teachers

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Increased salaries for teachers and efforts to improve tourist accommodation were forecast in the speech from the throne at the opening today of the Prince Edward Island legislature.

The speech, read by Lieutenant-Governor J. W. L. Prowse, also mentioned the move toward formation of an economic council for the Atlantic provinces and said the government hopes the four provinces "may benefit from co-operation and joint action."

It said the government is considering formal establishment of such a council as suggested at a meeting of the four provinces and the Maritime Board of Trade last September.

Minister Opposed Resident Licences

TORONTO (CP)—Maurice Tremblay, executive assistant to Lands Minister Gemmell, said Monday the minister is personally opposed to introducing resident fishing licences in Ontario.

The suggestion that Ontario residents pay $1 a year for an angling licence to fish Ontario waters was made in a white paper, prepared by lands department officials, advisers, and forestry engineers. The paper was presented to the legislature by Mr. Gemmell a week ago.

The legislature's standing committee on fish and game, which will consider the white paper, has turned down the licence plan several times in the last few years.

Soviet Republic Has New Premier

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet republic of Azerbaijan, bordering on Iran, has a new premier, Baku radio disclosed today.

He is Sadik Hadzhiyaraliyevich Rakhimov, former minister of industry. The broadcast did not say what happened to Tehmur Kuliev, appointed premier last summer after his predecessor had fallen into disgrace.

The predecessor, Mirdjafar Bagirov, was a supporter of Lavrenty Beria, Russia's former security chief who was executed late last year.

Glutted Elevators May Curtail Shipping

MONTREAL (CP) — Glutted grain elevators may curtail operations of ships on the St. Lawrence river and the Great Lakes this year.

I. G. McEwen, traffic manager of the N. M. Paterson Steamship Line, said Monday in an interview that some grain ships may delay the start of their shipping season until grain is shifted from down-river elevators to overseas markets.

"At the present time, there is just no space available," said Mr. McEwen. "Unless more grain moves out early in the season we're just plugged up tight."

Some shipowners said Sunday the outlook for the coming season is gloomy unless foreign countries start some heavy buying of Canadian wheat.

Malenkov Lauds Stalin As "Immortal"

By DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters) — Georgi Malenkov, Soviet prime minister, now admits he cannot write Josef Stalin out of the pages of history.

After almost a year of subtle attempts to sink Stalin into obscurity, the Kremlin has changed tactics and lauded his memory.

Moscow radio Monday night solemnly broadcast at dictation speed an official eulogy of Stalin with instructions to provincial newspapers to publish it March 5—the first anniversary of the Russian leader's death.

Malenkov had dropped his predecessor and teacher into the background while building up the idea of "collective leadership" in contrast to the "leader-worship" of the Stalin era.

RARELY MENTIONED

For months on end, Stalin's name was rarely and only incidentally mentioned in Soviet newspaper. A new edition of the official history of the Communist party last summer mentioned Stalin's name only twice.

But by fall, there were signs of a comeback. Stalin's poster began to appear again as big as ever. The Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum in Moscow's Red square, closed after Stalin was emblamed, was reopened to the public in November.

With his restoration as the "beloved leader of the people," Stalin joins Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, as an "immortal."

Flags Fly To Honor Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — White-and-golden flags of the state of Vatican City, of which Pope Pius is sovereign, flew today in honor of his 78th birthday and the 15th anniversary of his pontificate.

Telegrams and messages from all parts of the world continued to pour in, greeting the pontiff and expressing wishes for his full recovery from the stomach ailment that has confined him to his apartment for 36 days.

Vatican sources said this morning that his improvement of the [illegible]

Most heartening news of his ailment was given Monday by the Vatican newspaper, l'Osservatore Romano, which described his general condition as "good."

Considerable time is needed yet for the pontiff's cure, it added.

2 Helicopters Crash Six Men Killed

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Six U. S. Navy men died today in the flaming crash of two helicopters a mile from downtown Key West.

The helicopters collided 100 feet above the ground seconds after taking off on a training exercise, flying in formation.

Each helicopter carried three men.

The six were members of helicopter anti-submarine squadron No. 1, formed two years ago. The navy said this was the first patrol accident here.

Take Wage Cut Avoid Layoffs

HESPELER (CP) — About 500 employees of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited will get a 13-per-cent reduction in wages as a result of a union vote Sunday.

The reduction was aimed at helping the company keep its mill in operation and prevent further layoffs. The amount was to be taken from weekly cheques. Existing pay rates—which average $1.11 an hour—will not be affected.

Working members of the Woollen Workers Union of Hespeler (Ind.) voted 163 in favor and 39 against the wage reduction. Results of the vote were submitted to management after the meeting and the company agreed to the plan.

150 LAID OFF

About 150 mill and office workers were laid off Friday when a 25-per-cent production cut in some lines was announced. The company normally employs about 1,200, but recession in the Canadian textile industry has resulted in cutbacks and layoffs so that the working force now is about 600.

A three-man committee, representing union and management and headed by an independent authority, is to review the company's operating position monthly to determine if the wage reduction continues to be justified.

Won't Interfere Unions' Rights

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—R. W. H. McMillan, Liberal member of parliament for Welland, said Monday no member of the Commons, which now is studying revisions to the Criminal Code, wants to interfere with the rights of unions to bargain or strike.

He was addressing the opening session of the week-long sixth annual Canadian convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.)

Kent Rowley of Montreal, president of the National Textile Council, said recently-passed Quebec legislation dealing with Communist [illegible] public service employees' unions to strike were part of a massive attack being made on unions.

McCarthy Asks Explanation McLeod's Curtailed Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy said today that he will demand an official explanation of State Secretary Dulles order stripping R. W. Scott McLeod of authority over state department personnel.

The department announced Monday that McLeod, a close personal friend of the Wisconsin Republican senator, will have charge only of security and consular matters from now on. As personnel officer, he had hiring and firing powers.

Learning of the order, McCarthy told reporters "this will make it infinitely more difficult for McLeod to do a good job" of ridding the department of subversives.

DULLES AWAY

The Senator presumably will try to get the explanation from Dulles, but he didn't say so in so many words. Dulles now is in Caracas, Venezuela, attending a meeting of American republics.

Democratic senators meanwhile have served notice that they want from chairman Philip Young of the Civic Service Commission more details above government "security risk" firings on which he released Monday night a long-sought breakdown.

Young sent to Congress a report stating that out of 1,782 security separations by the Eisenhower administration between May 28 and Dec. 31 of last year 355 involved persons with subversive information in their files.

President Eisenhower has said his administration got rid of 2,200 security risks in the first year in office.

St. Laurent Not In Asia To Settle Indian Troubles

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP)—Canada's prime minister, who in the last 10 days visited both India and Pakistan, says he wasn't a "meddler" while talking with leaders of the two disputing Asiatic powers.

Just as he visited Pakistan it was announced that the Moslem state would receive military aid from the United States, a move opposed by Hindu China. Since the Indian sub-continent was divided in 1947, India and Pakistan have been disputing possession of the rich state of Kashmir.

India's Prime Minister Nehru, with whom Prime Minister St. Laurent held several talks last week, Monday spurned a U. S. offer of aid similar to that granted Pakistan.

(In New York, The Times says today in a Colombo dispatch that Prime Minister St. Laurent "denied" that he was "an emissary to the East for the purpose of inducing . . . Nehru to keep an open mind on Western defence plans."

(The dispatch said the Canadian leader was told at a press conference Monday that "Indian reports had said his visit, following closely on those of top United States officials, had been interpreted as an effort to convice Mr. Nehru on Western defence plans, especially in the Middle East."

("Denying this," the dispatch adds, "the Canadian leader said his visit had been conceived earlier and had had nothing to do with the others. He conceded, however, that he had had some "confidential" talks.

The Canadian made it plain to reporters at the press conference that he is not in Asia to mediate India-Pakistan disagreements.

Run Over By Car Boy Sues For Damages

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow has reserved judgment on a damage action against Michael Drumm of 290 Westcott St., driver of a car that ran over 13-year-old Larry Heard of 629 Hawley St. on Sept. 16, 1950.

As a result of the accident Larry was seriously injured and doctors doubted that he would live. He was in Civic Hospital for nine weeks with severe head injuries, right leg fractured midway between the knee and hip and ribs broken on both his left and right side.

While in hospital he had his left kidney removed.

As Larry is under 21 years he is suing through by his "next friend" (his father, Stanley Heard, who is also a party to the action).

They are asking $1,483 for special damages (out of pocket texpenses), and $50,000 general damages (compensation to be decided by the judge for pain and suffering and permanent disability).

Larry said he was playing in a laneway at 630 Little St., almost directly behind his Hawley St., home on the afternoon of the accident. He was watching a family move into the house at the Little St. address.

He said there were three cars parked abreast in the laneway.

"A man with red hair (in the centre car) asked me to get out of the way. I moved over to the right, out of the car's way and was hit (by another car)."

Despite the seriousness of his injuries he did not lose consciousness and recalls speaking to the driver:

"I kept asking him why he did it. He said he was sorry."

Larry was off school till April but managed to keep fairly well up in his lessons through the board of education's special visiting teacher service. He was recommended for his next grade. At present he is in Grade 8 at Grove school.

Plaintiffs charge that Drumm did not sound his horn, use his brakes, and wasn't keeping a proper lookout.

The case was the last heard at the Peterborough Assizes, the second non-jury accident case.

Want Clinics For Alcoholics

TORONTO (CP)—The establishment of five clinics for the treatment of alcoholism in the province was urged in the third annual report of the Ontario Alcoholism Research Foundation tabled in the legislature Monday.

The report suggested that clinics, branches of the one now established in Toronto, should be set up in Hamilton, Ottawa, London, Kingston and the Lakehead.

But the foundation, and the alcoholics themselves, had to face a barrier in public thinking that made it difficult to give the most effective treatment, the report said.

In tabling the report, Health Minister Phillips said it was indicated that the foundation's treatment led about 52 per cent of the patients to sobriety. The report showed that 47 per cent of those treated suffered from liver disease.

Stevens was reported "jubilant" over the "100 per cent" backing President Eisenhower gave him in his feud with Sen. Joseph McCarthy. Stevens is said to feel the support of the President will prompt other GOP members of the sub-committee "not to let McCarthy get away with abusing officers."

Union Boards Now Forbidden

TORONTO (CP) — The union school board has become a thing of the past in Ontario education.

Under a new bill—the Secondary Schools and Boards of Education Act—considered Monday by the legislature's education committee, the formation of union boards is forbidden.

Where at one time there were hundreds of these types, only four are still in existence—at Trenton, Perth, Kemptville and Omemee.

Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of the department of education said the new act does not dissolve the existing boards but prevents new ones from being formed.

A union board was a voluntary union of public and high school boards who agreed to act together as a board of education. Once the board disagreed, it was dissolved simply by a resolution, said Dr. Althouse.

Representatives of high schools were appointed while public school members were elected.

Ice, Snow Hit British Isles

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons slithered and slipptd to work today on frozen slush.

Cyclists tumbled from their bikes on the jagged ice all over the country.

Trains were running normally, but six inches of snow in west England during the night brought out snowplows. In the south coast area a thaw brought floods.

Britain's "little winter," which struck suddenly last week-end after spring-like weather, seemed to be on the wane today. No more snow was forecast.

to the east and in the haulage of their supplies from the east.

Manitoba benefits somewhat less than the provinces to the west, but an unofficial review indicated the new rates would average out to a reduction in that province's freight bill.

Another big difference from the original decision is that the board has decided to retain intact a big "triangle" bounded by Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Windsor and Montreal within which all points for many years have had the same rates to and from the west.

The 1952 judgment proposed to wipe out the "triangle" and have all points pay rates on a straight mileage basis. Quebec province and many municipalities and organizations within the triangle opposed this.

The board now has decided to retain the triangle—known formally as "groups A and B"—but to lay down some modifications in the way the rates will operate. The old rates were based on a relationship to charges for water transport from Ontario-Quebec points to the Lakehead.

POINTS KEY POINT

Under the new setup Toronto will be the "key" point for rates on shipments into and out of the triangle. Toronto shipments will pay straight mileage rates into the west, and from the west, and more distant points such as Windsor and Montreal will get the Toronto rates.

Along with this change, the board is maintaining its original intention of wiping out a so-called "constructive mileage" between Fort William, Ont., and Winnipeg. This is an historic device that, for rate-making purposes, cuts that mileage from the actual 420 to a fictitious 290 miles.

For the west coast, the board partly restored an old rate "grouping" that had been wiped out about five years ago.

This was a provision that gave the same freight rates to Vancouver and Victoria, separated by 80 miles of water. It was eliminated when the board swept away British Columbia's "mountain differential," an additional charge on freight hauls over the Rockies.

The board now is ordering that freight going beyond Vancouver to Victoria, and in the opposite direction, will pay only for 40 miles of haul. Thus, the freight - rate difference between Vancouver and Victoria will be halved.

Lindsay To Get Plastics Factory

Thermeset Plastics, who now have their head office in Lindsay, are laying plans for a factory in town to manufacture their principal line, custom mouldings.

"We are considering putting up a building," said William Dahl, president, "but arrangements have not yet been finalized. We're pretty well settled on where the site will be, but other matters relating to building have still to be settled."

The factory would have up to 6,000 square feet in floor space and would employ about 30 people, the same as the present plant in Dorion, Quebec.

Red Carpet Little Too Short

MELBOURNE (AP)—The ladies of suburban St. Kilda rolled out the red carpet today for Queen Elizabeth—and found it a few inches short.

They made their shocking discovery only a short time before the Queen was to walk across the carpet in a hall leading to a luncheon 175 Victoria state women's organizations were giving for her.

Somebody dug up six more inches of rug.

Workmen rushed up with a box of nails.

Somebody bored holes with an ice pick. Then the carpet wouldn't lie flat.

In the nick of time a young workman produced an adhesive solution and stuck the overlapping carpet ends together.

As 650 women watched breathlessly, the Queen tripped in to lunch—and didn't trip.

PROPOSES WEAPON BAN

Representative Hugh Scott (Rep. Pa.) called for legislation to make it a felony for anyone to carry a deadly weapon "on or about his person in the presence of either house of Congress." He introduced a bill to that effect.

Representative A. L. Miller (Rep. Neb.) said he is considering introduction of a bill to give Puerto Rico its independence.

The purpose, Miller said, would be to provide some control over movement of Puerto Ricans into the United States. Residents of Puerto Rico now may come [illegible] the United States without restriction upon their movements.

The public galleries were sparsely occupied today. Seated inconspicuously among the spectators were plainclothesmen from the metropolitan police force and some FBI agents.

REGRETS VOICED

The delegate from Puerto Rico, A. Fernos-Isern, expressed Puerto Rico's regrets over Monday occurrence. The House gave a standing round of applause.

Speaker Joseph Martin said various security measures were discussed this morning at a meeting of capitol police, congressional leaders and others. Among suggestions under consideration, he said, was the installation of bullet-proof glass around the galleries.

The speaker said that, for at least several days, tourists would not be permitted to enter the gallery without new cards to be issued only by individual congressmen or their responsible assistants.

Repairmen had repaired most of the bullet scars in the House chamber except for a hole in the ceiling and a chip from the plaster nearby.

Speaker Martin got the house back on the business track by announcing "the unfinished business" is a preliminary vote on the Mexican farm labor bill. This was the vote interrupted by gunfire.

Britain Repairs Gaps Made In Sea Walls

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has passed the half-way mark in her campaign to repair a 1,000-mile stretch of dikes and sea walls smashed at 1,200 points by last winter's raging floods.

Months of intense reconstruction work have so far cost the British government £20,000,000. The gaps have been closed. Thousands of workmen have built up and strengthened sea walls protecting densely-populated areas.

The program will not be complete until later this year, but experts are confident the defences now will withstand another onslaught from the North Sea.

High spring tides are forecast for March but chances of last year's disaster being repeated are remote. For one thing, the floods, which gushed over the east coast killing more than 300 people on the night of Jan. 31-Feb. 1 last year, were a fluke caused when a North Sea gale hurled waves nearly 600 feet long against the sea defences while the spring tides were at their maximum.

160,000 ACRES COVERED

In one night, 160,000 acres were covered by the sea, 24,000 houses were damaged, 200 major industrial plants were inundated, 14 major gas and electricity installations were crippled.

In East Sufolk, Norfolk and Lincolnshire, sand dunes, which had previously provided a natural defence, were washed away and new sea walls, about 10 miles long, have had to be built in their place.

From an agricultural point of view, the damage is still far from repaired. Salt water ruined thousands of acres of fertile land. When the floods receded soil analysis showed concentrations of 50 to 60 tons of salt to the acre in some areas, and it may take up to 15 years to get all the flooded land back to normal. The over-salted soil is being dressed with thousands of tons of calcium sulphate.

All base metal categories slipped.

13 Lives Lost In U.S. Snowstorm

CHICAGO (AP) — A March cold wave knifed into the great plains states today as the Ohio river valley dug out from a paralyzing snow storm that took at least 13 lives.

The Arctic air, flowing down from northern Alberta, sent the mercury skidding to sub-zero levels in the United States on the northern plains and along the eastern slopes of the Rockies. The entire midwest is expected to feel the sting of the wintry onslaught.

Many schools are closed and highway travel was impeded today after a heavy snowstorm that piled a deep blanket over northern Ohio and eastern Kentucky and eastern Tennessee.

Eleven deaths were attributed to the storm in Cleveland, one in Toledo and one in Friendsville, Tenn.

Indo-China Baby Death Rate As High As 50 Per Cent

By CORLEY SMITH

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—Doctors here say that 30 to 50 per cent of all babies born in Indo-China die before they are 12 months old—and ancient, but ignorant, superstitions are a major contributing factor.

The Viet Namese government has only just begun to compile statistics on childbirth and infant deaths, but the few figures already becoming available point to these startling conclusions:

1. Despite dirt and strange superstitions, babies survive the perils of birth almost as well as children born with all the aids of modern science.

2. But after the first three days of life, the most dangerous period for a Western child, they begin to die off like flies. By the end of the first year at least three of every 10 babies have died. The real figure may be as high as five in every 10.

SUPERSTITION DESTROYS

Superstitions lessen a baby's chance of survival in this war-torn country. Many mothers-to-be suffer from malnutrition for lack of milk, fruit and meat. Yet in many villages in the Red river delta expectant mothers are forbidden to eat anything but rice and salt in the last month of their pregnancy. Other foods are considered poisonous to the unborn baby and mothers-in-law keep careful watch to stop them being eaten.

According to another old wife's tale here, birth is an evil thing and will bring ill fortune on the house where it occurs. Often a young mother-to-be is driven out of her home to bear her baby in the bushes or in a corner of an open rice-paddy.

As part of an energetic health program, the north Viet Namese authorities have built and equipped 110 maternity centres in the zones of the delta free from Vietminh rebels. Here mothers can await their children in peace with an experienced midwife at hand.

The maternity units are not mostly hospitals. Some of them are simple wood and cement buildings with five or six bamboo beds on a dirt floor. Equipment is primitive compared with western standards.

As long as peasants work barefoot in the rice fields there is no way of protecting them permanently against such parasites as hookworms, which enter the body through the foot and suck blood from the intestinal walls. The babies produced by women so infected have few chances of survival.

Mrs. H. R. Kenner Widow Principal Dies n Hospital

Widow of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, former principal of Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, Mary Isabel Williams died Monday night at Civic Hospital of an illness of several months. She had been a patient since December, shortly before Christmas.

Mrs. Kenner was born at Dunnville, Ont., daughter of Hugh Williams and Margaret McIntyre.

A specialist in modern languages, Mrs. Kenner was appointed to the staff of PCVS in January, 1915, continuing her work in Collegiate teaching, and resigned in June, 1918, to marry its principal, whose memory and service here is perpetuated in the name of Kenner Collegiate.

In her own interests and abilities, Mrs. Kenner had been for years prominent in various community affairs of Peterborough. She was a devoted member of St. Andrew's United church, a former president of the Elizabeth Bell Mission Circle, and was especially active in support and administration of the YWCA, of which she was president nine years. During that time, a major concern of the YWCA board was the erection of its large addition providing modern swimming pool and gymnasium facilities.

Mrs. Kenner was a charter member of the Shakespeare Club. She was secretary of the Red Cross Society many years, and during the Second World War she was co-chairman of its wartime services. In that position, her associates recall, Mrs. Kenner spent most of her time in furthering and directing the aid rendered by the Red Cross Society in Peterborough. She was an amiable lady of talent and culture, and of a deep sense of a woman's place in citizenship. The leadership to which she was appointed was carried out with diligence and in the unassuming manner that was natural to her.

Mrs. Kenner moved to Toronto after the war, and was engaged for a time in the teaching of students of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind. She leaves one son, Dr. Hugh Kenner, of the University of Southern California, Santa Barbara, and four grandchildren, also her sister, Mrs. Anna McLaws of Victoria, B.C.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home, where the service will be conducted by the Rev. Henry Cotton of St. Andrew's church. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Battered House Kept From View

KINGSTON (CP) — A two-storey private home, battered by a mysterious explosion Monday, has been barricaded from public view while investigators continue their efforts to discover the cause of the blast.

Miss Gertrude Haffner, elderly owner of the house, was reported in critical condition today in Kingston General Hospital where she was taken after the blast threw her from a chair to the floor.

She was reported suffering extensive burns, bruises and extreme shock.

Firemen said the explosion blew beds in the house through inside walls, tore the front porch from its foundations and hurled a door across the street. All windows in the house were shattered.

Officials said structural damage was so great that the building will have to be torn down.

Firemen put out several small fires in the house after the explosion.

Committee Denies Grant To Registry After Another Long Heated Debate

In another of a long series of heated debates on the question, the committee of the whole city council Monday night turned down a recommendation to make a grant of $1,000 to the Peterborough Community Nursing Registry.

The vote this time was 6-4. Aldermen Art Burrows, John Dewart, Stan McBride, and Gordon Powell voted in favor of the grant but were outvoted by the other members.

By an ironic twist, resulting from the rules of procedure, the registry was probably deprived of a grant for $500. Ald. Powell's motion to grant the $1,000 was seconded by Ald. Burrows. But before the vote was taken, Ald. Harold Rehill moved an amendment, changing the sum to $500.

The rules require the vote to be taken on the amendment before the original motion is voted on. Ald. Dewart voted with Aldermen Beggs and Rehill on the amendment but the other supporters of the grant, holding out for the larger amount, voted against the amendment. When the vote on the original motion was taken, Aldermen Beggs and Rehill swung to the opposition.

"Now we have three in favor of $500 and four in favor of $1,000," lamented Ald. Burrows, who admitted, however, that the result was irreparable.

It was Ald. Burrows' turn during much of the long debate to lead the argument in favor of the grant and to condemn Ald. Pat Anglesey's leadership of the opposition to it.

Ald. Burrows commented on Ald. Powell's reference to an address to the South End Ratepayers' Association by Mrs. Eva Brackenridge, president of the registry. Mrs. Brackenridge was quoted as saying: "There is nothing further from my mind than to expect an annual grant of $1,000 from city council."

"It seems to me she convinced them to some extent," said Ald. Burrows, "because they decided not to proceed any further with trying to block it."

DID SOME CHECKING

Ald. Anglesey replied by saying that some checking had been done at the ratepayers' meeting and it was discovered that although 21,000 telephone calls were handled by the registry last year, the total number of calls received was 6,917, including only 1,667 calls for nurses but 3,121 for doctors. The actual number of nurses supplied by the registry in answer to these calls was 798, fewer than 50 per cent of the calls.

Referring to an earlier reference by Ald. Powell that the chairman of the board of governors of Civic Hospital had said if the registry ceased operating it would cost the hospital $2,000 a year, Ald. Anglesey said he had since been talking to the chairman who had told him the figure was "pulled out of the air."

"When he sat down and tried to figure it out, he was in some doubt," Ald. Anglesey said, "and told me the hospital could obtain nurses for less than the present charge of $1.50 a call. He told me he didn't think it was the responsibility of the taxpayers to support the nursing registry."

"When he spoke to me, he said the grant would be a relief for the taxpayers," Ald. Powell replied, "but I wish he had been here to explain it himself.

"In regard to the 21,000 calls, that was taken from a written brief submitted to council, which I think is more reliable than a verbal report. But the delegates from the South End ratepayers have never put the question to the ratepayers as a whole. They came here by arrangement with their executive."

"I understand that's true," Ald. Burrows added.

"Possibly the registry has received only 6,000 calls; but they have handled 21,000," Ald. McBride explained. "If they receive one request for a nurse, it may entail several calls."

"According to their audited statement, they received $782 less from doctors and nurses in 1953 than in 1952," Ald. Rehill said. "According to the new rate they have set for Civic Hospital, the city will be subsidizing—and I say this advisedly—the registry to the extent of better than $600 by meeting the hospital deficit. If their income from doctors and nurses continues to fall, how can they hope not to come to the city for grants?"

"My position is perfectly neutral, except that I've made up my mind that the registry is a community service," Ald. Burrows said. "With all respect, I don't think Ald. Anglesey should lead the opposition to this."

ANGLESEY OBJECTS

"I object," said Ald. Anglesey quickly. "I don't think Ald. Burrows has any business bringing my private business into city council."

"I'm sorry if I've given any offence," said Ald. Burrows. "But 90 per cent of the opposition has come from Ald. Anglesey and that's what gets my back up. If it were any other grant, I don't think there would have been quite so much opposition."

"My name has been drawn into this through the press by another member of council," said Ald. McBride. "I'm a new member of council and perhaps I've had too much to say. But this matter first came up in the finance committee and Ald. Anglesey asked the mayor to take the chair."

"I believe Ald. Anglesey asked me to take the chair because of his telephone answering service," said Mayor Norman Graham.

"That would be an ideal position for him, because then he wouldn't have to vote," said Ald. Burrows.

"It's unfortunate that Ald. Anglesey should have to be called into question here," said Ald. Gordon Farquharson. "He has given long service and good service to the city. If we made this grant, perhaps we would be putting this organization into a position where it could compete with his enterprise on unfair terms.

"Dr. Taylor didn't say the registry would fold up if this grant was not forthcoming. I don't think it will fold. Possibly some of the directors will resign. They showed a surplus last year. So how can they come and ask us for a grant? They made a 20 per cent profit last year."

"On the balance sheet, they operated at a profit; but look at the time and money involved for people it means nothing to," said Ald. McBride. "It would be a moot question if the executives of some other organizations wouldn't resign if they were not subsidized by the Community Chest or some other source.

"Nurses are the poorest paid professional group in the country. They are paid a dollar an hour, pay girls wouldn't start in a factory for."

SOME NURSES OPPOSED

Ald. Alene Holt said she was amazed at the number of calls and letters she had received opposing the grant, including those from nurses.

"A number of citizens feel that after four years or thereabouts of being a so-called non-profit organization, that possibly it would be wise to have the registry run along the lines of a profit business and charge people for the service they receive," she said. It was not an organization where charity or welfare were actually entered into.

Ald. Holt said she had been accused of turning against the registry and the medical profession. The first charge was ridiculous and the second 'definitely untrue," she said.

"Frankly though, I am amazed that more doctors have not come to the fore on this issue if they themselves feel it is a valuable service to the city," she said.

Ald. Holt said a director of the Community Chest had described the registry grant as a "wonderful rhubarb." Some were strongly in favor of it and others just as strongly against.

In reply to a number of Mrs. Holt's statements, Ald. Powell said he couldn't understand why nurses were opposed to the grant. The president of the nurses' alumnae had asked him to support it.

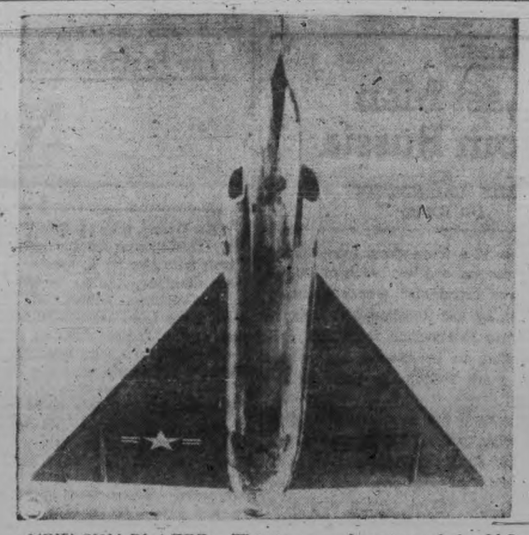
Ald. Powell said the registry couldn't operate at a profit because it was prohibited by the enabling legislation governing it. He charged that some organizations received grants from the city without even submitting a statement.

Considerable old ground was gone over in the debate for the benefit of Ald. Dewart, who was absent at the time of the previous vote.

Ald. Dewart agreed with Ald. Holt that the publicity given to the registry might be in its favor if it sought assistance from the Community Chest next year.

AWAIT PASSING GRANTS

Ald. Dewart also suggested that the grant should be considered when the other grants were discussed later so that the relative merits of the other organizations could be considered.



Ald. Dewart pleaded in vain "to regard this as a temporary thing and treat it as an emergency grant." He said that some of the organizations which obtained grants were "not scrutinized too carefully to see what service they are rendering to the community."

A list revealed that annual grants are given to such organizations as the Salvation Army, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children.

"Some of those organizations are receiving assistance from both the Community Chest and the city," Ald. Powell pointed out.

"None of them are comparable to the nursing registry," Ald. Holt maintained.

"The reason I voted for the $500 grant was to give the registry some incentive to keep going," said Ald. Dewart after both the motion and amendment had failed to be passed.

Shel. Richardson Hit In Korea

Sergeant Sheldon Richardson of the band of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals in Korea, recently mentioned as composer of "The Imjin Jump," for band and orchestra, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Richardson, 487 King St.

Sgt. Richardson comes naturally by his musical talent from both sides of his family, and particularly from the Braund-Greene background of his mother, the former Aileen Braund, ATCM. His great-grandparents on the maternal side, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greene, were both instrumentalists, and a corresponding gift has appeared repeatedly in the Braund family.

Ralph C. Braund himself played a baritone horn in the orchestra of 10 or 12 instruments, comprised of members of both sides of the family. In later days Gordon and Garth Braund, cousins, were top trumpet players, and Mrs. Richardson and her brother Grant Braund were fine pianists.

Sgt. Richardson was trumpeter a few years ago with Bobbie Kinsman's orchestra at Club Aragon. His recent composition was inspired by the atmosphere of the Imjin River, within trumpet sound of his camp. He completed its orchestration, and "The Imjin," notably rhythmic and syncopated, was a hit with Signal Corps band audiences in the Korean area.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A Sarnia youth who told the court he is going blind, Monday was sentenced to three concurrent terms of three months in jail for fraud.

Richard Buchanan, 21, said that last week London doctors told him there was nothing they could do for his eyes and that he will lose his vision.

At an earlier hearing, Buchanan admitted using a worthless check as part payment for a truck.

He pleaded guilty to obtaining a car radio and accessories from two Sarnia dealers by means of worthless checks.

Two other Sarnia charges were returned to authorities in that city.

Hockey Players Hurt In Bus Accident

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Three members of the Stamford Kerrios hockey team were reported slightly hurt Monday night when the chartered bus bringing the team home from a game at Simcoe skidded into a ditch near Dunnville.

Simcoe beat Stamford 3-0 in the opener of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B best-of-seven semi-final series.

The team and its supporters, 33 persons in all, faced the hazards of a snowstorm and slippery roads on the 180-mile round trip.

Former MP Takes $3,300-A-Year Job

OTTAWA (CP) — Austin E. Dewar, who last year resigned his seat in Parliament in a dispute involving cheque-trading with a contractor friend, has since taken a $3,300-a-year job as agricultural supervisor for the federl agricultural department.

The information was given Monday in the Commons in a reply tabled for John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert).

Mr. Dewar, Liberal member for Qu'Appelle from 1949 until last April, resigned following disclosure that he had exchanged cheques with Harvey Lunam, Regina contractor, between 1948 and 1951. Mr. Lunam held several federal government contracts before going bankrupt.

Mr. Dewar denied any intention of wrongdoing in the cheque-trading.

Tornado Damage Claims To Be Reviewed

SARNIA (CP) — A three-man board of arbitration Monday decided that all tornado damage claims will be reviewed including business and luxury items. "The greatest generosity should prevail," the decision said.

The board was set up to decide what to do with $35,000 left in the tornado relief fund after the fund committee and city council failed to agree on whether business claims should be honored. The fund was collected to help those who suffered in a tornado that hit the city last May.

Donors to the fund will be given a chance to withdraw part of their donations before business claims are paid, the board decided. Some groups had objected to compensating businesses because, they said, the money was donated to relieve injury and hardship of private persons.

109 Long Distance Lines Out Of Order

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The London office of Bell Telephone Company reported that 109 long distance circuits in western Ontario were out of order today and that road conditions would prevent repairs for a day or so.

The inoperative circuits were mainly from London to the areas of Exeter, Clinton, north of Stratford, Wingham, Sarnia, Walkerton, Listowel and Harriston. In some cases long distance calls were being rerouted through the United States.

"One night last summer I decided to make another Raggedy Ann for my niece's birthday.

"In two evenings I finished the doll and gave it to Martha, who is just six. She was so delighted, I made more Raggedy Anns for little girls I knew.

"It wasn't long before several mothers wanted me to make Raggedy Anns for their little girls.

"With the money they paid me for the dolls, I opened a special savings account at The Dominion Bank in our neighbourhood. My savings grew, and I really got interested in being thrifty, because now I had an objective...Mr. Wilson, the manager, calls it my 'Bermuda Vacation Account'.

"Next year, thanks to Raggedy Ann and my Dominion Bank savings account, I'm going to Bermuda for a vacation. Who knows where Raggedy Ann may help to take me in the future!"

If you have a hobby or a spare time skill, it may earn extra money for you too. Keep track of those extra dollars by opening a savings account at The Dominion Bank. Remember, every account at The Dominion Bank is an important account!

The Dominion Bank offers many services. The manager will be happy to tell you about them.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly.

CNR Diesel Engines For Peterborough Yard

The government Monday gave the information to the Commons in a reply tabled for C. W. Hodgson (PC—Victoria, Ont.).

However, it gave no answer to his question whether the CNR will have diesel engines for its Lindsay and Peterborough yards. The reply said that diesel units are placed in accordance with traffic needs and operating efficiency.

Euchre In Fraserville

FRASERVILLE (ENS) — The weekly LOL euchre party held in the Orange Hall on Thursday night had a very good attendance.

Ladies' first prize went to Mrs. K. Moncrief and ladies' low to Mrs. McNabb. Gent's first was won by Bruce Elliott and gent's low by Mrs. Waterman who played as a man.

Lunch was enjoyed at the close and a social time spent over a cup of tea.

Strike Over Tea

SWANSEA, Wales (Reuters)—Seven hundred factory workers—most of them women—went on strike here today because they claimed their firm had stopped supplying them with hot water for making tea in their canteen. The strikers were not called out by their union, but a union official said that under trade union rules the supply of hot water for making tea is considered "a reasonable amenity."

Tungsten Trade Freed

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government Monday completed the return of all metal buying from the government to private enterprise by freeing trade in Tungsten ores. Derek Heathercoat Amory, minister of state for trade, announced, however, that private imports would be permitted from all sources except the dollar area.

Troop Moves Mystery

VERA CRUZ, Mexico (AP)—Government officials were silent today on heavy movement of troops and planes to the Cordoba area near here. There have been reports of discontent and even disorders among farmers of the area, due probably to the backing up of water behind a large dam.

Land-Office Business

A striking comment on Peterborough's housing situation was made yesterday at the local office of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The Crown corporation was offering for sale the lots on the Hatton subdivision formerly occupied by wartime houses. A queue formed several hours before the sale opened, to buy on the first come, first served basis. Two hours after the office began business forty lots had been sold for $64,725, and other scores of prospective buyers were negotiating for the rest of the 98 lots offered. The lots were not dirt-cheap, for prices ranged from $1,050 to $1,825. They are, however, in a pleasant residential district and are already provided with sidewalks, water mains and sewers. Therefore buyers were eager.

The demand for the lots indicates not a shortage of houses but a plenitude of people and money to build them. For the sale had conditions preventing speculative buying: one lot to a customer, the building to be started within six months of conclusion of the sale, and finished within eighteen months.

The price of the lots and the minimum spatial requirements of the houses to be erected do not put the Hatton subdivision in the field of low-cost housing. If there is a need in Peterborough as in most other Canadian cities for cheap rental houses or houses for tenant-buyers of low incomes, other avenues must be used than the one followed yesterday morning by the forty buyers with money in their hands. The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities mentioned some of them in its brief to the Federal Government last Friday. The changes in the Bank Act which are being made to permit and even require chartered banks to lend money for such building should assist in providing more dwellings for families of low incomes. The help cannot be fully effective, however, if the interest rate is high. The existing 5¼ per cent. is too high for people of very small means, and too high to permit builders to charge low rents.

Canada Has Not Been Swamped

The Prime Minister visited Pakistan, where he was cordially received. He then visited India, where also he has been warmly welcomed. It is his special conciliatory ability as well as his Canadian office which has enabled him to go from one tense capital to the other, bringing friendliness with him.

In Pakistan he said he was pleased to see that country strengthened, militarily as well as economically. In India, the alliances Pakistan is making and the American money she is accepting are regarded with irritation and suspicion. Indian leaders fear not only that the balance of power which India holds over Pakistan will be disrupted but also that the U.S. will become dominant and imperial in south Asia. Mr. St. Laurent was able to tell the Indian Parliament that the growth of American influence is not to be feared. Canada knows from experience. Canada has not been submerged by it. In fact her greatest period of growth and indeed, of most intense national consciousness—the last decade—have coincided with an unprecedented investment of American money in Canada. True, the money has not come as a gift or loan; it is capital investment for profit. Nevertheless, it comes as American dollars and these have brought with them American technicians and businessmen, as the American dollars to Pakistan are doing.

India should be reassured too, about American military penetration, by the Canadian experience. Never in peacetime before has Canadian soil entertained as many American military men. The American bases in the north, and the joint Canadian-American defence enterprises in this country represent an amount of American military infiltration the like of which Pakistan will never have. Yet does Canada fear that she will become a puppet to Uncle Sam? No. Despite the American dollars in this country, the hundreds of thousands of American visitors, the American technicians and military—perhaps, to some extent because of them—Canada's voice has more individuality and strength in the States and international councils than ever before.

Mr. St. Laurent's reassurances to India have the authority of long and deep Canadian experience. They were apparently not enough to convince Prime Minister Nehru that India could accept U.S. arms. Well, as long as India does not bite the hand that offered them, democracy is not lost to Asia. The American kind of democracy, any more than the American foreign policy, is not the only good and wise way for a people.

New Poland

Poland was one of President Wilson's famous "Fourteen Points". Poland, he said in 1918 must be an independent state with an outlet to the sea. So it became when the Great War ended, in name if not in fact. So it is today. But Poland's short modern career as an independent republic has been slashed by rape and bloodshed. Despite the solemn British and French promise to protect Poland against aggression, Germany invaded it in 1939. Despite Britain's having gone to war then to honour her promise, Poland got no protection from the Germans until they were defeated. By that time Poland had been handed over to the Russians. Now Poland is independent again, as it was after World War I, but this time it is Russian-dominated independence, not Western.

The new Poland (this is the tenth anniversary of the birth of the "People's Government of Poland") has a propaganda magazine published in English in London, called "New Poland", and we see a copy of it every month. Who pays for it, we do not know. We do not. In this magazine we read a good deal about "comrades", why people have something to sing about in the new Poland, and how hard-working the Polish people are, how much they like the Communist regime under which they live and what a fine and generous people their friends the Russians are. We read, too, that "there are no longer any backward areas in People's Poland". An advertisement tells us how good and cheap it is to eat in The Warsaw Club (licensed) in Portland Place, W.I.

We have not been to Poland or the restaurant to see for ourselves, so we cannot vouch for the happiness progressiveness, and graciousness of life in Poland today. In a question-and-answer box in the current issue of the magazine we see this:

> Q.—Are there people in Poland who do not agree with what is taking place?
> A.—Yes. At the last General Election three per cent. of those who voted, voted against the National Front Program which is now the official government policy. Now that the benefits of the Programme are being felt it is possible that this figure is even lower today

Fancy that. Three per cent. of the voters not approving! Why, it's almost as good as in a real democracy; where, of course, the percentage of voters not unanimous is far higher. That must be because in the democracies people do not know as well what is right and good for them. How fortunate the Polish people are. The hint is thrown out that they are wise enough, even the three per cent. in opposition, to learn what is good and right. The next election may find, we assume, that 99 per cent. of everybody will be in favour of the Government and its "National Front Program".

We do realize from the magazine's articles and pictures, and from what we otherwise hear, that quite impressive strides are indeed being taken in Poland, to industrialize the country, provide houses, schools, libraries, and welfare centres. Like other European countries, Poland had to rise from a physical ruin caused by bombing and war. The biggest new building rising is "A Gift from Friends".

The Joseph Stalin Palace of Culture and Science in Warsaw, is a gift from the Soviet Union and being built by Soviet workmen. (Polish workmen too busy in Siberian slave-labour camps?) It is to be a very large building, something like an old-fashioned Minneapolis skyscraper. It will have thirty stories and the central tower, (structural work now completed) is 745 feet high. (The editors of New Poland put this in perspective by noting that the spire of Salisbury Cathedral is 404 feet high, and the cross on top of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, is 365 feet from the ture, etc., which may be completed this year, will be—we can properly say it, in view of the charming little buildings and squares in the Old Town—enormous.

The new Poland has many points to recommend it, but none of them is one of President Wilson's fourteen.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The British Medical Journal reports a case of an Irishman who drank a bottle of cleaning fluid, and woke 36 hours later to find that he was in the care of a nurse 12 inches high, with a matching doctor, in a ward with measured two feet by two. So this is where the Irish legends of the 'little people' have their origin!

Mayor Whitton and Ottawa's Council were delighted to discover last week a surplus from last year of a million and a half dollars. Like some outside suggestions how to spend it? Stop relying on the June sun to clear your streets of snow. Put a million into the million pot-holes on the roads. Or you might even think of building a City Hall without making the Government foot the bill.

100,000 VANISHED

Last Men From Russia

By JOHN CAIRNCROSS
(In Rome)

ON February 12 a train drew into Vienna with the second and last batch of Italian prisoners, "war criminals" whose amnesty was announced by the Russians last December. There were thirty-four returning prisoners. According to the Soviet authorities there are no more Italians in their prison camps.

It now looks as if the Russian declaration is, unfortunately, correct. For Don Brevi, a chaplain in the first contingent, said categorically, before a microphone, that he had been all over the Soviet camps and that his thirty-three comrades and he were all that was left of the Italian forces captured on the Eastern Front during the Second World War. His view was not to the liking of the Italian authorities. He was quickly removed from the microphone, and that part of his address was not broadcast.

THE QUESTION of the missing one hundred thousand Italian prisoners is one of the most vexed issues in local politics. A hundred thousand men have vanished almost without trace. They are certainly not accounted for in the Russian communiques of captured and casualties. Hence, in part, a violent Right-Wing campaign for the release of the men, who were alleged to be lingering in penal Soviet camps. The agitation was in fact based not so much on an innocence of the circumstances in which Soviet war-time communiques were composed as on a desire to work up feeling on an anti-Left issue.

IT WAS NOT a very clever line, for the real explanation of the discrepancy is even less credible to the Russians. "I swear before God," said a chaplain who was freed in 1946, "that we went into the camp of Krinovaya forty-thousand strong and came out four thousand. We were witnesses of the most horrible scenes, including meals on the flesh of the dead." The camp was called "the death camp."

Outbreaks of cannibalism are confirmed by one of the recently-returned officers. "Some of the weaker men were like raging hyenas," he said. "They tore the heart and liver out of corpses. I had to form a bodyguard to ensure that the dead were respected."

TO STARVATION and ill-treatment were added cold and overwork. One of the prisoners spent almost two years in the notorious camp for political prisoners at Vorkuta, within the Arctic Circle, while another served for five years at Narisky, on the 69th Parallel.

A priest, Father Zavatta, was accused of having conducted religious propaganda among the Russians. For ten years he was cut off from the outside world. Even postcards were returned, marked "Not Known." Another Father was sentenced to eighteen years' imprisonment for having belonged to a revolutionary organisation, the Jesuit Order. Of the nine years actually served, he spent seven in solitary confinement.

USUALLY the sentences were heavier. Twenty-five years was the usual period. And the trials were often farcical. One of the officers was accused of having urged his men to kill as many of the enemy as possible. The witness for the prosecution, it turned out, did not speak Italian. But the court passed sentence all the same.

Sometimes there was a lighter, almost Gogolesque, side to the proceedings. A soldier who had escaped gave himself up to the authorities as he knew he could never cross all the frontiers between him and his home. Alas, the police refused to arrest him as he had no documents. From the point of view of the officials he simply did not exist.

NOT that all the sentences appear to have been undeserved. The fact that the consignment included six members who fought with the German SS suggests the contrary. The general line taken by the Italians that they were sentenced because they were good Italians and refused to compromise with the Soviet authorities, failed to convince all the journalists present. Moreover, treatment improved once the war was over and by 1951 it was almost good. Food was adequate, parcels from Italy were distributed and they were paid 200 roubles a month. And before they left Russia, most of the prisoners were the object of friendly gestures designed to make up for the horrors of the earlier years.

CERTAINLY, on their arrival in Vienna the men looked fit and in good spirits. Later at the Italian frontier town of Udine, their relatives were there to welcome them back after an absence of ten years or longer. One man had been married only twenty days before leaving for the front in 1942. His wife has been waiting patiently for him all that time. One mother did not recognize her son at once. "He had a mole on his chest," she explained. The soldier tore open his fainted in his arms.

APART from family reunions and the official receptions laid on at the frontier, what captured the attention of the returning prisoners most was the streams of large, modern cars, which they all took to be American. A still greater attraction has been provided by the saucy little Vespas. They have all sworn that the first thing they will buy is one of the new "motor-scooters." They will obviously not be long (what Italian is?) in catching up with the latest fashion.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him: male and female created he them. (Gen. 1:27.)

Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein . . . Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them.

Sing unto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth, ye that go down to the sea, and all that is therein; the isles, and the inhabitants thereof . . . Let them give glory unto the Lord, and declare his praise in the islands. (Isa. 42:5, 9, 10, 12.)

The Fool Decided To Run Against The Prince

Nehru-Deep Democracy

By PHILIP DEANE (in Delhi)

(Mr. Deane, who reported last week from New Delhi some impressions he gained of Prime Minister St. Laurent's visit to India, here describes Indian political democracy in pre-election action. Mr. St. Laurent must have been fascinated by glimpses he had of the Indian election campaign, and by the differences between Prime Minister Nehru's electorate and his own.)

THE former princely ruler sat behind the tea trolley amid his aspidistras and armchairs with antimacassars, and his clean-shaven face smiled under the pink turban. "Yes," he said, "I am a candidate. Practically unopposed. There is a silly man opposing me, but I will make him a laughing stock. He will lose his deposit. He is a poor man and I feel sorry for him."

The former princely ruler looked up at an oil painting of his father in a bejewelled ceremonial costume. Then he looked down at the enormous tiger-skin. "I shot him myself. He is eleven feet long, almost a record. Yes, you see, as I felt sorry for my opponent, I called him in and said, 'Singh, I have always known your family and you have known mine. Why do you foolishly oppose me? You will lose our deposit'."

The former princely ruler went into a pantomime as he played the part of his opponent. He held his hands up together, cringed and smiled ingratiatingly while reciting the opponent's answer: "Your highness, I am a poor man. I need money." "How much?" "Ten thousand rupees." "Go to hell. I'll give you five hundred."

They settled at three thousand, and the next day went together to the electoral office for the ruler's opponent to withdraw his candidature. But there they met the organisers of the other parties.

"Don't be a fool," these organisers said to the former ruler's opponent, "don't let him buy you out. Don't you want to be a big man, a member of the Assembly? We'll give you a rupee for every vote you get."

"So the fool decided to run against me, and he will lose his deposit," said the former ruler, looking genuinely concerned. "My people have always done as I tell them, and they will continue to do so."

I DROVE from the palace of this hospitable man through the fertile flat plain of the State that the Indians have named Pepsu, to an election meeting in Patiala city. It used to be the capital of Patiala State, the fief of Maharajah Maharajadhiraj Sir Jadavendra Singh Mohinder Bahadur. Now it is the capital of a State which has puzzling initials for its name and is one of the sub-republics that form the Republic of India. The six-foot-four Maharajah still manages to look kingly, though he is now only the sub-president of this sub-republic.

The political meeting in Patiala was addressed by the chief minister of a neighbouring State, one of the old guard of Nehru's party. I met him in the public square surrounded by his prosperous minions. Around us there were rich shopkeepers, skeletal rickshaw boys and nauseating beggars.

"I'll shout it from the housetops, I'll shout it to the four corners, that there is equality of opportunity for all in India under our rule," he said.

I left him and drove past mud huts the size of kennels in a plot next to some prosperous villas. Ragged, dirty human puppies crawled around the kennels. An old, bearded Sikh gentleman, an official of Nehru's party in the district, explained the intricacies of local politics, and the influence the former Maharajahs, Rajahs and Nawabs still had over the people. He would not let me smoke in his presence on religious grounds, and he preached fire and brimstone on the subject of American aid to Pakistan. "I was a rich man in Pakistan before I had to flee after partition."

Another bearded old gentleman, who was a Central Committee member of India's Communist Party, told me how his party had controlled an anti-Nehru Coalition Government in Pepsu after the previous election and had expropriated landlords, advised people not to pay rent or taxes and given Government jobs to deserving comrades.

"They stopped us dictatorially, comrade, on the flimsy pretext that we violated the constitution. What has the constitution to do with the will of the people?"

Lack of logic did not shock in this asthmatic venerable Sikh wrapped in an American army blanket. He, at least, let me smoke in his presence.

IN the nearby village, the Communist coalition had an electoral meeting and two turbaned, bearded Sikhs in army overcoats sang to the voters. The singers gestured and the veins stood out thick on their necks. The tattered, land-hungry peasants squatted in the dust and listened, clutching big sticks. Kiddies were playing with a Communist flag.

"You see," said a Civil Servant, "these people voted last time, and what a mess there was. They had to suspend the constitution and let a senior Civil Servant, man restore law and order. In one year he has made the State prosper."

LATER, that Civil Servant said, "Do you think people care about all this criticism of Russia? Do you think these people would choose freedom rather than progress. Ah yes, you'll tell me progress can be combined with freedom, but you need time for that, and you can't wait when you are hungry."

"The Communists are against religion," blared a loudspeaker on a van plastered with Nehru's symbols.

"Communism preaches equality," the hammers and sickles cackled back, "and so did the great gurus (teachers) of the Sikhs preach equality. Communism stands for the Sikh religion. Nehru's party stands for the Maharajahs and the landlords and for you to go on starving."

"YOU SEE," said the sensible senior Civil Servant who runs Pepsu, "we have chosen reform, not revolution. I have given land to the peasants. The tenants can claim three-quarters of the land they till as their own. If they want the other quarter they must pay a controlled sum to the landlord. The Communists now tell the tenants that the land was stolen from their forefathers and that they should take it all free. And the Communists say: 'Why pay taxes to give the Maharajah big cars?' But we are a democracy and have to consider even Maharajahs. If we had not come to an understanding with the Maharajahs and Princes after partition they might not have acceded peacefully to India. Are we to break our word now?"

"That man," said someone who was distributing electoral literature to illiterate peasants, "that Civil Servant who has run the State for a year, is better than any elected Government. Why have elections?" The man who spoke was very pink and looked like a character actor from a Hollywood film on Tammany politics.

AN HOUR away, a Maharajah and his younger brother were both candidates in different constituencies and for different parties, but they had the same election agent. The Communist agents, too, had more than one client each—one Communist and the other a champion of religious linguistic and racial intolerance. Anything to beat Nehru.

And Nehru drove tirelessly through this State asking for the peoples' vote. And so many of them were willing to give it to him and go home forgetting politics, gladly, except perhaps for the excitement, the loudspeakers and the songs—they might not be glad to give up that fair.

"Tell us what to do Pandiji (master)," they shouted to Nehru.

"No! You must tell me what to do!" the teacher of democracy shouted back.

In Pepsu, democracy is only Nehru-deep.

Letters To The Editor

COLLECTING THE FISHING LICENSE

SIR: Thank you for publishing my letter on February 27 in which I criticised your editorial "$1 To Fish." I am happy that through "Editor's Note" you confess to being a wild life conservationist. Your main objection to the new license is fear the law could not be enforced properly. This at first thought would pose quite a problem. I believe the only practical way of handling this new license would be as follows:

Let the Province authorize all retailers of fishing and hunting equipment to issue fishing and hunting licenses. The purchase of even the smallest item of fishing or hunting equipment to be denied any individual 18 years of age or over unless such person is in possession of a license. Except of course cases of gift purchases which could be readily established as such. I believe this plan would be simple and effective and would not necessitate the hiring of additional game wardens, but of course periodic inspections and checks for licenses would have to be made by our existing staff of wardens.

In my experience, very few people who engage in the sport of fishing (and I know a great many) do not go through a season without buying at least some sort of fishing tackle. They would therefore be sure to come into contact with the issuer of a license sooner or later before a season would expire. Possibly the game wardens could issue licenses as well for the first year until residents became used to the new regulation.

Laws as a general rule, cannot be enforced one hundred per cent but a plan such as this I believe, would effect the majority of resident fishermen and the money derived therefrom to contribute to the financial need of an effective plan to conserve our fish and wild life.

Sincerely,
A. METCALFE.

BAD JOB, BAD LANDLORD, BAD CHURCH

SIR: I have been reading in the newspaper about rent control and other subjects. I wish to tell you my thoughts on these subjects.

I left High School at the age of 18 years old to join the Royal Canadian Air Force (voluntary). I was sent overseas during my service. When I returned to Canada, I was given an honourable discharge from the Air Force, I attended a rehabilitation school to try to finish my schooling. I was expected to complete three years High School subjects in nine months (impossible).

Coming to Peterborough in 1946, I applied for a job in your largest industry, with the help of my minister of a local church I got a job. I went to the "apprentice manager" after working there for a few months to apply for learning a trade. I told him my past mechanical experience and being an Air Force veteran. He told me that he thought he could help me and I was to see him again in another week. I thought to myself, now I can have a break at last.

I went to see him again and he told me that I was too old (23 years old), and that he had to consider these young kids from High School first. I fought for my country—waste of time.

At present I have no civilian trade. This very same company is now employing DP's, this includes Englishmen, bringing them to this country and our city, Peterborough, because there is supposed to be a lack of Canadian tradesmen. Do you call this being fair and proper justice? I don't. If I was given the chance to learn a trade when I applied I would have been a skilled tradesman for the last three or four years. These young kids which I was referring to and I know some personally, have learned their trade, some married and are now buying their own homes.

I am still renting. At the present place I am living in I can't complain about the amount of rent I am paying, but I have lived in other places, and I personally have been paying these high rents.

Yes, I admit the cost of material and maintenance is high, but these landlords still should not rob the tenants the outrageous rents they are demanding and for what? What some of them have to offer is not fit for a dog to live in. A lot of landlords will not fix their own places for the tenant. Some of these same landlords I went overseas to fight for along with thousands of other Canadians, help prevent bombs dropping on their precious dwellings, and some of them were fit for active service but did not have the guts to join up and fight for what they have.

Yes, I try to live a good life and be a good citizen and have attended church all my life and a member of a religious band for years. It mentions in the Christian Bible to love one another, to be honest. I haven't ever seen that be practised in the church I belong to.

Now, what is an honest, red-blooded Canadian supposed to do to get an even deal in this country of mine and some of yours? Still bring in foreigners and get the best jobs or what?

I have heard on the radio this morning that the United States is not going to allow anymore Canadians to work there while there is still Americans unemployed. How about it Canada?

Yours truly,
"A DISGUSTED VETERAN."

Suggest Gov't Bluffing About Seaway

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Monday heard a suggestion that the government may have been "only bluffing" when it announced its intention to "go it alone" on the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Canadians were asking whether "these bold statements (were) made simply for consumption of the United States Congress," said Joseph W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South).

"Had the government really any intention of going it alone in the building of the St. Lawrence seaway?" he asked. The government ought to answer some of these questions.

(Congress for many years failed to act on the project. This year, the U.S. Senate has approved a bill for U.S. participation in the navigation phase of the seaway. The bill has not yet reached the House of Representatives.)

RAISED POSSIBILITY

Mr. Noseworthy also raised the possibility that Canada may find itself in the position where in return for U.S. support the waterway may come "under complete or fairly complete control of the United States."

He asked if there are safeguards against the possibility that U.S. companies will supply most of the construction equipment.

He urged that in the event of joint U.S. - Canada participation there be safeguards to ensure that the project provides employment to Canadians as well as to Americans.

"Mr. And Mrs. Canada" Leave Moscow

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—The couple who for two years have been "Mr. and Mrs. Canada" in Moscow are heading home.

Robert Ford, charge d'affaires at the Canadian embassy since February, 1951, turns over his office to newly-designated ambassador John Watkins Wednesday. Watkins, who has held two earlier appointments in Moscow, comes here from Oslo and the bachelor ambassador was scheduled to meet Mr. and Mrs. Ford in Helsinki, Finland, Monday and discuss the turn-over with them.

Here as charge d'affaires before Ford, Watins knows his new home well, but despite recent extensive renovations, the Fords will have to forewarn him about burst pipes, water leaking through the replastered dining room ceiling, buckling tiles and a lop-sided sink in the bathroom, and unmatched electrical fixtures in the halls.

The dilapidated-looking Canada House on Stara-Konyushni street originally was the home of two wealthy sugar-merchant brothers and has matching upper and lower storeys where each had his home. The building was the Danish legation before the Second World War and was acquired by Canada during the war when the Danes left after Germany occupied their country.

KITCHEN DUTIES

Teresa Ford has a reputation for getting things done and, thanks to her drive and ingenuity, the Fords have made Canada and hospitality synonymous in Moscow. Mrs. Ford learned to cook here so she could teach the embassy servants and worked with them for six months in the embassy kitchen. Now the servants are in demand when other diplomats plan functions.

Ford, a quiet-speaking, tall, dark man of 39, is highly regarded by his colleagues in the diplomatic corps. Not many chiefs of mission here are linguists but Ford speaks Russian, French, Spanish and Portuguese well and has a working knowledge of German.

His hobbies are painting and the translation, in verse, of Russian poetry.

Son of Arthur Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press, he is a graduate of University of Western Ontario and Cornell University, where he was assistant lecturer in history.

He joined the department of external affairs in 1940, was in Rio de Janeiro from 1941 to 1945, attended the first General Assembly of the United Nations in London in 1945 and there met his wife, a member of the Brazilian delegation. They were married in the United States and came to Moscow for the first time in 1946.

From November, 1947 to June, 1949, Ford was a first secretary at Canada House in London, then, after two years in Ottawa, he returned to Moscow.

Allow Firms Resume Full Operations

TORONTO (CP)—Three Toronto meat-packing firms whose licences were under temporary suspension pending investigation of alleged misbranding of beef have been allowed to resume full operations.

Said abbatoir commissioner C.T. Hunt: "After a meeting in my office the whole matter has been cleared up. There will be no further action taken."

The firms, Industrial Packers, William Puddy Beef and L. Goldman and Son, were ordered to halt their operations at Toronto municipal abbatoir after misbranded meat had been found in Montreal.

Wanted Jail Man Gets It

"One of those who wants to go to jail for the winter—that's about the size of it", said Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw in magistrate's court, Monday.

He was referring to Webster Hooper, 45, of New Brunswick, appearing in court for the second time on a vagrancy charge. Hooper had been sleeping in the cells "night after night", continued Crown Attorney Bradshaw. "Some people interested in him, had begged him time and again to stay with them, but he refused."

"I thought you told me the last time you were here that you were going back to New Brunswick", said Magistrate W. R. Philp.

"No, I didn't", replied Hooper.

"Have you attempted to get work?" asked Magistrate Philp.

"Yes, two or three places, but didn't get any".

Hooper pleaded guilty and received two months in the county jail.

Rotary Members Reminded Of Club Service

The four avenues of club service were stressed to members of Peterborough Rotary Club on Monday by its district governor Ray R. Jessup of Sudbury.

He pointed out that the classification of a member was important, that attending meetings was not only a duty but a privilege, that it promoted fellowship and that Rotary was doing a splendid community job.

Governor Jessup touched next on vocational service and in that community service classification congratulated the Peterborough club in particular for its outstanding work for crippled children.

In speaking about international service, Mr. Jessup said that Rotary had spent more than $1,250,000 in recent years on its programs of student fellowships which enables college graduates to study in other countries for a year. Since 1947 he advised that 493 fellowships had been awarded to students in 55 countries.

The speaker was introduced by president Paul Irwin and thanked by vice-president Tom Taylor. New Rotarian Dr. George Lewis was installed by governor Jessup and was introduced to the club by Dr. R. K. Magee.

Yugoslavia After The Djilas 'Revolt'

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

BONN (OFNS)—The crushing of the intellectual revolt of Yugoslavia's former Vice-President, Milovan Djilas, by the weight of party authority, the retirement of the heretic from public life and the subsequent personnel changes, have raised two questions in the minds of Western students of Marshal Tito's regime.

First, to what extent will the revolt, since it has been abortive, delay and divert the further evolution of Yugoslavia's internal regime which it was intended to speed up? And second, is it likely to lead to changes in Yugoslav orientation in foreign policy, to greater aloofness from the ideologically dangerous West, and even to a reapprochmeent with Moscow?

RETURN TO FOLD

The second question has been given an apparent topicality by press reports about an article in the latest issue of the "Cominform Journal," which is said to contain a hint to Marshal Tito that he should now "return to the fold". It is as well to begin by saying that any such reports are entirely misleading. A study of the full text of the article shows that it is a three-column attack on Marshal Tito's regime, accusing it of restoring capitalism, of delivering Yugoslavia into the hands of foreign exploiters, of imprisoning the best sons of the country and generally of every sin in the Communist calendar.

Djilas, says the article, has been sacrificed for advocating publicly the "treacherous policy" which Tito, Kardelj and the others have been pursuing secretly under cover of demogogic talk about socialism and national independence. He has thus aroused the protests of the class-conscious workers and has greatly embarrassed the ruling clique by disclosing its true intentions. But there is no trace of a hint to Tito that he should come back and be forgiven: the appeal is, as always, made over his head, to the working people of Yugoslavia, to arise and restore their traditional ties with mother Russia.

ATTACKS THE REGIME

Incidentally, the "Cominform Journal" has never ceased to attack the Tito regime during the entire period of the normalisation of diplomatic relations between Yugoslavia and the Soviet bloc in recent months—just as the Yugoslav press has never ceased to attack the Russian system and ideology during the same period.

President Tito himself, during his attack on Djilas, has taken good care to distinguish between Yugoslavia's friendly relations with the Western Powers, which mush continue for the defence of of Western capitalist and parliamentary systems. The official line is clearly that Yugoslavia will continue as a friend of the West, even while striving for normal relations with the Soviet bloc, but will preserve and develop its internal system completely independently of both sides. There is thus no reason to fear any immediate repercussion of the Djilas affair in Yugoslav foreign policy. But the fact remains that Western ideological influence — in particular the influence exerted by the discussion contacts with Western democratic socialists — which has been gradually growing for years, has now been branded as a danger to Yugoslavia's inner development; and that the people supposedly most affected by it have been removed from positions in the International Commission of the "Socialist Alliance of the Working People" (the Yugoslav Communist Party organisation) where they were in direct contact with it.

MAY CO-OPERATE

Naturally all this has encouraged the anti-Western undercurrent in the middle ranks of the party. During the central committee discussion, Vice-President Kardelj, who has now emerged even more clearly than hiterto as the sole official exponent of orthodox Yugoslav doctrine, has into rival factions, would therefore have opened the door to a reassertion of the old bourgeois classes, particularly in the countryside, and through that a revival of capitalist tendencies; although Djilas is given the benefit of the doubt for not having foreseen or desired these consequences.

Yet while this solemn reaffirmation of the classical doctrine of the dictatorishp of the proletariat is clearly reassuring to the party doctrinaires, all the evidence shows that the process of loosening up has already gone too far to be reversed, and that Tito himself, at least is fully aware of that. The fact that Djilas was allowed to go on publishing his heresies for three months in the central organ of the Communist League shows that at least at the beginning they were broadly in harmony with Tito's own intentions, and the Yugoslav head of state has publicly admitted as much at the central committee meeting which condemned Djilas.

Alleges Bribery In Milk Business

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Telegram said in a newspage story Monday that "wholesale bribery of apartment house owners and janitors by dairies of Toronto has become an accepted part of the milk business."

The newspaper says the charge is levelled by the president of one of the city's largest dairies and confirmed by officials of other leading milk companies.

The bribes were said to have been paid to get new business in apartment developments whose owners prefer to be serviced by one company.

The Telegram quotes one unidentified dairy official as saying the practice has been going on for some time but now is reaching "serious proportions." He is quoted as saying his company had set up a fund to take care of "payoffs."

Junior Petes Beat Flyers In Thrill-Packed Fray To Keep In Hunt For Title

Fighting furiously to roar back from behind three times throughout the games, the Junior Petes pulled out a 7-5 victory over Port Perry Flyers here Monday night to stay in the playoff race. They're still down three games to two, but have a chance of sewing up the best-of-seven OHA junior "B" group finals tomorrow night in Port Perry. If they do that, the deciding battle will be waged on local ice next Friday. Twice in the first period the Creighton-Vitarelli crew came from behind a goal deficit, and the period ended 2-2. The locals outscored Flyers 2-1 in the second for a 4-3 bulge going into the windup. Ports counted twice then but the young Petes tore back to tie it again, go ahead and finally get an insurance marker by scoring on an empty net as the Flyers' goalie was withdrawn in favor of an extra forward.

FULL OF THRILLS

A hefty crowd (cut down some by the rain) yelled all the way through the thrill-packed jam session. It was redhot hockey dished up in gobs by both sides, very fast, full of fight and plenty close. While not unduly rough, 16 minor penalties were passed out, nine to the visitors, as Referees Walsh and Crombie kept on top of the play and made sure there was no outbreak between the heated rivals.

Fast - stepping Bob Gardner banged in three goals to lead the victors, his two late in the third period being highly important as they tied and won the joust. Tim Hook had a goal and an assist, and Gord Snape two assists, Gary Kearns, Gord Coyle and Paul Doris each lit the lamp once, while an assist apiece went to Jerry Frizzelle—who played an outstanding game on defence — Bud McDougall and Kevin Heffernan. Goalie Bob Delahey was in fine form again to kick out a raft of hot rubber, particularly during the last half of the game.

LED THE FLYERS

Neil Attersley and Vern Brodie banged in two goals each for the scrappy Ports, with Tom O'Connor getting the other. Gary Copeland led in points with three neat assists, two each going to Ed Romanuk and Lou Dykstra. O'Connor and Don Masters each helped on a goal. In the visitors' net, Ross Hawe wasn't giving away much, either, and it was just a tossup till the thrilling finish by the battling Junior Petes. Coach Red Creighton sat this one out, but his suspension is now over. Dootch Vitarelli handled the local squad.

Johnson drew an early tripping penalty, returning as Myles went over for interference. Byrne followed for holding, and he was still off (with Myles back) when Flyers scored first. Attersley caught the far corner of the net with a quick angle shot on an in-close piece of combination with O'Connor and Copeland. Romanuk was gated for holding, with McDougall and Brodie getting it next for roughing. Ports were a man shy when Kearns evened it up with a quick cuff inside with Frizzelle's pass. Ball was waved away for holding but all were back when Brodie's screened shot in a scramble with Romanuk and Copeland hit the hemp. Dykstra got the air for tripping and Petes cashed in with Coyle rapping home a rebound in a scramble, McDougall and Heffernan being in on it. Heffernan went away at the finish for charging.

SHY TWO PLAYERS

Dykstra returned early in the second but McDougall got it for tripping to leave the locals short two for a minute. They checked like fiends to hold off the Flyers till the sides were even, and then Hook pulled a fine rush down the side with Snape's pass to blast an angle backhander in. Brodie returned from a holding penalty and Gardner put Petes up 4-2 with his corner passout which went in off the goalie. Myles got back from a holding penalty to see Brodie tally around the net, Romanuk and Copeland helping, the disc sliding in off the netminder. Ports pressed plenty toward the end of this heat.

RED HOT PERIOD

Byrne got the finger for interference to open the third period but no damage resulted. Port Perry then hemmed in the home crew and blazed rubber at Delahey, Myles hitting the post with Bob out, but they couldn't count. Pue climbed the wall for tripping but was back when Chascewski returned and then the Flyers scored two quickies within half a minute at the 14-minute mark. Attersley banged in a rebound at close range on a play built up by Dykstra and Masters, and then O'Connor slapped in Dykstra's rebound off the boards. The Junior Petes—or at least Bob Gardner—caugh fire then to roar in for two within 20 seconds a minute later. Gardner whistled a hot angle shot into the twine on a pass from Hook, and then Gardner shoved the other one home on a play with Snape, after Hawe partly stopped the rubber. Copeland returned from a tripping penalty later and they pulled their goalie. But the homesters tore down and Doris hit the empty net from just inside Flyer's blue line to make sure of it. Their goalie returned for the faceoff. Teams:

Port Perry: Goal, Hawe; defence, Johnson and Dykstra; centre, Copeland; wings, Brodie and Romanuk; alternates, O'Connor, Fisher, Attersley, Myles, Zedic, Gill, Gibson, Chascewski and Masters.

Jr. Petes: Goal, Delahey; defence, Byrne and Frizzelle; centre, Kearns; wings, McDougall and Doris; alternates, Ball, Coyle, Heffernan, Pue, Ferguson, Gardner, Hook and Snape.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Back toward the end of October, the Petes opened their OHA senior "B" schedule, dropping the opener to Oshawa Truckmen. They've battled for slightly more than four months in a stiff schedule against four other strong squads, and wound up in second place in the standing. Oshawa finished atop the pile with 44 points, just one point (or half a game) in front of the TPT-ers. Orillia ended up in third slot three points back of Petes, and one ahead of the fourth-place Kingston Goodyears. The Memos of Bella Villa ran out of the money with 34 points. Thus, but 10 points separated the leaders and the tailenders after four months or more of play. A grand group race, indeed, promising sizzling playoffs from here in.

Orillia Pontiacs open the best-of-seven semi-final set against the Redmond men here Wednesday night, second being Friday in Orillia and third back here Saturday eve. Meantime, Kingston goes to Bowmanville tonight to open their sawoffs against Oshawa. Group finalists must be declared within two weeks, with a tight final series then being rushed off. Kingston led in team scoring, followed by Oshawa, Belleville, Petes and Orillia. In goals against, Oshawa was best defensively, then Orillia, Petes Kingston and Belleville in that order. Fans can look for a stiff scrap Wednesday when the rugged Pontiacs play Petes. In their last two meetings, Pontiacs won easily in Orillia and then tied Petes here. No soft touches at all in playoffs.

Chum Got Most Goals

Complete scoring statistics for the Petes in schedule play will be listed shortly. Final loop records show that the Duncan twins of Belleville were tops, Ed with 78 points and Erwin with 76. Murray of K's had 66, Payne 63 and Bowen (both Orillia) 59, Fryia of Petes 54, followed by Favero 53, McGregor 53, Gus Leonard 50, Hooper 49, Partis 48 an Toodie Greenlaw 45. But Chum Fryia of the locals had most goals of the top 10 players with 40, Ed Duncan getting 53 assists. Hm, the Quinte official scorer certainly sounds generous there, huh? Bowen and Payne of Pontiacs led the 10 top gees in penalties with 66 and 59 minutes respectively. Yeah, Orillia has a rugged crew, and Petes will sure realize it within the next week and a half of playoffs.

Peterborough has three other puck teams in provincial playdowns right now, too. All three will be seen in action Thursday e'en in Civic Arena. A triple-header, starting at seven, thusly: Oshawa vs. bantam Shamrocks in their second OMHA game, locals being one goal up; Barrie vs. midget "A" Shamrocks to open their home-and-home series; and Kingston vs. our juvenile Aces to begin that playdown set. If our bantams and midgets win, they'll go next against Kingston teams, who ousted Belleville. Pat Doherty and Dave Hayes handle the local "A" bantams and midgets, sponsored respectively by Travellers Assoc., and Police Assoc., while Angus Bradley and Bill Crowley look after the Aces. These are the future senior stars and deserve support now in important Ontario playdowns.

Must Win Wednesday

One down and two to go — that's the series score for the Junior Petes. Last night here they flew to a 7-5 victory o'er Port Perry Flyers, who now lead the best-of-seven OHA junior "B" group finals by three games to two. If Red Creighton's young hustlers can yank out one more win tomorrow night in Port Perry, the grand finale will be here Friday and they'll need rubber walls at Civic Arena to pack in the fans. Last night's scrap was a honey, with the Junior Petes thrice coming from behind for the verdict. Should have been a 6-5 score as the locals got their last goal on an empty net [illegible] from start to finish as the boys skated themselves to the point of exhaustion. Chippy enough but not real rough.

* * * * * *

Bob Gardner was the payoff triggerman for the winers with three goals, his two late in the third tying up the tilt and winning it after the husky Flyers earlier had come from behind a goal deficit to take a lead and makes the hefty crowd groan. It looked like curtains for the Petes' puck season. That never-say-die spirit was not to be denied, and Junior Petes are still very much in the hunt for group laurels. Bob Delahey, Tim Hook, Gord Snape, Jerry Frizzelle and others were all prominent in the home victory as Red Creighton sat out his last game suspension, Dootch Vitarelli handling the team. Attersley, Brodies, Copeland, Romanuk and Dykstra were the pick of the losers — a fine squad of puckists, too.

Williams Denies Injury Stop Him Playing

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams vowed today that he'll fool the doctors who gloomily predict that the Boston Red Sox slugging star will miss the baseball season's opener because of a fractured collar bone.

"Don't bet against my playing in the opening game of the season," Williams advised. "I'll be ready. I'll get over this sooner than they think. I've fooled the doctors before and I'll fool 'em again."

DOUBTFUL STARTER

"It was a clean break and x-rays show a quite satisfactory position," he said. "But Ted must be in the cast a minimum of three weeks and cannot swing a bat for about six weeks. It is highly doubtful if he'll be ready for the season opener."

The Red Sox open their season at Philadelphia April 13, six weeks from today. It is estimated that Williams will need at least two weeks of batting practice and conditioning, after his recovery, before he can play in a regular game.

The injury occurred less than an hour after he arrived for his first spring workout of the season. He had been shagging flies in his customary left-field position for 18 minutes when he raced into left centre for a sinking liner from Hoot Evers. The ball sank sharply and Williams, realizing he couldn't catch up with it, tried to stop. He stumbled, and landed heavily on

York County Wins Ontario 'Spiel Of Junior Farmers

When Ray Grant, skipping the York County entry in the Ontario Junior Farmers annual bonspiel, held in the Charlotte St. curling rink Monday, played his last stone right to the tee on the 10th end of the final game, he not only won the game, but won for his rink, and for York County, the beautiful Ontario Junior Farmers' Trophy. K. McIntyre from Peterborough County was second. D. Sales, Oxford County, was a close third. G. McFayden, Bruce County, last year's winner, was the fourth three-game winner.

With 112 junior farmers from 16 Ontario counties, the junior farmers association held a most successful bonspiel yesterday. And if anyone thinks that these boys don't take curling seriously, read this: One chap from South Simcoe got out of bed at 3:30 a.m., milked 30 cows and drove to Peterborough in time for the 11 o'clock draw. Any idea that this curling is an old man's game, is now a past thought.

10-END GAMES

All of the 28 rinks played the usual three 10-end games, and the curling was really high class.

Ray Grant, who skipped the winning rink, is a son of the famous Andy Grant of Royal Canadians, Toronto, and recently he played second on his father's rink that won the grand aggregate and other prizes in the Ontario open bonspiel. He comes by his curling ability honestly.

During the day hot dinner was served by the lady curlers and was sponsored by the Canadian Packers Co.

Frank Paterson and Ken Best of the Department of Agriculture, ably assisted by Secretary Ira Moore, looked after all the details in fine style.

It was bigger than last year's [illegible] ing forward to a fourth trip next season.

Swiss Girl Wins Downhill Ski

ARE, Sweden (AP) — Switzerland's Ida Schoepfer got marriage off her mind Monday for a couple of minutes and ripped down Areskutan mountain to score an upset victory in the world's ladies downhill ski championship.

The 24-year-old brunette snatched the prize from an eager and disappointed squad of Austrians. Her time was an impressive 1:29.2—just barely enough to edge in front of Trude Klecker of Austria, whose time was 1:29.3 and Lucienne Schmidt of France, whose time was 1:29.5.

Jeanette Burr of the United States was fourth with 1:30.9.

Lucile Wheeler of St. Jovite, Que. was seventh in 1:32.6 while Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa was ninth in 1:33.1.

The victory for Miss Schoepfer, who will marry a Swiss soldier guardsman in the spring, was another setback for the Austrians—the most unhappy folks in Are. Sunday they expected their Toni Spiss or Christian Pravda to win the men's slalom Norway's Stein Eriksen took the title.

Swedish Papers Rank Canada Top Contender

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Swedish newspapers made a complete turnabout today and ranked Canada as top contender for the world hockey title after the Canadian representatives had blanked Sweden 8-0.

During Toronto East York's warm-up trip before the tournament began the Swedish papers gave them virtually no chance to win any medals. But today a unanimous Stockholm press and a couple of team captains praised the Yorks and especially goalie Don Lockhart.

"Swedish ice-hockey suffered its biggest defeat in modern times against a team which was enormously superior in everything—the Canadians played better, skated better, shot better," said the Daily Morgon-Tidningen.

OUT OF RUNNING

"Sweden has no chance—at the end of the match we were even grateful when Sweden was permitted to borrow the puck for a while," said Svenska Dagbladet, adding:

"No team will be able to drive Canada from her favorite throne."

"The difference between Sweden and Canada was that one team had a defence and the other lacked it," commented Czechoslovakia's star and team captain, Vladimir Zabfodsky.

Sweden's captain, Plutten Andersson, said "In all my life I've never played against a more skilful goalkeeper than this Canadian phenomenon."

That was Lockhart, formerly on Toronto Maple Leafs' list and who played two years with Sydney Millionaires in the Maritime Major League before switching to Niagara Falls Cataracts of the OHA Senior A this season. He joined the Yorks as a reinforcement before the tournament started.

George St. Peewees Make League Finals

George St. defeated St. James' 1-0 in a sudden-death Church Hockey League semi-final game early last evening at Civic Arena. It was a replay of their deadlock from Saturday to declare a loop finalist in the peewee class.

After two scoreless periods of fine, close hockey by the youngsters of both sides, Gary Rowley scored the only marker of the game halfway through the final frame for George St. to give them the victory and send them into league finals. The latter will be played Saturday. Each side drew two penalties in the tidy tussle. Teams:

St. James' — Self, Stanbury, Curry, Ball, Heard, Baldry, P. Stephenson, J. Armour, B. Armour Bell, B. Stephenson, Allen, Simmons, Clements, Bebee, Hutchinson, Dunkerly.

George St.—Walsh, Philips, G. Rowley, Milburn, Black, Drain, Gatfield, P. Rowley, Jones, Nelson, Delahaye.

"BIG IKE" EAKINS

Hombre Montana, the 325-pound South American giant and Earnest Earl McCready, the Aurora mat star, will be partners against the murderous Mills Brothers in the tag team wrestling headliner at the Brock Arena on Wednesday night. A powerful partnership such as that of Montana and McCready figures to be able to give even the miserable Mills a mauling. "Big Ike" Eakins, 270-pound Kentuckian, will oppose Golden Hawk, Iroquois Indian athlete, in the semi-final. Toar Morgan will wrestle Firpo Szybsko, the polish-pated Pole, in the first event.

Harvest Of Dollars Still Awaits NHL Champions

MONTREAL (CP)—Regardless of the post-season Stanley Cup series, a rich harvest of dollars in itself, fat rolls of money are still without owners as the National Hockey League clubs swing into a three-week stretch drive of the regular schedule. Even conceding first place to Detroit Red Wings before they clinch it mathematically, there are at least three razzle-dazzle races within a race. Conceivably they might not be decided until the last day of the schedule.

TOP BRITISH RUNNER — Gordon (Puff Puff) Pirie, 23, Britain's top runner, says he won't go to the British Empire Games at Vancouver July 30-August 7. He is on record as saying that he is saving himself for the European games at Berne in August when he hopes to meet Emile Zatopek of Czechoslovakia in the 10,000 metres. Pirie, shown winning a two-mile race in London last season, has cut his season's schedule to two 6-mile races to rest his still-developing body for the European games.
—(CP Photo).

Currently Terry Sawchuk of Detroit and Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs are in such a tight battle for goal-tending honors that $1,000 is hanging on decimal fractions. The runner-up gets nothing.

The Leafs and Montreal Canadiens at the moment are tied for second place although the Leafs have a game in hand. The second-place club gets $9,000; the third-place finisher $6,300.

With a game in hand over New York Rangers, Boston Bruins are hanging to fourth place by one point. If they can stay put, the Bruins will divvy up $2,700. If the Rangers take it, the Bruins not only can kiss the $2,700 goodbye but will be shut out of the play-offs and the money they might earn therein.

PLAYERS DECIDE

Assuming Detroit nails down first place, the Red Wings will collect a pot of $18,000.

The NHL hands out the scaled-downward money awards to the first four clubs in units of 18. Usually there are more than 18 participants on each club and the players decide on the division.

The Red Wings' Gordie Howe is also on the verge of winning his fourth consecutive point-scoring title. That would give him $1,000. Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal, now 10 points behind Howe, will get $500 if he finishes second.

The league-leading Red Wings have rolled up 79 points, 10 more than Toronto and Montreal, and have 10 games to go.

Boston Bruins played only a single game, but it was all-important because they snuffed out Rangers 5-3. The New Yorkers had one win in three outings, the same as the lowly Chicago Black Hawks.

Gordie Howe, with a goal and two assists, boosted his total points to 68. Richard, with only a goal, has 58. Ted Lindsay of the Red Wings with three assists, maintained his third-place position with 51 points.

48 POINTS

Another Red Wing, defenceman Red Kelly, picked up a couple of assists and took over fourth place with 48 points. Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal, playing in only one game, went pointless and now is tied at 46 with Paul Ronty of New York, who counted two assists.

Wally Hergesheimer of New York scoring two goals and one assist, moved into the first 10 from 11th place. With 42 points he is tied for ninth spot with Ken Mosdell of Montreal.

Hergesheimer's two goals also brought him even with Howe on total goals—27. They trail the leader, Richard, by seven. Howe is well in front on assists, with 41. Kelly and Ronty have 33 each.

Corriveau Leads Scoring Race

MONTREAL (CP)—Little Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield Braves is still clinging to the lead in the Quebec Hockey League scoring race but he is being pressed by Howard (Rip) Riopelle and Leo Gravelle of Ottawa Senators.

Corriveau picked up three assists last week, boosting his scoring total to 78 points on 34 goals and 44 assists. Riopelle kept pace only one point behind with 26 goals and 51 assists for 77 points. The Ottawa star's assists total is the best in the league.

Gravelle, the loop's top goal-getter with 41, also is pursuing Corriveau with 75 points, only three off the pace.

Skippy Burchell of Montreal Royals holds down fourth place with 70 points on 21 goals and 49 assists. He is followed by Jimmy Moore of Chicoutimi with 25 goals and 44 assists for 69 points.

Bob Perreault of Montreal took over from Ray Frederick of Ottawa as the league's leading goalie by a fraction of a percentage point. Perreault has an average of 2.790 to 2.792 for Frederick.

Bep Guidolin of Ottawa is the most penalized player with 146 minutes. The Senators also are the league penalty leaders with 739 minutes in the box.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Ezzard Charles Slated No. 1 Contender

NEW YORK (AP) — Ezzard Charles has replaced Cuba's Nino Valdes as the No. 1 heavyweight contender, Willie Pep has dropped to the bottom of the featherweight rankings, and Eddie Chavez has taken over the No. 1 position among the lightweights in the boxing world.

These were among the major changes made in the March Ring Magazine ratings, released today by editor Nat Fleischer.

Valdes lost his top ranking because of his close decision over unranked Archie McBride in a Havana bout. The big Cuban dropped to second behind the former heavyweight champion, who gets another crack at the heavyweight crown June 17 when he meets Rocky Marciano.

FALLS TO 10TH

Pep, twice holder of the featherweight crown, fell all the way from No. 1 to 10th as a result of being stopped in two rounds by 20-year-old Lulu Perez, who advanced from fifth to third.

Wallace (Bud) Smith, the Cincinnati clouter who was the No. 1 lightweight challenger, fell to third following his knockout loss to welterweight Joe Miceli.

Johnny Bratton also got the ax. The Chicago welterweight, drubbed by Johnny Saxton, plummeted from third to 10th among the 147-pounders.

Earl Walls of Edmonton and Windsor, Ont., and Armand Savoie of Montreal are the only Canadians in the March rankings. Wall retains seventh position among the heavyweights. Savoie is ninth in the lightweight division.

Investigate Claim Made By Coach

MONTREAL (CP)—A meeting of the Quebec Hockey League Monday night appointed a three-man committee to investigate claims by Rollie Hebert, coach of the league-leading Chicoutimi Saguenees, that televising of games at Montreal Forum is unfair to visiting teams.

Hebert raised the objection last week and said telecasts at the Forum, home of Montreal Royals, cut attendance and reduced revenue of visiting clubs.

Hebert was not at the QHL meeting. The meeting decided to take up the problem again after the investigating committee held a conference with Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

Hebert last week was reported to have threatened not to bring his team to meet Montreal last Sunday because the game would be telecast. The Saguenees turned up to play however, going down 4-1 before a crowd of 10,000—the season's best.

Mercurys Beat Maroons 9-5 In OHA Senior Play-Off

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys, who wound up the regular schedule in top spot, now are pacing the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group playoffs.

Monday night they took their second victory in as many games with Chatham Maroons by whipping Maroons 9-5 at Owen Sound.

Chatham has, so far, made the poorest showing in the playoffs.

In the series B best-of-five quarter-final, Hamilton Tigers edged Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 3-2 to tie that round 1-1 in games.

Stratford Indians and Windsor Bulldogs, idle Monday night, also are tied 1-1 in their series C round.

Winners of the series B and series C rounds will meet in semi-final play with the survivors meeting the winners of the Owen Sound-Chatham series for the league crown.

At Owen Sound, 1,500 fans saw Maroons hold the hometowners to a 2-2 deadlock in the first period before Mercurys took a 5-2 lead in the second.

Bill Hagen and Joe McArthur each scored a pair for Mercurys and others went to Doug Gillespie, Bill McComb, Buck Forslund Harry Kazarian and Herbie Carnegie.

GETS FOUR GOALS

Rightwinger Jerry Connelly got four goals to pace Chatham. He also assisted on the fifth goal, scored by Paul Oliver.

Hamilton took a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Sam Kennedy and Gordon McGinn. Only goal of the second period was scored by Charley Brooker of Kitchener.

Bill Harrington got the third goal for Tigers and Doug Verity scored for Kitchener 30 seconds before the game ended.

In the semi-final round, Owen Sound will travel to Chatham Wednesday and Hamilton will play at Kitchener Thursday.

Leafs Getting Too Many Stupid Penalties

TORONTO (CP)—Assistant manager Hap Day gives these reasons why Toronto Maple Leafs haven't broken their second-place tie with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League:

"Too many stupid penalties and too few shots on goal."

Returning from Chicago where the Leafs were defeated 2-1 by the last-place Black Hawks, Day said an example of a "stupid penalty" was the high-sticking minor given George Armstrong in Sunday night's game.

"Armstrong had the guy stopped, then up went his stick and off he went.

"I can't take exception to the refereeing when half the penalties we get are stupid ones on our part."

SHOOT AT NET

Both he and coach King Clancy have been after players to shoot on the net at every opportunity.

"They won't. For every goal scored I don't know how many are missed because a player tries to make a production out of it. High-goal scorers, such as Rocket Richard, shoot every chance they get. Centre Tod Sloan and defenceman Jim Thomson are our worst offenders—it's so long since Thomson scored a goal I don't remember—but all the Leafs are bad enough."

Thomson's last goal was in March, 1951, when he shot into an empty net against New York Rangers.

Unanimous Win For Barboie

TORONTO (CP)—Willie Barboie of Toronto scored a unanimous decision Monday night over Jorma Ahopelto of Sudbury in the five-round, 142-pound main bout of an amateur boxing show.

In the semi-final, Jerry Durette of Toronto, 140 pounds, earned the nod over Harry Stephaniuk of Sudbury, who was down for an eight count in the fifth round.

Other preliminary results:

Nixon's Portrait Not To Be Hung At Queen's Park

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP) — As long as Hon. Harry Nixon sits in the Ontario legislature, his portrait will not be hung on the walls at Queen's Park.

"That would be the sentence. . . the death penalty," the former Liberal premier said in an interview Monday.

Mr. Nixon is convinced that if his portrait was hung alongside the other paints of former premiers, it would spell his defeat at the next election.

Mr. Nixon—whose birthday falls April 1—is dean of the legislature at 63. He has been a member continuously for the last 35 years, ever since he was first elected member for Brant county in 1919.

ONLY ONES MISSING

The portraits of Mr. Nixon and the late Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal premier from July 10, 1934 to Oct. 21, 1942, are the only ones missing in the Queen's Park gallery. Mr. Hepburn steadfastly refused to sit for his portrait.

Mr. Nixon said he hasn't given any thought to the subject.

". . . And I don't think I will for a long time yet," he said.

Portraits of George Drew, Progressive Conservative premier from Aug. 17, 1943 to Oct. 19, 1948, and the late G. D. Conant, Liberal premier from Oct. 21, 1942 to May 18, 1943 were hung in the third-floor hall Monday.

DRINKING WATER POLLUTED—A gas mask is needed when washing dishes with tap water in Prince Albert, Sask., says Bill Mills who works in one of the city's restaurants. The unpalatable taste and odor in the water supply, drawn from the North Saskatchewan river, has bothered residents for more than three months. The trouble is said to lie in the multi-million dollar petrochemical and refining area on Edmonton's eastern outskirts which has been ordered to stop dumping waste chemicals into the river. The river flows 700 miles from Edmonton to The Pas, Man.—(CP Photo).

Former Minister Denies Criticism

OTTAWA (CP)—A former Conservative cabinet minister Monday night described as untrue and unfair a Liberal member's charge that the late R. B. Bennett "created unemployment" in 1929 to make money on the stock market.

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin Simcoe) said the statement by Jean Francois Pouliot (L—Temiscouata) is "as untrue as it was unfair—untrue, uncalled for and unworthy of the honorable member."

Mr. Rowe later withdrew the phrase "unworthy of the honorable member" at the request of Speaker Rene Beaudoin.

Mr. Pouliot was not in the chamber as Mr. Rowe, former minister without portfolio under Mr. Bennett, took issue with the Quebec member's speech made two weeks ago.

Set Ad Records

TORONTO (CP)—Two Canadian advertising agencies were among the 57 in North America that placed more than $10,000,000 in advertising for their clients last year. A survey by Advertising Age, the industry's trade paper, named Cockfield, Brown of Montreal and MacLaren Advertising Company of Toronto as the two top Canadian firms, with $21,800,000 and $17,200,000 in billings respectively. These were all-time highs for both companies.

Urge Governments Build Seaway Within Canada

TORONTO (CP) — A resolution urging the federal and provincial governments to investigate every possibility of constructing the St. Lawrence seaway and power development entirely within Canada, was passed Monday by the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

The association, voice of the province's hydro consumers, said such investigations should be carried out so Canada and Ontario could proceed without United States participation if further delay appears likely.

The report of a special committee, adopted at the association's annual meeting, suggested the deep waterway though the Rideau system between Ottawa and Kingston as a possible route to keep the seaway all-Canadian.

The report, tabled by W. E. Wright of Toronto township, said the committee "is most anxious that the developments take place with the greatest co-operation between the two countries."

However, it urged "no further delays be countenanced."

Mr. Wright said the recommendation was prompted by a recent statement by Transport minister Chevrier that approval of the present legislation by the United States might set construction back 20 years.

Later the OMEA turned down a suggestion that landlords be held liable for utility bills unpaid by tenants.

However, delegates approved a resolution asking the provincial government for power to attach a lien to property when the owner was in arrears on his hydro bill.

C. H. Moore of Fort William said neither provincial nor municipal systems should ask for special privileges over other business.

"Any utility should be big enough to be willing to take its chances, just as a business man does, in making its collections," he said.

No Fusel Oil In Whisky

TORONTO (CP) — Liquor Commissioner Arthur Welsh said Monday night the Ontario liquor control board's whisky hasn't even an ounce of fusel oil to the bottle.

He commented on remarks in the legislature by Health Minister Phillips, who said most of the liquor sold in the province's liquor stores contains up to 10 per cent of the fusel oil, a poison. By that standard, a 26-ounce bottle would contain more than 2½ ounces of the volatile oily compound.

Col. Welsh said that in Ontario all distilled liquor is 40 per cent alcohol by volume. This means a 40-ounce bottle would contain 16 ounces of alcohol. The highest fusel oil content would be 2-10 of one per cent for the 16 ounces, he said.

Defeat Motion For Access To CBC Mail

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Monday defeated by 107 to 63 an opposition motion to obtain copies of correspondence between the CBC and private broadcasters concerning broadcasting rights to the British Empire Games in Vancouver next summer.

Revenue Minister McCann, who reports to the Commons for the CBC, said the corporation was prepared to provide a copy of the contract with the British Empire Games committee giving the CBC broadcasting rights.

The motion, sponsored by John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) was supported by 16 CCF members and 12 Social Credit members.

Malan May Resign When He Reaches 80

By JOHN WORRALL

CAPE TOWN (OFNS)—Rumors are persistent in Cape Town, where the South African Parliament is now sitting, that the Premier, Dr. Daniel F. Malan, will retire from the political arena when he is eighty. His birthday is in May. Dr. Malan's health has not been good recently, and he is frequently seen being helped to walk when he attends public engagements. Not long ago he had a sudden blackout in parliament which occasioned some concern. In any case, the age of eighty is considered by his friends and associates to be a suitable one for handing over office to a younger minister—and there are several whose ambitions lie in the direction of the premiership.

It has always been believed that Dr. Malan—who has been premier since the accession to power in 1948 of the Nationalist Party on the defeat of General Smuts—would retire at eighty, having engineered the major part of the Nationalist Apartheid (racial segregation) plan, and that he would leave his successor to complete the plan. But the crisis over the constitutional issue, caused by the unexpected obstacles placed by the opposition in the way of disfranchising the Cape Coloured (mixed blood) voters, have complicated the political aspect of Apartheid. Not only has this issue brought about a crisis in the race affairs of the Union; it has produced disagreement over tactics in the Nationalist Party. Unlike the dissension in the United (Opposition) Party over the same issue, the Nationalists have not publicly aired their disagreements and Dr. Malan has kept a firm hold over his followers.

Lobby reports have it that if the issue can be satisfactorily settled in this session of parliament, Dr. Malan will retire. The Select Committee on the Colored vote issue is now sitting almost daily, and its report is expected soon. If the report recommends a bill over which the United Party can compromise with the government, to allow the measure to be passed through the joint session of the Assembly and Senate with the two-thirds majority which is required by the Constitution, then the parliamentary side of the crisis will be settled.

The question of the succession is being eagerly discussed in lobby and political circles. The logical successor, Mr. Havenga, the deputy prime minister and finance minister, is a sick man, and is believed to be himself due for retirement.

The two ministers tipped as possible successors are Dr. Donges, minister of the interior, and architect of the main Apartheid legislation, and Mr. J. G. Strydom, minister of lands. Dr. Malan is believed to favor Dr. Donges as his successor, but as leader of the Nationalist Party in the Transvaal, Mr. Strydom has great power and influence in the party, the Transvaal being the well-spring of extreme nationalism. Both are comparatively young men.

LAST DAY FOR FOXES

Thursday will be the last day that the county of Peterborough will pay a $3 bounty on foxes killed not later than the end of February. The extra $10 that the county put on wolves (making $35 altogether) also ended February 28; wolf pelts may be brought in at any time but those killed from March 1 on will fetch $25 only.

SMELL FUEL OIL

Low atmospheric pressure, resulting in chimneys drawing poorly, are blamed for the large number of people smelling fuel oil fumes Monday night. Firemen were called to the Marlen apartments, 45 Hunter St., at 8.46 p.m. They noticed fumes but there was nothing amiss with the heating system. Other people also noticed fumes in the downtown district.

February Warmer But Colder Too

Though it had one very cold spell, February of 1954 had an average temperature two degrees warmer than February of 1953.

During the past month a low of 18 degrees below zero was recorded on the 13th; a high of 51 on the 15th (only two days later); and an average temperature of 26.5 degrees. A year ago it was six below on the 4th; 52 on the 21st; and an average of 24.3 degrees.

There was no rain this February but 11.75 inches of snow, giving a total precipitation of 1.18 inches (snow reduced to water). In February 1953 there was .1 inches of rain and 12.75 inches of snowfall, giving a total precipitation of 1.375 inches.

John Smith Vagrant

John Smith, 65, of Chatham walked into police station Monday, and asked to be booked for vagrancy. He told police his leg was "in bad shape" due to an old ankle break. Magistrate W. R. Philp offered him a $10 fine and $2.50 costs or 10 days and advised Smith to get immediate medical attention if he chose the jail sentence.

Garbage Vans Would Save City $14,000

Sanitation Committee Recommends Purchase Of Four

The city's sanitation superintendent, J. E. Pierce, Monday presented figures to the sanitation committee of city council to support his claim that the city could save, close to $14,000 in wages and vehicle repairs this year by substituting mechanical garbage vans for his department's present fleet of six dump trucks.

Mr. Pierce's figures did not include cost of the vans which, if the purchase is approved by city council, would probably be debentured over a five-year period. Cost of the modern vehicles is roughly $10,500 each. At the saving he had estimated, however, the superintendent claimed the vans would pay for themselves in six years at the most, and probably within five years. He estimated the lifetime of the vans (exclusive of chassis) at 15 years.

Mr. Pierce's recommendation to purchase the vans received strong support in committee, but his request was scaled down from five vans to four. Committee chairman Ald. Bill Beggs will take the request to the committee of the whole council.

Mr. Pierce said he didn't think his department could get through next winter with its present equipment. With the city growing, departmental employees were working nights. He said the mechanical vehicles were needed for their effect on the neatness and health of the city as well as from a financial point of view.

SAVE ONE CREW

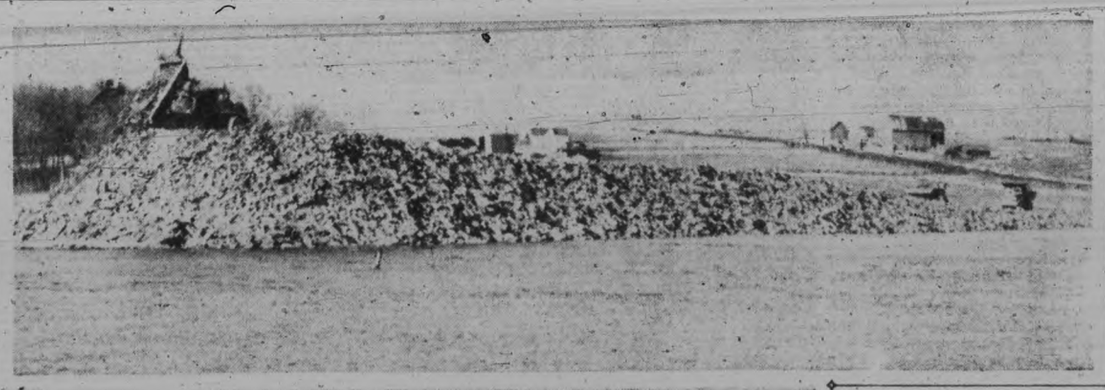
He said five vans could do the work of six dump trucks and the saving in wages of one crew would be $9,000. In addition, most of the present trucks were in need of complete overhauls and new tires. He estimated that purchase of the vans would mean a saving of about $4,500 in repair bills. There would be a slight increase in the consumption of gasoline, he admitted.

Mr. Pierce said the van the city now owns was collecting garbage in the business section on Wednesdays and was doing it faster than could be done by a dump truck.

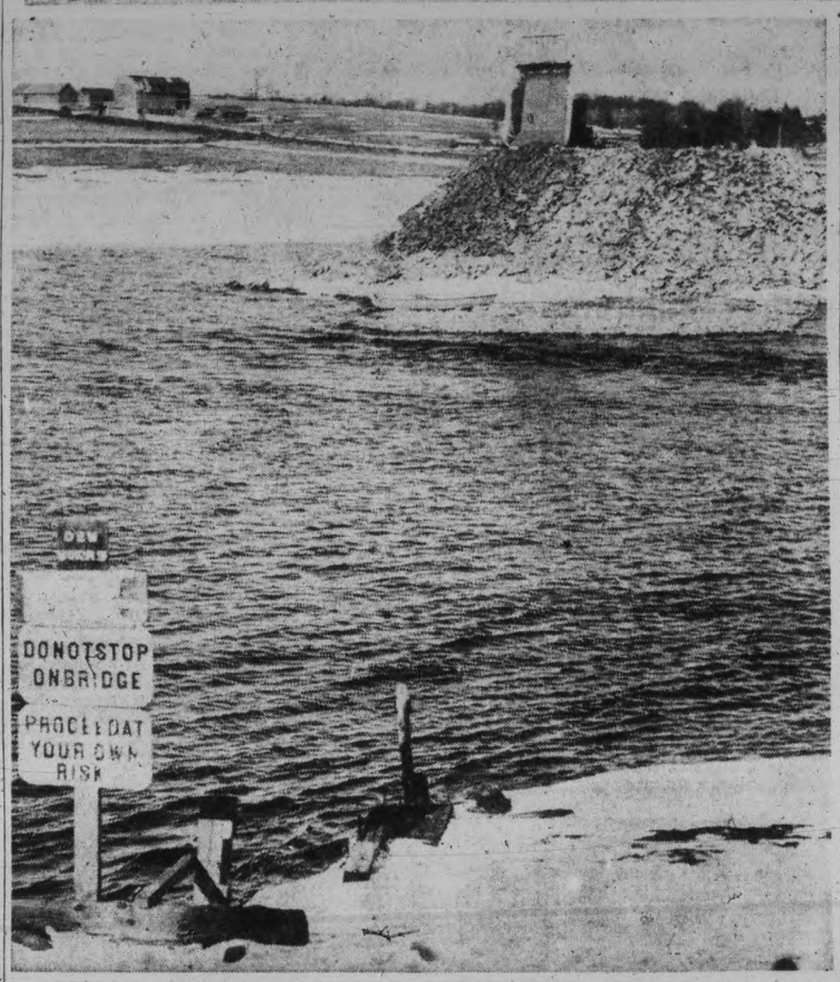
Lifting and piling of boxes of garbage would be eliminated with the vans, resulting in a saving of time, he said.

City Clerk E. A. Outram agreed with Ald. Beggs that purchase of the vans would be welcomed by the citizens. No department in the city was in closer day-to-day touch with so many people, Ald. Beggs said.

PUBLIC APPROVAL



"I don't think there's anything council could do that would meet with more approval from the ratepayers," Mr. Outram said.



Mr. Pierce pointed out that, with the dump trucks, it was almost impossible to keep refuse such as stacks of office papers from flying off and littering the streets.

"I don't question the desirability of buying the vans," Ald. Harold Rehill said. "My only reservation would be whether five vans would be too many."

"Not with the city growing the way it is," said Mr. Pierce.

"If we buy four vans this spring, you'll know better by fall if you're going to need another," Ald. Rehill said.

To Investigate How McNulty Stricken By Polio

A special investigation is being made into the case of a former Peterborough man, Frank McNulty, who was stricken with poliomyelitis while in the provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan, 15 miles northeast of Edmonton.

McNulty, wanted by police in St. Thomas, Ont., on a charge of arson and murder in connection with the YMCA fire there in which two men lost their lives, was sentenced to three years in Prince Albert penitentiary in January when he pleaded guilty to setting fire to the Salvation Army hostel in Calgary.

Pending the probability of an appeal by McNulty on the sentence and further arrangements to send him to St. Thomas to face the other two charges, he was moved to the Fort Saskatchewan jail.

IN SOLITARY

There he was placed in solitary confinement and was not allowed to mix with other prisoners during his short term in jail.

A week ago Sunday he became ill and on instruction from provincial authorities was removed by ambulance to Edmonton Hospital. An RCMP constable accompanied McNulty and remained with him until his case was diagnosed. He was placed then in an iron lung.

Deputy minister of health, Dr. A. A. Somerville, admitted that McNulty contracted the disease in the jail.

"We have reason to believe that he had not been mixing with other prisoners, but we also have reason to believe that he contracted the disease in the jail," he said. "We are having a special investigation made. This is one of the first cases of its kind ever to occur, as far as I know, in a jail.

"We have had cases in institutions where there have been children and it was necessary to provide them with the gamma globulin treatment."

Paralyzed, McNulty's condition is described as "serious."

Requested Grant Of $6,395 To Chamber Of Commerce Meets With Stiff Opposition

Tentative Approval Given For $1,800 $500 To Historical Society By Committee Of The Whole Council

The committee of the whole city council established tentative grants in response to requests from two local organizations Monday night—$1,800 to the Chamber of Commerce and $500 to the Peterborough and County Historical Society. But these amounts are subject to review when the mill rate is struck. Both grants were lower than had been requested. The historical society had asked $600 and the Chamber of Commerce $6,395. The grant to the former was passed with relative ease but the amount of the chamber's request met with stiff opposition.

EQUAL PROVINCIAL GRANT

The historical society's request was based on provincial government policy of matching municipal grants to such organizations dollar for dollar up to $600. The society has been reorganized and has several projects in hand, including preparation of an account of Peterborough's history, marking historical sites with plaques and equipping a museum.

Both Aldermen John Dewart and Stan McBride gave strong support to the historical society. Ald. Dewart said that most communities were making efforts to commemorate the past and the council ought to encourage citizens who were "genuinely interested in getting their teeth into the work."

"The longer the work of collecting these items is put off, the more of them are apt to be lost," Ald. McBride said.

Ald. Gordon Farquharson also expressed interest in the society's work, but thought a $100 grant would be adequate for this year. The museum was a future project and there would be no capital outlay this year, he thought.

This amount did not meet general approval, however, and Ald. Powell raised it to $300. But council approved the $500 suggested by Ald. Dewart.

TERMED "EXORBITANT"

Although no council members specifically endorsed the $6,395 requested by the Chamber of Commerce, Ald. Bill Beggs was in strongest opposition to the amount asked for. Ald. Dewart termed it "exorbitant."

Ald. Beggs quoted two letters in opposition from local labor organizations, Peterborough and District Labor Council and Local 5009 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

"The Chamber of Commerce is probably doing a very good service for a limited number of people," he said. "But this request isn't for a grant; it's a subsidy. Like a lot of other organizations, they have increased their administrative facilities to the point where they can no longer pay for them."

(A brief submitted to the council by the chamber stated they were not asking for a grant but "payment for services rendered;" and asked the city to share the costs of promoting the city and area and of operating the better business bureau.)

"I can't see any direct benefit to the taxpayers at large," Ald. Beggs concluded.

"I am a member of the Chamber of Commerce," Mayor Norman Graham said, "and I believe I sold two bottles of buzz-off to

Jeep, $18 Stolen From Garage, Hunt 'Character'

A jeep and $18 were stolen from the Elliott and Browne service station on the corner of Lansdowne and George Sts., between 7:00 p.m. Monday and 2:00 a.m. today.

The thief or thieves broke a window on the north side of the building to gain entry and drove the jeep out of the building after opening the door from the inside. The money was taken from a box in the store room.

J. E. (Ed) Browne told police he had seen a "suspicious looking character hanging around the station at closing time". No marks were left in the snow which began to settle on the ground about 2:00 a.m.

Police believe the theft was committed by someone just "passing through". Highways east and west of the city are being watched by OPP for the yellow, canvas topped jeep bearing licence X540. A snow plow attachment was on the jeep at the time it was taken. It has been removed later.

Detective Douglas Farthing is investigating.

Building Permits Drop In February

The number and value of building permits issued by the city last month took a sharp drop, bringing the total for the year down lower than for the same period in 1953.

There were 18 permits issued last month for buildings with an estimated total value of $41,087, compared with 24 permits in February, 1953, for buildings with an estimated total value of $114,500.

This brings the total value of permits issued this year to $159,712, compared with $178,900 during the first two months of 1953.

Permits were issued last month for only one house and 17 miscellaneous projects. In February last year, permits were issued for two houses, two garages, and 20 miscellaneous projects.

Only sizeable project for which a permit was issued last month was a service station, valued at $25,000, to be built by the McColl-Frontenac Oil company at Aylmer and Sherbrooke Streets.

Mild Weather Bogs Work To Fill In Causeway

Once more work on the Gannon's Narrows causeway has been bogged down by mild weather. The huge trucks and bulldozers of the Armstrong Construction Company of Brampton plunged through muddy roads last week, hurrying to complete the rock fill portion of the causeway, between Buckhorn and Pigeon lakes. But Monday the roads were impassable and work crawled to a near standstill. Today workmen did only minor jobs as mud, especially down Chase's hill, the large slope on the east side, prevented the trucks carrying their tons of rock from the pit, two miles away, to the causeway.

This is the second time that mild weather has stopped work. Actually the causeway was started before Christmas but the road from the quarry to the causeway was filled with bogs and during a mild spell bogged trucks down.

Early in January the company once more started and working double shifts had poured almost two-thirds of the fill within three weeks. At that rate they expected, barring mild weather, to complete their contract by the end of February.

At present the company is working double shifts and is near finishing its work. The causeway stretches from the east rising on a slight slope to the pier, about 200 feet, east of the western shore. That remaining 200-foot space will be spanned by a overhead bridge, costing $99,000, which will be erected this spring.

The work left now is mostly building the causeway up (at the pier it's about 25 feet above the water level) and then covering the rock fill with six inches of gravel for a road surface on top of the rock.

The causeway-overhead bridge costing $206,000, replaces the precarious wooden floating bridge. The causeway portion of the project is estimated to cost $104,000. The Ontario Department of Highways pays 80 per cent with Peterborough county and Harvey township splitting the difference 8/11 and 3/11ths.

Have Near Escape

WELLAND (CP) — A young mother and her three small children early today barely escaped from their burning home into the teeth of a howling blizzard.

Mrs. W. Thompson and her children took shelter with neighbors when fire, believed caused by defective wiring, gutted the living room of their home. Damage was estimated at $3,000.

2 Inches Of Snow Follows Rain

Gales up to 35 m.p.h. velocity have been swirling snow over Peterborough since 12.30 this morning, and James Harrison, PUC weather recorder, sees no hope for any immediate let-up.

Already there has been nearly two inches of snow, but Peterborough is comparatively lucky. Cleveland today is submerged in 14 inches after one of the worst blizzards ever to strike Ohio.

City and district hydro and phone wires seem to be holding up satisfactorily, although the storm is a long way from over. The PUC reports no trouble and the Bell Telephone has had only [illegible] trouble, the lines to Apsley, usually among the first casualties in a snowstorm, are intact according to Miss Carol McKenzie of Bell's service department.

E. Gill, supervisor of Colonial Coach Lines, reports "everything running right on the button." Drivers on nearby centre-urban routes have been having some trouble with slippery and snow-bound roads, but not enough to delay schedules. Affected areas have been Lakefield, Omemee and Lindsay.

The railways report no delays in traffic, and the Peterborough Bus Lines say they are on schedule on all routes.

Urges $5,000 Be Paid Mayor

Ald. Bob Knox told the Examiner today that he was urging city council to raise the mayor's salary from $2,500 to $5,000.

"The job is worth $5,000 if it's worth a cent," he said. "I don't think the aldermen should get more money because I consider it an honor to be an alderman. But $2,500 isn't enough for the mayor."

The city pays its aldermen $500 a year.

Ald. Knox said he had brought the matter up with other council members, including the mayor, in the hope that an adjustment could be made before the budget was struck. But Mayor Norman Graham had objected on the grounds that he was elected to receive a $2,500 salary and he wanted to continue on that basis.

"But he's losing money at that salary and I don't think it's right," Ald Knox persisted.

Ottawa Landlords Can Increase Rents

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa landlords will be permitted to increase rents by no more than six per cent, city council decide Monday night.

Council amended a rent control by-law passed at its last meeting, reducing the maximum rental increase allowed to six per cent from seven.

The controls are effective immediately. They were instituted to replace provincial controls, dropped Monday. The city rent controls remain in effect to the end of the year.

Urge Gov't Action To Prevent Increasing Traffic Accidents

TORONTO (CP) — Government action against the increasing number of traffic accidents on provincial highways was urged in the Ontario legislature Monday.

John Yaremko, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Bellwoods, called for a select committee to study traffic safety and a board of experts to examine every level railway crossing in the province.

He suggested during the throne speech debate that car manufacturers concentrate more on safety devices than on style and said directional signals and safety reflecting tape should be standard equipment on every car.

Unreasonable speed and the disregard for others were named the two chief reasons for traffic fatalities.

"You cannot cure this disease by engineering alone."

Dr. S. F. Leavine (PC—Waterloo North) said he did not believe there could ever be a medical plan that is solvent and complete at the same time.

In supporting pre-paid medical plans, he said there was "no evidence that any government can do a better job than private enterprise."

Dr. Leavine called for greater cancer research, the availability of polio vaccine to every person at the first sign of the disease and increased grants to hospitals.

GAS COMMISSION

He suggested a commission be formed to advise private enterprise when the natural gas pipeline from Alberta is constructed, but withdrew his support from a resolution he proposed in 1950 that the gas should be operated as a public utility.

C. G. MacOdrum (PC—Leeds) termed the traffic problem on No. 2 highway from Brockville to Cornwall as "serious."

"The highway is presently incapable of handling the traffic. I urge that some work should be done on it."

Mr. MacOdrum also called for the formation of a corps of parole officers for the province.

A. K. Roberts (PC—Toronto St. Patrick) urged the government to consider legislation against discrimination in public accommodation.

He said there are enough instances occurring in Ontario to justify the legislature considering the subject.

A. G. Frost (PC—Toronto Bracondale) asked for railway commuter service to outlying areas around Toronto. He did not believe conventional equipment and services would solve the problem.

Court Orders Reporter Disclose Sources Of Information

The court gave no reasons for its decision. The application for leave to appeal was heard Feb. 15.

The decision apparently means that Mr. Fraser will have to disclose the source of his information for an article written two years ago, dealing with the collapse of the British Columbia Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition government.

Gordon Wismer, former attorney-general of B.C., brought a libel suit against the writer and the magazine following publication of the article. Mr. Wismer's counsel obtained from the B.C. courts an order that the writer be questioned in advance of trial.

On advice of his counsel, Mr. Fraser declined to answer questions designed to obtain from him the names of his informants for the allegedly libellous article. Mr. Wismer's counsel then obtained an order from Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker directing that the writer answer the question concerning his sources.

The B.C. Appeal Court upheld the judge's decision on a split decision, and Duncan MacTavish of Ottawa, counsel for Fraser, asked leave to appeal.

He argued that the case involved an important factor in the freedom of the press. He said the writer's ability to gather information by talking to important persons on the understanding their names would not be published was his very stock in trade.

U.S. Companies Show Business Down During 1953

By FORBES RHUDE

The first 438 American companies to issue 1953 earnings statements show that almost three out of four did better than in 1952.

For most of them, however, says Say Dawson of Associated Press, net profit after taxes in the final three months was below third quarter earnings and well below the second quarter's peak profits.

Net profits of the 438 corporations totalled $5,271,692,847, a gain of 10.8 per cent over 1952. Giants in the oils, motors and electronics fields are yet to be heard from.

Sixty-eight utilities in the survey showed the best gains as a class—up 13.6 per cent. The 333 industrials gained 11.9 per cent and rails 2.7 per cent. Coal companies were the worst hit.

FOREST REPLACEMENT

Greatest threat to the future of Canadian forests, says the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, is from fire, insects and diseases, accounting for a fifth of the annual consumption of wood, or as much as is consumed by all pulp and paper mills combined.

The statement is contained in a new booklet entitled "Canada's National Industry."

"Averaged over the woodlands leased from the crown," says the booklet, "annual harvest of the pulp and paper industry runs to less than one-eighth of a cord per acre.

"Mills spend more on forest fire protection than all provinces combined. They strive also, to harvest insect-infested and diseased stands, leaving only the younger growth which normally resist such attacks.

"Their efforts to increase productivity include scientific harvesting, selective cutting, operation of test forests and test plots, silvicultural activities, a much greater utilization of tree species, increased forest research at the expanded pulp and paper research institute of Canada and, in some instances, planting and operation of nurseries."

Judge Dismisses One Charge

NEW YORK (CP) — Judge Thomas Murphy Monday granted a defence motion to dismiss one of two charges brought by James (Niggy) Rutkin against two former bootlegging partners.

In the complaint, Rutkin had accused Joseph Reinfeld and Samuel Bronfman of conspiring to have him convicted of income tax evasion charges in order to prevent Rutkin from instituting a $22,000,000 damage suit against the two.

Reinfeld is owner of the Renfield Importers Ltd., of New Jersey, and Bronfman is head of Distillers Seagram's Ltd.

Judge Murphy reserved decision on other defence motions seeking dismissal of the damage suit in which Rutkin claims Reinfeld and Bronfman conspired to defraud him in business transactions.

West Point Cadets Play At Kingston

OTTAWA (CP) — West Point cadets will visit Kingston Saturday for their annual hockey game against Royal Military College. Last year, RMC went to West Point.

After the game, which starts at 8 p. m., there will be a military ball. Guests will include Brig.-Gen. J. H. Michaelis, commandant of cadets at West Point, Brig. D. R. Agnew, commandant of RMC, U. S. ambassador Douglas Stuart, Defence Minister Claxton, Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian joint chiefs of staff, and Brig. M. R. Dunn, officer commanding eastern Ontario command.

On Saturday afternoon, 10 of the 47 visiting West Point cadets will take on RMC and RCMP teams in a pistol competition. Former RMC cadets now living in Toronto or Montreal will meet in a Toronto versus Montreal hockey game.

Authority Appoint Secondary Inspectors

TORONTO (CP) — Authority to appoint secondary school inspectors Monday was approved by the Ontario legislature's education committee.

The authority was recommended in the new Secondary Schools and Boards of Education Act which had been referred to the committee after second reading in the house.

Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of the department of education, said the appointment parallels a situation existing in elementary schools.

The inspectors would be appointed by the high school board, subject to approval of the education minister.

Queen Visits Polio Victims

MELBOURNE (AP) — Queen Elizabeth today greeted 65 children recovering from poliomyelitis.

She was on her way to a women's organization luncheon when she stopped her car for a few seconds as it drove through the Government House gardens, to ask "How are you all?" The 65 children came from a convalescent home especially to see her.

The children laughed, shouted and cried with delight.

Their visit was brought about by a voluntary effort from a Royal Australian Air Force signals unit in Melbourne.

The Queen lunched with 650 women representing 175 Victoria state organizations. She wore a tailored white corded silk suit with white accessories—the first time Australia had seen her in an all-white outfit.

In the afternoon the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh mingled with 5,000 guests at a garden party in the lovely grounds of Government House. They had tea on the terrace.

70 On Train Injured

TORREON, Mexico (AP)—Reports reaching here Monday night said a passenger train from Ciudad Juarez overturned near Yermo, in Mexico's Durango state, Monday and at least 70 persons were injured, 10 critically. The accident was believed caused by a warped rail which had been twisted by recent sharp temperature changes.

Residents Rush To Stake Claims In Quebec Uranium Grounds

OKA, Que. (CP)—Landowners in communities bordering the Lake of Two Mountains, northwest of Montreal, hurried to stake mineral claims on their property during the week-end, hoping to "get in" on a uranium find.

Excitement over uranium, steadily building up during the last few weeks, was sparked Friday when Mines Minister Dufresne announced he had received a telegram from Molybdenum Corporation of America that analysis showed specimens from Oka contained a substantial amount of thorium, some uranium and columbium and tantalum.

By Saturday, some 30 stake claims were reported filed at nearby Vaudreuil, mostly by property owners wishing to protect the mineral rights on their land.

Meanwhile executives of other municipalities said they believed outside prospectors will have to get special permission to stake claims in incorporated towns or on sub-divided land. Town council of Hudson Heights announced it will discuss the position of "invading" prospectors and may decide to ask the provincial government for clarification of their rights under the Quebec Mining Act.

PROSPECTORS POUR IN

Officials said some 2,000 acres in the town's limits have been staked.

Hundreds of prospectors have moved in on this district in the last three weeks and some 15 mining companies have sent in field teams to investigate the mineral finds.

Molybdenum Corporation, which holds mineral rights on eight square miles in the Oka region is drilling to determine how deep the minerals go.

Meanwhile monks of the cloistered Trappist order here gave no indication of whether they would take action against any prospectors setting out claims on their land.

Last week the monks, who observe strict vows of silence and seclusion, expressed annoyance at the arrival of the stakers and said it would interfere with their lives.

DISTRIBUTOR FINED — Edward Bryan, Cornwall, magazine distributor, was sentenced to 10 days in jail during the trial of Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24, sentenced to be hanged May 25, for the murder of Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville, Que. Chief Justice McRuer later ordered Bryan's release in view of the news dealer's good standing in the community. He was assessed $50 court costs. He was the distributor of a United States crime magazine which published stories concerning the case before it went to trial. The stories were judged in contempt to court.—(CP Photo).

A Community Fund Agency

VON Seeks To Help Reduce Cost Of Sickness To Home

How would you like to be painfully crippled with arthritis, especially if you are old, your friends mostly gone, and life looking bleak? You would want a nurse, to be sure, but you would want an extra-special nurse. You would want one of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

All who wear the VON insignia are the cream of the nursing crop, but if this were the extent of their achievements, their story, while noteworthy, would not be exceptionally outstanding. But a VON nurse must be confidant, social worker, psychologist, and friend to a cross-section of the human race.

The Red Cross and Community Fund aids 10 agencies, one of which is the Victorian Order of Nurses. This year the fund is asking the citizens for $100,000 and opening date of the campaign is March 8.

Main emphasis in the Peterborough VON program, administered by Miss Harriet McGeary and three assistants, is on bedside nursing. Patients are usually either convalescents who need home treatment or the chronically ill who will never really get well but on the other hand may live on for years.

These chronically ill are mostly old folk—people who could not begin to meet the expenses of a private duty nurse over a period of years. This is where the VON comes in, taking money if the patient can pay, treating him free if he cannot, (and usually he can't).

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Treatment of the aged poses special problems, says Miss McGeary. They often become apathetic, crotchety and bitter about a life that seems to have passed them by. They are hemmed in by their physical ailments, so that their minds and souls are in danger of atrophy.

Such people look forward to the visit of the VON nurse as the big event of their circumscribed week. They live from one week to the next, storing up worries to give to the sympathetic ears of the VON nurse.

Most patients whether young or old are not malingerers says Miss McGeary. They want to pay what they can, but this is often pitifully small. In 1953 only 18 per cent of the VON's visits were full-pay, with 21 per cent part-pays. Over 60 per cent were either free visits or non-chargeable.

The VON is now in a particularly difficult position. It admits frankly that it has not as much work as it can handle, and that another 1,500 visits a year could be managed by the local staff.

One might then ask, if the VON has outlived its usefulness. The answer would be a loud and ringing "no". There are fewer visits: (1.) because hospitalization and medical insurance schemes do not usually cover home care and (2.) because the VON is rigidly confined to the Peterborough city limits.

NEEDED IN SUBURBS

Suburban and rural areas, says Miss McGeary are desperately in need of VON attention but the organization is hamstrung because it would establish undesirable precedents if it started operations in these areas.

The VON cannot do rural work because it would be "against all our principles" to take full-pay patients only, and because the organization hasn't the money to handle the indigents and part-pays. Miss McGeary says she looks forward to the day when the county council and the various township organizations make grants to allow the VON to move out beyond the city limits.

One of the most agonizing jobs, say VON nurses, is to have to turn down people from outside the city who need VON help, perhaps even more than the city residents because they are even more out of touch with life.

Last year the VON made a total of 3,196 visits to nursing care patients. Of these 116 were 70 or over, and this is indication enough of the major emphasis of the VON program. All of these suffer some form of chronic illness—strokes, heart diseases, arthritis or one of a host of other ailments.

The VON also treated 110 adult medical and surgical patients. Most of these were referred by doctors who advised the VON nurses what treatment to give. The VON does no medicinal therapy on its own. The VON contacts doctors of patients who call the VON on their own initiative.

The average taxpayer likes to [illegible] not realize that his taxes would be considerably higher without the VON. Although the Order made 1,382 visits for which no fee was received, and 382 part-fee visits in 1953 (financed by the Community Chests), the cost to the community as a whole was only about one-fourth what it would have been of these patients had been in hospital for treatment.

Wherever the VON nurse turns, she finds she is up against one problem or another, largely traceable to the fact that people take organizations like the VON for granted until they have personal need of their services.

Public health nursing is a highly-specialized field and one which more and more nurses are entering. This field has long been one of the most important functions of the VON, but they are now finding that unless salaries are brought within striking distance of those paid to public health nurses in the official field, such nurses will not be available to the Order. The official field offers better working conditions and more pay than the VON, although the VON costs the community less.

HOSPITALS JAMMED

It's almost a truism nowadays to say that hospitals are overcrowded. Everybody acknowledges that this is a serious problem, but the VON has come up with a concrete solution. The Order wonders if it would not be less expensive to the insurers and to the communities who have to provide more and more hospital beds for many people who could be cared for at home if home nursing were supplied modifying existing insurance schemes.

Even the best of hospitals are infinitely depressing places, particularly for the convalescents and for those who see no hope of getting out in the forseeable future. Miss McGeary feels that the recovery rate for convalescents, and possibly even for the so-called incurables might be higher if more could be treated in their own homes. Miss McGeary is also advocating a referral system from hospital to community to provide continuity of nursing care for those who require only short stays in hospital.

It can safely be said that very few doctors regard their patients as human machines who sometimes need major overhauls. At the same time doctors, hospitals and hospital nurses by the very nature of their job cannot begin to provide the bedside manner of the VON.

It is because she believes that the VON service is not strictly medical, provides the sick with comfort, security and the knowledge that they are more than case histories, that Miss McGeary wants to see the work of the VON expanded and hopes to see the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign go 'way over the top.

HELP MOTHERS

This brings us to the educational aspect of the VON's program. Last year 300 individuals received 1,311 visits for this purpose. Many of these were mothers who had doctors' orders for their babies' diets interpreted by VON nurses in meaningful terms. Nurses showed mothers how to bathe their babies, but, more important, they showed how proper handling can give both mother and child an indescribable sense of security and contentment. As one member of the VON board put it: "You can't measure this sort of thing in dollars and cents."

Only three nurses work with Miss McGeary out of the Order's offices on Hunter St. These are Mrs. Gordon Morrison, Mrs. Alan Wade and Mrs. J. N. Perry, and Mrs. Perry will shortly be leaving for Ottawa.

Although it is difficult to assess the scope of the Victorian Order of Nurses in more than general terms because they do so much, it could be said that, primarily, the Order is interested in health from a positive point of view. They believe in teaching their patients not only how to get well, but how to stay well, and they are on hand to help all those who could not otherwise be assisted—a vast army of ordinary men and women to whom the Victorian Order of Nurses is a symbol, more than anything else, of hope.

Return To Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Two members of Parliament returned to the Commons Monday for the first time since the Christmas recess.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) and Henry Hosking (L—Wellington South) were in hospital during the year-end holiday. Mr. Herridge suffered a heart attack while Mr. Hosking underwent a serious operation.

Rural Electric Legislation For Province

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rural electric legislation was expected to take priority at the session of the Prince Edward Island legislature, opening today.

The Liberal government of Premier Alex Matheson said last fall it plans to help finance a five-year, 500-mile electrification program in the island province.

Otherwise, the fourth session of the 47th legislature at Charlottetown was expected to be quiet, with few controversial topics coming before it. The Liberals hold 24 seats and the Conservatives six in the 30-seat house.

Newfoundland's legislature is the only one which has not yet started its 1954 session. Its opening date has not yet been announced.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia said at Halifax Monday that his government alone does not bear responsibility for Nova Scotia's economic ills. Answering opposition charges that his government has fallen down on the task of furnishing employment for Nova Scotians in general, he said his province has fared better in its job problems than the rest of Canada.

Compulsory testing of Alberta drivers every five years was proposed in the legislature at Edmonton by James Underdahl, Social Credit membtr for Cypress.

Throne speech debate ended in the Saskatchewan legislature. The budget will be brought in Wednesday.

Barley Korea Bound

OTTAWA (CP)—A shipment containing four carloads of Canadian barley left Peterborough Monday for Korea to provide hot gruel at child feeding stations, the Unitarian Service Committee announced. This is the fourth shipment under the "barley for Korea" campaign.

Two Liquor Charges

Lloyd Smith, 24, of 541 Gilchrist St., pleaded builty to charges of consuming liquor at a place other than his residence, and of being intoxicated in a public place on Feb. 20, in magistrate's court, Monday. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on each count.

Man Found Dead Note Accuses Neighbor

GERALDTON (CP)—The body of a man with a note in his hand accusing a neighbor of poisoning him has been found in an isolated cabin 42 miles west of here.

The body of Ed Humphreys, 72, a prospector, was reported found in a sitting position by police. Police said the date of the note indicated the body had been frozen in that position for seven weeks. Temperatures in the area 150 miles northeast of Port Arthur have gone as low as 60 below zero recently.

Police said the man's body is being examined for poison. A graphologist is examining the note in an effort to identify the writing. The note is said to have accused the occupant of a cabin several miles away, where Humphreys said he had eaten a meal.

"Pea-Soup" Fog Hugs Newfoundland Coast City

By STEWART MacLEOD

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Fog hugged the cobble-stoned hills of this old port city for the eighth straight day today. The weather bureau predicted no immediate relief for the next four days from the "pea-souper" that has boosted the business of grounded travelling salesmen.

Fog this time of year is customary for Newfoundlanders. But this year's blanket is broader and deeper than anything seen in 10 years.

There has been no sun for eight days. The grey-stone walls of buildings glisten morning, noon and night with moisture.

Planes — big four-engined airliners from a dozen international airlines—have either been stranded at nearby Torbay air terminal or prevented from landing.

PASSENGERS STRANDED

More than 110 Trans-Canada Air Lines passengers have been stranded here and still wait for flights to the mainland. Some have been waiting for a week.

Many of them are salesmen. These commercial travellers are taking advantage of the close-in to chase up additional orders over telephones.

Many reported business has never been better and one said: "I wish there was a fog every time I came to Newfoundland; then I might sell something."

Residents of the surrounding district fear a continued mild spell which would turn the steeply-graded roads into quagmires and make vehicle traffic impossible. These roads are their only avenue into the shopping centre of St. John's.

Several roads forming the spider-web leading away from this capital already have been closed.

Reports reaching here say that the normal run of supplies to tiny hamlets on the south and east coasts of the island have not been cut short by the fog although the murk has reached that far.

Ships equipped with radar creep around the coasts. Those without the radar device kept close to port.

Had Wine Bottle Said Stole It

Michael McMahon, 30, of 5 Maniece Ave., requested a reformatory term in magistrate's court, Monday, after pleading guilty to a charge of illegal possession.

Constable Dennis Traynor testified that the accused had been observed for about a week prior to his arrest, Feb. 26, frequenting the area near the liquor store and soliciting money from passer-bys. He said that McMahon had told him the money he collected was owed to him and "that he'd do the same (give money) if he was working".

When McMahon was apprehended he had a bottle of wine in his bocket which could not be traced to him through records in the liquor store.

"Where did you acquire this bottle?" asked Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw.

STOLE BOTTLE

"I saw two fellows behind the barber shop with two bottles in a bag", said the accused. He said the two men took one bottle out of the bag and left the other there. "I stole the other bottle", finished McMahon.

"That's a very serious offense", said Magistrate W. R. Philp and levied a fine of $100 and $2.50 costs. It was then that McMahon requested the reformatory term alcoholic cure. He was sentenced to one month definite and one indefinite.

Sea Scouts, Cubs Present Concert

LAKEFIELD (ENS).— A packed house greeted the variety concert given by the Lakefield Sea Scouts and Cubs in Memorial Hall on Friday evening. Judging from the enthusiastic applause, it was greatly enjoyed. Chester Lilley was MC for the event.

Of special mention were four vocal selections by members of the Lakefield scout group committee, assisted by Jim Martin. Solos in these numbers were taken by Bill Cooper and Mr. Martin, and the group was trained by Tom Payton. This is their first appearance, but it is expected that they will continue their training and be heard at a future date.

Other items on the program were the scouts in a shanty song, with David Payton doing the solos; a skit by the Silver Cub pack under the direction of two of their leaders, Miss Bette Millage and Miss Connie Orr; a piano solo by Bill Hunter and "The Dancing Girls" by the Gold Cub pack, directed by Mrs. E. Travis.

A trombone solo by Eldon Johnston and a skit by Bill Sheppard as "Professor Ivanawfulitch" completed the first half of the program. During the intermission, draws were made for a number of prizes donated by Lakefield merchants.

Opening the second half of the program was a comic symphony, conducted by Mr. Payton, and community singing. Following was a song by Tom Last as "Nancy Nantucket" and a skit by Stanley Burger, Sam Henderson and the MC.

The vesper hymn by the complete scout and cub groups was a fitting climax to the entertainment.

Mrs. T. Payton was at the piano during the program.

A Message From . . .
MRS. ANNA B. H. HAMILTON
President of the Peterborough Humane Society

Once again, we would bring to the attention of the public . . the work which the Peterborough Humane Society is doing in protecting animals from cruelty and neglect. The following instances are samples of the cases which come under the society's jurisdiction:

Recently a lady who lived at Bewdley had to move to another climate. She wrote to us, to ask what she could do with her 8 pure Persian cats. We could have suggested that the cats "be put to sleep," but through the efforts of members of our executive, the cats were picked up at Bewdley and 6 of them placed in desirable homes.

Another case in point, which occurred some time ago about 40 miles from Peterborough was that of a man who was racing a bay mare in a flat race. He was beating his mare over the head and eyes unmercifully, causing the horse grevious bodily harm. Through the efforts of the Peterborough Humane Society, the matter was brought before the Ontario Jockey Club. The man was summoned, fined and [illegible]

Our Aims For the Coming Year

Our aims for the coming year, besides our regular work, are to interest and instruct the young in humane work, so that we may eventually be able to form a junior society, which has met with success in other cities. We are also most anxious to see improvements at our shelter. But these and other projects take money - - -

Home and School Association News

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

The annual fathers' meeting of Queen Mary Home and School Association took place Monday evening and was well attended. Mrs. R. S. Hutton and Mr. I. Moldaver received in the rotunda, and Mr. Pete LaBlanche took the chair for the program.

A choir of pupils from grades 4, 5 and 6 entertained with three numbers, led by Mrs. S. Millard.

Principal Mr. O. M. Steer introduced the speaker, Miss Phyllis Moore, primary superintendent, who gave an instructive address on the unit system as it pertains to reading.

Some points she brought out were: there is no magic formula for teaching reading; the child should be taught to interpret as he goes along, rather than to sound out each word; he should be read to in the home to broaden his experiences and to enable him to bring more to his school work.

The parents were told that each child develops at a different rate mentally, physically and emotionally and each should be treated as an individual. Learning to read helps gain independence and joy of life.

Miss Moore stressed that home problems influence the child at school. Each one can do something well, and parents should help seek it out and encourage it, thus giving a positive attack in working with the child, she said. "A good report is the most important thing to the school child, and he needs help and encouragement to gain it."

Mr. J. E. Girven expressed the vote of thanks to Miss Moore.

Refreshments were served by a men's committee.

Regular business was conducted by president Mrs. R. S. Hutton. A paper on Brotherhood was read by Mrs. E. Bacon. Mrs. F. A. Hucks made an appeal for contributions to the new headquarters of the Canadian Home and School Council.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Lent Gives Opportunities To Discover Fish Dishes

If we are going to observe Lent let's do it with "joie de vivre". (I'm teaching a French girl how to cook Canadian style so don't be surprised at such French outbursts.) Now this joie de vivre stuff and Lent—what I'm getting at is let's discover new dishes using fishes. Next week I'll give you new deeshes using cheeses.

SALMON FRITTERS

You might call these delicious little numbers French Toast Salmon Sandwiches—as a matter of fact that's what they are.

One-half pound can salmon, pepper, salt and a little vinegar — about 2 teaspoons; bread and butter cut very thin. BATTER: 1 cup flour, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, salt. Break up salmon and season with salt, pepper and vinegar, and mix well. Spread generously between thin slices of buttered bread. Press firmly and cut off crusts. Beat batter ingredients until smooth—don't thin it down. Dip each salmon sandwich in the batter, until well coated, then let drain for a moment. Fry in sizzling butter until crisp and golden on both sides. Serve at once. A delicious luncheon or supper item. Lovely on a dinner plate with broccoli, shoestring carrots.

The fishman tells me that fish fillets outsell other fish, and these fish fillets are usually cod or haddock.

Baking is the all-purpose method of cooking fillets or steaks—if you want to know the foolproof method. Canadians do far too much frying of fish, and once they have acquired the baking habit they seldom go back to frying.

The tried and true method for

BAKED FISH FILLETS OR STEAKS

Requires an oven temperature of 500 deg. Fahr. which is very hot.

Wipe fillets or steaks with clean, damp cloth. To 1 cup milk add 2 teaspoons salt, and dip the fish in this to coat it then in fine sifted crumbs. Place in well-greased baking pan and dot over with small pieces of butter or margarine. Bake uncovered in hot oven of 500 deg. Fahr.—from 10 to 20 minutes, time depending on thickness of thickest part of fish. The fish is cooked when flesh becomes flaky and will separate readily from the bone. Do not over cook. Well cooked fish is opaque but moist. Never dry. Serve with lemon wedges or Tartar Sauce.

CHOWDER OF HADDOCK

Two lbs. haddock fillets, ¼ lb. salt pork finely chopped, 1 medium-sized onion sliced thin, 2 cups boiling water, 3 cups ¼-inch potato dice, 4 cups milk, ½ cup coarsely crumbed crackers, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 or 3 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Cut fish fillets into 2-inch cubes. Saute the salt pork until crisp and golden brown, then add the onion and cook it too until transparent but no brown. Add the water and potatoes and cook 10 minutes, then add the fish. Simmer 10 minutes longer. In another dish to the milk add the crumbled crackers, butter, salt and pepper. Heat these just to scalding. Combine the two mixtures. Pour into large soup tureen or into individual large soup bowls. Sprinkle top generously with finely chopped parsley.

This chowder makes an adequate main course if accompanied by crusty French bread of rolls, and a big salad containing some tomatoes.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Everybody gets a bit run-down now and then, tired-out, heavy-headed, and maybe bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary toxic condition caused by excess acids and wastes. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys, and so help restore their normal action of removing excess acids and wastes. Then you feel better, sleep better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red band at all druggists. You can depend on Dodd's. 52

Warsaw Rink Hold Ice Carnival; Lakefield Features

WARSAW (ENS) — The community rink was the scene of much activity Saturday night as the ice carnival got under way. The main attraction was the Lakefield figure skating club, followed by a costume parade, races, tug-of-war and broom ball game. The proceeds were to buy hockey equipment for the Warsaw school team. The principal, William Nickels, was ably assisted by the home and school association.

The figure skaters gave a delightful exhibition. Six couples took part in a waltzing number. Miss Dorothy Clark and Linda Webster gave solo numbers. Fifteen girls did a clown number and Wendy Nickels and Ann Junken did a number in swing time. The show ended with a routine march.

The costumes were judged by Mr. and Mrs. Dyson and Mrs. Stewart Clysdale. Winners were: Pre-school, Connie Payne, fancy, and Ricky Payne, comic; junior school, Velma Payne, fancy; and Paul Payne, comic; senior room, Beverly Lonsberry, fancy, Elsie Payne, comic; adults, Lillian Wood, fancy, Harold Payne, comic; Miss Sylvia Freeburn, fancy, and Mrs. Reg. Payne, comic.

Races, pre-school: Rickey and Connie Payne, Lynda Cooper. Girls 6-7, Shirley Payne, Molly Hall and Jennifer Cobb. Boys, Ronnie Payne, Paul Payne and Terry Payne. Girls 8-10, Lynda Godfrey, Deloris Payne, Jane Bolton. Boys, Dave Payne, Sidney Payne, Stan Moher. Girls 11-13, Isabelle Coons, Athabelle Hendren, Mary Newall. Boys, David Oliver, Carl Payne, Ernie Edwards. Girls 16 and under, Athabelle Hendren, Isabelle Coons, Mary Newall. Boys, Gary Darling, Marwood Payne, Roy Watson.

Ladies' race: Mrs. Trevor Watts. Gent's: Harry Smith. Couples' race: Marilyn Jones and Harry Smith.

Fastest skater backwards, Gary Darling.

Youngest person on the rink, Brenda Clysdale.

Tug-of-war, Warsaw.

Broom ball: Warsaw defeated Donwoods, 1-0.

DOROTHY DIX

Officer's Wife Worried About Husband Overseas

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 30 years old, have been married since I was 18, and I am the mother of four children. My husband is in the Army, currently stationed overseas. He has always been a wonderful husband and father, has provided well for us, and has truly loved his family. I love him too, very deeply. Here is the problem. Shortly after he arrived in Korea, his attitude toward me changed. He accuses me of infidelity, neglecting my children, wasting his money, and has returned all my pictures. His accusations are so far from the truth that they are absurd. I love my husband too much to even think of another man. I'm never away from the youngsters, and am actually saving money. I've taken on some home sewing to add to our savings toward a new home when he returns. What more can I do? No matter what I write to him, he twists it into another meaning.

PAULA

PROBLEM NOT UNUSUAL

ANSWER: For whatever comfort it might give you, Paula, I can assure you your case is by no means unique. The reaction, set up in your husband to long separation from you and the children, is, paradoxically, the one experienced by devoted husbands, rather than indifferent ones. Try to see your man's side of the story. He has been transplanted clear across the world from you, amid strange surroundings, and with a task that doubtless doesn't appeal to him. The loneliness of men under these conditions is absolutely impossible for home folks to understand.

While you naturally miss your husband, you at least have the solace of the youngsters and of your home. Your husband has nothing but strangers, unfamiliar scenes, and a dreadful sense of isolation. Under these circumstances, his mind is prone to think the worst, rather than the best.

Unconsciously he is envious of your position, which is ideal compared to his. He is open to the laments of men around him, many of whom have actually been let down by their women at home. He is overcome with self-pity, which is thoroughly understandable. Your course is to continue writing. No matter what sort of letters you receive from him, keep yours cheerful, uncomplaining and, above all, without recriminations. Get the children to write to their father, even simple scawls. Enlist the aid of everyone you know, including your pastor, to send newsy, interesting letters abroad. Include in your [illegible] of home life, so he'll understand how busy you are.

DEAR MISS DIX: Last month I met a very nice boy who is in the Army. He met my parents, and they liked him, too. On the night he left for camp, we promised to write each other every day. So far he has kept his promise, but my dad won't let me write so often. The boy and I are both 17. Dad thinks once a week is often enough to write.

J. P.

ANSWER: Dad's concern, I think, is that through intensive correspondence, you and the boy may become more emotionally involved than such short acquaintance warrants. On this score, he's right. It's very foolish to promise daily letters to one who is little more than a casual acquaintance.

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been dating a man on and off for two years. We see each other now about two or three times a week. Our dates are enjoyable and we don't argue. However, he never makes dates in advance or promises to call me. Although I'm sure he knows I love him, he has never said anything to me about love, going steady, becoming engaged or getting married. He was once engaged to a girl who broke off with him. Do you think this has anything to do with his behaviour?

CLARISSA.

ANSWER: Perhaps the broken engagement has something to do with his conduct, or perhaps his bad manners had something to do with the broken engagement. Certainly he's not a very considerate young man, and definitely not one to hold promise as a matrimonial prospect. Maybe if he found you "not available" when he made an unscheduled appearance, he might wake up. Try it, anyw[illegible] tourists last year. I hope the other members did better than that."

DOING EXCELLENT WORK

Ald. Harold Rehill said he thought the chambers of commerce throughout the country were doing an excellent work for tourist development and that the local chamber had measured up to the rest of them. It wasn't only the resort operators who benefitted from the tourist trade, he said. Everybody benefitted.

Ald. Rehill said the senior chamber of commerce had assumed the debt incurred by the junior chamber last year. The debt was caused chiefly by the cost of erecting the tourist information booth.

Ald. Art Burrows pointed out that the merchants' employees benefitted from tourist spending. Ald. Gordon Powell said the chamber of commerce had figures to show 60 per cent of the people benefitted.

BRINGS PEOPLE TO CITY

The Christmas shopping promotion had brought shoppers from as far away as Maynooth, Ald. Powell said. He reminded council that the merchants paid a heavy business tax.

In answer to a question from Ald. Beggs, Ald. Burrows admitted that salaried employees and extra help benefitted from the tourist trade during about four months of the year. But Ald. Powell claimed suppliers of tourist resorts benefitted for two months both before and after the tourist season.

"Every other community is competing for the tourist trade," said Ald. Rehill. "If, we don't try to attract it, we're going to lose it."

"How does our grant compare with cities of comparable size and relatively the same tourist attractions?" Ald. Beggs asked.

"With the exception of Toronto, they average about half what the chamber of commerce is asking us," said the mayor.

Ald. Pat Anglesey said he knew the chamber was doing a lot of good work. But he thought the better business bureau was giving greater protection to the businessmen than to the general citizens. He understood there were certain types of business in the city the bureau couldn't do anything about, because they were members of the chamber.

In regard to promotion, he didn't think the chamber should be the organization bringing industry to the city, which had its own industrial commissioner. As for area promotion, he thought they should seek greater support from the resort operators.

"If they have to curtail any of their activities, I would like to see them cut down on industrial promotion," Ald. Beggs said. "They are duplicating the work of our industrial commissioner."

Ald. McBride said the majority of the garage and service station operators were dependent on the tourist industry.

Ald. Beggs said the industrial workers benefitted very little from the tourist trade. He was not opposed to the grant itself ... [illegible] ... said it was "ridiculous" in view of the $50 0grant previously paid.

"It's a lot of money," said the mayor. "I'd like to see the matter held over until we have all the estimates in."

"It's an exorbitant amount," said Ald. Dewart. "But we have to consider that other cities are giving greater amounts than we are. They are doing a good work. They supplement the work of our manufacturers' committee and I think they should be supported."

Ald. Bob Knox suggested a grant of $2,500 which Ald. Beggs suggested reducing to $1,000.

"One of those is too high and the other is to low," Ald. Dewart commented, whereupon Ald. Knox amended his suggestion to $1,800.

The committee finally passed Ald. Rehill's resolution that a grant of $1,800 be placed in the budget, with further consideration to be given to the amount when the budget is finally drawn.

Severe Snowstorm Upsets Roads, Communications

TORONTO (CP) — A snowstorm that swirled up through southern Ontario to the north left seven Ontario highways blocked today, some power and communications lines down and some schools closed. At least one death was attributed to the storm.

The weather bureau said the snow, whipped by winds into drifts in some places, will move into northern Ontario today then head eastward toward the Maritimes.

Counted a storm victim was William Friebe, 51, who battled snowdrifts and ice while driving in Chatham. He pulled to the side of the road and died of a heart attack. The Chatham area had up to nine inches of snow.

Sarnia was reported snow-clogged with the winter's heaviest fall. Schools in the area were closed for the second straight day, when school buses were unable to buck the drifts.

DRIFTS MOUNTING

Heavy drifting was reported in the southern and southeastern part of the province. Highway 7 was blocked by snow in the London district and No. 2 and No. 3 in the Chatham district. No. 39 was blocked in the Windsor district and No. 40 in the Wallaceburg area.

Road crews were hampered by drifting and continuing snow.

Further north, Highway 24 was blocked by flooding in the Galt area where mild temperatures melted the snow. Highway 17 in the Sudbury area also was reported flooded.

In Toronto the snowfall was comparatively light but slowed morning traffic to a crawl.

Upwards of 1,000 vehicles became stuck along the 125 miles of highway between London and Windsor as sleet, rain and snow hit that section. Provincial police blocked off Highway 2 at Lambeth near London and Highway 3 at Talbotville near St. Thomas, practically cutting off access to Windsor by road.

EIGHT-FOOT DRIFTS

Between Thamesville and Tilbury drifts reached eight feet in height. Stalled cars blocked snowplows.

West of London, telephone and telegraph lines snapped under the weight of snow and ice. Wingham was cut off from London, Stratford and Kitchener for a time.

Chatham dug itself out from under nine inches of snow that fell during a storm that started Sunday night. Snow and sleet that broke wires put the city's fire alarm system out of order.

Windsor reported eight inches of wet snow, heaviest fall so far this winter. Police reported numerous minor accidents.

Strong winds swept eastern Ontario.

Rain which fell most of the day at Toronto turned by nightfall to wet snow that melted almost as soon as it hit the pavements. The temperature, 50 degrees above zero at 8 a.m. Monday, dipped close to freezing during the night.

In some areas of the province, the day-long rain added to thaw water spelled flooded highways. Engineers blasted away ice on Highway 26 near Stayner to prevent a serious washout. Highway 10 was flooded near Brampton but cars could pass.

MANY LINES DOWN

Hydro crews in western Ontario toiled for more than 20 hours without letup to repair power lines snapped by the weight of ice or broken when sleet-encrusted tree limbs fell across them.

Two hundred homes in Lucan, ... [illegible] ... for hours. Four townships in Huron county were without electricity all day. Power was cut off at Mitchell. Street lights went out at Byron.

Telephone lines west and north of London were damaged and calls between Sarnia and London were delayed up to six hours as operators re-routed them over remaining lines. Telegraph and telephone lines into Wingham were cut off.

Communications between London and Strathroy and Listowel were snapped for a time.

At Strathroy, a television aerial was knocked over by ice and wind and fell across a 4,600 volt high-tension power line. A flash of electricity burned the taps on the bathtub in the home of the TV owner, Mrs. Annie Brown, and a wide area went without power until break was repaired.

5,000 OUT OF SCHOOL

Five thousand students were estimated to have been kept from school in western Ontario. Some rural students who came to classes had to spend the night with their urban classmates.

Sarnia reported ruts six inches deep on the main street, cars stalled on every street and city buses almost the only vehicles moving.

At Listowel several windows were shattered as dynamite was used to break up ice jams in the Maitland river that threatened to cause a flood. Many homes had water-filled basements.

Homes on two streets at St. Marys were surrounded by water and merchants' cellars flooded in the main business section as the Thmas river overflowed.

The Saugeen river at Paisley rose eight feet and overflowed its banks, surrounding the Baptist church with water.

Upper Thames valley authority officials said the Thames flood was minor and presented no threat to London.

Appointed Manager Gardening Show

TORONTO (CP)—James B. Liddell, deputy superintendent of the Niagara Parks commission at Niagara Falls, Ont., has been appointed general manager of the Canadian Gardening Show, it was announced.

Mr. Liddell, superintendent of the parks commission gardening school and widely known as a lecturer and judge at garden shows, will be in charge of the 1954 Canadian show at Toronto, April 23 to May 1. He worked for the forestry commission of Scotland before coming to Canada after the Second World War.

Chippawa Camp To Be Closed

TORONTO (CP) — Chippawa Camp, one of three construction camps serving the Ontario hydro commission's huge Niagara project will be closed March 9.

Robert H. Saunders, commission chairman, announced Monday night the shells of the camp's four main buildings will be sold by tender.

He said that, because a major portion of the work on the 5½-mile-long tunnel for the 1,828,000-horsepower project has been completed, it will be more economical to house the reduced labor force in the Whirlpool and Queenston camps rather than run all three made at Niagara by the labor force of hydro and its contractors," Mr. Saunders said. "The first tunnel, 51 feet in outer diameter, is just about complete with its three-foot-thick concrete lining. In No. 2 tunnel, the excavation of rock is about 96 per cent complete and some 50 per cent of the concrete is in place.

"Hydro is hopeful that, very soon, power from the first unit will be available and that by the end of this year five 100,000-horsepower units will be in operation. The official opening will be about the end of August."

Amateurs Make Up Willingdon Cup Team

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's 1954 Willingdon Cup team will be made up of the four low amateurs in the Ontario open golf championship, President Paul Robert of the Ontario Golf Association announced today.

However, all four will be required to enter the Ontario amateur championship and if another man wins it, he will displace the member of the quartet with the highest score.

The amateur, a match play event, will be played at Toronto Thornhill July 28-31.

Gov't Defeats Two MoTions No-Confidence Dealing With Canada's Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has defeated two motions of want of confidence in the government dealing with Canada's unemployment situation.

Members Monday night voted 101 to 63 against a Progressive Conservative motion that a Commons committee study the unemployment situation and suggest methods for dealing with it.

All three opposition parties supported the proposal, as they did an earlier CCF motion calling for direct government action which was defeated 129 to 68 a week ago.

Fifty-two members spoke in the debate, which began Feb. 15 and continued intermittently through six days on the two motions, technically want-on-confidence motions since they amended a government motion for the House to go into committee to discuss estimates.

The government's position, stated at the start of the debate by Acting Prime Minister Howe, is that seasonal unemployment will end by spring and that the economy will be as healthy this year as it was in 1953.

Unemployment figures released two weeks ago showed 524,000 persons looking for work at Jan. 21 through the National Employment Service, 186,000 more than at Dec. 10. The bureau of statistics estimated 280,000 jobless at Jan. 23, 90,000 more than in early December.

Social Credit leader Low Monday outlined a five-point program he said would meet the unemployment problem.

ANNUAL CHECK

It included: Bigger unemployment insurance benefits, a more active house-building plan, encouragement of trade and of manufacture of raw materials and higher pensions and veterans payments to expand the home market for goods.

Mr. Low also proposed a permanent "watchdog" committee of the Commons to make an annual check on the unemployment situation and suggest ways of keeping the economy busy.

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) said the government is giving the unemployed a "political brush-off."

"They've ridden the gravy train so long they don't care what happens, as long as it doesn't happen to them."

Mr. Rowe said farm profits are falling and for the first time since Confederation the government has the whole of the previous year's wheat crop still unsold.

"It is time we remembered economic reality and forgot political expediency," he said.

Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) said the government should recognize the interdependence between agriculture and industry. Instead it had tried to "drive a wedge" between farmers and industrial workers.

CNR LAYOFFS

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth), whose home-town of Stratford has been affected by layoffs at the Canadian National Railways shops there, said the government should assure CNR workers their jobs are safe.

The CNR spent millions in recent years on additions and machinery for the Stratford steam-locomotive shops, but apparently had no program for their full use following a change-over to diesel engines.

He said the government should take the leadership in alleviating fear of a future recession. Yet it was acting just as the Liberal government of 1929 had done in ignoring "obvious signs of economic distress."

Wallace Nesbitt (PC — Oxford) said a committee such as proposed by his party should look into the case of foreign companies which took orders from their Canadian subsidiaries. He said he has no figures on such a situation, but the matter should be considered.

Boys Confess 3 Attempts Wreck Trains

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — New York Central Railroad police reported today that nine boys had confessed three attempts to wreck trains on the Watertown branch of the railroad.

Meanwhile, railroad authorities were seeking another boy believed to have made a derailment attempt on the same line at Central square Monday.

Police said that:

On Jan. 27, a four-diesel 110-car freight was brought to an abrupt halt when the engineer spotted a 125-pound tile lying on the tracks near Liverpool.

On Feb. 3, a speeding train just missed striking an old automobile axle suspended by a cable from a footbridge in the same area.

A few days later, a northbound train struck an old railroad tie on the tracks. The train was not damaged.

Police said the nine boys, between 10 and 14, were arrested Monday, signed statements admitting the three attempts to wreck trains and had been released pending appearance in children's court with their parents.

New Envoys Appointed

OTTAWA (CP) — George L. Magann, 52, former industrialist who has been Canada's ambassador to Greece since 1949, has been named ambassador to Switzerland. He succeeds Dr. Victor Dore, recently retired.

Canada's new ambassador to Greece will be T. W. L. MacDermot, 48, high commissioner to South Africa since 1950.

The two appointments were announced by the external affairs department. The statement, however, did not say who will go to South Africa.

Mr. Magann, a native of Toronto and former director of a number of industrial corporations, joined Canada's foreign service in 1941 as special assistant to the Canadian minister in Washington. He later served in Ottawa and Paris before his first major appointment as ambassador to Greece in August, 1949.

Mr. MacDermot, born in Jamaica, was principal of Upper Canada College from 1935-42 and for two more years taught at the Royal Military College, Kingston.

Debaters To Pick Champ At Spring Show

Allotted one hour of the Central Ontario Spring Show program of Thursday evening, March 18, is the semi-final round of the debating competition of the Junior Farmers' Association of the province.

The Spring Show returns to Morrow Park, Peterborough, the Exhibition Grounds, March, 16-19.

Peel and Carleton county teams are the semi-finalists. The winner goes on to the final round at Ontario Agricultural College in April, a feature event of the Junior Farmers' annual meeting.

Carleton representatives are Orville Mussell and Beverley Hunt, and from Peel, Lorna Hillyard and Barbara Watson. Each county nominates one of three judges, and the third is appointed by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative. The Carleton judge will be Ralph Sweet, lawyer and former district governor of the Kiwanis Club.

Don A. McArthur, assistant agricultural representative for Carleton, has written Mr. Paterson that their Juniors are considering a bus trip to Peterborough to lend support to their debaters by group presence.

Woman Rescued From Sailboat

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A French ship rescued a 46-year-old woman Monday night, ending her five-day fight against the sea in a leaking sailboat.

Mrs. Vera Olive Rideout, 46, who set out from San Pedro, Calif., Feb. 20 in an attempt to sail around the world alone, was picked up about 15 miles south of San Diego by the French training vessel Maurier Christmas. She was transferred to a United States coast guard cutter, returned here and taken to hospital for treatment of a dislocated spinal disk.

Her 25-foot sailboat sprang a leak off Guadalupe island south of here, "then I threw my back out when the mizzen boom hit me," she told reporters. "I planned to heave to off the island for two or three weeks until my back got better, but I woke up with the water 10 inches above the floorboards in the cabin.

Mrs. Rideout said she pumped for at least 120 hours and manned the sails while attempting to reach San Diego.

Two Ontario Teams Meet In Curling Game

EDMONTON (CP) — Northern Ontario and Ontario, both undefeated after two rounds, met today in the third draw of the Canadian curling championships. The other undefeated rink, Alberta, met Manitoba.

Alberta, playing Manitoba's running game, was in front 4-2 after four ends.

New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were playing a close draw game with New Brunswick carrying a slight edge at 5-3 after four ends.

Prince Edward Island had a 5-1 lead over Quebec.

Northern Ontario counted two on the second end and two on the fourth in a drawing contest. Ontario scored one on the first end and one on the third.

British Columbia held a 3-1 edge over Newfoundland.

Mrs. Roebuck Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Inez Perry Roebuck, wife of a former Ontario attorney-general, Senator Arthur W. Roebuck, died today of a heart ailment. She was 68.

Mrs. Roebuck was a lifelong resident of Toronto, and attended To... normal school and Moulton College. She was married Dec. 21, 1918.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Glenna Patterson of Toronto, and a sister, Mrs. Perry Dixon of New York City.

Publisher's Sister Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Katharine Aitken, a sister-in-law of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born British publisher, and mother of two members of Parliament in different countries, died Monday night. She was 72.

A native of New Brunswick, she was the former Katharine McAffee.

Survivors include a daughter, Margaret Aitken, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for York Humber, and a son, William, a member of the British House of Commons and an employee of Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express.

Mrs. Aitken's husband, J. Maums Aitken, predeceased her.

Miss Aitken, Toronto newspaper woman, was elected to Parliament in the Aug. 10 general election.

Burma Attacks Chinese Nationalists

RANGOON (AP) — Burma's army loosed an offensive in eastern Shan state today against one of half a dozen Chinese Nationalist forces in the Burma border areas. Speedy progress was reported.

Mountain artillery pounded the Chinese across the Salween river at a ferry point. Three infantry brigades crossed the river and ... [illegible]

Hope To Determine Heat Of Sun During Eclipse Next June

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian scientists hope to settle next June a scientific argument about the temperature of the sun.

Dr. Jack L. Locke of the Dominion observatory here said today that scientists from three Canadian observatories will work on the problem during the eclipse of the sun June 30.

Parties from the observatories here, in Victoria and in Toronto will set up their instruments between Kapuskasing and Hearst, roughly 500 miles northwest of here.

Dr. Locke said the estimates of the temperature near the heart of the sun have ranged from 4,000 to 35,000 degrees centigrade. The eclipse June 30 may give scientists a clue to the real temperature of this area, known as the chromosphere.

ONLY BRIEFLY VISIBLE

This area is visible only for a few seconds at the start and at the end of the eclipse. It isn't visible normally because the greater brilliancy of other areas outshines it.

The naked eye usually sees the sun as a bright disc. This disc, called the photosphere, is really only part of the sun. When the moon blots out its rays it is possible to take instrument recordings of the part not normally visible.

From these recordings of light, scientists can tell the temperature and pressure of whatever is burning and also something about the kind of material.

About 18 scientists will take part in the observations, spread with their instruments along 60 miles. Their accommodation ranges from a hotel to the bunk house of a logging camp.

Last Period Rally Gives Havelock 10-4 Victory Over Campbellford In TVL

MARMORA (ENS) — Marmora's Memorial Arena was visited by the largest crowd of the season Monday when Havelock played its home game in the TVL semi-finals against Campbellford. Havelock won 10-4 after a fast game before 600 fans representing the locals of the opposing teams and Marmora. The next game with Campbellford using Marmora rink as their home rink will be played Wednesday evening. Should Havelock win, they meet Marmora in the finals of the northern section.

Campbellford shared play evenly in the first two periods. Havelock was only a goal up at the second. But in the third period, the Campbellford boys found Havelock's frequent fast rushes hard to stem and Nelson was beaten six times.

For the winners Doris and Floyd partnered well. Doris, who starred throughout the season, was a star with three goals and an assist coming his way. Although not scoring Floyd had an assist on two of his goals.

Ruttan, Slater, Hannah, Eakins, Kane, Laing and Mason scored for Havelock.

Good work for Campbellford by Eady, Payne, Free and Jeffs were rewarded with goals.

Ross Nicholls played an outstanding game in the Havelock goal.

Campbellford will seek to avenge their defeat Wednesday night.

Training Camp Notes

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A first-class battle for the second-base spot is shaping up here at Milwaukee Braves' training camp.

Danny O'Connell, for whom the Braves gave Pittsburgh Pirates an estimated $100,000 and six players, is aiming to oust last year's regular, Jack Dittmer, and running second at the moment. Dittmer has been named to the regulars and O'Connell to the Yannigans for today's opening intrasquad game.

Shortstop Johnny Logan, working with both men, added that O'Connell "learns fast and should develop into a high class second-baseman, but he'll have to work hard to be as good as Dittmer."

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies Monday signed shortstop-second baseman Granny Hamner for a reported $20,000 completing the 41-player roster of the National League club.

Hamner started last season at shortstop but was switched to second base to close a big gap in the Phillies' infield defences. He may return to shortstop this season if rookie Ted Kazanski is drafted.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Pitcher Early Wynn agreed Monday to his 1954 contract terms with Cleveland Indians.

Wynn won 17 and lost 12 last season.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Manager Eddie Stanky has tabbed Ray Jablonski as St. Louis Cardinals' regular third-baseman again this season.

Stanky's vote of confidence for Jablonski, a rookie last season, followed reports that veteran shortstop Solly Hemus might shift to third to make way for Alex Grammas, the Cards' $100,000 rookie shortstop. But Stanky indicated Hemus and Grammas will have to fight it out for the shortstop spot with the loser moving to the bench.

Two Ontario Teams Leading Canadian Curling Tourney

By JACK ENEFER

EDMONTON (CP) — Two rinks from eastern Canada and one from the west—all masters of the drawing game—have emerged at the top after the first two rounds of the Canadian curling championships.

Ontario, represented by the Ross Tarlton rink from Hamilton; northern Ontario's Don Groom foursome from Sudbury, and Alberta's Matt Baldwin rink from Edmonton, were undefeated at the end of two games each Monday night.

The two eastern rinks were cast in the roles of giant-killers in the opening round. Groom polished off British Columbia, skipped by E. C. (Bung) Cartmell of Vancouver, 17-6 and Tarlton defeated Manitoba's Jimmy Welsh 16-7.

Baldwin edged the Campbell brothers of Avonlea, the Saskatchewan representatives, 12-10 in the first round, and crushed the Reg Piercy rink from Halifax 23-4 in the second round Monday night.

Groom was matched against the R. J. Kent rink from St. John's, Nfld., in the second draw and won handily, 14-3. Tarlton had to fight all the way for his 9-8 victory in the second round over Dr. W. L. MacDonald of Charlottetown.

Welsh, after losing to Tarlton, defeated the W. R. Tracy rink from Arvida, Que., 11-7 in his second game. The Campbell brothers, skipped by Garnet (Mac) Campbell, defeated New Brunswick's R. T. McCully rink from Moncton 14-7 in one of the best games of the night draw.

McCully was given a bye in the first round and British Columbia drew the bye in the second round.

In the first round, Dr. MacDonald defeated Newfoundland 13-5 and Quebec edged Nova Scotia 13-11.

Grouped behind Ontario, northern Ontario and Alberta with one win and one loss each were: Manitoba, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island. Newfoundland and Nova Scotia suffered two straight defeats. New Brunswick and British Columbia have played only one game apiece because of the byes—and both lost.

Baldwin gave a brilliant display of the draw game in chalking up his two victories. The Campbell brothers made a fight of it down to the last rock when, with Alberta leading 12-9, they chipped in for one on their last rock.

Nova Scotia made a game try at stopping Baldwin but were thoroughly outclassed.

Cartmell's British Columbia rink started with a knockout game against northern Ontario in the first round but it backfired when Groom continued to draw into the house, refusing Cartmell's style.

Quebec went for the knockout style against Welsh and never really got going.

Today's morning draw will throw Nova Scotia against New Brunswick; Prince Edward Island against Quebec; northern Ontario against Ontario; Newfoundland against British Columbia, and Alberta against Manitoba.

In the afternoon draw: Ontario plays British Columbia; Alberta plays Prince Edward Island; New Brunswick meets Manitoba; Nova Scotia plays Saskatchewan, and northern Ontario meets Quebec.

Canadian Hockey Team Favorites To Win Series

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto East York, the team none of the sports writers loved, emerged today as local favorites to win the world hockey tournament for Canada after Monday night's convincing 8-0 victory over Sweden's defending champions.

The East York club, which endured blasts of withering criticism before the eight-team round-robin tournament began for their unimpressive showing in European exhibition games, won over a crowd of 16,000 fans headed by King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden and the writers as well with their showing of all-round superiority against the Swedes.

The Canadians, tied for first place with Czechoslovakia and Russia with three victories and no losses, drew a bye in today's schedule while their two chief rivals were pitted against each other in a battle for tournament leadership.

The Canadians outshone Sweden at both ends of the rink last night.

Doug Chapman was carried off with a broken jaw midway through the first period after a collision with big Lasse Bjoern of the Swedes and will be out for the remainder of the series.

Moe Galand and Bob Kennedy led the East York scorers with two goals apiece. John Petro, Earl Clements, Eric Unger and Norm Gray accounted for the others.

The Czechs had an easy time subduing Finland 12-2 Monday but Moscow Dynamos had trouble with Germany, leading them by only a single goal after two periods before they pulled away for a 6-2 victory.

CITY CARPETBALL

The schedule for the week of March 8 is: Legion No. 9 vs. Fire Hall No. 4; Lawn Boys No. 2 vs. Glens No. 6; Fire Hall No. 10 vs. Legion No. 11; Legion No. 3 vs. Red Patch No. 13; LOL No. 12 vs. Legion No. 7; Legion No. 5 vs. Legion No. 1; Orphans No. 8 vs. Post Office No. 14.

Results of last week's play are: Legion No. 9, by scoring a big six in the first game, proved too big a handicap for Legion No. 5 to overcome as this game went to No. 9 by 14-5. Legion No. 5 went into the lead in the second game with No. 9 tying the game at 2-all in the third frame, but No. 5 scored a three in the next end, to go into the lead to win a 10-6 game.

Red Patch No. 13 led in their first game against No. 12, but by the third frame LOL tied it at 2-all and by capturing the next two ends went into the lead; the next four frames went to the Patches along with the lead and they kept that lead until No. 12 made it 10-all in the 11th frame. The final end went to No. 13 by a single and they won 11-10. In the second game LOL No. 12 went into the lead and the closest No. 13 came to overtake them was in the ninth frame when the score stood at 10-8 for No. 12. The final score was 16-9 for No. 12.

CLOSELY FOUGHT

Fire Hall No. 4 and Legion No. 11 met in two closely-fought games at the Legion Hall. In both games each team scored in six ends of each game, and the team scoring an extra deuce won. The first game was 6-4 for No. 14 going into the 10th end and No. 11 tied it up, then they scored a two and the best the Smoke-eaters could do in the final frame was a single and No. 11 won 8-7. The second game went to the Fire Hall gang 14-9.

Orphans No. 8, coming from behind the first game against Legion No. 1, just failed to tie or win as No. 1 finished ahead in a 14-12 game. The second game was also closely fought with Orphans No. 8 leading 11-9 going into the 11th end. Each team scored a single in the final two ends with No. 8 taking the game 12-10 and splitting on the evening's play.

Glens No. 6 came from behind in the first game with Legion No. 7 and by capturing the sixth to 11th ends or six ends in a row, won a 15-9 game. The second game saw Legion No. 7 come from behind, making the game 9-8 in their favor in the eighth frame. With four frames left, each team captured two each and with the same scores for a total of four each. The final score was 13-12 for the Legionnaires.

At the Fire Hall Post Office 14, coming from behind in the first game against 10, and winning the last three, made the game an 8-all tie. The second game saw the Post Office 14 tying it at 3-all in the fifth end, and by taking every one of the last seven frames won 13-3 as No. 10 faltered. The results of Legion 3 v. Lawn Boys 2 has not been reported, and if not played must be played this week.

The match between Red Patch 13 v. Fire Hall 10, which was not reported last week, is as follows: No. 13 won the first game 19-5 and the second game was very close, with No. 10 winning 12-11 by scoring a single in the final frame.

Don't forget those draw tickets.

A copy of the Memorial doubles draw has been posted at the Legion Hall.

Schelule for Wednesday, March 3: At 7 p.m., Team 28 v. Team 12, and eTam 21 v. Team 10; at 8:30 p.m., Team 26 v. Team 13, and Team 18 v. Team 27. See the rules for this competition at Legion Hall.

Ab Allen of the Post Office has been substituted for Bert Reid on Team 18 as partner for F. Quinlan.

Here And There In Sports

IRISH LIZARD STILL 10-1

LONDON (AP)—Irish Lizard remained a firm 10-to-1 favorite for the March 27 Grand National Steeplechase at a betting call-over of Britain's top bookmakers Monday but third favorite Queen's Taste dived steeply from 100-to-6 to 33-to-1.

Bookies lengthened the price of Queen's Taste after the horse's poor showing in the 3½-mile Grand National Trial Stakes at Catterick Bridge Saturday. Queen's Taste was a long way behind when pulled up three fences from the finish.

Betting odds of Clearing and Whispering Steel also slumped following their out-of-form showings Saturday. Clearing finished out of the money in a three-mile steeplechase at Worcester and Whispering Steel threw his jockey in a Kempton Park race. Both were 25-to-1 picks at last Monday's call-over. Now they are unquoted in a list that included 40-to-1 choices.

Coneyburrow held to his second favorite place at 100-to-9 and Irish-trained Royal Tan was steady at 18-to-1. Mont Tremblant went from 25-to-1 to 33-to-1.

EQUESTRIAN BID OPEN

MELBOURNE (AP)—Melbourne is willing to stage the equestrian events for the 1956 Olympic Games if six countries enter for them, but the organizing committee will not interfere if the International Equestrian Federation believes these events should be held elsewhere.

This was brought out Monday in an eight-page news bulletin on the 16th Olympiad, devoting an entire page to the equestrian argument.

The dispute over the holding of the equestrian events, in view of Australia's rigid quarantine laws, is to be settled at a meeting of the International Olympic Committee at Athens in May. Australia will not permit the entry of horses from other countries until they have spent a six-month quarantine period in Britain, Ireland or New Zealand.

Because of this quarantine, it has been suggested that the equestrian sports be held elsewhere, that the laws be modified and even that the 1956 games should be transferred to another site.

HARBINGER OF SPRING—Despite cold weather at Milwaukee, Wis., home-team fans spend the night outside of their stadium to be first in line as 12,000 opening-day baseball tickets go on sale, two per customer.

DRESSEN OUT OF LUCK

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—National League president Warren Giles Monday eliminated Charley Dressen, manager of last year's champions, as a candidate to manage the all-star team.

Dressen, who guided Brooklyn Dodgers to the NL flag, now is managing in the Pacific Coast League.

Giles refused to name the manager or state when he would reach a decision. But when told that Dressen said he probably wouldn't be able to make it, if selected, the National League boss said:

"Dressen will not have the opportunity to make that decision."

The all-star managers by custom are the pennant-winning managers of the previous season.

SEES NO NHL EXPANSION

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe, managing director of the National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs doesn't think Montreal will have a second NHL team—at least not for another two or three years.

He was commenting on a suggestion of Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens that Montreal was ready for further representation in the six-team NHL.

Smythe was quoted in a telephone interview from Florida as saying: "One or two American teams now are having difficulties getting enough players. I don't think there are enough players of NHL calibre around to provide for a seventh team at the present time."

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It would be passing strange, and what might be termed a reverse play, if a renaissance in lacrosse should be inspired in this year of grace by the fair sex. And yet, it is possible.

Here in Canada, we don't associate lacrosse, marked as it is by hard checking, with the girls. As played in these Dominions, lacrosse is no place for a lady.

But in England, it's quite different. While lacrosse is played to a surprising extent by the male athletes on the other side, it is also a very popular game among the girls, to [illegible] women players is due to tour the United States this year, starting this month or next, while a male American team shuttles to England.

Possibly one of the reasons for dislike of vigorous body checking in British lacrosse (and this dislike applies to hockey, too) is that it has been developed primarily as a woman's game.

St. Leonard's School, St. Andrews, Scotland and Princess Helena College, England, were the first British girls' schools to take to lacrosse after Queen Victoria had many years ago watched a game between teams of French Canadians and Iroquois Indians.

The schools did so because it was considered an ideal and rhythmic recreation for young ladies. "Lacrosse" it was stated, "had movements based on the natural body movements, and both sides of the body are brought into play."

Its development was hampered by prejudices against the participation of women in sport, which no doubt was typical of the Victorian era, but following the collapse of most of such prejudices through events of World War I, lacrosse for girls began to establish itself.

By 1930, there were national associations flourishing in all four countries of the United Kingdom.

And today, the game rates the third most popular of all women's team games behind netball and field hockey, with its own "international." Strange, isn't it, that the mother country should in recent years have taken with more favor to Canada's own national game, than we in Canada!

The Gnat and the Bull

A GNAT alighted on one of the horns of a Bull, and remained sitting there for a considerable time. When it had rested sufficiently and was about to fly away, it said to the Bull, "Do you mind if I go now?" The Bull merely raised his eyes and remarked, without interest, "It's all one to me; I didn't notice when you came, and I shan't know when you go away."

Electronic Brain Controls Semi-Automatic Machines

By JOHN DAVY

LONDON (OFNS)—A new electronic device for automatically controlling machines in response to information fed in on a magnetic tape has been developed in Britain by Ferranti, Ltd., and a prototype is being built at their Edinburgh works. It may eventually play an important part in the development of automatically-controlled factories.

At present semi-automatic production of many factory products is achieved by "tooling up" for each new object, involving the changing of various cams and other parts of the lathes, milling machines, and so on. This is really a mass production technique and becomes very expensive if, as in the aircraft industry, relatively small numbers of complex objects have to be made, and the retooling costs cannot be spread over a long production run.

AUTOMATIC CHANGES

By feeding different instructions into the electronic controller which directs them, the new device will make it possible for versatile machines, which would normally either have to be tooled-up specially for each new product or else hand-operated, to produce a wide range of objects automatically. The instructions are produced by an electronic computer. First, the shape of the surface of the object to be made is worked out in terms of a mathematical formula which is punched on to a tape. This is fed into the computer, which then automatically records the correct "instructions" on a magnetic tape. This tape can then be used, via the controlling device, to direct one or a number of machines to produce identical parts.

AIRCRAFT DESIGN

Since modern engineering requires great accuracy, a crucial part of such a device must be a means of measuring very small distances very quickly and exactly. This Ferranti have achieved with the help of the Light Division of the National Physical Laboratory, under Dr. L. A. Sayce. This division has recently developed a method of making large and extremely accurate diffraction gratings fairly cheaply. (A diffraction grating is essentially a piece of glass or polished metal on which fine lines have been very accurately ruled, sometimes as many as 30,000 to the inch. They can be used, among other things, for chemical analysis by spectrometry.) An ingenious application of two such gratings and a photo-electric cell has made it possible for the controlling machine to respond to differences of up to 1/10,000 of an inch.

Modern aircraft design is tending more and more to demand parts, including whole sections of wing and fuselage, machined and of solid metal, rather than constructed out of sheets and spars. Problems of accurately machining numbers of such complex shapes are considerable—and here the Ferranti development may find one of its most important applications.

United Party For Apartheid Regardless of Consequences

By JOHN WORRALL

CAPE TOWN (OFNS). — With a number of important policy statements during the past week, the whole character of the policy of South Africa's United—Opposition—Party has changed from a fumbling negative to a vigorous but cautious positive. It is evident that the liberal elements inside this very conservative party are at the moment in the ascendant; but extreme liberalism is being kept wisely in check for fear of frightening the mass of the United Party electorate into the arms of the Prime Minister, Dr. Daniel F. Malan.

By accepting as a fact the rapid process of African integration into the economic life of the Union, and making it into a firm policy, the United Party has for the first time directly opposed the essential Nationalist— government — policy of apartheid or racial segregation which opposes integration, is trying hard to stop it and prefers to take industry to the Africans rather than bring Africans to industry.

BEST SPEECH

In a fine speech, regarded here as the best of his career, the leader of the United Party, Mr. J. G. N. Strauss, said his party not only accepted integration but was willing to accept its social and political consequences. With this he linked the 1947 proposal of the then Premier of South Africa, Field-Marshal Smuts, for making a substantial forward move along the road towards greater political rights for the non-whites.

The party proposes to revive as a first step forward the old natives' representative council; increase its executive responsibility and at the same time increase African responsibility in native townships. By "integration" the party means the present process of urbanization, accepting the tendency of Arficans to settle permanently in and round the cities; encouraging them to bring in their families, increasing educational facilities, and—most important of all—accepting the responsibility for properly housing them. The United Party says the government is pursuing the utterly unrealistic policy of treating African workers as migrants, of pinning its faith to the maintenance of the reserves as the Africans' national home, and in dreaming of a day when industry will move to the borders of the reserves.

The United Party view is that whether government of the country likes it or not, integration of the African has come to stay, and has followed the great strides forward in heavy and light industry and mining. Nothing, says the United Party, can now stop the African's movement; unless industry is to be utterly disrupted by the wholesale removal of African workers from the cities.

INTEGRATION GROWTH

Figures showing how integration has grown apace have been published here to back up the United Party view. Eighty-two per cent of all workers in South African commerce, industry, agriculture, fishing and mining are non-Europeans; and so is something like six-teen per cent of the skilled labour and sixty-seven per cent of the semi-skilled labour in industry. (The figures are based on the latest returns of the department of census and statistics and the wage board). Out of a total of just over four million people employed in industry, commerce, mining, agriculture and fishing, three million five hundred thousand are non-Europeans. In industry and commerce there are seven hundred and fifty thousand; in mining half a million; in agriculture and fishing two and a quarter million. One hundred thousand non-Europeans are employed on the railways and eighteen thousand in civil service. Nearly half the police force, sixty per cent of the native affairs department and half the health department are non-Europeans.

STATISTICS AID

These striking figures give the United Party ammunition, but while liberal politicians say they prove that integration has come to stay, the government uses them to show that integration has gone too far, and must be stopped at once. Overnight the United Party is trying to show the man in the city street that it is the party which faces facts and which has a practical policy based on common sense. But moderate though it is, the policy is dynamite because of its political implications.

These implications were well stated by Mr. H. F. Verwoerd, minister of native affairs, in Parliament last week. If the United Party's policy of integration were followed, he said, how could it be possible to withold the franchise from the natives?

Police Arrest Escaped Prisoner

OTTAWA (CP)—George Filion, alias George Edward, 40-year-old penitentiary inmate who escaped Sunday from the Ongwanada hospital at Kingston, was arrested Sunday night by Ottawa detectives in neighboring Hull, Que.

Filion, who has been a patient in the hospital for several months suffering a lung ailment, is serving a sentence for armed robbery.

John Trueash, Kingston's chief of police, learned that Filion and another patient, James Moore, 26, who disappeared with him, might be in Hull. He also learned that Filion might be using the name Edward.

Ottawa detectives checked all hotels in Hull and found no legible "Edward" on any registry, but one name was indecipherable.

Acting on a hunch, the detectives entered the room and found Filion and Moore in bed asleep. Filion will be returned to Kingston by penitentiary guards. Moore is not a wanted man.

Investigating Explosion

KINGSTON (CP)—Kingston fire authorities are investigating the cause of an explosion in a two-storey private home which sent its owner, Mrs. Gertrude Haffner, to hospital with undetermined injuries.

The blast occurred about 10:00 a.m, Monday in the house on Princess street in north Kingston. Police said Mrs. Haffner was thrown from a chair where she had been sitting to the floor.

An unidentified motorist stopped his car after the blast, groped his way through smoke into the interior and took Mrs. Haffner to hospital.

Firemen said the blast blew beds in the house through inside walls and tore the front porch from its foundations and hurled a door across the street. All windows in the house were shattered.

Firemen put out several small fires in the house that started after the blast.

Jailed Month For Refusing Source Of Liquor

Refusing to admit from whom he had obtained liquor on night of Feb. 20, cost Elgin Boyer, 38, of 298 King St. an additional month in county jail following a fine of $100 and $2.50 costs or three months when he was found guilty of illegal possession of liquor by Magistrate W. R. Phip, today.

Two other men, Vernie Mackin, 36, 298 King St., and brother Arthur Mackin, 44, of 4 Mary St., Lindsay, were fined $100 and $2.50 costs each, when found guilty of the illegal possession of liquor in the same charge that involved Boyer.

The three men testified that they had "just been driving around" in V. Mackin's car on the night they had been stopped by Constables Sherman Keliele and Dennis Traynor as their car emerged from a lane between Wolfe and Townsend Sts. Each testified that they had started down the lane when the car got stuck and that Boyer was the only one to get out and push.

Both brothers denied any knowledge of a "mickey" of liquor in the car until detective Traynor picked it from the seat between A. Mackin and Boyer.

Boyer said that he found the unopened bottle lying on the ice when he was pushing the car, and "stuck it in my hip pocket". No explanation was offered as to how the bottle arrived on the seat of the car.

ENTERED LANE

Constable Traynor testified that he and Constable Keliele first noticed the Mackin car when it stopped behind the parked cruiser on Townsend St. After circling the block the Mackin car entered the lane and stopped about half-way down.

Constable Keliele said he saw a man come from the direction of Townsend St. and enter the car, then the car started out the laneway with its lights out. The lights were turned on just as it reached the street, and "that's when we stopped it."

Magistrate Philp said he could not believe the evidence of any of the three men and found them all guilty of illegal possession.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw stated that a further penalty could be imposed in the case where a man was convicted of this charge if he refused to tell the court where he had obtained the liquor.

Each man was asked under oath where he had obtained the liquor. Boyer repeated that he had found it in the lane, and the two Mackin brothers denied any knowledge of the bottle until it was discovered by police.

Magistrate Philp said it was not conclusive from the evidence that either Mackin brother should know of the source of the liquor, but Boyer "hasn't satisfied me", he said, and increased Boyer's sentence by one month.

British Government Anxious To Reduce Cost Of Farm Policy

By ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP) — Private traders will be buying most if not all Britain's food when meat is derationed in July. Aud the government is anxious to reduce the cost of its farm policy as much as it can, consistent with maintaining the agricultural revolution.

Thus, the farmer is wondering whether he will have a market for the extra food he grows now that the home market is open to nations well stocked with surpluses. Or what government assistance agriculture will continue to receive under the 1947 Agriculture Act, which commits the government to maintaining a "stable and efficient agriculture."

These matters are the concern of the annual farm policy talks now under way between the government and the National Farmers' Union. They will plot a course of action for the next 12 months, deciding such things as how much the fertilizer subsidy will be, how much money will be allocated to reclaiming marginal land and whether produce floor price guarantees will be raised, lowered or eliminated.

GOVERNMENT FEARS COSTS

The main question is whether the government feels it can offer floor-prices protection in an uncontrolled market. It points to the United States farm subsidy program as an example of the costs that might develop.

The farmers have asked for some step, which it regards as politically repugnant and unwise at a time when it wants countries like the U.S. to open their markets.

At the farm talks last March the farmer was provided with a system of dual marketing. He could sell his eggs on the just-decontrolled open market, or he could sell to the government, at a guaranteed price of four shillings a dozen.

Egg prices rose at first and the farmer could get a better price on the open market. Then, British hens embarked on an unseasonal laying splurge in November and December. Market prices dropped below the guaranteed price and the food ministry recently applied for another £24,300,000 for egg subsidies.

COST EXCEEDED ESTIMATE

The sum contributed to the total £325,000,000 which, it is estimated, the government must fork out in farm subsidies this fiscal year ending in April. Yet the original estimate last year was for £221,000,000.

Despite such problems, agriculture has in fact made more progress in post-war years toward efficiency than in the last century. Production is more than 50 per cent higher than in 1939, partly in response to a government-inspired farm productivity scheme begun in 1952 to save dollars and reduce Britain's traditional dependence on food imports.

It is hoped that when the scheme ends in 1956 farmers will be producing at a rate 60 per cent higher than pre-war. The government has just announced that English and Welsh agriculture struck records last year in seven main classes of produce—wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, fodder crops, sugar beets and milk.

"Egyptian" This Year's Film Headache

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The "Egyptian" may rank as Hollywood's headache picture of the year. It has been just as much trouble casting the props as it has the leading man.

Marlon Brando left for New York as filming was about to start. Twentieth Century - Fox charged breach of contract and sued him for $2,000,000. Brando's doctor, however, said he was ill.

Now, it turns out that "The Egyptian" is one of the toughest pictures in years from the scenic standpoint, too.

"We had to start from scratch," said Walter Scott, head of the studio's prop department. "No studio has ever made a big picture about ancient Egypt until now. We were able to borrow a few items from MGM which has been making 'Valley of the Kings.' But most of it we had to create from scratch.

"We have made 5,000 different items for the picture. Now the others want to borrow our things. We've already had four men from Cecile B. Demille over here to see what they can use in 'The 10 Commandments.'"

Those ancient Egyptians were masters of makeup, Scott explained. He demonstrated a replica of a queen's makeup box that would make Max Factor green with envy.

Research for "The Egyptian" has uncovered some odd facts about the 1300 B.C. era, including:

Egyptian men were baby sitters.

Affection was shown in early times by placing the noses in close proximity and sniffing. Later the kiss replaced this nasal nonsense.

Egyptians quaffed beer made of hops, they used the lupin, skirret herb and an Asyrian root for flavor.

SHEATH GOWN POPULAR

Today's sheath gown was popular then, but with a difference. With the Egyptian women, it hung from below the bosom to the ankles.

Both sexes shaved their heads for reasons of religion, hygiene and just plain heat. Beards were forbidden, although the bigshots were allowed fake beards. Even the queens wore them.

The women also outlined the veins of their chests in blue, reddened their lips, tinged their cheeks with red and white and applied orange henna to the tips of their fingers.

Dancers were extremely graceful and often appeared naked. Which shows you how accuracy must often be sacrificed in films.

Syrian Army Chief Warns Against Further Violence

By SIMON ALLAWERDI

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Revolt-wracked Syria's army chief of staff sternly warned against further violence and demonstrations today as the capital prepared to greet the nation's new chief of state, Hachem Bey El Attassi.

Though rival factions of army rebels united behind Attassi and ex-dictator Adib Shishekly's cabinet agreed to step out, new rioting broke out in Damascus Sunday night and 13 persons were reported wounded, some seriously.

Troops broke up the demonstrations by firing on the crowds and using tear gas. The capital for the second night was under a curfew.

Damascus was calm again today.

One person was killed and 20 injured Saturday night when pro-Shishekly troops fired on mombs who were demanding the resignation of the ousted dictator's cabinet and acting President Maahmoun Kuzbari.

Kuzbari, who took over after the army revolt Thursday sent Shishekly fleeing into exile in Saudi Arabi, agreed to step down in favor of Attassi Sunday.

Attassi, 79-year-old political veteran and two-time president, was proclaimed head of the state in a broadcast Sunday by Col. Shawkat Shkeir, the army chief.

AGREED TO MEET

Shkeir said Attassi was agreed on at a meeting of political and military leaders Saturday night at Homs, 90 miles north of Damascus. The truce meeting apparently healed the split which had divided the rebels after their uprising last week.

Attassi was due here today from Homs to be received officially.

The much-revered Attassi has been a leading political figure since 1919, when he entered the Arab government the French set up at Damascus. He was a member of the first Syrian constituent assembly in 1928.

Attassi became president first in January, 1936, but was ousted by the French three years later when they suspended the Syrian government. He was returned to office after adoption of a new constitution in September, 1950. Shishekly forced him out in December, 1951, when he took control of the country.

Attassi was one of 12 anti-Shishekly leaders arrested last month after rebellion broke out in the Druse tribe. The group was freed soon after the dictator fled the country.

Unconfirmed reports today said a new cabinet had been formed with Nationalist party leader Sabri Assali as Premier. The rest of the cabinet was reported to include three other Nationalists, four members of Attassi's Populist Party and four independents.

Assali and his party were dominant in the regime of Al Sayet Shukri Al Kuwatly, ousted from the presidency by a military coup in 1949.

Exports Show Sharp Drop In January

Buyers Curtail Purchases Canadian Goods

OTTAWA (CP)— Canada's exports one of the economy's major props, dropped sharply during January as the United States and other countries curtailed purchases of Canadian goods.

Exports to all countries declined by $55,900,000 to $265,400,000 from $321,300,000 in January, 1953, the bureau of statistics reported today in a preliminary statement.

Imports, still a little ahead of exports, slid by $45,900,000 to $281,900,000 from $327,800,000. The deficit in Canadian trade was widened to $16,500,000 from $6,50.00 in January last year.

HOWE OPPTIMISTIC

Some economists have predicted that 1954 will be a year of recession, but Trade Minister Howe, in his annual statement last December, estimated 1954 will be another good year for Canadian trade, accompanied possibly by stiffer competition among the world's major exporters.

Canada's exports to the United States during January plunged to $160,100,000, down $31,600,000 from $191,700,000 in January, 1953.

Imports from the U.S. slumped to $204,500,00 from $249,200,000 last year. But even with this drop, Canada continued to show a deficit in American trade. The adverse balance, however, declined to $44,400,000 from $57,500,000.

Britain, Canada's second biggest customer, also cut buying of Canadian goods.

Canada's usual surplus in British trade was squeezed to $9,300,000 from last year's $19,000,000.

Climbing Cow

INVERNESS, Scotland (AP)—Customers in a local vegetable shop ran Tuesday when plaster showered from the ceiling, followed by a cow named Sally.

Sally was a refugee from a nearby auction market.

She'd climbed a flight of stairs adjoining the shop to elude pursuit, only to have the landing collapse under her weight.

Gov't Orders Rebuilding Naval Garage

HALIFAX (CP)—The Chronicle-Herald reported today the government has ordered Eastern Woodworkers, Ltd., of New Glasgow to rebuild a huge garage which collapsed at nearby Shearwater naval station last month.

The newspaper said in an Ottawa dispatch that Defence Construction, Ltd., a crown company, had instructed Eastern to foot the repair bill for an estimated $50,000.

Eastern was the original contractor. The $300,000 garage, part of which housed administration offices, caved in the day after the navy moved in.

The truss was designed and built by Timber Structures of Canada Ltd., Peterborough, under a subcontract.

The Peterborough firm, however, has gone into bankruptcy and as a result the entire cost of reconstruction will fall on Eastern Woodworkers.

The trusses were erected by another sub-contractor.

Defence construction officials said the defect that led to the collapse was "a combination of poor fabrication of glue-laminated components and design close to the line of minimum safety."

Extra Defence Against Red Bombs

Need Protection To Prevent Sudden Attack

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA —(CP)— Canada and the United States are thinking seriously of posting radar picket ships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Defence officials said today an ocean radar screen will have to be established eventually as the Russians develop bombers with longer ranges.

Up to now, the main threat of attack against North America has been across Arctic regions. That will probably continue to be the main avenue for any attack for some time to come. But as bombers increase their range, defence planners say they must consider the possibility of air attack coming directly from the sea and with little warning.

TRAVEL OCEAN ROUTE

According to this view, attacking bombers, instead of flying by the shortest route over the arctic, might travel south over the Atlantic or Pacific oceans, outside radar range, then wheel swiftly into the coasts.

The answer to this threat, officials said, would be a system of floating radar stations.

Original radar defence plans were carried out on the assumption that attack would come over Greenland and Labrador or over Alaska. A far-north early-warning system was ruled out as too costly and not too effective and so radar networks have been built "upward and outward" from main target areas such as the eastern U.S. industrial cities and the U.S. atomic works in the state of Washington The U.S. pays two-thirds of the cost Canada one-third.

This radar system is gradually being built up on both coasts, extending north into Ontario, Quebec, Labrador and British Columbia. These chains, of course, give a certain amount of radar coverage out to sea.

McGILL FENCE

At the same time, a new type of radar chain, the McGill Fence, is being strung from coast to coast farther north, both to supplement the original networks and to supply warning of any attack coming down the centre of the continent.

The fence, so named for its developmnt at McGill Univrsity, is for detecting and plotting aircraft. It is much cheaper to build and operate than conventional radar stations, but is not so effective. It will probably require two years at least to complete.

Effectiveness and extent of radar coverage on this continent are secret.

Criticize Disregard Of Human Rights At Investigations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today criticized "disregard of the standards of fair play" in Congressional investigations, and declared that no one in the armed forces is required to submit "to any kind of personal humiliation" before investigating committees. Eisenhower said in a statement read to a press conference that "in opposing communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

The President did not mention Senator Joseph McCarthy by name, but there could be no doubt he was aiming at the Wisconsin Republican, for the President coupled his remarks about Congressional investigations with praise for Brig.-Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

It was McCarthy's treatment of Zwicker, commandant at Camp Kilmer, N. J., which touched off the heated row of the last two weeks between McCarthy and army secretary Robert Stevens.

The President said the department of the army had made "serious errors" in promoting and giving an honorable discharge to Maj Irving Peress, New York dentist who refused to say whether he was a Communist when he appeared to testify before McCarthy, sitting as a one-man Senate subcommittee.

McCarthy later called Zwicker for questioning about Peress and, in a heated session behind closed doors, told the general at one point that he was not fit to wear his uniform.

This brought from Stevens a denunciation of "abuse" of army officers.

THREE-POINT CODE

In his 800-word statement, Eisenhower outlined a three-point code he said ought to be followed in combatting internal communism:

"1. We must be unceasingly vigilant in every phase of governmental activity to make certain

S.W. Ontario Pounded By Blizzard

TORONTO (CP) — Southwestern Ontario, still staggering from Monday night's storm, was walloped again today as a swirling blizzard pounded northward.

The Ontario highways department advised against highway travel west of London. It said visibility was nil in the area due to a storm of blizzard proportions.

The weather office said the storm, heading northeast from southwestern Ontario, would hit all of southern and central Ontario today.

All schools in Sarnia and most in the surrounding district were closed this morning. About 10,000 pupils were affected.

TELEPHONES OUT

At Owen Sound the Bell Telephone Co., said at least 650 rural telephone subscribers in Grey and Bruce counties were without service today.

Snow was also falling in Chatham, with three to six inches forecast by 4 p. m.

Highways department snowplows succeeded late Tuesday in opening Highway 2 from Chatham 17 miles west to Tilbury for one lane of traffic.

However, the highway east of Chatham is still clogged to Thamesville, mainly due to several large transports stalled across the road. Until the highway is cleared, traffic is being routed south from Chatham ot Blenheim and up Highway 21 to Thamesville, bypassing the jammed section of No. 2.

Sarnia and Lambton county was hit by severe snow for the third consecutive day as a blizzard raged over the area, choking roads, stranding cars, trucks and buses, forcing closure of four district high schools and causing trains to run an hour late.

At 9:30 a. m. provincial police and the Ontario Motor League urged motorists to avoid travel.

Assist Protection Lake Shorelines Recommended

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario legislature committee today recommended Ontario government financial assistance to municipalities building protective works on public land along Great Lakes shorelines.

The recommendation was contained in a voluminous report of the select committee on lake levels of the Great Lakes, tabled by the chairman, O. F. Villeneuve, Progressive Conservative, Glengarry.

The report also proposed that a licence be required for removing sand or gravel from beaches or beds and that restrictions be placed on the use of eroded or inundated land until suitable protective works have been installed.

It urged the provincial government to enter into an agreement with the federal government to undertake studies of lake currents and that the department of planning and development investigate all existing and proposed dredging operations to determine their effects on shore erosion.

TWO YEARS' WORK

The 145-page report, supplemented by numerous photographs, maps and charts, was the result of two years of work by the 10-man committee.

Its report said there was an urgent need for fundamental data concerning engineering aspects of protective measures and for knowledge of lake currents and beach forming processes.

The committee felt that participation by the provincial government in shore protection should initially be limited to conducting studies, amassing information and publishing data on all aspects of shore protection.

"Having in mind the desirability of protecting property that has a reasonably intense public use, the committee recommends that where a municipality or group of municipalities owns lands on the shores of the Great Lakes and connecting waterways which are used by the public and are prepared to undertake part of the cost of protecting these lands from erosion and inundation, the provincial government may grant financial assistance for the construction of approved remedial measures."

CPR To Appeal Freight Rate Rejected By Transport Board

OTTAWA (CP)—A major freight rate decision of the board of transport commissioners is to be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada. Another is to go into effect March 1, 1955, shaking up present ceiling rates on traffic. As the board's ruling on "equalization" of the ceiling rates was made public Tuesday, it was learned the Canadian Pacific railway is taking to the highest court an appeal against the commissioners' rejection of a bid for higher tolls.

The appeal will be against a Feb. 15 judgment in which the board refused to allow the CPR a specified "rate of return" on its investment in rail property.

The railway, informants said, will contend that a "fair return" to a company is implicit in the long-standing parliamentary direction to the board that it is to prescribe "just and reasonable" freight rates.

In the railway application that was largely thrown out by the board two weeks ago, the CPR contended it should have a "rate of return" on its rail investment that would give it a nine-per-cent freight rate increase now and open the way for possible rate increases later.

GREATER INCREASE FEARED

The nine-per-cent increase would amount to around $38,000,000 a year on the national freight bill, now totalling around $1,000,000,000. Opponents of the railway application CPR TO APPEAL

Two Children Die In House Fire, Mother Burned

TORONTO (CP) — Two young children were burned to death and a woman and two other children injured today when fire gutted their one-room home in suburban Scarborough.

Constable John McLean of Scarborough police force named the dead children as Daniel Hampson, 3, and Sharon Wilkins, 4.

He said the injured were Mrs. Louise Wilkins, 21, and her two sons, Robert, 2, and Bruce, 1. Robert was reported suffering superficial burns. The injuries of his mother and brother were not immediately known.

Constable McLean said the blaze broke out from undetermined causes in the one-room building. He said it broke out shortly after the mother of the Hampson child went to work.

Mrs. Wilkins' two boys climbed under a bed to get away from the flames, the officer said. Their mother grabbed them and ran outside.

Pope Reported Still Improving

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Pius, slowly rallying from a stomach ailment, today received the sign of the cross marked in ashes on his forehead—a sign of penance.

Roman Catholics went through similar ceremonies all over the world as Ash Wednesday ushered in Lent, the 40-day period of penitence, prayer and fasting.

The German Jesuit father, Robert Leiber, the Pope's secretary and archivist, performed the ceremony for the Pope before saying mass in the pontiff's bedroom.

Pope Pius, who Tuesday celebrated his 78th birthday and the 15th anniversary of his election to the papal throne, again spent a restful night and took some semi-liquid food today.

Mau Mau Trouble May Be Ended

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—British authorities disclosed today that they have received favorable replies from some Mau Mau terrorist leaders to proposals for ending fighting in Kenya.

Military authorities believe this the best chance we have ever had since the emergency began of finishing the shooting war," said Maj.-Gen. G. D. Heyman, chief of staff of the British East African command here.

Contact with leaders of the anti-white movement was established through "General China," No. 2 Mau Mau leader who recently was captured and sentenced to death. His sentence has since been commuted to life imprisonment.

Gen. Sir George Erskine, East African commander, said "General China" wrote personal letters to 26 Mau Mau leaders. So far six have replied, five favorably.

"General China," former railroad laborer, was taken from his cell in the disguise of an African policeman and flown 100 miles north of Nyeri in a police plane to deliver his messages.

2 Dead, 2 Hurt In Road Accident

ALEXANDRIA, Ont. (CP)—Two persons were killed and two others severely injured today when their car skidded off an icy road and hit a tree near this community 25 miles northeast of Cornwall.

Killed were Ronald Joseph O'Connor, 21, of Glenroy, and Miss Frances McDonald, 23, of Green Valley. Taken to hospital in critical condition were Alexander McDonald, about 30, a brother of the dead girl, and Leo Ladouceur, 32, of Alexandria.

The two killed were in the front seat and the two injured in the rear seat with Campbell McDonald, 25, of Green Valley, who escaped injury. All were residents of this district.

The three in the rear seat were taken from the wreckage through the trunk. Police towed the wreckage a mile to Alexandria where mechanics used hacksaws and crowbars to remove the bodies of the dead from the front seat. The removal job took two hours.

Campbell McDonald said the car, driven by O'Connor, skidded in slush, went out of control and wrapped itself around an elm tree.

$100,000 Damage In Shop Fire

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Damage was unofficially estimated at $100,000 today in a fire which raced through a tire shop and warehouse in the industrial east-end of the city.

Cause of the blaze, which gutted the sprawling, one-storey building belonging to Botsford and McGee, Ltd., is not known.

A heavy pall of smoke covered the area this morning as firemen played their hoses over the burning rubber.

Four trucks were salvaged from the building and firemen saved an adjoining service station.

Will Repeal 'Press Gag' Law

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The New South Wales cabinet agreed Tuesday night to repeal the state's "press gag" law designed to force newspapers to reveal their sources of information about alleged government graft.

The legislation grew out of charges in the Sydney Morning Herald that members of the Sydney city council had been grafting.

Only one prosecution was launched under the act—against The Herald. The Supreme Court in December refused to order the paper to tell police where it got its infirmation.

Seven Men Die In Plane Crash

PEMBROKE, WALES (AP)—An RAF Sunderland flying boat crashed today in an odd, wave-provoked take-off accident, killing seven of the 11 men aboard.

All four survivors were injured, two of them seriously. A fifth man was pulled from the wreckage but died a short time later. The other six, trapped aboard, went to the bottom when the four-engined plane sank.

The Sunderland, oldest type still in service with the RAF, began what appeared to be a normal take-off down Milford Haven bay near this port. Suddenly the aircraft smashed heavily into a wave, filled with water and foundered.

fered by the British Comet.

Boeing was reluctant to talk in specific performance figures "because of the element of competition" but it would admit to these minimums:

A cruising speed of 550 miles an hour developed by four jet engines each of which produces thrust equivalent to 10,000 horsepower at sea level and 20,000 horsepower at normal flight level (35,000 feet and up).

Its carrying capacity was rated at from 80 to 150 passengers with a huge cargo-carrying space in the lower deck.

PARIS (AP) — French Foreign Minister Bidault will confer here next Tuesday with Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, on the Saar question, it was announced today.

Adenauer's visit will be a brief stop-over en route to Greece and Turkey for official visits.

End Of Commonwealth Tour P.M. Leaving For Indonesia

KANDY, Ceylon (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent today spent a quiet day, last to be spent within the Commonwealth of his round-the-world goodwill tour which now is two-thirds over.

Thursday the Canadian leader takes off for Indonesia, where he is scheduled to arrive that night in Djakarta, capital of the new republic, where he will be a guest of the government which won independence from The Netherlands in 1947.

Today he rested at the summer residence of Governor - General Lord Soulbury of Ceylon in the Kandyan hill where Tuesday he spent a day sight-seeing under the guidance of Brant Little of Winnipeg, professor of physical education at the University of Ceylon. He also met another Canadian professor of the university, Gordon Peter McRostie of Ottawa, who heads the agriculture department.

The prime minister also visited the famed "temple of the tooth" but did not see the relic of Buddha, as the tooth, believed by the followers of buddhism to be the only relic of their leaer, is only displayed in the afternoons.

The rest of the prime minister's trip in the RCAF's C-5 transport is outside the Commonwealth. From Indonesia he goes to Korea to visit President Syngman Rhee and Canadian troops, then to Tokyo where he will call on the emperor of Japan, and finally home via Honolulu and San Francisco. Americans Move To Quick Indictment Of Four Puerto Rican Fanatics

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials moved today toward swift indictment of four Puerto Rican fanatics who shot and wounded five United States congressmen in a wild affray Monday, even as Congress pondered new security proposals.

Congressional leaders are generally agreed, although unofficially, that no airtight precautions can be devised against recurrence of the kind of incident, unprecedented in U.S. annals, in which the Puerto Ricans fired a score or more of pistol shots into the House of Representatives chamber from the visitors' gallery.

All five House members felled by the fusillade apparently are recovering, although one of them, Representative Alvin M. Bentley (Rep. Mich.) remained in critical condition today.

Doctors said the danger is from complications which might develop from his internal injuries, particularly to his liver.

The others wounded, representatives Clifford Davis (Dem. Tenn.), Ben F. Jensen (Rep. Iowa), George Fallon (Dem. Md.) and Knneth Roberts (Dem. Ala.), were less severely injured.

District attorney Leo Rover arranged to present the cases of the four Puerto Ricans to a federal grand jury today.

Odly, Rover, then a practising lawyer here, was assigned by the court to defend Oscar Collazo when he and another Puerto Rican Nationalist, the group to which the four involved in the House shooting pledge allegiance, sought to assassinate former president Truman in 1950. Collazo was sentenced to die, but Truman later commuted the sentence to life. Collazo's companion was shot down by White House guards, one of whom was killed.

The four involved in Monday's incident are charged with assault with intent to kill. There are charges for each of the five House members shot down, making the maximum penalty upon conviction 75 years in prison—15 years on each count.

If any of the wounded congressmen should die, the charge could become one of murder, punishable by death.

Those held are Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34-year-old divorcee and acknowledged leader of the quartet; Rafael C. Miranda, 25; Andres F. Cordero, 29; and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28, all of New York.

Their avowed purpose in invading the House with pistols and shooting wildly was to call attention to the Nationalists' campaign for Puerto Rican independence, a cause which Puerto Ricans have rejected at the polls several times.

Julio Pinto Gandia, head of the New York wing of the Nationalist party, referred to the four as "patriots" in a statement issued there, and he added: "We shall do all in our power to aid and defend our four compatriots in their hour of trial."

But governor Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico flew here hurriedly and told President Eisenhower "all Puerto Ricans" protest "this outrage." He told reporters that "the behaviour of these people" indicated a possibility of Communist activity.

In New York, Mrs. Lebron's employer, Harold Werner, said FBI agents last week had asked his aid in keeping a watch on the woman.

"Just last week," he said, "two FBI agents visited me to warn me that Mrs. Lebron was under close surveillance because of her activities as a suspected Communist . . they told me she had been watched for a long time by the FBI."

FBI officials declined comment.

In San Juan, ailing Pedro Albizu Campos, president of the Nationalist party, said the quartet involved in the House shooting were on "a journey of sublime heroism."

Equal Wages For Women Urged By MP

OTTAWA (CP)—A woman member of Parliament gets equal pay with men MPs. One woman in the Commons, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, thinks Parliament should pass a law extending this idea to industry and business.

Mrs. Fairclough, PC member for Hamilton West, Tuesday proposed such a bill in the Commons. She urged the federal government to follow the lead of Ontario, British Columbia and Saskatchewan which have similar legislation for employers under provincial jurisdiction.

Mrs. Fairclough did not refer to the equality of pay among men and women members of Parliament but Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) did in supporting the bill.

However, Labor Minister Gregg said he does not believe the problem of pay differences between the sexes is serious enough to warrant a law requiring equality in industries under federal jurisdiction.

He said that the major labor bodies which have completed making their annual recommendations to the government did not ask for such legislation. Nor had the National Council of Women.

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen-rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

Civil Service Suspends Ottawa Branch

OTTAWA (CP) — The Civil Service Federation of Canada today suspended the Civil Service Association of Ottawa in a dispute over organizing jurisdiction here.

The CSAO claims exclusive organizing rights for federal employees in the capital, while the federation has contended some of its national affiliates have the right to recruit members from various departments.

The federation gave the CSAO an ultimatum Tuesday, telling it to surrender its jurisdiction claims or have its affiliation ended.

The Ottawa body refused to withdraw, and today was reported negotiating for affiliation with the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada.

"2. In opposing communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play.

"3. The conscience of America will clearly discern when we are exercising proper vigilance without being unfair. That conscience is reflected in the body of the United States Congress. We can be certain that its members will respond to Americans' convictions and beliefs in this regard."

Eisenhower said he and everybody in the executive departments recognize Congress' rights to "investigate into every phase of our public operations."

Observing that there ought to be a true spirit of co-operation among the three branches of government, he said such co-operation "is possibly only in an atmosphere of mutual respect."

The president said that when he was testifying as a military officer he never saw any member of Congress "guilty of disrespect toward the public servants who were appearing before him." He said he intends to preserve the tradition of mutual respect between executive witnesses and members of Congress.

Eisenhower said that the courage and devotion of U. S. military leaders had been proved in peace as well as in war.

EXPLAINS DULLES ACTION

The president was asked for comment on McCarthy's demand for an explanation of why R. W. Scott McLeod was stripped of his hiring-firing authority in the state department by State Secretary Dulles.

Eisenhower replied that the responsibility for administrative assignments within any particular department is the sole responsibility of the head of the department, and no one else.

McCarthy called Tuesday night for a moratorium on statements between him and his critics. He turned aside a thrust by Leonard W. Hall, Republican national committee chairman, who told reporters after a White House conference with the president Tuesday:

"My feeling about it is this: While Joe is fighting communism I go along and we all go along. When he begins to attack persons who are fighting communism just as conscientiously as he is, I can't go along with him."

Hall did not think anyone would say that "generals in our army are not fighting communism."

Asked how the McCarthy incident might affect the political campaign for control of Congress, Hall, who recently called the senator an asset to the Republican party, said:

"I think all these incidents throw a fog around the program which is one of the finest ever presented by a president. I think that program will go through, and these little offshoots draw the people's attention away from that program."

McCarthy said in reply "it would appear rather obvious that he and I differ" on investigation methods. But "we have a right to differ because we are good friends."

"While Hall and some of my other friends may disagree on some aspects of my investigations, I am sure they heartily agree with the urgent necessity of exposing Communists wherever and whenever they may be found. That is part of the campaign promise we all made. We owe it to live up to it."

Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic national committee told a party rally in St. Petersburg, Fla., Tuesday night that Eisenhower "has made an unholy political alliance with Senator McCarthy for the purpose of the next election."

"The Eisenhower Republicans are coddling McCarthy to the detriment of our country and its citizens," Mitchell said. "It is high time the president brings order into his own Republican house."

In March, 1953, Eisenhower said in reference to McCarthy that while he supported the right of congressional committees to conduct inquiries, investigations ought not to be carried to the point where one would damage from within what one was trying to protect from without.

'Quake Shakes Adelaide

ADELAIDE, Australia — This capital of south Australia, which becomes host to Queen Elizabth March 18, was shaken today by its second earthquake in three days. Townspeople got a scare as the tremor rocked houses between the Adelaide hills and the sea, but no damage was reported. A quake Monday, the most violent in this region in 50 years, cost thousands of dollars in toppled masonry, cracked walls and shattered windows.

Commons Favors Britain's Defence Budget

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons Tuesday night approved Britain's record peacetime defence budget by a vote of 295 to 270. Prime Minister Churchill had asked its approval without a vote, but the Labor opposition forced a ballot.

The budget, pointed toward a "new look" build-up of British air and atomic strength as a deterrent to war, provides for the expenditure of £1,639,000,000 in the fiscal year starting April 1. It tops the announced outlay for the current year by £3,140,000.

Churchill asked in debate Tuesday night that the House accept the budget without a vote to keep the defence question out of "the trough of party bickerings." He said "any weakness or disunity in Britain, when she is known to be working for peace, would weaken her strength out of all proportion to the money saved."

Labor criticized individual points in the Conservative government's defence program, called for a cut in conscripts' service terms from two years to 18 months and urged a reduction in the deployment of British troops around the world, particularly in the Suez canal zone.

Labor leader Clement Attlee said "It has always been clear to us that one of the objects of the Kremlin would be to make us expend so much on military preparations that we might cripple our economy."

Conservatives and Labor divided on strict party lines in approving the budget, which includes United States military aid amounting to £85,360,000.

In calling for unity, Churchill said an unwillingness by Britain to carry a heavy arms burden would court disaster for this island nation and imperil world peace. He said Britain must always seek to keep Russian armed might far enough from her shores to prevent a possible launching of parachute attacks.

The 79-year-old prime minister, speaking vigorously, declared the west's defences are gaining "a period of alert" to guarantee against a surprise attack.

"An alert period means not only a sure and substantial minimization of the massacre but an additional hope of averting the conflict itself."

Toronto Trading Prices Mixed

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials made the market's only gain as base metals slipped a little and western oils, golds and uraniums were steady.

Only constructions, which showed a balance of gains and losses, failed to join in the industrial advance as motors, papers, utilities, steels, liquors and financial institutions led.

Base metals were lower as juniors showed almost four losses for each gain.

Western oils were steady with small losses and gains in balance and all issues trading slowly.

Golds were stronger as seniors led a slight upswing.

Uraniums were steady with all changes in pennies and most issues showing moderate volumes.

contended the eventual result would be rate increases up to 33 per cent. The general rate increases apply to around half the carriers' traffic.

The board threw out any idea of using annual CPR profits as a basis for rates, even though it now takes that company as a "yardstick" and sets rates generally on the basis of time-to-time financial needs of the Canadian Pacific.

However, it did establish $1,140,000,000 as the CPR's net rail investment as of the end of 1951, compared with a suggested figure of $1,147,000,000 proposed by the company.

But the commissioners said this is to be used as only one of the various checks on the adequacy of rates.

The board's "rate base" ruling and its explanation of it on Tuesday are expected to be among the most important findings handed down by that body in 50 years.

The "rate base" decision set up the principle that the fundamental method of establishing freight tolls in Canada is not going to be changed.

The equalization ruling prescribed a new method of setting the ceiling tolls, known as "class" rates, under the present system.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

The ceiling rates, which have been under study by the board for more than three years, are used on about one-fifth the total rail traffic.

The equalization judgment, to go into effect March 1, 1955, will have the effect chiefly of levelling off the top rates between eastern and western Canada. The rates west of the Lakehead have always been higher than those in the east.

With the introduction of the new scale a year from now, there will be an automatic cancellation of an across-the-board reduction of five per cent on within-the-west traffic ordered by the board last November. The new basic schedules are intended to pick this up.

Regionally, the revised "class" rates are expected to have these general effects: Ontario - Québec tolls will go up; Manitoba's general level of rates will be reduced; the far-western provinces will get the largest increases.

Avalanche Kills Three

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Three Munich skiers were killed in an avalanche which struck Tuesday at the Lahernkopf peak in the Tegernsee Alps near here. A fourth skier is missing.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 3 7-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 96 17-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.71⅞, against $2.71⅝.

Section Of Act "Undemocratic"

TORONTO (CP) — Arthur Child (PC — Wentworth) Tuesday criticized as "undemocratic" a section of the Ontario Municipal Act which permits a city to annex an adjoining area even against the wishes of residents of the area concerned.

Speaking in throne speech debate in the Ontario legislature, he said the act gives a municipality power to appeal to the Ontario municipal board for the right to annex part of a neighboring municipality without consulting the municipality affected. He suggested the act should be revised.

Mr. Child said that in the recent annexation by Hamilton of part of Saltfleet township, without consideration for the future life of the smaller municipality, the municipal board permitted the township to be torn apart for the benefit of Hamilton.

Traffic Accidents Discussed By Legislatures

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Problems arising from the mounting toll of traffic accidents were discussed Tuesday in the legislatures of Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan.

Major changes in traffic laws were announced in the house at Regina. A bill given first reading contained provisions to double minimum fines for violations, as well as new regulations covering truck loading and licence issuing. A truck loaded so that part of its cargo could drop on a highway would bring its owner a fine or jail term.

Quebec's Premier Duplessis blamed some of the growing number of traffic accidents on credit buying of automobiles. He said most of the persons who buy that way cannot afford to own cars.

"They are not prudent persons, they do not drive as carefully, and all this leads to increased traffic violations."

At Toronto, Arthur Child, Progressive Conservative member from the Hamilton area riding of Wentworth, said automobile manufacturers spend millions of dollars yearly to sell high-powered cars. The manufacturers claimed the high power was needed "to get you out of difficulty" but the usual reason for getting into difficulty was speeding.

A program to improve Prince Edward Island's tourist accommodation was forecast at the opening of the legislature at Charlottetown. The throne speech said only agriculture and fishing outrank the tourist industry in the island province.

An opposition member of the Nova Scotia legislature, G. L. Smith, Progressive Conservative from the north-central riding of Colchester, proposed a 10-point program he felt might help the province's industries. It included tax concessions to new industries, expansion of electric power facilities, and naming of trade commissioners.

The Manitoba government was urged to set up a committee to look into the question of crop insurance. M. N. Hryhorczuk, Liberal-Progressive member for Ethelbert, made the suggestion and said the committee could report its findings.

The Alberta government turned down a motion from the Liberal opposition that a royal commission be set up to study ways to provide a more fair distribution of financial responsibility between provincial and municipal governments.

No Cause Complaint Speed Of Korean Mail

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Cote said Tuesday there is "no justifiable cause for complaint" about the speed of mail to Canadian troops in Korea.

Mr. Cote said in the Commons he is sure the mail service is "operating on a sound basis."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) asked Mr. Cote to see if there are any means of increasing the frequency of mail shipments to Korea.

Mr. Cote said that both airmail and surface letters are carried by planes leaving the west coast three times a week. Delivery took from three to six days. Parcels were shipped by boat on an average of once a week and took about one month for delivery, depending on boat connections.

Two Statements Admitted As Evidence

Statements signed by Gary Hegadoran, 18, Western Ave., and Manley Clark, 22, Monaghan Rd., subitted to OPP officers in connection with a charge of giving liquor to minors were allowed by magistrate W. R. Philp as evidence in the trial Tuesday. Another statement, signed by David Chambo, 21, Ford St., third man charged was rejected as evidence.

In judging the admissability of the three statements, magistrate Philp said it appeared as though only a small portion of the conversation between Chambo and the interviewing police office, OPP constable John Cawood, was actually reduced to writing, and only what the constable believed relevant to the case. In accepting the other two statements, magistrate Philp felt evidence indicated they were substantially complete.

MET DOWNTOWN

Evidence submitted by three girls, the minors involved, indicated they had met Hegadoran, Chambo, and Clark downtown in the evening and had struck up a conversation. Later, all six met in front of Chambo's house and got into Clark's car. One girl said she "thought the bottles came from Chambo's place" and said "Chambo told Gary he had the bottles".

The girls said they thought they were going to a dance, but after stopping at a service station, where the boys bought some "cokes", and the girls got out for a moment, they proceeded to a country road off highway 28, and parked. Here they had some drinks out of coke bottles and described them as "funny" and "bitter". Later they said they drank out of a green bottle.

"I passed out twice", said one girl, but in cross examination admitted she was subject to epileptic spells and that the first time could have been caused by her condition. The second time she said "I just passed out like anyone would without spells".

One girl testified that she heard her girl friend in the front seat with Clark say "Stop, or I'll take one of my spells". Then, this girl got out and grabbed the girl who had been in the front seat by the arm, and the two of them ran from the car, and after visiting a farmer's home where they warmed their feet, walked home.

The remain girl said she heard Clark say, "If she calls her mother we'll get into serious trouble". When asked why she didn't go with the other girls, she said, "I wasn't feeling too well".

HARD TO START

When asked what happened then, the girl explained that the boys tried to get the car going, but it took about 15 minutes. She heard one boy say, "it's wet inside". It finally started, she said, and we drove down the road, couldn't make a hill, backed down and went partially in a ditch where the car stalled again.

"Guess I passed out", she continued and awakened about 11.00 a.m. and Clark was in the front seat trying to get the car started.

About noon some of the girls' relatives came along in a car and took her with them. The boys, unable to get the car started, walked home.

"Chambo asked Clark (in front of Chambo's home) if it would be alright to bring along the wine," said Hegadoren, the only accused to testify, Tuesday. "Clark said, 'If you take the responsibility'."

Hegadoran said Chambo brought the wine, but that he (Hegadoran) wasn't feeling good and didn't want to go. He explained he had been drinking in the afternoon and had been sick. He agreed to go for a ride, however, and said the car stalled because of water splashing up from the road. "There were no splash pans on it".

"Didn't give wine to any of the girls that night", said Hegadoren, but said he had taken a bottle away from one of the girls "approximately" four times.

"I only saw one girl take a drink", he continued, "and only one girl acted up, but I don't think she was sick". He said Clark and another girl took this one outside the car and tried to "sober her up" by putting snow on her [illegible] came around in the "One girl wanted to go, but Clark tried to tell her to stay —that it was a long walk home in the dark. Then the two girls left".

Upon cross examination he admitted that he didn't actually see a girl take a drink. He said no one told the girls they were going to a dance.

The case was adjourned until March 16 and each of the accused remanded on $1,000 bail.

Film Company Unveils New Process

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Paramount Tuesday night unveiled its new VistaVision process and opened a full-scale war of the big screens.

The Paramount process is a direct competitor with CinemaScope, adopted by 20th Century-Fox last year. The studio converted all its films to CinemaScope and most of the other studios have made films in that process.

The lone holdout was Paramount. VistaVision is the reason why. The studio's technicians developed a process whereby the film was fed into the camera horizontally, instead of the normal up-and-down method. This produced a negative more than twice the normal size. This large negative is then compressed to the standard 35-millimetre frame for release.

Paramount said this process can be used for virtually any size of screen frame and is not limited to the "ribbon-like effect" of CinemaScope. In other words, the picture can be higher and not as broad.

Firemen Save Arena At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS).— A fire that could easily have destroyed the Campbellford Community Arena had it gone undetected for a few additional minutes, was extinguished by firemen with practically no damage Tuesday evening.

The fire was first discovered by 17-year-old James Brethour, who told police and firemen he went to the arena to check on the condition of the ice. Once inside, he smelled smoke and located the blaze under wooden seats on the north side of the building.

Brethour went to a room at the front of the building to get water to quell the blaze, but the door was locked, so he ran across the street to the home of H. A. MacArthur. Mr. MacArthur telephoned the fire department, who were on hand within minutes.

CLOUDS OF SMOKE

Firemen had to break a lock on the door of the furnace room in order to turn lights on in the building, which by this time was filled with smoke. Clouds of white smoke were billowing out the front entrance.

After the flames had been extinguished, an investigation led police and firemen to believe the fire had either been deliberatly set, or had been caused by juveniles smoking in a secluded spot under the seats.

PC Sam Baird questioned four 'teen-age youths, whom it was established had been in the building a few minutes prior to the discovery of the fire, but they were later released. A small pile of shavings, sawdust and chips was blazing fiercely when firemen arrived, but they were soon extinguished.

The cause of the blaze has not yet been determined, but police are keeping a watchful eye on the building.

Crossen was injured when his car rolled over several times after it failed to make a curve on a county road north of Cobourg.

The Late Joseph Jebson

It was with deep regret that we published the news of the death of Joseph A. Jebson, for at this time, when the Memorial Centre plan is being revived, he would have found the keenest satisfaction in following its progress. He was one of the planners of the original scheme, and for several years he gave his best efforts to promoting it. His vision of the Memorial Centre as a meeting-place for a wide variety of Peterborough activities is still valid and we hope that the re-organized committee, in remembering him, will remember that he stood for a Centre with the widest possible appeal. If the Centre is truly a memorial to those who died with the love of Peterborough in their hearts, Joseph Jebson's name is fit to be written beside any on the commemorative scroll.

Cities, no less than countries, have their makers—men to whose efforts for the common good must be ascribed so much of what is lasting and valuable in our community life. Joseph Jebson's talents were those of the organizer, the planner, the administrator, and he put them without reservation at the service of any cause he undertook. Anyone who has been engaged in any kind of community work knows what that means: it means much vexation, much frustration, many mistakes, disputes and moments when tact and patience wear thin; it means many kicks, many misunderstandings and little thanks. Only men of strong purpose and indomitable goodwill can carry on such work for years. Peterborough has been blessed in the possession of many such men among its citizens, and by no means the least in that honourable list was Joseph Jebson.

The Fabulous Wealth Of Newspapers

Last Thursday the new postal rates were being discussed in the Senate, and the Hon. John T. Haig, urging that the new rates be applied to newspapers in their fullest rigour, spoke thus:

"The value of their (newspaper publishing) business has gone up over the last 10 years at a tremendous rate. They are doing a huge amount of advertising compared with that of 10 to 15 years ago, and they scarcely know what to do with their money."

The Senator is too generous; we only wish that what he says about us were true. But we feel that a word of explanation is in order.

First, the change in postal rates can make little difference to daily newspapers, for very few among them use the mails to any great extent. We distribute, so far as we can, by other means, for it is not always possible to get the paper to a subscriber quickest by mail. Weekly newspapers use the mails rather more than we do, and we are sure that they are capable of arguing their own case eloquently.

Second, it is true that newspapers are doing more business today than they did 10 or 15 years ago, because there are fewer newspapers to do it. High costs of production have killed many newspapers, and it is only in a few of Canada's largest cities that two dailies can make a go of it. These same high costs have eaten up a great part of the increased revenue of newspapers; our costs do not rise gradually—they jump, as when an extra $10 a ton is charged for newsprint. We wish the Senator were right about our fabulous wealth, but he is not. Perhaps it is a form of sport of over-estimating the amount of money that other people have.

Senator Haig is a lawyer. We hear lawyers have been doing very well—don't know where to put all their money, in fact. Any comment, Senator?

The Not-So-Gloomy Dean

The only time we ever saw the late Dean Inge he was laughing heartily; it was in a theatre, and as we had always heard him called The Gloomy Dean we kept an eye on him all through the performance, and noticed that he laughed, with short intervals to draw breath, for two hours and a half. When we made enquiries from someone who knew him we were told that he was a very merry old gentleman, and not gloomy at all. We read several of his books, and found that they were not in the least gloomy, but we discovered why gloom was often attributed to him.

He had no patience with easy optimism, of the kind which asserts that the world is progressing rapidly toward perfection, and might be expected to arrive at that goal within a measurable time. He had no use for mass movements. He detested humbug and cant. He spoke and wrote with a frankness possible only to a man who knows his own mind thoroughly, and who does not care a pin for the opinions of other people.

He may well have caused gloom among conservative clergy, for he had some ideas which were not to be expected in a Dean of St. Paul's. He advocated birth control, and though he did not like divorce he thought it a necessity which should be made easier to achieve. He did not believe in what he called 'a geographically located Heaven or Hell' and he did not believe in a personal consciousness of an after life. He thought that there were cases in which suicide was neither a crime nor a sin.

His views upon the Martin Luther film would have been interesting, for he described Luther as 'the spiritual father of Adolf Hitler, whose God hangs and beheads men and breaks them on the wheel'. In fairness we must add that he called Roman Catholicism 'a very successful method of mind cure, with arrogant exclusiveness, and the submission of the intellect to authority—a totalitarian religion'. The Dean, as we may see, was a liberal in his Christian thinking, and a conservative in his social outlook.

He lived to be 93, thus casting doubt on our theory that people of unusually active life and intellect do not attain great ages. We shall gladly welcome further contradiction on this score from men of his quality

Trial By Tabloid

By processes of Canadian law devolving from three thousand years of Greek, Roman and British civilizations, Lieutenant Balcombe has been found guilty of murder and sentenced to be hanged. During the trial Chief Justice McRuer found it necessary to assert in forcible terms the inviolability of our courts and the necessity of a completely unprejudiced trial. He found three American magazines, an editor, and a Cornwall distributor guilty of contempt of court. The "crime" magazines, which had publish prejudicial articles about the offence before the criminal had an opportunity of trial before the court, were fined $14,000. The local distributor of the offending magazines was sentenced to ten days in jail.

It is absolutely essential to an individual's rights under the laws and customs of this country that a fair and unprejudicial trial be given him if he is brought to court. The established courts of justice alone may try him; trial by tabloid, prejudicial utterances outside the court, or any comment which might interfere with justice, cannot be tolerated. The severity of the punishments meted out by the Chief Justice show the seriousness of the offence.

Above all else in the land, the traditions of justice must be maintained. Anything which is likely to impair justice must be utterly rejected. The courts of Canada are our most important national heritage, the shield of democracy, the defender of every Canadian person. There must be no trial by radio, spectacle by television, prejudgement by magazines or newspapers.

In saying this we must comment again on the absolutism of contempt of court sentences. As courts are protectors of people's rights, there should be a right of appeal from their sentences. There is no provision in law for appeal from a contempt of court sentence. The decision that a person is in contempt of court and the amount of the punishment are in one man's absolute control—that of the presiding judge.

A group of Cornwall citizens personally appealed to the Chief Justice on behalf of the local distributor who had been sentenced to ten days in jail. (The distributor was under a binding legal contract to distribute all the magazines sent him; further, a distributor cannot be expected to know the contents of every publication he handles.) Chief Justice McRuer remitted the man's sentence. The appeal was, however, only personal; there exists no right of appeal. In our opinion this is a matter which Parliament should take into consideration in revising the Criminal Code.

The White Paper of the Department of Lands and Forests on plans and suggestions for conservation of wild life included a proposition that residents of the Province be required to secure an annual licence to fish, at a dollar a permit. The proposal is not without merit; it is also defective. The pros and cons of the matter need no longer agitate readers and fishermen. News leaks out from Queen's Park that the Frost Government has no intention of introducing legislation for such a fishing licence. The barefoot boy with his can of worms and the idle Sunday afternoon fishermen can continue to drop their lines into the water without waving a permit in the face of a game warden.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Commenting on the appointment of a new sheriff, the Renfrew Mercury offers the following curious information: "The office of Sheriff is an old and time-honoured one, dating back at least 1,000 years to Anglo-Saxon times when the Shire-reeve was, in effect, the governor of the shirt". When an editor finds such an error as this, he pants until he has given somebody a cuff.

Cooked At With Scampi

By COLIN HOWARD

LIKE most men, I can put up a serviceable little supper when pressed and wheedled, but I do need the kitchen to myself. I get flustered and cross if anybody watches me, or, indeed, is just in the kitchen at all. What then, are such cooks as I to make of men who, instead of going to ground in the kitchen when called on to cook, actually bring the kitchen out to the consumer?

SUCH a supercook I had professional dealings with in one of the four best Soho restaurants I have found. I had wandered around with growing hunger comparing windowed menues, rejecting some because they were illegibly written by hands that had come to English late in life, others, because they were screened by beaded moisture on the pane, some because they were too expensive, others because they were too cheap. But I liked both the look and the menu of this place, and I went inside and ordered Scampi Provincial.

I HAD NOTED that scampi had become a pretty fashionable dish and I thought it was time I caught up on it. I would have ordered something more demode if I had known that Scampi Provincial, despite its moderate price (6s. 6d.), was a star turn, and that the waiter proposed to cook the entire thing at my table-side, right under my eyes, to prove there was no deception.

* * *

THE WAITER took my order, and, instead of getting nervous and suggesting something else, or begging me not to watch, rubbed his hands with evident gratification and wheeled up a flaring spirit-lamp on a trolley. It was a small restaurant, and I should not have thought there was room to cook in it even if the other diners had been turned out first.

REGARDLESS of his spotless starched shirt he placed on the spirit-lamp a cleaner frying-pan than I have ever seen in my own or anybody else's kitchen and flicked two generous pats of butter into it. He watched over the butter tenderly until it was cooked to his liking, then clapped authoritative hands, and out from the kitchen rushed a commis — I am sure they have starting-blocks in that kitchen — bearing a plate of tomatoes and chopped mushrooms.

THE WAITER set them to cook, brooded over them awhile and then — another clap, and out came a number of large, plump scampi to add themselves to the feast. I watched diffidently, wondering if I ought to be watching. Common delicacy suggested I should read my evening paper, but I supposed that if I did not watch attentively there was not much point in going through the performance at close quarters. I was, in fact, embarrassed.

THE WAITER was not embarrassed — not even when he poured in a glass of wine and the pan caught fire, sending a blossom of yellow flame roaring to the ceiling. When that sort of thing happens to me in my own kitchen I shout "Hell!" and grab the pan excitedly and hold it under the cold-tap and suck my fingers and start cooking all over again. This waiter merely gave a tolerant smile and waved the pan gently about till the fire was out. All over the small room people resumed their seats.

HE REPLACED the pan and stirred it. He added a number of seasonings. He clapped his hands again and the slave of the spirit-lamp, who was, I suppose, instructed by telepathy, flew out with a jug of thick, brown sauce. Amid general enthusiasm this was emptied over my scampi, of which I was now thoroughly ashamed. Had I attempted to empty sauce into a working frying-pan I should have had to open all the windows and flap a dish-cloth.

* * *

THE WAITER now seemed to lose interest in my dinner, and, leaving the whole lot bubbling away, went off to receive newcomers. I hoped they would not keep him long. I also hoped they would not order Scampi Provincial. I did not see how even such a waiter as mine could finish my scampi with one hand and start theirs with the other. Fortunately, although deeply interested in my command performance, they were satisfied with something less showy — something the kitchen was able to produce without outside assistance.

THE WAITER was away a long time, performing the usual courtesies — flicking away crumbs that weren't there and picking up and replacing the cutlery — and I became gravely alarmed about my scampi. I was itching to get up and give it a good stir before it stuck to the pan, but I suspected this might not be quite the thing. I controlled my agitation until the waiter came serenely back. He looked, he sniffed, he felt with a fork. He clapped yet again, and the commis hurtled out of the trap with a plate of steaming rice.

IT WAS utterly delicious. It was a heavenly poem of a dish. And the waiter, mind you, had tossed it off in his spare time, while waitering in other parts of the room. Yes, it was a triumph, a ———. But it does not matter what it was like now. I shall never be able to order Scampi Provincial again. It is too much like having a gipsy violinist stalking you. Something off the peg for me, next time.

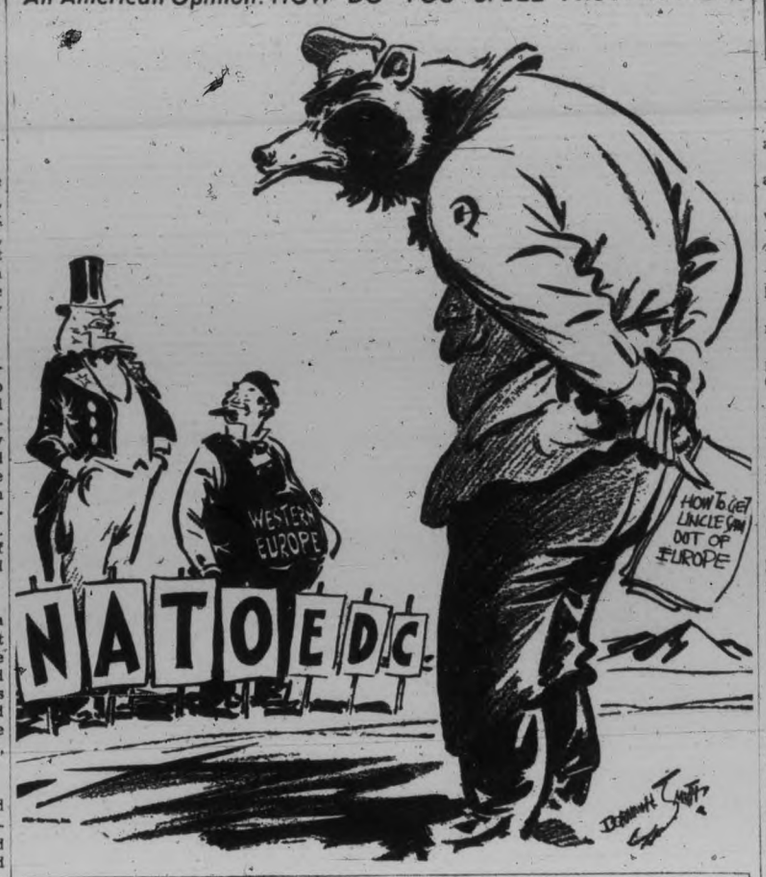
Too Old at 33



(Hamilton Spectator)

To our own private list of airlines we prefer not to patronize, we are considering adding the one in the United States which announced the other day that it will not employ stewardesses over 32 years of age.

The excuse given for grounding stewardesses of 33 and upward is that one of the main qualifications for the job is attractive appearance and that this "ordinarily is found to a higher degree in young women."

Here are two very broad generalizations which suggest a certain lack of emotional maturity.

An American Opinion: HOW DO YOU SPELL FRUSTRATION?

Letters To The Editor

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

SIR: Happiness is much more dependent on the mental attitude than on external resources.

This would be an absurd platitude were it not for the lack of that ninety-nine out of a hundred persons who do not believe it.

In youth happiness comes and is taken as a matter of course. There is immediate complaint if it doesn't come in big doses.

In later life, however, happiness has to be courted. Some even try to buy it, while others foolishly think that sensual pleasure brings it.

Happiness is largely one's mental attitude.

Happiness has to be earned just like we have to earn our daily bread, and we gain it when we have become creative and done something that effects the wellbeing of others. It's what we give ourselves that returns the greatest happiness. We are apt to speculate upon gaining happiness at some future date "when our ship comes in" or when a certain objective has been gained. But genuine happiness has to be grasped a day at a time, or perhaps an hour at a time. While it is yours to take — better still while it is yours to give. It is our attitude that furnishes us with happiness, an attitude toward life, toward our fellowman and toward God. I am amazed at the show of happiness by those who seem to have the least reason to be happy — shut-ins for example and the brave poor.

Yours truly,
H. GILBERT.

WITNESS' STAND ON BLOOD TRANSFUSION

SIR: Now and again there appear articles in the newspapers in regard to the stand we take on blood transfusions. First of all we are strict adherents to the teaching of the Bible, God's word of truth, and when it is in conflict with man's theories, then we have no alternative but to obey Jehovah God, even if it seems foolish in the eyes of men. Here are some Bible quotations.

The principle of life is Lev. 17:11, 12, "The life of the flesh is the blood; . . . No soul of you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger that sojourneth among you eat blood."

Prohibition upon all nations, Gen. 9:3-5, "Every moving thing that liveth shall be food for you, as the green herb have I given you all. But flesh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, shall ye not eat. And surely your blood, the blood of your lives, will I require, at the hand of every beast will I require it; and at the hand of man, even at the hand of every man's brother, will I require the life of man."

Blood not to be stored, Duet. 12:16, "Ye shall not eat the blood, thou shalt pour it out upon the earth as water." Also, Duet. 12:24, Lev. 17:13, 14.

Some people maintain that this only applies to animal blood, but David at 1 Chron. 11:15-19, "David would not drink (the water) thereof but poured it out unto Jehovah, and said, My God forbid it me that I should do this, shall I drink the blood of these men that have put their lives in jeopardy? for with the jeopardy of their lives they brought it. Therefore he would not drink it."

These prohibitions are on all Christians today. Acts 15:28, 29, NW, "For the holy spirit and we ourselves [illegible] no further burden to you except these necessary things, to keep yourselves free from things sacrificed to idols and from blood and from things killed without draining their blood from fornication. If you carefully keep yourselves from these things, you will prosper." Also, Acts 21:25, and Acts 15:20.

Proverbs 14:12 says on this matter, "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, But the end thereof are the ways of death." If we persist in going contrary to God's way, how can we expect anything but disaster?

EARL C. BREWER.

DISAGREES WITH "OBSERVER"

SIR: I noticed with some regret, a letter in the Saturday issue of your paper, signed "Observer." He or she, as the case may be, is negligent of certain basic facts of the Reformation and the Martin Luther production.

I cannot tell whether this correspondent has actually seen the picture or if he is parroting the propaganda of the Roman church. However, no matter what he condemns or tries to condone, the undeniable fact is that Luther stood upon Scripture in all his differences with the Church of Rome. If he can prove that the priceless principles of the Reformation were wrong, by Scripture, and not by Popes or Councils (who often contradict each other) then this movie in time will prove itself unnecessary. But since the priests and scholars of that day did not, and their counterparts of today have not, then it justly appears that this movie is quite appropriate and proper for this time and age. He says a similarity exists between the Old Church and the New. That is quite true, and many people today shiver at the thought. Wherever the search for freedom arises, the Reformation is still marching on.

I have to believe that "Observer's" main objective is to depreciate and smear Luther's character. By his remarks, I wonder if he has even seen the movie.

Some people doubt whether the light cast upon the Pope in this picture was just or not. In contemplating this figure of imperial and priestly splendour one is reminded of the comment addressed by St. Bernard to Pope Eugenius II in his De Considerationе in the twelfth century: "I do not remember or find that St. Peter ever appeared in public loaded with gold and jewels, clad in silk, mounted on a white mule, surrounded by soldiers and followed by a brilliant retinue. In the glitter that environs thee, rather wouldst thou be taken for the successor of Constantine than the successor of Peter."

The producers have dealt as fairly with a controversial subject as was humanly possible. As for the Pope and the Catholic church, they could have been dealt with much worse, in view of their past history.

This is the first production of a real hard-hitting, Protestant film and I hope to see many more in the future.

Yours truly,
W. MACBRIDE.

COMPLAINS ARENA MISMANAGED

SIR: What has happened to the management of Civic Arena? The condition of this place is getting beyond anything reasonable. First, we have 8 no smoking signs up in plain view, yet about the second period you can't see the players from end of the rink to the other and tell who they are. The smoke fog is so bad that two weeks ago the referee had to ask that smoking stop; did they do it? No, it got worse. You could see cigarettes being lighted all over the rink; did the manager or the ushers do anything? Not a move did they make, in fact a man was seen smoking and talking to the rink manager and two policemen made no move either to stop smoking.

Is it not against Fire Marshal's orders to allow smoking in the arena? What is Peterborough Fire Chief doing about that? Can you go to Orillia, Belleville, Barrie, Midland and smoke? No you certainly can't and when the arena first opened in Peterborough you could not smoke either; manager and ushers were on the job and you were told to cut it out. How lax can a manager get and what is the committee in charge going to do about this mismanagement?

Also drinking has got out of control. The men's waiting room at times is a wide open cocktail bar and to top it all off most of them are under 21 years old. The night Port Perry played here it ran wide open and the cursing was the filthiest anyone ever heard; yes in front of women and children, it was disgraceful to say the least.

The ushers, all they did was stand around and see that no one stood on the stairs going up to reserve seats.

No wonder attendance is down; I overheard two ladies say if that is what we have to take to see a hockey game why that's my last time here. Two policemen were standing around, never once did they tell anyone to stop smoking. What are they paid for, stop the drinking, stop the cursing.

If the rink manager can't clean this mess up let's get another manager. Who wants to see a hockey game when you can't see for smoke fog.

This is not one man's opinion but that of hundreds in talking with many people, they feel the same way, that it is time for a clean-up.

Don't forget the rink was donated by funds from the public and it should be run to give those people entertainment under favourable conditions. How about some action before the playoffs start. It was agreed in a barber shop all around talk that someone should put a write up in the paper, so here it is.

"DISGUSTED HOCKEY FAN"

DUTCH AND CANADIAN BOASTING

SIR: On page 17, of the February 27, 1954 Examiner, I noticed an article on the Royal Netherlands Navy; written by so-called naval experts.

May I say that naval experts have been wrong in the past, and this is no exception. They say that the De Ruyter and Zeven Provincien are the most powerful anti-aircraft cruisers in Europe and have the greatest combined hitting power against air and surface targets, than any ship in the world. These ships are not anti-aircraft cruisers, and do not have high angle main armament. Their displacement is only 8,350 tons and when fully loaded do not reach 10,000 tons, as the experts claim. The Sirius of the Dido class, dual purpose cruisers, carry ten 5.25-inch guns while the Dutch cruisers carry eight six-inch guns. The Dido class weighs only 5,807 tons. The British cruiser carries also: 13 20 mm, 12 40 mm, 12 2 pdr., and 4 3 pdr. AA guns, along with 6 twenty-one inch torpedo tubes. The Dutch ships lack tubes and fall short of the British ships in weight of metal thrown by their main armament (without mentioning secondary armaments). Since the Dutch ships are not dual purpose vessels, then they must be ordinary cruisers, and as such, are outweighed by the Belfast of 11,550 tons, and many more of larger size.

By 1956, the RNN is to have one carrier, two cruisers, twelve destroyers, 17 frigates, 82 minesweepers and seven submarines. But in 1953, they had four cruisers, eighteen destroyers and seven submarines, not to mention the ten frigates, one carrier, 35 minesweepers and one patrol vessel.

They claim the destroyers and all larger ships and most of the smaller craft were built since the war. The carrier, two cruisers, six destroyers, all frigates, submarines and

The naval experts claim the new anti-submarine weapon is the most modern. It may be the most modern, but I doubt if it is the best.

They claim they will be the third largest navy in Nato but the facts disprove their statement. Britain and the USA have larger navies. France has both carriers and battleships to enhance her strength. It follows that Holland has to be smaller than France, therefore at least fourth, if not fifth, sixth or seventh.

Nations that depend upon voluntary enlistment because of the stand of the government, invariably find themselves exerting less weight than nations of smaller size and less wealth; and the government advising that people are criticising its defence policy, resorts to statements that are vague, misleading and bombastic. Here I draw a comparison with Canadian defence policy. Public relations and recruiting officers are constantly magnifying things of small importance for the sole benefit of the uninformed public. It seems that Royal Canadian Navy expects to be the world's fifth largest.

These presumptuous assertions remind me of one puppy saying to another, that in a year or so he will be far larger, while forgetting all along that the other will be growing too.

Since the Dominion cannot outbuild the US, Great Britain, Russia or France in total tonnage, it follows that either Canada or Holland has made one boast too many.

All my assertions are based upon facts taken from "Jane's Fighting Ships."

Yours truly,
WILLIAM A. MACBRIDE.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you, since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints, for the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel . . .

Newspapers Essential

(St. Thomas Time-Journal)

A report by N. W. Ayers and Son's Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals shows that during the past year newspaper circulations in the United States reached an all-time high, the sale of morning and evening dailies reaching a total of 54,048,953. As the United States population is slightly over 150,000,000, and there are many homes remote from cities where regular delivery is unlikely, that means one paper to every home where there is not less than three people. Of course many homes take both a morning and evening paper. And many more are bought to read while going to and from work.

Nevertheless the figure proves that notwithstanding all their advantages, radio and television have not displaced the daily paper in the sphere of American life. No doubt the same situation applies to Canada. People may listen to news bulletins, but these broadcasts jammed into five to 15 minute summaries have nothing like the appeal of sitting in an easy chair and persusing a newspaper at leisure. And as for advertising, the blah-blah that comes over the air more often than not irks the listener. The housewife, particularly, thoroughly enjoys scanning the advertising columns of a newspaper. Manufacturers and retailers have found that newspaper advertising has tremendous pull over the gabbled spiels of the air.

WHERE SHOOTING TOOK PLACE—Congressmen mill around the floor of the House of Representatives after five Congressmen were shot by three Puerto Ricans. Photo was made from the press gallery where the assailants burst in and then opened fire.

WOUNDED CONGRESSMAN — Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.), who was shot in the leg by Puerto Rican Nationalists, is carried down the steps of the Capitol building (dome in background). Apparently in great pain, Roberts was taken to a nearby hospital. Four other Congressmen were also wounded.

SUSPECTS IN CAPITOL SHOOTING—Police identified these three persons as having been involved in the shooting in the House of Representatives. In custody here (left to right) are Lolita Lebron, 34, Rafael Cancel Miranda, 25, and Andres Figueroa Cordero, 29, all of New York City. Seven others were also seized by police. As they fired, the assailants yelled, "Free Puerto Rico."

Government's Bond Financing Totalled $35,82 ,817

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Items from here and there:

Canadian government, provincial and municipal bond financing in February totalled $35,825,817, compared with $29,085,415 in February, 1952, says Wood, Gundy and Co., Ltd.

Total public bond financing in the first two months of the year, including corporation issues, was $447,377,844, compared with $293,514,949 in the same period last year.

CSA laboratories test electrical and oil-burning equipment to ensure that they conform with standards of safety. The association expects that the new laboratories will be asked to provide certification service on other products.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Ltd., says that with completion of its new ammonium phosphate plant at Kimberley, B.C., it has spent $17,000,000 on expansion of fertilizer facilities at Kimberley, Trail, B.C., and Calgary.

Capacity has been increased by 150,000 tons, and 1954 output will total 700,000 tons of fertilizer materials. Shipments to the western United States have increased from 200,000 tons in 1947 to 450,000 tons in 1953.

Another item from Consolidated says its employees collected some $8,100 last year for on-the-job ideas.

At Dominion Foundries and Steel, Ltd., Hamilton, the employees' savings and profit sharing fund has accumulated nearly $13,000,000 for "retirement security" in 16 years of operation. This year the company payment was equivalent to $390 for each $100 saved by a member.

The fund is owned by some 2,400 employees who have been with the firm three years or more. Maximum share of any one member who has been contributing the top allowable amount through the 16 years, is $13,844.

Cemetery Committee Objects High-Pressure Selling Of Plots

TORONTO (CP)—High-pressure methods used in the selling of cemetery plots drew fire from the Ontario legislature's select committee on the Cemeteries Act Tuesday.

The committee's report, tabled in the house by J. N. Allan (PC—Haldimand-Norfolk), proposed formation of a three-man advisory board to control sales and the licensing of salesmen, as well as the appointment of supervisors to inspect cemeteries and to safeguard plot holders.

The report also urged creation of perpetual care funds to be invested in trust, thus assuring a longer life for Ontario cemeteries.

"In making these recommendations against the high-pressure selling of cemetery plots. . . we feel the restrictions are justified," Mr. Allan said. "We do not feel we have injured anyone with these recommendations."

Committee member G. T. Gordon (L—Brantford) said the recommendations would "correct many of the evils which have gone on before."

T. D. Thomas (CCF—Ontario), another committee member, termed the advisory board "the keystone to the cemetery problem today."

The committee was formed last April.

According to figures of the health department under whose jurisdiction cemeteries function, 363 are owned by religious bodies, 172 by plot holders, 126 by municipalities, 24 operate privately or for profit, and 185 are miscellantous and undefined.

The number of cemeteries operated for gain is small compared to the total but they have increased in recent years.

The report said:

"Owners of cemeteries not operated for gain submitted before the committee that personal solicitation of sales for cemeteries operated for gain created unfair competition. They stated they did not feel this was a method of selling they wished to adopt since their cemeteries were always available to the public when the plots were required. They claimed that if so-called 'door-to-door' selling was allowed to continue, difficulties would be encountered in financing the older cemeteries, and might result in a number of them becoming burdens on the municipalities concerned.

SOME CONDITIONS

"The committee does not feel cemeteries operated for gain should be prohibited in the future, because they provide burial services of a kind evidently preferred by some. . . The committee is of the opinion that in the future, cemeteries operated for gain should be allowed to continue operations providing certain conditions are observed.

The committee also recommended:

1. The licensing of salesmen.
2. Limitation of the number of salesmen.
3. The use of prescribed sales contracts or agreements which would set out all requirements.
4. The assurance that persons buying plots or graves would either see the sites before signing the agreements or would be sufficiently protected so as to prevent misunderstanding.

"Since taxation of cemetery lands has considerable merit, but is not without complications in its application, municipalities should be given the right to limited taxation, especially in the case of cemeteries operated for gain."

Opposition Backs CCF To Halt Film Board Move

OTTAWA (CP) — All opposition parties in the Commons have lined up behind a CCF member's attempt to scuttle government plans to move the National Film Board from Ottawa to Montreal.

Ross Thatcher (CCF — Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) Tuesday night presented a motion to remove an item of $1,500,000 from the government's 1954-55 estimates earmarked for a $5,230,000 NFB building in Ville St. Laurent, a Montreal suburb.

Speakers of other opposition parties opposed the transfer, together with one Liberal member.

George McIlraith, member for Ottawa West and former parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, asked the government to postpone construction pending a decision on the board's future policy of operations.

Mr. Thatcher said the move would be expensive and was opposed by most of the film board staff. There was no assurance that films produced in Montreal would not be censored by the Quebec government.

Mr. McIlraith said the board should be kept in Ottawa where its operations could be watched more easily by the government and Parliament. The government should decide matters of policy such as the future scope of the board's operations before starting construction.

Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon-Souris) said Winnipeg is as suitable as Montreal for the film board headquarters. It had the necessary bilingual talent.

Mr. Thatcher said the move should say how wide future operations will be before going ahead with the new headquarters building.

Works Minister Winters said reasons for the move were explained as long ago as the summer of 1952, when a commons committee had ample opportunity to debate the decision.

A single building for the board's operations would avoid the present "inconvenience and inefficiency" of working in nine buildings spread across Ottawa.

Montreal had been chosen because it provided the largest supply of creative talent from both French- and English-speaking people. The new office would be at the centre of the private film-making industry and the CBC's production of films for television.

veloped as the Commons turned, for the first time this session, to a consideration of government estimates of expenditures for the coming fiscal year.

Opposition leader Drew, whose constituency of Carleton includes part of Ottawa, said the government has given no reasons for the move to justify asking Parliament to vote money for it.

RECENT DECISION

The final decision had been made "within the last few weeks" and after Prime Minister St. Laurent had given a clear undertaking that it would be discussed in Parliament.

The film board had "grown up like Topsy" and the government

The Motor League is now in session, as TPT-ers, Pontiacs, Truckmen and Goodyears go in the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group semi-final playoffs. Finalists will be declared in another week and a half, the losing two teams hanging up their gear after nearly five months of hard hockey. First of the sawoffs up this way has Orillia Ponties playing the Petes tonight in Civic Area, return being Friday in Orillia and third one here Saturday night. Just a tossup, as the final standing showed but five points separating the top and bottom playoff teams, and just three points being between the rugged Ponties and Petes. In league play the past season, Petes beat Orillia five times, but also lost five times to Ponties, and two tilts were tied. Even, eh?

Quinte columnist sums up playoffs thusly: "The chips are down—it is a new league. You can forget the schedule statistics. Four teams go to the barrier this week for what should be one of the' sizzlingest' series in the history of senior 'B' hockey in the district. It is going to be one of those dog-eat-dog affairs with no quarter asked or given. Every one of the teams in the group have shown they can get hot when the chips are down, and on a game-to-game basis we would not bet a plugged nickel on the outcome. We do fancy Oshawa and Orillia in finals and have picked Orillia for the group shekels. None of the four can afford a slump no matter how slight. Should be a real thriller."

Do or Die For Juniors

Junior Petes take off this e'en for Port Perry and the sixth game of their best-of-seven OHA junior "B" groups finals. The Oshawa-Port Perry Flyers lead the series 3-2, but if the young Petes can sew up the round tonight the big battle will be the finale here Friday night. After leading all season, the local lads slumped when group finals opened and dropped three straight playoff decisions. However, they got rolling again to win the next two and hope to even it up this p.m. They've been minus Jim Morrow and Bill Twist last two starts, also. Coach Red Creighton will be back on the bench for this sixth struggle, along with Manager Dootch Vitarelli. Go to it, you Junior Petes!

Puck fans are reminded that three other Peterborough teams are presently in provincial playdowns, in juvenile, midget and bantam "A" competition for OMHA honors. All three will show at Civic tomorrow night, starting at seven, like this: Oshawa vs. bantam Shamrocks—who are up one goal; Barrie vs. midget Shamrocks to open their series and Kingston vs. juvenile Aces to begin that set. The bantam and midget winners go next against Kingston clubs, who erased Belleville. Pat Doherty and Dave Hayes handle local bantam and midgets who are aided, respectively by the Travellers and the Police Associations; while Angus Bradley and Bill Crowley run the Independent Aces. The triple-header Thursday night should be well worth viewing.

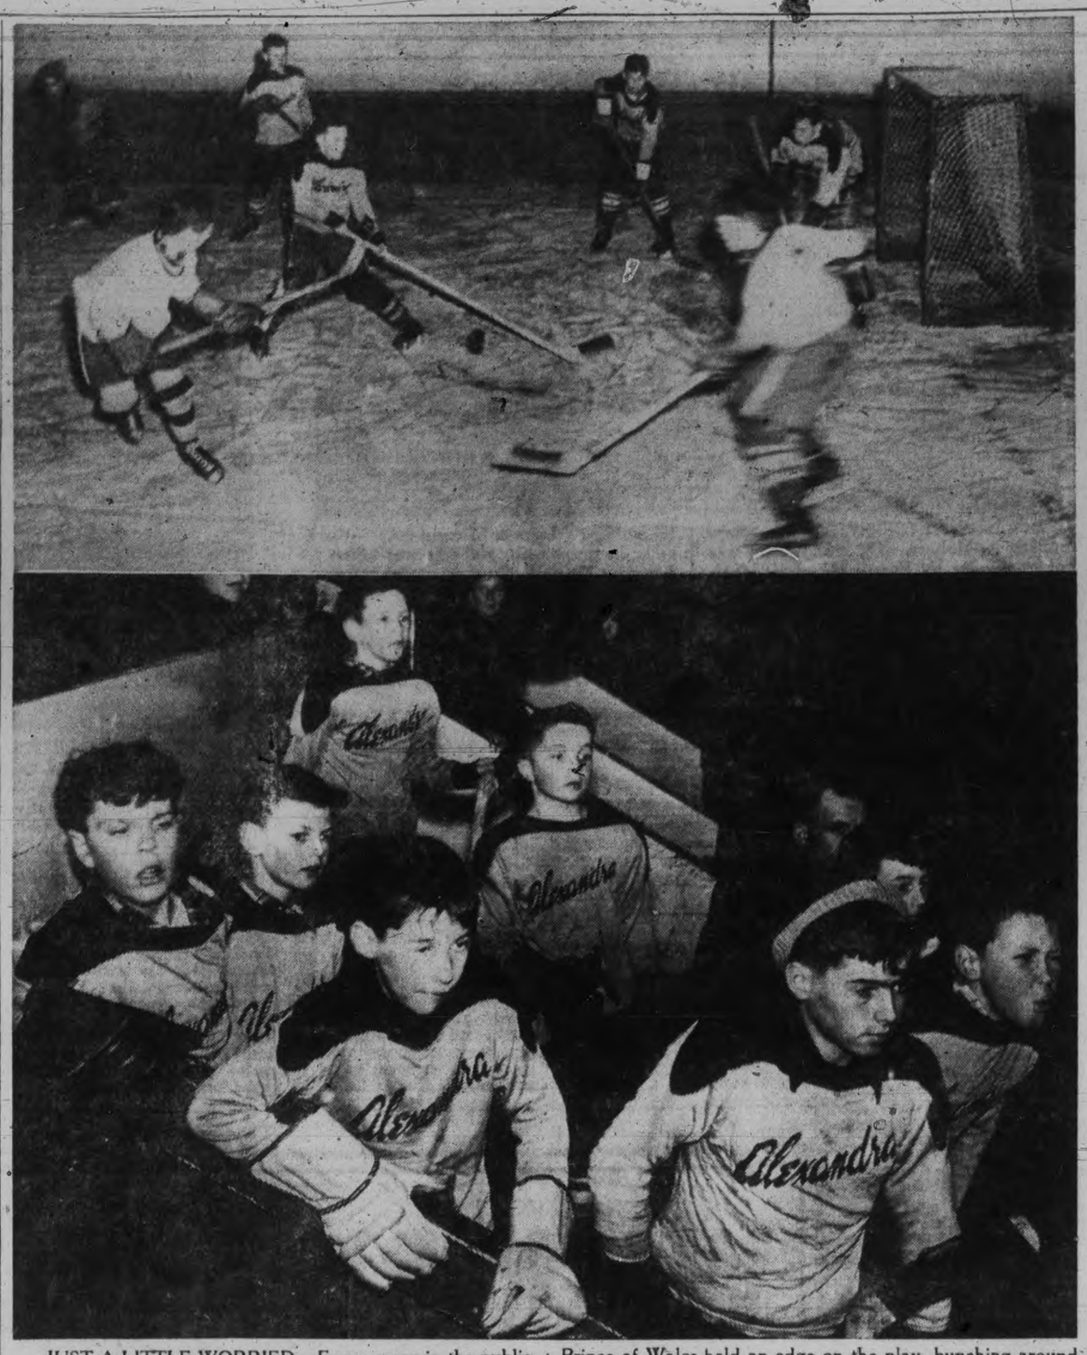
Thoughts From Oldsters

Babe Dye, oldtime scoring ace with Leafs in the NHL, recently said in Chicago (where he lives) that modern hockey forwards don't fire enough pucks toward the goal. Says they should make the goalie work more and some of the shots are bound to go in. Why fire into the corners? Scribe Baz O'Meara also had some criticism lately of modern hockey after a 0-0 game between Leafs and Canadiens in Montreal. Said it was pretty boring to watch, despite fine defensive play. He adds: "Fortunately we don't get too many games like that. When one come up you appreciate the reason for the red line at centre ice, the helter-skelter brand known as fire-wagon hockey. Dick Irvin calls it headlong hockey, and let's have more of the same."



* * * * * *

Not too much action here yet in re-organizing for a senior baseball club, but we expect Peterborough will be represented at a COBL meeting this weekend in Belleville. At two in Queen's Hotel. It is to close entries for the Central League, and loop moguls hope to round out the circuit with Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa and the Petes. Smiths Falls, Watertown and Ogdensburg have all expressed interest in this senior diamond circuit, but we feel that a compact central loop would do better. However, the Petes must enter to make this possible. Some chaps have been talking it up here, and we look for early action. It's a real break having Oshawa back from the Intercounty League, as the Merchants will be strong, though not the minor pro club of 1953.

JUST A LITTLE WORRIED—Every game in the public school hockey league is important, at least that's what the players think. Russia Chief Canadian Rival In World Hockey Championship

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canada's standard-bearers in the world hockey tournament placed their unbeaten record on the line against Germany today after an open date during which the Russians established themselves as their chief opposition.

Toronto East York, scored on only once in their three games, were locked in a three-way tie for second place with Sweden and Czechoslovakia, having whipped the Swedes 8-0 Monday while Moscow Dynamos handed the Czechs their first defeat Tuesday 5-2. The Russians also are unbeaten after four games in the eight-team round-robin schedule.

The Czechs take on last-place Norway and the Dynamos meet Switzerland in today's remaining contests.

For Canadian goalie Don Lockhart, who spent most of the season with a last-place club in the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A group, international competition has proved a welcome contrast.

Lockhart fished the puck out of the Niagara Falls net some 250-odd times this winter. Nobody kept count of his saves, which ran as high as 20 in a single period. But the 23-year-old netminder has been hailed by Swedish sports writers as the best ever to show his wares in the country.

SHOW GOOD DEFENCE

The Russians also have proved themselves defensively, allowing only five goals in their four starts. Their blanket coverage of attacking Czech forwards in the latter stages of Tuesday's game proved a key factor in their victory.

East York lost two defencemen in the game against the Swedes and will be fortunate if one of them is back by Sunday. Harold Fiskari's wrenched knee is expected to keep him out of action for four to six weeks while Doug Chapman may return for the final game against Russia Sunday with a protective mask protecting his broken jaw.

The Russians lost Bogrov, their best man in the Czech game, in the last minute of play. He was carried off on a stretcher and there was no indication whether he will be fit again before the series ends.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Czechoslovakia defeated Norway 7-1 in the world hockey championship here today. Period scores: 4-0, 0-0, 3-1.

Bulldogs Against Wall After First Round Play-Off

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Howie Meeker's Stratford Indians, who finished fifth in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A standings, have Windsor Bulldogs up against the wall in the first round of the playoffs.

The Indians took an important 5-4 victory in Windsor Tuesday night that put Stratford in the driver's seat with a 2-1 edge in the best-of-five game quarter-final. The next game is in Stratford Saturday with the fifth game, if necessary, in Windsor Sunday.

Winner of the series moves into the semi-final against the winner of the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen-Hamilton Tigers set.

Penalties played an important role in the game which was watched by 4,400 fans. The Indians scored all their goals while they had a manpower advantage.

Dinny Flanagan whipped home the winning goal—a short rebound that climaxed a Stratford power play. It was his second goal of the game. Fred Pletsch also scored a pair for the winners, the other going to Bob Mader. Alec Birukow, Wally Kullman and Gord Haidy were the Windsor snipers.

NO SURPRISE

The playoffs started in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group and the favorites showed as was expected.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds, who finished the season on top of the league, walloped Pembroke Lumber-Kings 7-2 in Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury Wolves, who finished second, trounced North Bay Trappers 8-0 in Sudbury.

The victory gave each of the winners a 1-0 lead in each best-of-seven semi-final.

Leftwinger Tom Smelle and defenceman Don Johnston led the Greyhounds with two goals each. Pentti Lund, Mat Mesich and Ed Mulligan scored the others. Emil Dagenais and Jim Maxwell got Pembroke's goals. Second game of the series will be in Sault Ste. Marie tonight.

In the other semi-final, Ed Harrison, Mauno Kauppi and Tatter McLellan each bagged two goals for Sudbury. Pete Horeck and Yogi Kraiger added singles. Second game is in Sudbury tonight.

The winner of the NOHA will meet the OHA winner to decide Ontario's entry into the Allan Cup playoffs.

SPS Girls Win First 30-17 From Kenner

The basketball season for high school teams is rapidly drawing to a close. Throughout the past two months quite a rivalry has developed between the Kenner and St. Peter's High junior girls' teams. St. Peter's was always on the losing end by a point or so but they finally won Tuesday night 30-17 to gain revenge.

For a while it appeared that Kenner might run up another victory as they led 4-3 in a low-scoring first quarter. But the Saints took the lead in the second 20-14 and stayed well ahead from therein, leading 24-16 at three-quarters and outscoring Kenner 6-1 in the final.

Starry Joanne Kearns paced the Saints to victory with nine points, followed by teammates Ruth Hickey with seven, Mickey McNaughton with six, Mary Crilly with four, Marg Crilly and Joan Heard each with two.

Kenner's best was once again Diane Smith with eight points. Two points went to Joan Guthrie, Bev. Tully, Barb Succee, Marg Westwood while Sally Somers scored on a foul shot.

Smythe Says Montreal Not Ripe For Two Teams

MONTREAL (CP) — Managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens, tut-tutting and gleefully needling Connie Smythe, said Tuesday the statement of the Toronto Maple Leafs' boss that Montreal isn't ripe for a second National Hockey League team "does not alter the situation in the least."

In interviews last week-end Selke suggested the possibility of a second team because fans want it—as indicated by thousands of letters for season tickets to Canadiens' games—and can't be sold junior and minor pro hockey.

From Florida, where he is holidaying, Smythe was quoted as saying one or two American teams in the NHL are having difficulties getting enough players and "I don't think there are enough players of NHL calibre around to provide for a seventh team at the present time."

'BIG TIME HOCKEY

In a statement Tuesday Selke said that "for Montrealers who are anxious to crash big time hockey, here is my final suggestion."

"Jack Adams, (manager of Detroit Red Wings) with very little fuss, keeps coming up with sensational amateur super-stars. He sold all-stars Quackenbush, Reise and Lumley without weakening his team.

"If I wanted to form an English team in Montreal I would offer Jack Adams 100,000 dollar bills featuring Abe Lincoln's picture for Gordie Howe, pick up a few good boys who are on the loose, surround them with hard checkers and start clipping coupons."

Alberta, N. Ont. Meeting Today May Be Crucial

By JACK ENEFER

EDMONTON (CP) — Two undefeated rinks meet today in what may prove to be the crucial game of the 1954 Canadian curling championships.

Alberta, skipped by 27-year-old Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, meets northern Ontario, skipped by Don Groom of Sudbury, in the fifth round of the championships at 3 p.m. MST.

Both rinks boast four straight victories. Baldwin holds decisions over Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island. Northern Ontario has defeated British Columbia, Newfoundland, Ontario and Quebec.

Both rinks lean strongly to the drawing game and observers are looking for the best match of the five-day bonspiel.

Alberta scored its third and fourth victories Tuesday, defeating Manitoba 12-7 on the opening draw and edging Prince Edward Island 9-5 on the second draw of the day.

Northern Ontario defeated Ontario, previously undefeated, 10-8 in the first draw Tuesday and walloped Quebec 14-7 in the second round.

In other games Tuesday: New Brunswick defeated Nova Scotia 14-11 in the first round and edged Manitoba 8-7 in an extra end in the second round; Prince Edward Island edged Quebec 11-8 and then lost 9-5 to Alberta; British Columbia defeated Newfoundland 10-7 and

FRACTURES THUMB

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Walt Linden, 28, reserve catcher for Milwaukee Braves, suffered a fractured and dislocated right thumb Tuesday in the first squad game of the spring training season here. The injury was the result of a foul tip from the bat of Braves No. 1 catcher and captain, Del Crandall.

DROP CLOSE DECISION

Saskatchewan, which had a bye on the first round, dropped an 11-10 decision to Nova Scotia in one of the best games of the day. Newfoundland had the bye in the second round.

British Columbia and New Brunswick, who had both byes in earlier draws, have two victories and one loss apiece. Grouped behind them with 2-2 records are Ontario and Prince Edward Island. Saskatchewan, which has also had a bye, has one win against two losses.

Manitoba, Quebec and Nova Scotia have 1-3 records and Newfoundland has three straight losses.

Nova Scotia, skipped by Reg Piercy of Halifax, went against Saskatchewan Campbell brothers rink Tuesday in the best game of the day.

After building an early lead, Nova Scotia was gradually overtaken by Saskatchewan which went one up on the 11th end.

The Campbells were counting one when Piercy delivered his last rock. It worked its way through a narrow port and inched up against another Piercy rock just back of the button, edging out two Saskatchewan rocks which had been lying shot.

A crowd of about 2,000 persons applauded as Piercy counted two, enough to win 11-10.

Jinx May Be Help For Maple Leafs Against Rangers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The jinx may be Toronto Maple Leafs' greatest weapon tonight. If so, they can count on taking over second place in the National Hockey League. The Leafs meet New York Rangers and the New Yorkers have only sad memories of not having won a game in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens since Nov 3, 1951. It's the only league game of the night and a big one for both clubs. A Leaf win would move them two points ahead of Montreal Canadiens, who have been dueling the Leafs for the second spot for the last few weeks. A Ranger victory would move them past Boston Bruins and into the fourth and last Stanley Cup playoff berth.

Coach Muzz Patrick of the Rangers is counting on this one to move the New Yorkers ahead of Boston. He had them fired up for a 6-1 victory over the Leafs in New York two weeks ago, the last time the two clubs met.

So far this year the Rangers have one tie in five starts on Toronto ice. They have nine games to go in the 70-game schedule and have 58 points, one behind coach Lynn Patrick's Bruins.

The Leafs have been off on their shooting in the last couple of games and coach King Clancy says he's been working on that for the last few days.

SHOOT STRAIGHTER

"We've got to start shooting straighter and more often," he says. "The boys have been away off."

The Leafs can't miss a playoff berth. It's just a question of whom they meet, in the first round, the league-leading Detroit Red Wings, the Bruins or Rangers.

The Leafs may have some trouble with Dodg and Max Bentley, the two power-play experts who will be showing at the Gardens together for the first time since they were teammates with Chicago Black Hawks six years ago.

Max, sold by Leafs to Rangers after last season, has improved since Doug came out of the Western Hockey League to join him several weeks ago.

"Max is the greatest player at the point position on power plays that I've ever seen," says Hap Day, assistant general manager of the Leafs. "Max and Doug, together, make up the two best point men in the business."

England Wins Third Test

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP)—England won the third test cricket match with the West Indies Tuesday and kept alive its chances in the best-of-five series. The West Indies won the first two matches.

England won by nine wickets for its first victory over the West Indies since 1935. England scored 435 runs in the first innings and finished with 75 for one. The West Indies had 251 and 256.

So far in the series the team to win the toss has won the match. This time England was able to build up a commanding lead. Then Brian Statham's magnificent bowling when the West Indies began its first innings proved the turning point, and the home side never recovered.

Thereafter every member of the England side took part in producing the final result and Johnny Wardle's bowling Tuesday was almost the last blow against the West Indies.

Harrison Meets Walls Toronto, March 23

TORONTO (CP) — Promoter Frank Tunney said Tuesday night a rematch has been set here for March 23 between Tommy Harrison, 23, of Los Angeles and 25-year-old Earl Walls of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion.

Harrison, a 2-1 underdog at their last fight here five weeks ago, dropped Walls for two nine-counts and went on to take a 10-round decision. Walls was ranked fifth for Rocky Marciano's world title before the fight. He now is ranked seventh and Harrison sixth.

U.S. Rugby Clubs Holding Player Market

OTTAWA (CP)—American football clubs are pricing Canadian teams out of the player market, says Ottawa coach Clem Crowe.

And the U.S. National Football League, he adds, is using a strong line of propaganda besides to keep American players at home.

Crowe was in town Tuesday to report on his shopping activities to the annual meeting of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four. D.N. (Dave) Gill was elected president of the club, succeeding J. P. McCaffrey.

Crowe, after a player hunt across the U.S., reported:

"The National Football League is making an all-out drive to keep U.S. footballers from coming to this country and salaries have jumped almost beyond imagination.

"Talk to American players about coming to Canada and they tell you they're interested but that they want to see what the NFL has to offer them.

"We've got two Americans due here tomorrow to sign their contracts. No, no, I can't tell you their names. This is a competitive business."

Witness Testifies In Deslauriers Murder Trial

SUDBURY (CP)—Blanche Deschaneaux testified Tuesday at the murder trial of Robert Deslauriers, 28, of Montreal that she accompanied Deslauriers, two youths and slaying victim Frank Asselin on a car ride to a lonely sideroad four miles north of here the night of Oct. 2.

Asselin, a bushworker who formerly lived in St. Catharines, was found dead near the sideroad Oct. 3. Doctors said he had been fatally beaten.

Deslauriers was charged with murder jointly with Montreal youths Emile Bedard and Jean Guy Henaire. He chose to be tried separately. Bedard and Henaire were convicted last week and sentenced to be hanged.

Miss Deschaneaux said she drove from Toronto with Deslauriers, also known as Jean Paul Bisson, accompanied by Henaire and Bedard. She said they arrived here Oct. 1. The next night, she said, they met Asselin in a hotel beverage room and he asked to be taken to a bootlegger's.

ALONE IN CAR

The girl said Deslauriers drove the car to the sideroad and the four men left her in the car.

She said that 15 or 20 minutes later they returned without Asselin. She quoted Henaire as saying:

"He will sleep for a while. We will be able to go a long way."

She said she concluded Asselin had fallen asleep at the bootlegger's.

The jury later was excluded pending a ruling on the admissibility of certain police testimony. If Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven admits the material, the officers will repeat the testimony after the hearing resumes today.

Changes Policeman

TORONTO (CP)—A mother of two children Tuesday laid a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm against a sergeant in Toronto's police force. Mrs. Dianne Phillips, 29, accused morality sergeant Sam Priestly of swearing at her, tearing her coat, and slapping her across the face while she was on a street corner Monday night. The woman said that after she convinced the officer that he had mistaken her for someone else, he apologized and asked her to forget the incident.

Canadian Textile Industry Is Depressed By Closed Factories, Layoffs And Short Time

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — The hated word "depression" is being used more and more in Canada's sorely beset textile industry.

Closed factories, lay-offs and widespread short time tell the story of an industry battling hardship. While Canada as a whole was gaining world attention in the drive to boom conditions, her textile business was going the other way, although it produces anything from nylons to canvas bags.

"We are hard put to scrape enough work to carry on present production, which is far from what we'd like to see," said Blair Gordon, president of Dominion Textiles Company Limited.

GETTING WORSE

"Things are getting progressively worse," said Edward C. Cluney, assistant Canadian director, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL).

Eighteen mills have been closed in the last six months out of 729 from Nova Scotia to Alberta. Many others are on short time. Meanwhile, imports pour in a steady flow into Canada which produces only slightly more than half her own textiles, a much smaller proportion than she did before the Second World War.

Five hundred persons lost their jobs when Canadian Cottons Limited closed its mill at Marysville, N.B., last month. At the other end of the size range, only 30 persons were employed at a mill at Chicoutimi, Que., when it closed.

At Hespeler, Ont., more than 400 Dominion Woollen and Worsted Limited employees were asked to take a "depression" cut in wages. They voted against it by a small majority.

Two mills closed at both Renfrew and Cornwall, Ont. Single closures occurred at Toronto, Carleton Place, Ajax, Bracebridge and St. Cararines, Ont., Montreal, St. Malo, Valleyfield and Abitibi, Que., Oxford, N.S., Moose Jaw, Sask., and Magrath, Alta.

INCREASED IMPORTS

Industry and union spokesmen blame the situation on burgeoning imports, mainly from the United States in cottons and various synthetics, such as rayon. British competition is mostly in woollens, and is felt heaviest in Ottawa valley plants.

Foreign producers place on the Canadian market nearly 50 per cent of this country's total fabric production. A primary textile institute statistician calculated that this costs Canada 1,500,000-man hours a week.

Records show that in the 1935-39 period, Canada produced 73 per cent of her own textiles, compared with slightly more than 50 per cent last year.

In the first half of last year, some 300 companies from Newfoundland to British Columbia supplied 184,000,000 yards of cotton, nylon, rayon and wool to the civilian market and 172,000,000 were imported.

Although complete figures for the year were not available here, industry sources said total fabric production was estimated slightly above 1952, and below that of 1950 and 1951.

Calculated in quarterly averages of millions of yards, the domestic and import ratio for 1952 and the previous two years was 80-67, 105-56 and 118-56. In 1945-49 the average was 92-62 and in 1935-39, it was 75-29.

EMPLOYMENT DROPPING

Figures compiled from Dominion bureau of statistics reports show an average of 100,537 persons were employed in textiles in 1951, 86,770 in 1952 and 87,000 last year. But employment was dropping toward the end of 1953, standing at 81,000 in December.

The Korean war production boom turned into a boomerang when other countries swung their attention to the Canadian market to dispose of goods they could not move at home. A relatively small change in U.S. exporting habits can be disastrous for Canadian industry which is only one-tenth as big.

The federal government stepped into the picture last September, with legislation designed to protect the industry against dumping. This law permits a boost in the valuation, for tariff and sales tax purposes, of imported goods sold at cut prices at the end of the season.

Industry and union spokesmen have criticized the measure as insufficient.

TARIFF PROBLEM

Mr. Gordon, head of Canada's biggest textile firm, said in an interview it is "too early to decide whether the law will be a deterrent" but he fears it will be "limited" in application.

"Some of our competition is from U.S. goods being sold lower than the costs of production both here and in the U.S.," he said. This now occurs. The basic need was to "reinforce" that part of the customs law dealing with the cost of production — "Then we would have something to start from."

"A tariff sufficiently high to operate without any foundation of values would be an artificially high tariff," said Mr. Gordon.

Mr. Cluney said he believes the anti-dumping law "won't take care of the trouble. Since it passed, the situation has become worse."

He noted his union had asked for quotas and also had suggested a government-labor-industry committee to study the problem as "no individual group has the research facilities to come up with the correct answers."

The Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor is on record as asking for a royal commission to study textiles.

PRODUCTION COSTS

Both the company president and the union official noted Canada's high costs of production, stating that the U.S. enjoys lower costs, although paying higher wages, because of its tremendously greater market and mass production.

Other competitors—such as Britain, Belgium, West Germany and India—pay far lower wages, thus also works to the benefit of foreign exporters in currency exchange rates.

Mr. Gordon said that when U.S. markets are good, there is less attempt on the Canadian market. At present, newly established American offices, especially in Montreal and Toronto, are aggressively seeking orders.

"We are very much worried about the American situation on their own market—apprehensive that the position down there may get worse if there is a general let-up," he said.

Canadian firms had greatly extended their sales and advertising campaigns, but American producers had many advantages. Large stores in Canada often "play up" imported goods to attract customers away from competitors.

U.S. manufacturers could be more discriminating in their selection of customers. With a surplus of a particular line, for instance cotton dresses, they could offer it exclusively to one buyer here.

Canadian firms, on the other hand, seldom could do this since they must aim at 80 or 90 per cent of the available market to make a profit.

An exception would be the case where a customer himself produces a pattern and succeeds in making a satisfactory deal with a Canadian manufacturer.

"In normal times, our company turns out about 2,000,000 yardage a week compared to five times that much by a comparable but bigger American firm," said Mr. Gordon.

"American mills may have a single purpose—making one particular article on a three-shifts-a-day basis at a tremendous saving.

"Our methods are patterned along the same mass-production lines of other countries, but there are grave limitations as to how far we can go.

"The American market is 25 times greater than hours. They use as much raw cotton in one day as we do in a month."

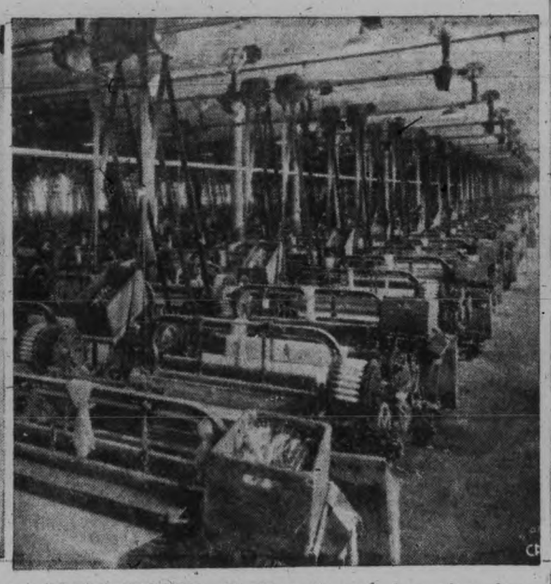
The local producers had to show a customer a distinct price advantage to be successful, "but where it is only something like a quarter-cent a yard, it won't be enough considering the other factors," said Mr. Gordon. "Sometimes we have to sell below cost based on full-time operation."

"If we didn't a vicious spiral would begin," he added.

Canada herself did some trade on the export market, but it never has exceeded five per cent of total production. The West Indies has been a customer, and Australia, before exchange difficulties.

Mr. Gordon said Canada's textile tariffs have been lowered 33 1-3 per cent since 1938 until now they stand at 18.8 per cent of value, which is brought down to an "effective rate" of 15 per cent by the exchange situation. He said this is the lowest of any important textile-producing country.

A return to the old rate "would leave us considerably better off but there would still be imports" since there are some items it is not feasible to produce in a country of comparatively small population."



An example of this would be expensive drapes, which would be within the reach of a small number of buyers.

SCOTTISH HYDRO

Hydro-electric power production in Scotland now is equivalent to a saving of nearly 600,000 tons of coal yearly.

TEXTILE DEPRESSION—A sharp drop in employment in Canada's textile industry is illustrated by Edward C. Cluney, assistant Canadian director of the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL). The graph to which Mr. Cluney is pointing shows that the number of workers in the industry dropped from a high of nearly 98,000 in mid-1951 to about 81,000 at the end of last year.—(CP Photo).

LOOMS STILLED—Machines like these looms have been shutting down across Canada in the last six months as the textile industry runs into hard times. In the last half of 1953 a total of 17 mills out of 729 between Nova Scotia and Alberta have closed. Industry and union spokesmen blame the situation on increased imports.—(CP Photo).

Knowles Asks Increase For Pensioners

OTTAWA (CP)—The champion of about 15,000 retired employees of the government and the Canadian National Railways Tuesday urged the government, as he has for the last eight years, to increase their pension above $50 a month.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) made his annual plea to Finance Minister Abbott to help these pensioners.

Mr. Knowles said there are 2,395 retired civil servants receiving $50 or less; 3,736 widows of civil servants in the same category and 9,055 former CNR employees receiving between $25 and $50 a month.

Mr. Abbott replied that the CNR employees were the responsibility of the railway company. With regard to the civil servants and widows, Mr. Knowles gave no indication of how long the pensioners worked for the government. That would have an effect on the amount of their pension.

Probably most had served only a comparatively short time. The civil service pensioner should be in no better position than other Canadians who were unable to increase their pensions after retirement.

May Appoint Abbott To Supreme Court

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF member of Parliament believes Finance Minister Abbott will be appointed next June to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said Tuesday night in the Commons he predicts that Mr. Abbott won't bring down the estimates in Parliament very much longer.

He said he would not be surprised if about June 22, there is a change in the life and affairs of Mr. Abbott. He said he picks that date because it is the 75th birthday of Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret.

The retiring age of justices of the Supreme Court is 75.

Board Sees Higher Rate For Schools

Separate Schools Will Reqiure $240,000 For 1954

A substantial increase in the separate school mill rate was forecast at a special committee meeting of the Separate School Board Tuesday night.

It would be "financial suicide" said school board secretary Father Houlihan, to try to get by with the present mill rate. The actual figures for the new mill rate will not be known until the board receives word of the new assessment figures from the city council which is now preparing its budget.

In the past the board has always tried to keep the differential between public and separate school supporters at a mill or two. Now, largely due to financing costs for new school buildings and the fact that the board is no longer given schools free of charge, the board's financial position must be bolstered with a steeper tax levy.

The position of the Separate School Board has been made "even more difficult" because the separate schools will not share in the recent increase in industrial assessment. The separate schools do not share in the taxes on industrial assessment.

Until ten years ago, the separate schools were housed in 33 classrooms in four schools, either built or purchased by the Episcopal Corporation of Peterborough. Recently separate school attendance has doubled, 32 more classrooms have been added in new schools and salary budgeting has moved up accordingly. Since the board launched its building program in a period of high construction costs, debenture payments alone will take $56,000 out of the 1954 budget. This will call for an added six mills apart from operating costs, it is estimated.

The 1954 budget calls for a total of $240,000 as opposed to $207,000 in 1953. (Expenditures last year were $217,000). Major item in the budget will be $100,000 for 26 lay and 30 religious teachers.

INCREASED SALARIES

This year the board also approved a new salary schedule for lay teachers which calls for minimums of $1,950 and $2,150 for women and men and maximums of $2,800 and $3,000.

Plant operation will cost $38,000, and plant repair and maintenance another $12,000. School supplies will cost $10,000 and insurance premiums in the neighbourhood of $1,800. The board is presently re-organizing its insurance policies.

Over and above these costs the board has this year assumed an outstanding loan of $14,600 from St. Anne's school, and must also pay overdraft interest on debts which have accumulated in the past few years. The current indebtedness of the board is in the neighbourhood of $170,000.

PERCY R. BENGOUGH, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will be guest speaker at the Peterborough Personnel Association's annual labor-management dinner. This dinner will be held at the Kawartha Golf Club Tuesday, March 16 at 6:15.

Season Of Lent Begins Ash Wednesday

The bells in St. John's Anglican Church tower this morning rang the beginning of the Christian season of Lent, the 40 days preceding the festival of Easter. Holy Communion services were at 7 and 10 o'clock, with prayer and sermon this evening at 7:30.

Ash Wednesday was observed in the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches of the city.

The Rev. F. G. Ongley of St. John's prefaced his Lenten schedule with this reminder, in part: "Lent provides us with an opportunity so greatly needed by us all in a world hard pressed with the 'business of living'. It is the opportunity to draw apart, find spiritual refreshment, renew our vision, cleanse our souls and strengthen our faith."

"A simple breakfast will be served in the parish hall after the 7 a.m. service on Wednesdays. It is hoped that this will make it possible for some to attend who otherwise could not do so and be at work on time. We express our thanks to the ladies of the CWA for making this possible."

In his Lenten letter to the parishioners, the rector explains that he is enlisting the co-operation of men and women to make a call in every home of the parish in name of the church . . . "since there are 750 addresses on our parish list and only one of me." . . . "This visit is made to ask: "How can your church help you as a Christian?" Our task as a congregation is essentially to help each other to lift up our lives in worship, and to live our lives as Christians."

Stolen Jeep Abandoned Near Hastings

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—A yellow jeep, stolen from the Elliott and Browne service station at Lansdowne and George streets sometime Monday night, was recovered Tuesday afternoon on the Westwood road about three miles west of the village of Hastings.

Two Campbellford men, Ray Hoard and Keith Bound noticed the vehicle as they drove toward Campbellford. Mr. Bound notified OPP Constable Archie Eady of the Campbellford detachment, who went immediately to the spot and identified the vehicle as that which had been stolen in Peterborough the previous evening.

He notified OPP headquarters in Peterborough, and within a short time, an employee of the service station was driving the jeep back to the city.

Police are still looking for the man who stole the jeep and $18 from the service station. Ed Browne said that he had seen a "suspicious looking character" hanging around the station before closing time Monday.

Teachers Request $250 Raise

Increase "Essential" For Married Males Of Separate Schools

The Separate School salary negotiating committee is pressing the Separate School Board for an across-the-board increase of $250 per annum for married teachers.

Anthony Lajoie, writing to the board on behalf of the teachers, said that an additional $250 was the absolute minimum necessary to allow married male teachers to support a family and make ends meet. The teachers have accepted other parts of the proposed salary schedule for 1954, but feel that the $250 increase is essential.

This raise was proposed by the teachers when they submitted their salary schedule to the board, but was not mentioned when the board submitted its counter-proposals.

Although some members felt that the salary question should have been dealt with at the Separate School Board meeting in St. Mary's school Tuesday night, it was moved to refer the question back to the negotiating committee. This committee will report back to the board the first of April.

GET $200 MORE

One of the members expressed the view that the married teachers need no further increase since the men are already being paid $200 over the maximums and minimums for lay female teachers. This differential, he said, was to make sure that family men had an adequate living wage.

Chairman J. G. McCarney said that if the requested $250 increase were approved by the board it would "establish a precedent." He disagreed with another board member who suggested that this "minor matter" be dealt with right away.

It is expected that if the increase is granted it will be retroactive to the time the proposal was submitted.

Mrs. R. D. Taylor New President Nursing Registry

A full new slate of officers, headed by president Mrs. R. D. Taylor, was elected for the Community Nursing Registry at its annual meeting in the conference room of the Civic Hospital last night.

Election of the new slate was seen as an indication that the Registry has no plans to fold up. When the city refused to grant the registry $1,000 this year there were speculation that the organization might be no longer able to function. The election, said president Taylor, speaks for itself.

Mrs. Taylor succeeds Mrs. Eva Brackenridge, who remains as a member of the board of directors. Others on the executive are first-vice-president, Mrs. J. Ryan; second vice-president, Miss Harriet McGeary of the VON; secretary, Mrs. J. Convey and treasurer, Mrs. R. R. Stewart.

Newly-elected directors are: Mayor Norman Graham, Ald. Gordon Powell, Dr. W. I. Taylor, Dr. R. Bell, Dr. C. S. Cahill, Dr. R. Chenoweth, Dr. H. M. Yelland, Miss Harriet McGeary, Miss M. McIlveen, Miss E. Robson of the Peterborough Civic and Sister Gonzagas of St. Joseph's hospital, Mrs. R. Cunningham, Miss I. Corkery, Mrs. R. McIntyre, Mrs. Brackenridge, Miss S. Wood, Miss G. Sorby, Miss S. Brown, Miss K. Dougherty, Mrs. P. Barton and Mrs. J. McParlane.

Three Canadians Added To Cast

Bruno Gerussi of Vancouver will play in "Taming of the Shrew," and "Oedipus Rex;" Bill Shatner of Montreal will play in both these plays and also has a role in the third production, "Measure for Measure." A third Canadian, Grant Reddick, who has been attending the Old Vic theatre school, will return from England to join the cast.

Truck Hits Car, Shifts Wall Of House 2 Feet

STIRLING (ENS) — A grocery delivery truck driven by Ken Myers swerved on Mill St., today at noon to avoid hitting a parked car driven by Fred McDonell, but hit it. It damaged the back of the car, observers said, spun around to the right and crashed into the brick house of Mrs. B. Spry. The truck pushed a section of the wall about two feet.

No one was seriously hurt, neither Myers, Mr. McDonell or elderly Mrs. Spry who was standing just a few feet from where the truck hit the wall. No one was able to estimate the damage to either vehicles or the house. The accident was investigated by village constable Sam Eggleton.

Lindsay Hydro Request Banning Strikes

The Ontario Municipal Electric Association Tuesday, when meeting in Toronto, passed a resolution asking the Ontario legislature to outlaw strikes by municipal utilities employees, including police and firemen.

It also asked that a new arbitration board be set up to deal solely with disputes involving all municipal employees.

CAME FROM LINDSAY

The strike-banning resolution came from the Lindsay hydro-electric system at the annual meeting of the OMEA, voice of Ontario's hydro consumers.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa made the arbitration board proposal in the form of an amendment. She said the association would be "going too far to outlaw strikes as a criminal offence" unless provision was made for the separate arbitration board of all municipal employees.

She termed the present compulsory arbitration set-up for police and firemen "a scandalous system which is bankrupting the province and municipalities."

ELECT OFFICERS

A. A. Kennedy of Owen Sound was elected president. A. W. H. Taber of Fort William was chosen president of the allied Association of Municipal Electric Utilities comprising utilities managers and their assistants.

OMEA vice-presidents are: E. V. Dyke, Smiths Falls; H. G. Robertson, Barrie; J. D. Phillips, Schreiber; W. E. Wright, Port Credit; Thomas Barnes, Niagara Falls; A. J. Girdwood, Guelph; H. R. Henderson, Woodstock, and S. G. Thomson, Chatham.

Directors for 1954 will be J. G. Baldwin, Lindsay; Dr. R. S. Patterson, Kemptville; C. J. Halliday, Chesley; E. Freeman, Port Arthur; C. H. Moore, Fort William; Bert Merson, Toronto; Dr. V. S. Wilson, Etobicoke; W. B. Elliott, St. Catharines; William Patterson, Welland; T. J. Moffat, Listowel; H. O. Hawke, Galt; P. R. Locke, St. Thomas; W. B. Curtis, Aylmer; O. K. Burr, Point Edward, and W. P. Bolton, Windsor.

Three Injured In Car Crash

PORT CREDIT (CP) — Three Toronto persons were injured today, one critically, when their automobile plunged over a 25-foot embankment on the Queen Elizabeth way after a front tire blew out.

Donald McLean, 32, was thrown from the car face down in a small stream near this village 10 miles west of Toronto. A policeman who arrived seconds after the accident saved him from drowning.

Mr. McLean is in hospital in critical condition with a fractured skull, broken jaw and internal injuries.

Evidence Of RCMP Directed To Identifying Of Rubber

The Examiner's attention has been directed to an error in its report of the preliminary proceedings against John Raymond Brown, in connection with the theft of a safe, from Canadian Tire on December 30. This report was published in The Examiner issue of February 26 and in part stated, "Two rubbers discovered at the scene of the crime played an important part in the Crown's case. One turned out to be the most damaging piece of evidence against Raymond McCaskie when RCMP crime detection staff members identified the rubber as having been worn at some time over McCaskie's right shoe. The other rubber, found at the scene of the crime, was identified as having been worn over Brown's right shoe".

The report should have stated that evidence of the RCMP was directed to identifying the rubber as having been worn at some time over McCaskie's right shoe and was directed to identifying the other rubber, found at the scene of the crime as having been worn over Brown's right shoe. The accused, of course, have not yet been tried on the offences charged but there has been merely the preliminary hearing from the magistrate.

NO BOXING

There will be no boxing at the St. Peter's gymnasium. Tuesday night the Separate School Board turned down an application from the Alpha Boxing Club, operated by Alex Cross, to rent the gym for a boxing show March 12. The board felt that other school and extra-curricular activities should have first claim to the gym. They also felt that citizens tracking mud over the gym floor, where seats presumably would be, would do the floor no good.

Expect Steel Business To Improve This Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Chances are that the steel business in the United States will improve during March, Iron Age, national metal-working weekly, said today.

But current operations are scheduled at 70.5 per cent of rated capacity, down three points from last week and setting another low for the year.

The weekly said it will take a gain of 3½ points in the operating rate to catch up with the February average of 75 per cent, and "chances of doing much better than that are slim."

Foster Parents Shocked At Murder Story

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Alfred E. Balcombe and his wife, Edna, are bewildered. Their foster son, Peter, who had "never done anything wrong" while living with them until the age of 19, will be hanged at Cornwall, Ont., May 25 for the fatal stabbing of a pretty young CWAC sergeant.

The Balcombes' intimate knowledge of Peter Balcombe, 24, ends in June, 1949, when Peter was 19 years old. Of necessity, they reluctantly returned to England, but they were confident that Peter had the "balance" to carve out for himself the Canadian medical career he seemed set on.

They learned by newspaper reports of his arrest and conviction at Cornwall, Ont., for the murder of 21-year-old Marie Anne Carrier, a CWAC reserve army sergeant with whom he had been keeping company.

(The stabbed body of the Bienville, Que., girl was found in a ditch near Cornwall, Oct. 16. Young Balcombe, married and the father of two children, was arrested at London, Ont., three days later. He will be hanged May 25.)

CLEVER, HIGH-STRUNG

"He lost touch with us," said Mrs. Balcombe, clenching work-worn hands as she stood in the small Balcombe house, located on a small sidestreet in London's working-class district of Putney. "We had always watched and trained him—he was clever, high-strung and a dreamer with a boiling-pot mind—and I am certain this would never have happened if we had been there."

Echoing her shock and confusion, her accountant husband added in halting sentences: "We thought he had the balance to go ahead on his own. I feel a terrible responsibility to the Canadian people."

Then, together, they recalled the development of Peter Balcombe in Montreal and Brantford, Ont. "It's a wonderful country, Canada," said Mrs. Balcombe. "How I wish we were back."

"He always got good marks and he loved school so," said Mrs. Balcombe, fingering Peter's school certificates. "Sometimes I'd get up with him at four a.m. When he wanted to concentrate on a subject—and if he did he'd talk it breakfast, lunch and tea."

SUFFERED "BLACKOUTS"

They recalled, too, his "blackouts" and the doctor's warning that Peter must not over-exert himself because of them.

They left him in 1949 with a job on a lake boat. He was confident he could earn enough to pay his first year at the University of Western Ontario.

"I lost my job in 1949, it was a bit of a depression, and I couldn't get another after looking for six months," said Peter's foster father. "I gave him $50 to go to Fort William. He wouldn't come back to England and I didn't blame him."

There was not much news of Peter after that. They heard belatedly that he had married after a whirlwind courtship, that he was not at university and that he had joined the army and worked up to a lieutenant.

New RCAF Badge Bears No Crown

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ontario Progressive Conservative demands replacement of the crown in the cap badge worn by other ranks in the RCAF.

J. H. Ferguson, Simcoe North, made his demand Tuesday in the commons as he pressed Defence Minister Claxton for an official explanation for the crown's removal.

"This is an urgent matter for all Canadians and I want a reply," he said.

Mr. Claxton replied: "The urgency of this matter may be judged from the fact that the order, not taking away but introducing a new badge was passed just over two years ago. The badge came into use just over a year ago."

Mr. Ferguson: "This government does many things about which very few people hear for years later."

Airmen formerly wore a badge made up of the letters "RCAF" surrounded by a laurel wreath with a small crown at the top. The new badge contains an eagle without the crown.

Mr. Ferguson said replacement of the crown in the insignia is "of

Members' Reaction To U.S. Shooting

OTTAWA (CP)—"It could happen here."

This was the reaction from the men who attend to the day-to-day operations of the Parliament buildings when asked to comment on Monday's shooting in the United States House of Representatives.

However, they were quick to add it is unlikely a shooting spree such as in Washington will happen in Canada. Five U.S. representatives were wounded in a quick outburst by four Puerto Rican terrorists sitting in a gallery of Congress.

One reason the same thing could happen in Canada is that there are no special security measures. And, as far as is known, none are being planned.

Lt.-Col. W. J. Franklin, sergeant-at-arms of the Commons, said that if anyone should start "shooting up" the Commons, all his 42-man protective service could do is subdue the terrorists until the RCMP arrives.

The blue-uniformed protective staff are unarmed.

Word "Slum" Banned By Gov't

OTTAWA (CP) — The word "slum" was banned Tuesday from the government's housing legislation.

Despite warnings from one of its members that it may be making the wrong move, the Commons banking committee approved a motion lifting the "obnoxious" word from the bill and substituting the word "sub-standard."

The amendment came on consideration of a segment of the bill dealing with government assistance to clear and rehabilitate blighted or "slum" areas.

Charles Henry (L—Toronto Rosedale) said the word tags certain Canadians living in sub-standard areas as "second-class citizens."

Rodney Adamson (PC—Toronto York West) suggested the committee may be making the wrong move in adopting the change. While "slum" was an "offensive" word, it got action. It had a lot of merit. When people were told they lived in a slum, they became hostile and immediately launched efforts to change the situation.

Drowns In Cellar

BRANTFORD (CP)—Cheryl Ann Wright, 22 months, was drowned Tuesday in the flooded cellar of her home. She apparently climbed out of bed and toddled down to the cellar while her mother was telephoning her husband, Leonard Wright, to say the family would have to move out for the night because the flooding Grand river waters had put out their furnace. The Wrights moved here recently from St. Catharines.

Saved By Snow

VICTORIA HARBOR (CP) — A heavy snowfall acted as a cushion Tuesday for two schoolgirls run over by a bus and police said it saved them from severe injury. Police said Mary Deschenes, 11, and her nine-year-old sister, Catherine, darted into the path of a bus while on their way to school in this village 20 miles northwest of Orillia. They were treated for shock, bruises and abrasions.

Deer Runs To Men For Assistance

RICHARDS LANDING (CP)—A drama of the wilds was enacted on the ice of North channel Saturday when a deer chased by dogs and running a losing race, ran to two men for protection.

Clyde Cumming of St. Joseph island and Earl Cameron of Sault, Mich., were ice fishing when the dogs closed in. As the deer drew near the men beat off the vicious dogs, killing one with a club. Cumming summoned a conservation officer who reached the scene armed with a rifle and shot another of the attackers.

The deer, meanwhile, although bitten in several places, ran off into the woods.

Richards Landing is 25 miles southeast of Sault Ste. Marie.

Draw Up Plans For Power Plant

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian scientists and engineers soon hope to draw up plans for an atomic power plant to produce electric energy.

Acting Prime Minister Howe made the statement Tuesday in the Commons in reply to a question asked by George Hees (PC—Toronto Broadview). Mr. Hees asked the minister to comment on reports that the United Kingdom is taking steps to build an atomic power plant.

Mr. Howe said an evaluation study was launched several weeks ago by officials of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, other private power companies and representatives of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the crown company which operates the Chalk River atomic project.

The studies were well advanced. It was hoped that actual plans for the installation would be undertaken shortly.

NEPTUNES FOR RCAF—The RCAF is buying Neptune medium bombers from the United States for its maritime reconnaissance squadrons. Purchase of the twin-engine piston-driven aircraft is part of a plan to supplement Second World War Lancaster bombers now being used as coastal patrol and anti-submarine planes. Delivery is expected near the end of this year or early in 1955. The Neptune has a cruising speed of about 225 miles an hour. It has a range of 4,700 miles and its armament includes two pairs of 20-millimetre cannon, two 50-calibre machine guns and 16 five-inch rockets. It can carry a bomb load of 4,800 pounds. Union To Ask Several Increases Extra Benefits

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) decided Tuesday that improved pensions, wage increase of at least 15 cents an hour, severance pay, premium pay for Saturday and Sunday work, and adequate health and welfare benefits will be among its demands in 1954 contract negotiations.

The sixth annual convention of the Canadian section of the union whose contracts include those with mining companies at Sudbury and Trail, B.C., continued policy discussions Tuesday night.

Delegates decided pensions should be given priority in 1954 bargaining. They decided pension demands will include one that workers should be allowed to retire voluntarily at 60 with the same pension as they would get at 65, establishment of vested rights in a pension plan, and the basing of pensions on an employee's best 10 years' earnings rather than on those of his last 10 years of employment.

Some of the delegates expressed the view claims of management that labor rates are pricing Canadian products off the market are false. They said the problem lay in markets in Canada has at its disposal but will not take up.

Crash Victim Fined

TORONTO (CP)—James Dawson Shields, 31, who crashed his light plane at Little Lake on Georgian bay in 1952, was fined $100 and costs Tuesday for negligent flying and $30 and costs for flying without a valid licence. The charges grew out of the crash which sent Shields and his passenger to hospital. Magistrate F. C. Gullen said Shields had shown negligence by flying dangerously low considering weather conditions.

Closed For Prayer Resolution In 1868

OTTAWA (CP)—Each day the Senate opens with a prayer. The public are not admitted to this ceremony. Doors to the galleries remain closed until it is over.

This practice is followed because of a resolution passed by the upper chamber in 1868, the year after Confederation, a return tabled by Solicitor-General Macdonald, government leader in the Senate, said Tuesday night.

The return was tabled for Senator A. W. Roebuck (L—Ontario) who asked last Wednesday what is the "reason or justification" for the practice.

Senator Roebuck, whose wife died Tuesday in Toronto, was not present when the return was tabled.

Food Terminal Inspected By Ont. Members

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Ontario legislature's agriculture committee Tuesday toured the $4,000,000 Ontario food terminal now under construction in suburban Etobicoke.

The group was led by acting Agriculture Minister Goodfellow and committee chairman John Root (PC—Wellington North).

The terminal, due to be completed in May, will replace the outdated St. Lawrence market in downtown Toronto.

At least 36 wholesale firms will move their business out to the 55-acre terminal.

G. F. Perkin, chairman of the seven-man terminal board, said the revenue of the terminal has been estimated at $400,000 annually. More than 25 per cent of the farm produce will be shipped to eastern and northern Ontario markets and parts of Quebec.

Financing of the terminal was guaranteed by the provincial government.

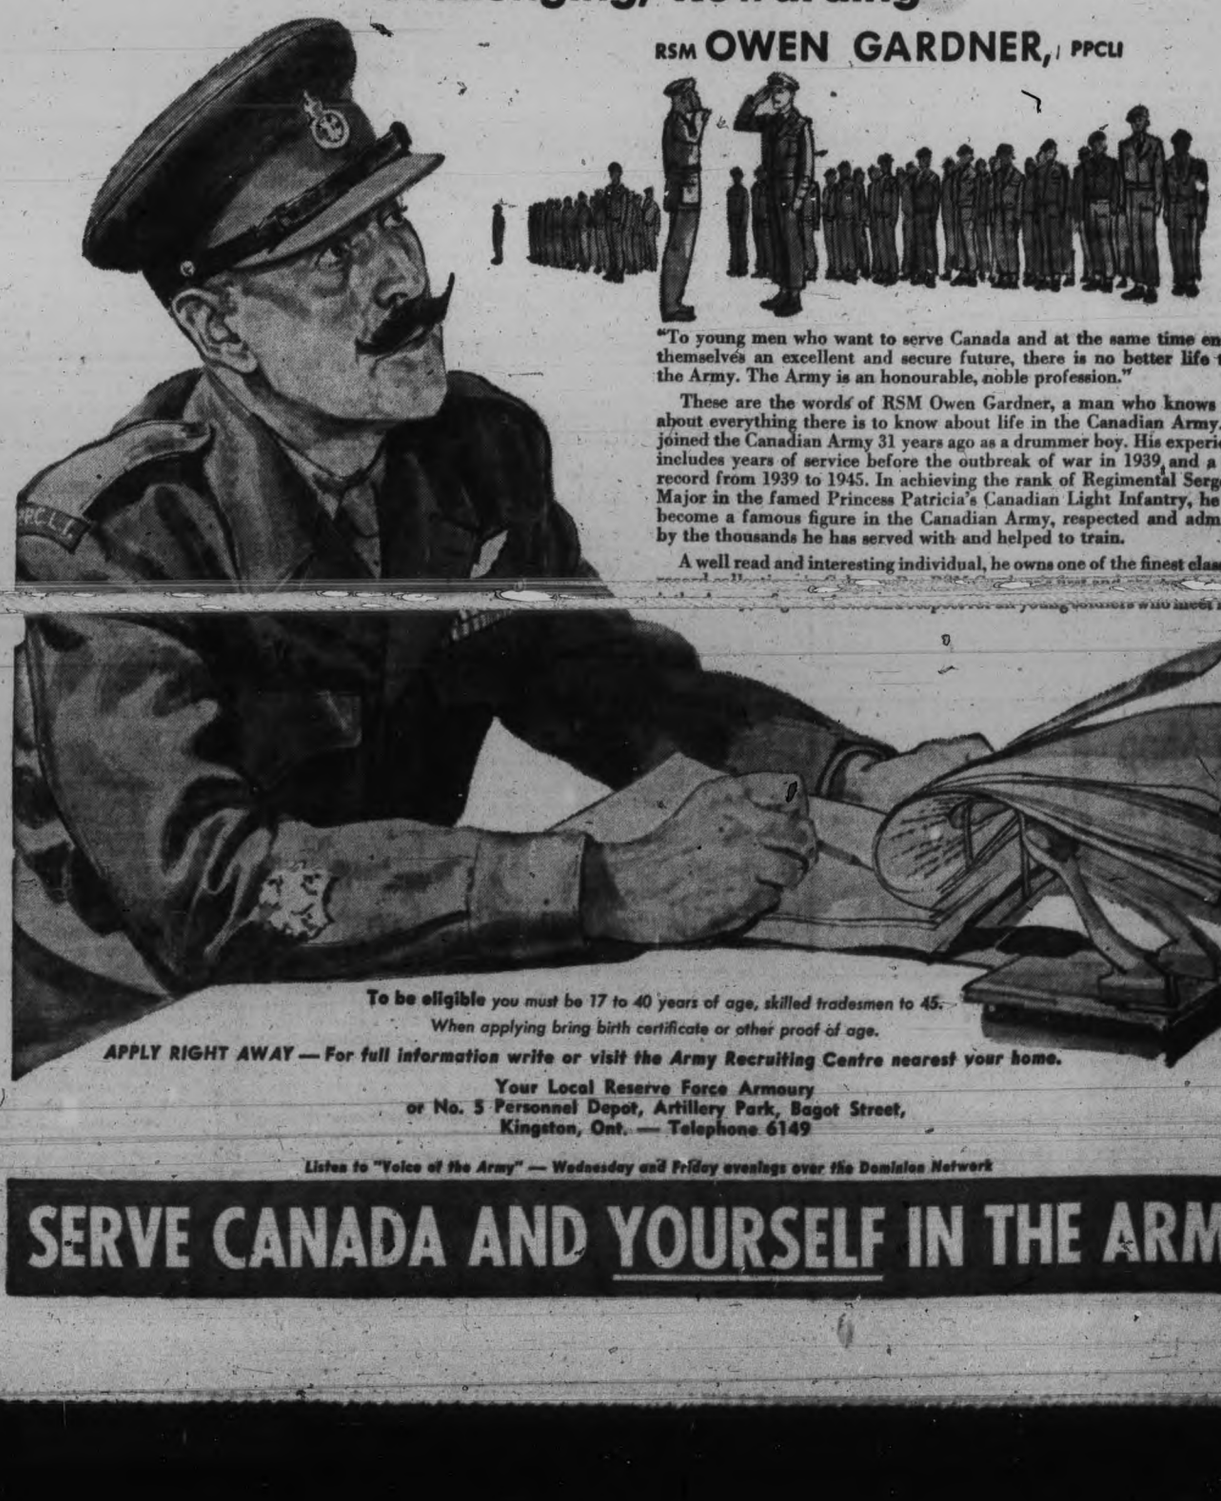
The Army offers a healthy and vigorous life. A career soldier like Mr. Gardner, at 48, can put many men years younger to shame in physical fitness and stamina. He has made parachute jumps and proudly wears the paratrooper's wings. Excellent medical and dental care help look after the health and well-being of our soldiers.

As for opportunities, look at the wide choice of skills and trades a man can learn. What other organization will give him such excellent training and pay him for it at the same time? These days promotions can come very fast. There are hundreds of career soldiers who came from the ranks to become senior N.C.O.'s and officers.



There is plenty of travel, challenge and interest for the Canadian soldier these days. Manoeuvres and duty in all parts of Canada, including the Arctic regions! Active service in Korea and Germany! The job of helping to defend Canada is as big as this country and as scattered as the threatening points of aggression.

This is a Proud Life!

Prokofiev's Last Work Staged At Moscow Theatre

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)— Serge Prokofiev's last work, a ballet entitled "The Stone Flower," has been produced by the Bolshoi Theatre.

It is a posthumous production. Russians were recovering from the death of Stalin before they realized that Prokofiev, died on March 5, 1953.

The reaction of the critics to "The Stone Flower" is still secret. They don't rush into print the next day in Soviet Russia.

On the record, Prokofiev is a composer much loved by Soviet audiences for his "Classical Symphony," "Romeo and Juliet" ballet based on "Cinderella" but accused of "Formalism" by the official critics. (It is difficult, incidentally, to get an authentic definition of "Formalism.") Nonetheless, his works continue to be performed here and to draw enthusiastic audiences.

ARTS IN FERMENT

But the arts seem in a state of ferment, tolerated at least for the moment by the Party. So maybe "The Stone Flower" will find better favor with the critics. Western music lovers will find Prokofiev's last piece of much the same texture as his other works.

It is a four-act ballet. The music for the first two parts is Prokofiev as before. But once into third act and again in the fourth, even for Prokofiev he reaches new intensities of scoring which his western admirers, too, will find exciting.

ROOTED IN FOLKLORE

"The Stone Flower" is a fanciful tale with its roots in the folklore of the Urals.

The main theme concerns an apprentice stone-cutter named Danila, in love with Katerina, a village maid. Both are Serfs. The baron to whom they belong orders Prokopitch, the master stone cutter, to carve him a stone flower. Prokopitch says he is too old and Danila takes over.

While searching in a forest for the materials for his masterpiece Danila encounters the stone fairy. She promises to help him (as they has others— who have never returned) and leads him to her underground storehouse.

There Danila is imprisoned in rock.

Katerina looks for Danila, is led to the underground hang-out. There her love softens the heart of the stone fairy, the lovers are reunited and Danila is freed.

Like the music, the first two acts seem more pantomine than ballet, but the marriage of music and dance in the last two is perfect.

As theatre, the Bolshoi production is too good.

The detail is so complete as to be distracting. The changing effects, in the underground scenes especially, and again in the unfolding of the Stone Flower at the end, are so boldly and imaginatively conceived as to take the eye from the dancing and the ear from the music.

Whether the Party likes it or not, this member of "The Stone Flower's" first international audience liked it and joined with the rest of the packed theatre to applaud heartily.

Cost-Of-Living Lower Food Prices Less 1954

OTTAWA (CP)—Three drops in a row.

That's the latest cost-of-living score as statisticians prepare tabulations on January's trends, likely to be published Thursday.

Despite the continuous rise in rents, lower food prices have powered three consecutive monthly declines in the consumer price index, breaking a previous five-month rise.

Based on 1949 prices equalling 100, the yardstick for measuring living costs dropped from the 1953 high of 116.7 in September to 115.7 at the end of December.

Thus, the index is about 2.5 points below the all-time high of 118.2 in December, 1951. Little change is expected in the January survey.

The declines in the 1953 final quarter were tapering. The index dropped five-tenths during October, two-tenths during November and one-tenth in December.

In all three months it was a case of lower food prices offering resistance to climbing rents. In December the food sub-group slipped by a half-point to 111.6, lowest in seven months. Lower egg prices out-balanced increases for most meats and vegetables.

RENTS AT RECORD HIGH

The shelter column, which incorporates rents and home-ownership costs, rose, however, by one-fifth of a point to a new high of 125.4.

In other segments of the index, there was relative stability, with changes held to one-tenth of a point, the smallest that can be recorded on the yardstick.

A few tiny declines in the clothing sub-group shaved a tenth of a point from that item, dropping it to the May, 1953, level.

Household operations edged ahead by a similar amount to a peak of 117.5. Prices were higher for furniture, cleaning supplies and household help, outweighing declines for washing machines, cotton sheets and glassware.

Lions Governor Speaks To Home Club

"Opportunities in Lionism" was the topic of the address given by District Governor Vic Frederick to his home club, the Peterborough Lions Club, on Monday at the Kawartha Club.

Mr. Frederick stated that the Carnegie Institute has analyzed and can attribute a particular man's success in life to about 15 per cent technical ability and the remaining 85 per cent to ability in getting along with others.

Lionism presents to any willing man an opportunity to productively work with others in many tasks of community and welfare betterment and at the same time by so working with others, it offers a great drawing board on which to record one's acceptability by those members.

The governor emphasized that each man is unique in interests and background. Lionism, with all its ramifications, offers a socially-minded man a great opportunity to help those less fortunate than himself in addition to serving as a wonderful outlet for ability and initiative.

Lloyds of London have presented an interesting table which shows the life expectancy of a man who retires at 65, to be three years if he has no outlet for his energy and capabilities, but 13 years if he continues actively such interests as Lionism.

On an international basis, Lions clubs along with Rotary, Kiwanis and others have done more toward fostering a foundation of trust and co-operation among various countries than any other force in the world.

Two new members were welcomed into the Lions club: George Ariss and Jack Dewey.

Ron Balaam of the Junior Chamber of Commerce spoke of the great need of the Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign, and asked the Lions club to aid in making these needs known to their employees and others so as to add hope and impetus in realizing the year's objective of $100,000. This sum is divided among the 10 organizations in the fund.

2-Year Sentence For Manslaughter

COCHRANE (CP)—Adelard Latarte, 65, was sentenced Tuesday to two years less one day when found guilty of manslaughter, a charge reduced from murder when defence counsel Roland Colonnier said a plea of guilty would be entered on the lesser count.

Latarte had pleaded not guilty to murdering his 61-year-old benefactor, Henri Deschene, here Jan. 13 in Deschene's two-room shack.

Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen ruled admissible a statement taken by police from Latarte. In the statement Latarte said he struck Deschene a number of times on the head with an ax and then took money from the victim's shirt pocket.

Mr. Justice Aylen and crown attorney S. A. Caldbick agreed to the plea of guilty on the manslaughter charge and the jury was directed that no other verdict was possible.

Crown attorney Caldbick asked for the jail term.

Mr. Colonnier submitted a jail term was to pay a debt to society. He contended Latarte owed society very little. He said the accused is old, in poor health, has had no family life and has existed in squalor much of his life. He said society had done little for Latarte.

French Hopes Run High For Geneva Meet

By NORA BELOFF

PARIS — (OFNS) — The Geneva five-Power conference planned for April 26 has now replaced the Berlin four-Power conference, as the French excuse for waiting and seeing. A week after the ending of negotiations in Berlin this seems to be the principal change on the home front.

There is certainly none of the sense of urgency which some people predicted there would be if the Berlin talks broke down on Germany, and despite grave warnings from Mr. John Foster Dulles, United States Secretary of State, it looks as if the American Congress will have to start dealing with next year's foreign aid still in the dark over French intentions.

The link which exists between the Geneva conference, which will be on Far Eastern topics, and the ratification of the European Army treaty, is not part of the official French foreign policy. On the contrary M. Bidault, French Foreign Minister, has told the Parliamentary Commission on Foreign Affairs that there can be no "global transactions." The French Parliament is far more impatient to end the Indo-Chinese war than to settle the German question. With the Foreign Affairs Commission meeting only two afternoons a week to get through the enormously long and intricate terms of the treaty; with a Foreign Minister due to absent himself in March for a "Little Six" conference (of France, Western Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries) in Brussels, and in April in Geneva, and with Parliament itself going on its Easter holidays, it seems few people expect the final European Army debate to begin before mid-May.

Meanwhile immense hopes are being placed by the French public on the Geneva conference as opening the way to the end of the eight-year war in Indo-China. The Government itself is, however, aware that France is entering the talks with a curiously weak hand. Despite vast financial aid and radical political concessions to the nationalist Associated States of Indo-China, these seem to have failed to take on the consistency and force of an indigenous, self-sufficient regime; and the French fear that given free elections in the Vietnam now, Ho Chi Minh, the Communist leader, might very well win by legal methods what he failed to win by violent methods.

What the French Government still hopes for is that some formula can be found for detaching the Chinese from the rebel Vietminh; and M. Bidault, asked whether Ho Chi Minh would be invited to Geneva, pointed out that he did not represent "a State" and had therefore no intrinsic right to appear. If the Chinese insist on it the Vietminh Communists will have to be invited, but the French Government will treat them as "rebels" and demand submission first and, presumably, free elections at a later date.

PRESENTS WEAKNESS

The Government still hopes that given time the national regimes could be endowned with effective fighting forces and a solid native administration. For the time being these regimes have to play their hand carefully, not only to prevent the Communists from exploiting their present weakness but also from risking appearing as the obstacle to peace which would be fatal to their political support in France. The French Government cannot refuse elections on the grounds that its proteges, Emperor Bao Dai and Prime Minister Bu Loc, would lose them; France is not Russia, and the Government cannot have recourse to a Molotov "no" when free elections are proposed.

The strength of Parliamentary pressure will be easier to measure at the end of next week, when Parliament, over-ruling the Government's request, has decided to have a full-dress debate on the proposal by India's Premier, Mr. Nehru, for an armistice in the Indo-Chinese war. The Government could hardly welcome this suggestion as it is still hoping that even in the two months between now and the conference the military fortunes of the expeditionary corps and the political solidity of the Bao [illegible] in slightly less unfavorable conditions.

France's Western allies are finding it increasingly difficult to restrain their impatience at the Franch for discovering yet another reason for delay. They are inclined to pooh-pooh arguments that there is any direct connection between the need for German troops on the Elbe and the battle for containing Communism in the Far East.

In fact, from the French point of view there is a real and immediate connection. Firstly, the war has weakened France, economically and militarily, to a point where partnership with Germany would condemn France to a very junior role. Militarily, all the best cadres of the army are in Indo-China, and would not be available to serve in the European Army. Economically, as Organisation or European Economic Cooperation reports are constantly showing, France is rapidly becoming Europe's "backward area." Military integration necessarily opens the way to economic union, and there is considerable alarm that the French would be flattened out by competition from more efficient and up-to-date producers.

MUST BE A PARTNERSHIP

On the military side the objections to German supremacy can be met only by reassuring France that the European Army is not just a Franco-German partnership, and that Britain will always be present to hold the balance. This is the kind of agreement the French Government hopes to get in the coming talks which have just been announced by Britain's Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden.

On the economic side there is always the prospect of American aid to tide France over a treasury crisis. The material and human resources required to re-adapt French economy will not be available if the Indo-China war continues, even if America pays the whole instead of as at present only fifty per cent of the cost.

The French Government knows this, but still feels it worth waiting for a little longer in the hope of being able to build up a viable and friendly non-Communist regime in Indo-China. It remains to be seen whether the French Parliament will be willing to put off the ending of the Indo-Chinese [illegible] not also wish to put off the European Army and their rearmament of Germany.

Not Sure What Gov't Will Do About Car Tax

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of an automobile owners' association came away from a meeting with Finance Minister Abbott Tuesday with different opinions on the effect of their plea for tax reductions on automobiles this year.

R. J. Hastings of Vancouver, a director of the Canadian Automobile Association, told a press conference after the meeting he was "very hopeful" that the 15-per-cent excise tax on cars would be lowered.

Charles Grant of Edmonton, solicitor for the 300,000-member association, said he did not "think we should be too optimistic."

The association presented a brief to Mr. Abbott urging the excise tax be cut to about half the present level.

It said a car is a "basic right and not a luxury."

NO MONTHLY CRAMPS... not even on the VERY FIRST DAY!

In tests by our doctors... striking preventive relief of pain, backaches, nervous feeling!

Women and girls who suffer from the functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches due to menstruation—who feel upset and irritable on "certain days" every month—may be suffering needlessly!

Such is the conclusion from tests made by our doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound and Tablets stopped or gave striking relief of such distress in case after case . . . even on the very first and worst day of the period!

Yes! Medical evidence proves Lydia Pinkham's modern in action. It exerts a pronounced calming effect on the uterus—strikes at the cause of the pain!

Relief . . . even on first day of period!

Note how Pinkham's works! Included in its beneficial action is a "calming" effect on the uterus . . . quieting contractions (see chart) that so often cause menstrual cramps and other distress.

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions whom it has benefited. But do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's! See if you don't get the same relief from cramps and weakness . . . feel better both before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets, with added iron!

Lydia Pinkham's is splendid for "hot flashes" and other functional distress of the "change of life," too!

COORONATION SCHOOL

It was "Citizenship Night" at the Coronation Home and School Association Monday night. Guest speaker, introduced by Mrs. Floyd Curtis, was Mr. Wilson Gemmell, manager of Peterborough Branch of the Royal Bank.

"Citizenship consists of the education of our children and a broad tolerance of our fellow man", he said. "Our rights are primarily the Four Freedoms; Speech, Worship, Want and Fear. We must strive to hold these freedoms as an alternate to the "Four Horsemen"— War, Famine, Pestilence and Disease, which are invariable followed by a fifth, intellectual, decay."

"We as parents, should supplemetn the work of the teachers in furthering the education of our children by encouraging reading of the Bible for wisdom, and guidance, and historical books. He highly recommended H. G. Wells "Outline of History." "We must show by our exmaple a wide tolerance of our fellow man regardless of race, colour or creed so that our children will grow up with democratic ideals and bitterness toward none. Men of all nationalities have contributed to science medicine and culture of the world."

Mrs. P. Lavictorie thanked Mr. Gemmell.

Mrs. W. Amos, president, reminded members of the anniversary of the Home and School church service to be held in Murray St. Baptist church on Sunday evening. Scripture was read by Mrs. Jean Davis who also read the poem, "I took a little Time with God."

Six-Day Fashion Festival To Boost Lagging Demand Canadian Producers Hope

By CHRISTINE SIROIS

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian textile producers, beset by rugged competition from foreign producers, are pinning their hopes on Montreal's Canadian fashion festival to boost lagging demand for their products.

Fifty leading textile and fashion firms are taking part in the festival organized by the Canadian Fashion Association in this fashion-conscious city.

The six-day festival was officially opened Tuesday night by Mayor Camillien Houde.

Organizers say they hope 100,000 persons will view the displays.

Most impressive feature so far has been the excellence of Canadian designs in swim suits, raincoats and children's clothing.

For April showers coats with raglan sleeves are back in vogue, whether they be in rayon, leatherette or cotton.

NYLON RAINCOAT

Star attraction in the first of the seven fashion parades put on in connection with the festival was a raincoat created from grey nylon. Straight cut in distinctive material, it achieves its flair with collar and buttons fashioned from black leather.

For swimming, blue and rose are the choice colors. One suit in royal blue with a long scalloped torso fringed with pearls, aroused great interest. Others settle for pleats, depending for impact on the brilliant colors of the fabrics.

In tailoring Canadian designers favor straight-cut jackets and narrow skirts. One of the country's top designers, 26-year-old David Nasler, is showing a two-piece worsted suit in golden yellow, its simplicity relieved by a half-belt across the rear of the coat and luxuriously large cuffs.

Also seen: a severely-cut costume in strawberry hue and a grey flannel creation with collar and plunging pockets in grey off-shade.

In children's wear nylon is immensely popular, although denim is largely used for boys' clothing.

COTTON HOLDING OWN

The new synthetic materials really come into their own in milady's lingerie. One expert, however, F. A. Field, general manager of one of the country's leading lingerie firms, says cotton is holding its own especially in underwear for use with sports clothes. Nyon gloves, made in clear fabric or in opsque grades, also are on view.

In this festival even the fashion-conscious man is taken care of. He has two stalls of his own, one exclusively for shoes.

The well-dressed man this Easter will be stepping out in black, not brown, shoes. "Black colors blend better with the light shades of spring clothing," one fashion expert said.

Of course if it's color he wants, there's a sea-blue suede trimmed in lizard skin of the same shade.

Welsh Celebrate St. David's Day With Program

St. David's Welsh Society of Peterborough honored their patron saint on Monday evening, March 1st, with a dinner party at the YWCA. President Mrs. C. L. Armstrong welcomed the members and guests, numbering 35. Tables were decorated with daffodils, flower symbol of Wales, and crystal candle holders with green and yellow candles. Welsh flags decorated the room.

Welsh cakes made by Mrs. Armstrong were in abundance. Miss Phyllis Gray made daffodil place cards for each plate and Mrs. H. Gray Sr. brought a large pot of dallodils to place on the head table.

The toast to Wales was proposed by Mr. Morris Parry and the Welsh national anthem was sung in Welsh and English. Mrs. H. Butler proposed a toast to St. David's Society's Greetings from societies in Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal were read by Mrs. W. Flowers. Mr. V. Mills, a past president of the local society, made a brief speech.

A special program of Welsh songs and hymns, most of them sung in the native tongue, was arranged by Miss Margaret Flowers, who was at the piano for all numbers. Choruses were spiked by the direction of the Rev. J. A. Steed who also took part in several quartettes.

Highlight was the singing of the hymn "Rachie" (Onward Christian Soldiers") in Welsh by Mr. Parry, Mr. Mills, Mr. Ed. Poole and Mr. H. Butler with Mr. Steed leading.

A ladies quartette was composed of Mrs. R. P. Henderson, Mrs. C. L. Armstrong, Mrs. E. A. King and Mrs. Wm. Davies, and in another selection Mrs. King was replaced by Mrs. J. Kearns, who also sang a solo in Welsh, "David of the white rock."

Mrs. Armstrong sang a solo, "Bells of Aberdovey," in Welsh, and Mrs. Davies sang "Mentra Gwen" and "Smilin' Through." Mrs. King chose "God who made earth and heaven" for her solo, and Mrs. G. Harbison sang "Miller's Daughter."

Male voice solos were by Mr. Poole, who chose "Loveliest night of the year" and "When I leave the world behind", and Mr. Parry who sang "Y Milwr Bach" in Welsh and had the guests join him in the chorus in English.

Readings titled "Hail St. David the day of St. David" and "Blossom of Wales" were given by Mrs Joe Henderson.

The evening concluded with all singing "God be with you till we meet again." The daffodils were then sent out to the oldest member of the Society, Mrs. S. Siddall who is ill and had missed the celebration of St. David's Day for the first time this year.

New Beauty Rage of Europe

By Elsie Carlstedt

Even if you think you look your best—who doesn't want to look more beautiful. This new rage is a Lanolin Face Pack ready mixed in a neat little pliofilm sachet, just enough for one application. And what a difference one application will make to your face. Your skin will immediately feel toned-up and supple, look far clearer and fresher. It is called "Christy's Lanoline Face Pack." Imported from Europe, it is already selling in the Dept. Stores and Drug Beauty Counters and only costs 35c. Supplies are a little short — they can't make it fast enough in Europe to keep the "New Beauty Rage" supplied.

DOROTHY DIX

Plain Girl, Was Reckless Yearns For Former Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: I am an unusually homely girl, therefore, in order to keep a boy friend, I have been reckless. It seems, however, that I'm losing all my girl friends, and am only dated by boys who aren't popular with the people I really like. What can I do to regain my old friends?

DELLA.

ANSWER: You realize now that you took exactly the wrong tack in trying to win friends. Perhaps you can never get back your old status in your community. A tarnished reputation, a bad name, a tainted character, are much easier to acquire than to lose. You must sever all connections with the questionable people who have been your associates, and though it may mean many months of loneliness, start trying to begin winning friends. Your handicap is not homeliness, but the unwillingness to accept life on the terms given you, plus a low moral resistance. No girl was ever made an outcast because of her looks. In fact, I have known many very plain young ladies who were popular leaders in their schools and communities, because they had gifts that more than compensated their lack of glamor. Friendliness, cheerfulness, co-operation, understanding, are far more important in a group than babyolue eyes and dimples. The plain girl must work harder at achieving popularity than her better-looking companions, but the friends she makes are usually permanent.

SEEK ADULT ADVICE

Your case, Della, can be greatly aided with the help of a sympathetic adult. A teacher who is aware of teen-age problems would be a wonderful help. If your school has a faculty advisor, seek her advice. A Sunday school teacher, a church member who works with teen-age girls, a Scout leader, or any woman who is interested in young people, can help you. With a knowledge of your own personality and local conditions, they can show the way to an adjustment that will set you straight with your contemporaries.

Don't strive for mass popularity. The affection of one real friend is worth much more than the fleeting interest of a crowd. Learn to appreciate what you have, instead of seeking the impossible through reprehensible means.

DEAR MISS DIX: Three years ago, when I was 18, I met Will who was 29. His wife had left him shortly before. At the time this didn't make any difference to us, since we weren't serious. Now, his wife still hasn't obtained a divorce and we'd like to get married. Could we go to another state and get married?

D.M.

ANSWER: If you do, you'll be committing adultery, which is a moral crime, and your friend, bigamy, which is a legal one. Both involve heavy penalties. There's nothing you can do until Will's wife is located and definite steps are taken, through her, to solve the problem.

DEAR MISS DIX: My brother-in-law and his wife visit us frequently and when they come they criticize us and our home. I lost my temper once, and told them not to come again unless they could be more agreeable. Later realizing my mistake, I apologized. They can't understand what they did to hurt me, and now have resumed the same old practices.

P.D.

ANSWER: Sometimes we must just face the fact that there are people like that in the world—people whose only joy is picking others to pieces. Why not try giving them a dose of their own medicine? When you call on them, do a little faultfinding. When they show shocked surprise, tell them you have learned their technique so thoroughly that you have become much more critical. That should stop them.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Making Your Preparations For Your Weekend Meals

What I was doing isn't interesting—except to us and maybe a few of you friendly readers—but what I did about managing the food connected with it might help you. You too, have to streamline your meals, when you must sandwich your own activities between the goings and comings of your family. Every mother does.

This was the set-up. At 4.15 p.m. on Saturday Pete telephoned to say he was bringing his chum Kaye home and could we have dinner early for Kaye had to play basketball at 7 p.m. Marianne telephoned to ask if she could bring Herbie home for lunch on Sunday after church. Now that's simple enough, but I wanted to go to church at 11 a.m. and teach Sunday School at 2 p.m., be at my sister's at 4 p.m. to help prepare a turkey dinner for eight, four of the guests having been invited by me to her house without consulting her, because they had telephoned me from a city 150 miles distant to say they were coming for Sunday afternoon. Previously we had been invited there for Sunday's dinner because it was this old girl's birthday.

A lot of people were taking a lot of hospitality for granted—and that's exactly as I and my sister want them to feel.

I made one basic dessert that served both Saturday dinner and Sunday lunch. And I virtually threw together an oven dish that had to take care of its own cooking while we were at church, and be ready to eat when we all hit the house at 12:30 after church.

Everybody arrived on time and I arrived at Sunday School to find I had 19 pupils all expectantly gazing up at me as I opened the classroom door at the stroke of two o'clock.

The two menus were:

(1) Baked Breaded Pork Chops, Buttered Noodles, Spinach, Tossed Salad, Lemon Snow with Custard Sauce, Doughnuts, Coffee.

(2) Quartered Broiling Chicken Baked On Rice, Health Salad, Lemon Snow with Mandarin Oranges and Custard Sauce, Hermits, Coffee.

LEMON SNOW WITH CUSTARD SAUCE

(7 Servings)

Soak 1¼ tablespoons gelatin in ⅓ cup cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve it by stirring into it 1 cup boiling water. Stir in 2/3 cup sugar, and when that is dissolved add 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Let this chill until it begins to congeal and is consistency of thin honey. When it is thus partially set, beat with rotary beater until very foamy, and when allowed to stand for a minute, clear liquid does not settle at bottom of bowl. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, and fold them into beaten gelatin mixure. Pile lightly in 7 sherbet glasses and put in refrigerator to set and chill.

Custard Sauce: To the 2 leftover egg yolks add 1½ tablespoons sugar. In top of double boiler heat to scalding point ¾ cup whole milk. Slowly stir into the mixed sugar and yolks about half of the hot milk, then stir it into the remaining milk in double boiler until thick enough to coat spoon. This is not very thick at all while it is so hot, but you must not overcook it. Remove it from heat as soon as it thickens slightly. Add shake of salt and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Pour into pitcher to chill.

When serving times comes, pour sauce over snow pudding and top with a few sections of canned Mandarin oranges or a maraschino cherry. If you are going to keep sauce that is left in refrigerator overnight it should be carefully covered or skin will form.

QUARTERED BROILING CHICKEN BAKED ON RICE

I bought the broiling chicken from Barb. to broil, but that is one thing you can't do in absentia. So I improvised this dish: Into large baking dish with cover I put 1 cup rice, 1½ cups cold water and sprinkled it with salt, On top I placed the quartered 3-lb. chicken, sprinkled it with salt, pepper and a lot of paprika, dotted the whole thing with about 3 tablespoons butter, put on cover, set oven temperatures at 275 deg. Fahr. at 10:30 a.m. then went to church. It was delicious when we sat down at 12:40: Chicken was golden and rice was flavored with its juices.

Witness Not Sure What Time Bought Skirt

Under cross examination by defence counsel W. B. Gordon, Miss M. J. Phyllis Fonger, presently nursing in a Toronto hospital, admitted she wasn't certain whether it was immediately before or after 7:00 p.m. that she left Fred V. Correll's store, September 11, 1953.

She was the only witness to appear in magistrate's court today, in connection with the charge against Mr. Correll of operating his store beyond the hours set by a city bylaw.

Miss Fonger presented a sales slip indicating the purchase of a skirt from Correll's on September 11. The slip showed that she had paid $5 on the skirt valued at $13.95.

"I was on duty until four o'clock and after supper my friend and I went shopping," said Miss Fonger. She said that at that time she was nursing at Civic Hospital and had a room there, and after her shift was over, she spent "a couple of hours in her room." Then she and her girl friend had gone to a downtown restaurant for supper.

She though they had supper between 6.00 and 7.00 p.m. and went shopping and thought Correll's was their first stop. Miss Fonger agreed with prosecuting city solicitor, W. F. Huycke that the store was "open, lit up . . . clerks there," and "two or three people just looking around." "Skirts, blouses, sweaters and lingerie were on display," she said.

"Did you make a purchase"? asked Mr. Huycke.

"I did. I bought a skirt," said Miss Fonger presented the sales slip, and said she'd paid $5 down.

At this point Mr. Gordon cross examined and the witness said she was not certain of the time she left the store. "I didn't take particular note as to whether it was before or after seven o'clock.

Miss Fonger said she did not see a police officer when she came out of Correll's, but did see one later near Muriel's Specialty Shoppe. She said she had been in Muriel's after leaving Correll's.

The case was remanded one week.

No Reason Found To Convict Driver

A charge of careless driving against Frank Wilson, 29, of 557 O'Connell Rd., was dimissed today by Magistrate W. R. Philp. "By this cross examination, your worship," advised Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, "I don't think the accused could be possibly convicted."

Roy Hobson, 23, of 460 Howden Ave., driver of the other car involved in the accident said he was travelling south on Park St. when he saw the accused approaching Park St. on O'Connell Rd. "I thought this guy (the accused) was going to stop," said Hobson.

Defence counsel Bark asked Hobson how far away he was when he first saw the accused' car and Hobson said "about 150 feet." He said he applied his brakes about 100 feet way and the car skidded over to the east side of Park St. off the travelled portion of the road where it collided with Wilson's car.

Hobson said Wilson was going "about five or six miles an hour" when he first saw him.

Holds Court In Motor Car

KITCHENER (CP) — A Bruce county police court hearing was held in a car and adjourned by police radio.

It was all because of snow-blocked roads.

Magistrate Otto McClevis was driving to Wiarton from Walkerton to hold weekly court here. With him were crown attorney Wesley Freeborn, court clerk Miss Maude Prussia and counsel Alex J. McNab of Walkerton.

In a cruiser following the magistrate's car was provincial police Cpl. Charles Millbank and two prisoners.

Near Tara it became clear the drifted roads would be impassable so the magistrate set up impromptu court in his car.

He remanded the two accused for a week and then radioed the provincial police detachment at Wiarton, adjourning court there until next Tuesday.

The judicial group then returned to Walkerton and the prisoners to their berth in the county jail there.

Gold Miners Given Wage Increases

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Workers at three district gold mines have been given wage increases.

Workers at Upper Canada and Macassa mines have been given a three-cent-an-hour increase, effective Monday, the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) representing the workers, said Tuesday. Employees of the Sylvanite Mine, represented by an employees' association, have been granted a 4¾-cent increase retroactive to Nov. 2, 1953.

Jack Murnaghan, steelworkers' representative, termed the Upper Canada and Macassa increases "measly."

The mines have been negotiating for new contracts for some months.

National Art Gallery Will Be Simple Design

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's new national gallery is expected to [illegible] a simple rectangular building which will weather the changing tastes of time and fashion.

This was disclosed Tuesday with the announcement that Green, Blankstein, Russell and Associates, Winnipeg architects, have been declared winner of a country wide competition to select a building design for the proposed gallery.

The $5,000,000 expenditure, the proposed site on the banks of the Ottawa river in the capital's lower-town area and the design still must be approved by cabinet.

Construction of a new building for the national gallery was one of the recommendations contained in the Massey report on arts, letters and sciences.

Five Delegates From Metal Area Press For Roads

TORONTO (CP)—The town of Hornepayne today made its bid to become the centre of the new Manitouwadge base metal field in northwestern Ontario when a five-man delegation pressed for the construction of roads in the area.

The delegation, led by Donald Schmidt, secretary of Hornepayne Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the Ontario legislature's sub-committee on mining roads.

Mr. Schmidt said the town of 2,000 said staking claims extend to within 10 miles of the community, which is connected with the outside only by rail.

"Freight rates are just about strangling the woods industry in the district," said Mr. Schmidt.

THREE PROPOSALS

The delegation presented three alternative proposals:

1. Construction of a nine-mile stretch of road that would link existing lumber roads from Hornepayne and Highway 11, some 30 miles to the north.

2. A 38-mile road running directly north to Highway 11, at an estimated cost of $10,000-$15,000 a mile.

3. A 20-mile stretch of road that would connect Hornepayne with Hearst.

"If a road is opened up, undoubtedly Hornepayne will become the centre of activity in the Manitouwadge area," said Mr. Schmidt.

Albert Wren (Lib-Lab—Kenora), voicing the unanimous approval of the committee, said the committee would ask the government "not to make an expenditure but an investment in the north country."

G. C. Wardrope (PC—Port Arthur), and W. J. Grummett (CCF—Cochrane South), also expressed support.

To Develop Land At Brockville

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial-municipal project for developing 200 acres of land at Brockville was announced today.

The federal and Ontario governments have acquired 200 acres of land where the officers' training centre was located. The town has agreed to service the land.

Part of it will be developed as a residential area. About 300 lots will be sold for private building, and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will build 40 homes for rental to families of moderate incomes.

Another part of the land will be sold to the town and developed as an industrial site. Some also will be sold to the Ontario highways department to form part of the controlled-access highway between Toronto and Montreal.

Woman Celebrates 100th Birthday

RAMORE, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Pierre Godfroy celebrates her 100th birthday today, yet she wears no glasses, can thread a needle with ease and frowns on afternoon naps.

She attributes her long life and spryness to good health and fact she neither smokes nor drinks liquor.

She came to this little community 38 miles north of Kirkland Lake 20 years ago with her husband and their 15 children, nine of whom are still living.

Her husband died in 1949 at 94, just a year after they celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary. She can count 237 direct descendents.

No Funds Available Open U.S. Consulate

HAMILTON (CP)—There is no hope of reopening the United States consulate in Hamilton until funds become available, said Douglast Stuart, United States ambassador to Canada, making his first visit to Hamilton today. He said that the consulate had been closed as an economy measure.

George Haering, United States consul general in Toronto said a unique situation had existed with three consulates within a small area, the Niagara Falls, Toronto and Hamilton.

Two Directors Re-elected To Maple Breeders Ass'n.

Harry Kennedy and Stewart Whittington were re-elected Peterborough directors of Maple Cattle Breeders Association here Tuesday night. A proposed amendment of the constitution might pull the seat from under one of them.

The amendment from Victoria county (J.J. Thurston) aims at reducing the number of directors from 18 to nine, one instead of two from each of the constituent counties represented in the association. That would leave Peterborough one director, instead of two.

In the business of the annual meeting held at the YMCA, Mr. Whittington of Otonabee and Mr. Kennedy of Cavan were returned without opposition.

If the Thurston amendment carries at the anual meeting at Maple, Peterborough will have only one director. His designation is sealed in an envelope which the treasurer, A. E. Snider, took back to headquarters. In the event of only one director being allotted to Peterborough, it was decided to leave the choice to the members Tuesday night, Mr. Kennedy or Mr. Whittington. The votes were not handed over to the scrutineers for counting.

They will be counted only if the association decide to trim the board from 18 to nine directors. Then, the envelope would be opened and the Peterborough votes counted at Maple.

If the amendment is rejected on the floor, the ballots will be destroyed in their unopened envelope.

LOWER ATTENDANCE

The 40 members attending Tuesday night, as compared with 104 a year ago, (there were only 13 at Lindsay in the afternoon) indicated that although there might be some small economy in dispensing with half the directorate, they preferred to retain the eighteen, thereby assuring themselves of interest at the management level in all the breeds of cattle. It was said that with only nine directors, there would be unbalance, and that some of the breeds would probably have no special friends at court.

Gains in membership last year entitled the Peterborough branch to 14 delegates to the annual, three more than last year. Those appointments

A Community Fund Agency

Blind Find Useful Pattern Of Living Through CNIB

You are born into a world in which the only light is in your own imagination. You have no own imagination. You have no concept of color, no remembrance of anything but grey darkness, no hope for ever seeing the world that others see.

Or you are a healthy, sighted person until you notice print swimming crazily before your eyes. You see doctor after doctor for your cataract, glaucoma, optic atrophy or whatever, while the world becomes more and more obscure until you know there is no hope.

Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund will next week appeal to the citizens for $100,000. This money is required to support 10 agencies doing a wonderful work in this city. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is one of them.

Or your eyes are in perfect condition until you have an accident. Perhaps a dynamite cap blows up in your face. You put your hands to your eyes and they come away hot and sticky.

There are many ways to meet blindness, but they all add up to the same thing: a shadowy, sad and circumscribed world for those who are afflicted.

Pity is the last thing in the world needed or wanted by the 60 blind people in this city. Pity usually implies a certain amount of condescension. Condescension implies superiority and if there is one thing more than another resented by the sightless it is the implication, however veiled, that they are second-class citizens.

Not only are they not second-class citizens, but they are usually at the head of the first class because they have had to develop all their other senses to an extraordinary degree to compensate for the visual lack.

LOOK AFTER WELFARE

The welfare of Peterborough sightless is the responsibility of the local branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind working in conjunction with the institute's Peterborough advisory board. CNIB field secretary is Walter T. Simmons, 95 per cent blind himself, and the chairman of the board is Charles J. Ray.

Perhaps the most magnificent of the many services offered by the local branch of the CNIB to the sightless is its employment program. The time has passed when the blind could aspire no higher than selling pencils, or standing forlornly and hating the world at a busy street corner.

Mr. Simmons working with the advisory board tries to place qualified blind folk in industrial positions, help them to develop their own business enterprises or show them the way to more lucrative and satisfying employment opportunities. Employment specialists are on call at the CNIB to see that no blind person is insecure.

You do not have to be completely blind to require the services of the CNIB. If at a distance of 20 feet a person can read only that which a normally sighted individual can see at 200 feet he has 20/200 vision and is for all practical purposes blind. He cannot carry on the ordinary activities of life.

Before the blind person can fit usefully into paying jobs he must usually take courses at the CNIB headquarters on Water St., behind the Bank of Commerce. All sorts of handicrafts are taught under the direction of Mrs. Christine Dawson. They are taught not so much because of any intrinsic value of the handicrafts, but to give the sightless confidence in themselves as they develop more and more manual dexterity. They are also taught to read Braille. Some of the best Braille readers can read more quickly than many sighted persons.

"There's not much drama in our work," says Walter Simmons, a quiet man with an unruly shock of iron grey hair. "Our problem has been the same since we started work — to rehabilitate those who lose their sight."

DEPRESSED

Not much drama? Take the case of Jim Carter, and that is not his real name. Jim was a highly successful newspaperman on a leading Ontario daily. He was referred to Mr. Simmons by one of the blind registered with the CNIB and, in the words of Mr. Simmons, was "so depressed that he had given up all interest in life." Jim felt that he had lost his niche in society, was useless, unwanted and a burden to himself and to the society with which he had once been so integrated.

Jim was brought to the centre and set to working on handicrafts and learning Braille. He wasn't very enthusiastic at first, probably thought the handicrafts were a waste of time. But he soon found that his sense of touch was highly developed, and he is now gainfully employed at a good salary. Jim probably would have died of boredom (and there are many who die of this although the medical certificates don't say so) if the CNIB had not been on hand.

Not much drama? What of the work of the CNIB in the field of education? In Brantford the Department of Education operates the Ontario School for the Blind, but children with even a little vision, and some with none, are discouraged from going there if other arrangements can be made.

It is much better for the child, says Mr. Simmons, if he can go through school with sighted children. The Institute subsidizes the education of these blind children and many have ended up as brilliant university graduates. And many return to the CNIB to help others as they have been helped.

Nor is education confined to formal schooling. Parents must be educated to accept their child's blindness not as an affliction to be pitied but a fact to be recognized. Says Mr. Simmons: "They must be taught to treat these children just like all the others in the family and absolutely must not coddle them. Parents must insist on their doing what the other children are expected to do and encourage them to play in a normal manner."

Not much drama? What of the scores of people with almost no vision who come to the centre and have their hopes raised in the knowledge that many with as little as ten percent vision can have their visual defects adjusted by glasses. The CNIB takes care of any surgery needed and provides glasses for those who can use them.

Case in point is the principal of a large northern Ontario high school. Many of his friends don't realize that this man, without his glasses, could not even find his way across the playground, for he has less than ten per cent vision. With his glasses, his vision is 20/20.

There are 90 blind people in Peterborough county, and it is these who among the blind of the district will benefit most from the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, as well as those blind who may come to the centre this year. Of these, 65 are over 50 years old, 19 are between 21 and 50 and six are under 21. Only the CNIB can provide the community with the services it needs to rehabilitate its blind citizens.

One of the major projects of the local branch of the CNIB is to provide a booth operated by the CNIB at the new federal building on Charlotte St. The CNIB already has one of its blind at the Civis hospital and it is hoped that there will be many more in years to come.

It has been estimated that nearly half the population wears glasses, and those with perfect vision are very rare. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is thus caring for those whose eye defects are just a little worse than your own. The time may come when you will not be able to read this newspaper. It is a sobering thought and, in the view of Mr. Simmons, sufficient reason for supporting the Community Chest.

On the executive of the Peterborough Advisory Board to the CNIB are chairman Charles J. Ray, vice-chairman Mrs. R. Whalen and Mrs. G. K. Fraser for the city and county respectively, treasurer Ernest Truemen, secretary Miss Agnes Grant, and welfare committee chairman Mrs. F. Curtis.

The Movie Column

Betty Grable Goes Back To Screen Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Betty Grable, the girl with the gorgeous gams, is hard at work on her first picture since leaving her old home lot. But she says she's not going to knock herself out for her career.

"Look, I've had it," she says. "I've had the gravy for a good number of years, and I've enjoyed it. Now let the younger kids work their heads off. Not me. I've got other things in life to be interested in."

The other things include Harry James, her husband, and their two daughters and their race horses.

"I've enjoyed just looking after them for a change," says Betty. "I feel like a lousy mother when I have to be away from the kids all day. Now that they're in school, they don't get home until four in the afternoon. But I still would like to be there when they arrive."

Right now she's getting a real workout in "Three for the Show" at Columbia. She has several spirited dances directed by Jack Cole. On one of the hottest days of the year, she was under the glaring lights, trying to look cool in a comedy scene, gorgeously gowned in a fire-engine-red outfit with a mink-lined coat to match.

She also spoke about her "How to Marry a Millionaire" co-starr, and her successor as queen of the lot, Marilyn Monroe. Mrs. Dimaggio has followed in Betty's footsteps, being currently on suspension at Fox.

"I don't blame her," sympathized Betty. "I can understand why she turned down 'Pink Tights,' the 'Coney Island' script. I did it twice — in the original picture and "Wabash Avenue.' "

Training Camp Notes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Trade rumors revolving around Mickey Vernon, holdout first bastman of Washington Senators, were heightened Tuesday by the arrival here of Joe Cronin, general manager of Boston Red Sox.

It was unofficially reported that Cronin and Calvin Griffith, Senator vice-president, talked about a possible Vernon-to-Boston deal.

The Senators' bargaining position is strengthened by the shoulder injury of Ted Williams. Mickey has played some outfield and could provide some of the batting punch that will be lost indefinitely to the Red Sox by Williams' injury.

Vernon apparently is sticking to his demand of $35,000 for 1954. He made about $19,000 last season.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — General manager Muddy Ruel came to terms with pitchers Ralph Branca and Steve Gromek Tuesday, cutting Detroit Tigers' holdouts to three.

Ruel held separate conferences with the two hurlers at this Detroit spring training base. Following the conferences he announced that both righthanders had agreed to salary terms for the 1954 season.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Centrefielder Willie Mays came directly off an all-night plane ride to the ball park and donned a New York Giants uniform for the first time since May 29, 1952 Tuesday. He turned in a spectacular debut in an intra-squad game.

The 22-year-old star, released from the army Monday, hit a 400-foot homer with two runners on base in his initial trip to the plate, plays

First he ran into right centre to snare a ball off the wall and double up a runner who had lingered a hit too far off first base. Then, after losing a ball momentarily in the sun, he raced back to catch it over his shoulder in deepest centrefield, some 400 feet away from home plate.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle, centre fielder and leading slugger of New York Yankees, will not be able to run for at least two weeks and will not play any exhibition games until late in the month.

"The doctors have told him to do nothing but jog until March 15," manager Casey Stengel said. "I have no idea on hurrying him. As long as he is ready to start the season, I'll be satisfied."

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bill Terry, former New York Giant manager who once hated Brooklyn, was among the spectators as the Dodgers played their first intra-squad game here Tuesday.

Terry, who docked his yacht here Monday night and plans to spend a few days, held an impromptu and unofficial class for pitchers.

"I never ordered a pitcher to throw at a batter and certainly don't approve of the bean ball" said the Jacksonville automobile dealer. "But you must push them back or they will ruin you."

VICTORY RIDE — Mickey Owen, former Brooklyn catcher and this year manager of the championship Caguas team in the Puerto Rico League, gets a victory ride on a donkey after his team won out in the Caribbean World Series.

TeePees Beat Canadiens 2-1 Memorial Cup Final In Sight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fans in Montreal Tuesday night may well have had a peek at a preview of the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final and 4,000—the largest junior crowd of the season—turned out to see St. Catharines TeePees defeat Montreal Canadiens 2-1.

The TeePees, league-leaders of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, and the Canadiens, on top of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior loop, didn t disappoint the crowd. The game was close.

In the only other junior game of the night Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts defeated the last-place Black Hawks 8-2 in Galt.

Brian Cullen, OHA scoring leader who already has broken the junior league's scoring mark, got both goals for the TeePees. Henri Richard, Montreal's ace, notched the sole marker for the Canadiens.

Bob Maxwell of the TeePees was in the penalty box when Richard gave the Canadiens a 1-0 lead in the second period. But Cullen knotted the count five minutes later while Denis Boucher was off for the Canadiens.

In the final period Montreal's Real Chenier was sitting it out when Cullen took a pass from his brother Barry and fired the winning counter from the blue line. St. Catharines took nine of the 15 penalties handed out but except for the one which allowed Montreal the goal the TeePees didn't have much trouble while they were short handed.

LOST GOALIE

Kitchener's victory over the Hawks came after the Greenshirts lost their netminder Claude Pronovost in the first period. Pronovost was struck in the face by a puck one minute before the end of the period and left for the remainder of the game. Hospital authorities said that in addition to face cuts the netminder may be suffering a possible concussion.

Don Oliver replaced the injured netminder and had an easy time with only 13 shots to handle. Both goals were scored on him.

Fred Glover led the Greenshirts, scoring three goals. Bud Horne fired two and singles went to Bruce Jones, Glen Cressman and Grieg Hicks. Ed Switzer and Red Crawford tallied for the Hawks, cellar-dwellers in the league standings. Kitchener's victory hoisted the Greenshirts to within two points of the fourth-place Hamilton Cubs.

St. Catharines play the Reds in Trois-Rivieres, Que., tonight while other games have Toronto St. Michael's College Majors at Hamilton Guelph Biltmores at Barrie Flyers and Toronto Marlboros at Kitchener.

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

IT DOESN'T SHOW

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Every year Ted Kluszewski hears the same old story—"If they'd stick a firecracker under him he'd lead the league."

An easy-going big man with the wrists of a blacksmith, the Cincinnati first baseman takes it all in stride. When they figure up the final averages he usually hits over .300 and rates among the leaders in home runs and runs batted in.

"I play as hard as anybody, but it just doesn't show," he said as he sat in the sun outside the Reds' clubhouse at Plant Field. "They all try to fire me up but I'm just not the type. If I tried, it would be a forced reaction. I just go along, trying to get my base hits."

Big Ted, or "Klew" as they call him around the dugouts, hit his slugging peak last season with 40 nome runs, fourth best in the league. In July he was leading Eddie Mathews but a late season injury slowed him down.

CANADIANS QUALIFY

HOUSTON, Tex. (CP)—Four of the five Canadians entered in the $30,000 Texas open golf tournament qualified Tuesday.

Johnny Hendrick of Ottawa led the Canadians with a one-under-par 71. Bob Dean of Cornwall and Murray Tucker of Toronto carded par 72s while Al Balding of Toronto had 74. Johnny Kay of Montreal failed to qualify with an 80.

A score of 75 or better was needed as 58 of the 110 golfers qualified for Thursday's first round.

"Just before he passed away he murmured this is the greatest day of my life," said Jimmy Ward, a luncheon guest.

Federal Gov't Not Involved In Contempt Case

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Tuesday the federal government had no part in the reduction of a sentence against a Cornwall news agency owner from 10 days in jail to a $50 fine.

Edward C. Bryan, the agency owner, was sentenced last Friday by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario to 10 days in jail for contempt of court for distributing three United States magazines carrying stories about the slaying of Marie Anne Carrier. On Saturday Chief Justice McRuer issued an order freeing Mr. Bryan and requiring him to pay $50.

In the Commons, John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) asked on what authority the jail sentence was altered and whether the government passed an order-in-council granting clemency.

Mr. Garson said no such order was passed. The change in sentence involved the administration of justice, which came under provincial jurisdiction.

Davie Fulton (PC — Kamloops) asked if the minister's answer means the provinces have jurisdiction over granting clemency.

Mr. Garson said if there was any "defect" in the order by Chief Justice McRuer it concerned the administration of justice in Ontario.

In Toronto, Clifford R. Magone, Ontario's deputy attorney-general, said a sentence may be changed at the discretion of the judge.

"If the judge feels the contempt was purged after the time spent in jail, he is quite within his right in reducing sentence."

Parliamentarians Enjoy Festival

OTTAWA (CP) — Members of Parliament and their wives Tuesday night celebrated Mardi Gras, traditional pre-lenten festival, as guests of Speaker Rene Beaudoin and Mrs. Beaudoin.

The big Commons railway committee room was turned into a ballroom for two hours between the afternoon and evening sittings of Parliament.

About 600 persons, including members of Parliament, the diplomatic corps, parliamentary press gallery and their wives, attended the party in the improvised ballroom decorated with colored lights, japanese lanterns and balloons suspended from the ceiling.

Fell From Ship

THOROLD (CP)—A fall from a moored ship's side into the Welland canal Tuesday fatally injured Leo F. Wichman, 49, of Port Colborne, a ship's carpenter. Police said that while climbing a ladder up the side of the Chicago Tribune, a Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company vessel, he lost his balance, struck the wooden cribbing between the dock and the ship, and plunged into the canal.

Charged With Assault

TORONTO (CP)—George A. Wilson, Toronto hotel owner, harbor commissioner and former president of the Ontario Hotels Association, was charged Tuesday with assault causing bodily harm. The charge was laid by Mrs. Margrethe Knudsen. General hospital officials said Mrs. Knudsen was treated two weeks ago for bruises and facial lacerations.

Canadians In Japan Given Few Uninteresting Moments

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KURE, Japan (CP)—A Canadian soldier in a Kimono, sitting on the floor and sipping hot sake wine is just as common a sight in this British leave centre as that of a traditionally garbed Japanese girl jiving with a sailor from Halifax.

The Americans and Australians did most of the missionary work. The Canadians, arriving later, got into the act in a workmanlike acceptance of custom won the hearts of the girls and the respect of the authorities.

Col. John B. Allan of Saint John, N.B., commander of the Canadian base units supplying men and weapons to the 25th Brigade in Korea and looking after their leave, has letters from Japanese authorities complimenting the Canucks on their deportment and indicating that they are about the most popular troops in the Far East. He has records also which show a low rate of crime, venereal disease and other service problems.

BUSY SCHEDULES

It's chiefly because of the busy operational and recreational schedule which gives a man few idle and uninteresting moments on his way to the Korean defence line north of the Imjin or to the leave centres in Japan.

The colonel's command has also done everything possible to facilitate the work of the civil authorities in policing the areas including the gift of a couple of Canadian jeeps for the police department.

Canadians with good conduct get nine days leave about every four months, according to the exigencies of the service and availability of transport. They are given an orientation lecture in which they are asked to remember they are representatives of Canada in a foreign country and to observe customs and traditions of the land with understanding. They're also advised to get along with the troops of other nationalities.

If the Canadian gets in trouble, he is immediately returned to Korea and forefeits his next leave.

Under a new agreement, Japanese police can handle civil cases involving Allied troops. As a result of the Canadian policy, there hasn't been one case that's had to be handled by the Japanese.

To make sure the Canadian always has a spot to eat and sleep, he pays $2 at the start of his leave to cover his stay at the leave centre of his choice.

FIVE LEAVE CENTRES

Tokyo and Kure areas and each has something distinctive to offer the Canadian serviceman tourist. If the soldier has saved some money and wants a more or less conducted tour, he can have both an entertaining and educational time.

He can go it alone, using one of the leave centres as base of operations. If he has the patience, he can watch the tea ceremonial.

The soldier has learned to exchange his shoes for sandals at the door of his Japanese host. He has also learned that the warmest spot in the paper-walled dwelling is under the table where a charcoal fire burns beneath a polished grill.

The Canadian has found that some brands of Japanese beer are good copies of the Canadian brew and he passed up the available British and Australian products to support home industry. This also makes him friends.

The Canadian is impressed with the punctual Japanese railway [illegible] which in spite of the war and its aftermath, has amazingly good rolling stock and solid, if not varied, meals at reasonable prices.

REMINDED OF HOME

Between Kure and Osaka, he sees a picturesque countryside reminding him of the sharp, rolling hills of perhaps the Maritimes or the Gaspe with the odd oxen reminiscent of Lunenburg county. But the countryside is crowded with homes and ground under cultivation.

The inland sea has some beautiful scenes. The Iwakuni-Kure area is defaced by the popularly visited Hiroshima where the Canadian can buy a post-card from mutilated A-bomb victim.

In the same district is the sacred island of Miya Jima with its huge Tori gate against evil spirits. It was here that the famous Kamikaze pilots got the full treatment of feast and dancing girls before starting out on their fatal and destructive raids on the Allied fleets.

Even in winter the gentle climate allows production of good crops and in this area tangerines and almond blossoms can be seen behind the bamboo stockades of some farms—a welcome contrast to the icy winter on the Korean front line.

GOOD BARGAINS

Anywhere the soldier can shop at unusually low prices. He can buy silk brocade and velvet at $2.50 a yard for his wife's evening dress, handmade. Quality fishing rods for $6 and damascene jewelry and cloisonne pottery at prices half as much as demanded at home.

Col. Allan has recently made a deal with the American forces for use of a Kyoto hotel. Here for $3.50 a day the soldier gets luxury in place of the relatively hard life of Korea. A bell-hop meets him at the door, grabs his bags. He has a comfortable private room with spring bed, sheets and a bath.

The facilities include everything from game room to night club in which the soldier can dance with his kimono-clad Japanese girl friend known as "baby-san." The "baby" comes from "war-baby" and the "san" is a polite Japanese term.

Often an American United Service Organization show is available for entertainment in the cabaret. This centre has become so popular that the American manager recently had to eject 11 U.S. junior officers who got in wearing civilian clothes.

"Boy" says the dusty soldier just in from Korea, as he settles down in the deep upholstery of the roof garden, "fetch me a coke and hotdog—and, boy, you might make that double. Baby-san will have one too."

Has No Fight Against Eisenhower

McCarthy Hopes Reds Issue Will Be Dropped

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, sought today to step into the breach between President Eisenhower and Senator McCarthy by discounting the party's "family differences."

McCarthy himself, soon after he rejected Wednesday's presidential criticism in a crackling statement of his own, said in an interview: "I have no fight with Eisenhower at all. . . . I hope the issuing of statements back and forth will drop here."

Eisenhower, without naming McCarthy, in a long statement clearly aimed at him spoke out Wednesday against "disregard of fair play." The Wisconsin Republican senator fired back that the president and he "apparently disagree only on how we should handle those who protect Communists."

Hall, who had anticipated the president in publicly taking issue with McCarthy's investigative methods, said in a speech prepared for a New York luncheon today of the National Republican Club that "we are not a divided party."

"Our opposition, naturally, has made much of the party's 'family differences' during the past weeks. They would have you believe that we Republicans have split irrevocably over a problem involving personalities.

IN EARNEST ACCORD

"That's nonsense, of course. On many issues there are degrees of opinion, emphasis and approach. . . . In a vital matter like combatting the endless dangers of communism, both on the home front and at the council tables abroad, we are in earnest accord."

Despite Hall's prediction that the Republicans are going to display "team spirit," there isn't too much evidence of unity in party reaction to the exchange of statements by the president and McCarthy.

The Senate Republican policy committee gave no evidence, after a closed meeting Wednesday, of any material progress toward agreement on a code of ethics for conducting congressional hearings.

McCarthy, one of those present, made it clear that he intends to proceed as he has in the past despite anything Eisenhower or the president's friends might say about his methods.

"I'd hate to think the day would come when a president is expected to agree with every senator, and every senator to agree with the president on everything," McCarthy said.

No Smell—No Tax!

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Bill Bailey carried his pet skunk into the internal revenue office here Wednesday, seeking to claim the animal as a dependent. The bureau's cashier, Mrs. Carolyn Adubato, saw the skunk and got ready to head for anywhere else—until Bailey assured her his pet had been deodorized. Bailey's trip was to no avail, however. "He didn't get a whiff of sympathy from the bureau, which informed him that hobby expenses are non-deductible.

Major Storm Leaves Trail Of Chaos

TORONTO (CP) — A huge digging-out operation was under way throughout southern Ontario today as a four-day storm which took nine lives and crippled transportation blew itself out.

Only snowflurries were expected for most of the area where Wednesday 40-mile-an-hour winds whipped snow into eight-and 10-foot drifts, isolated communities, disrupted communications, and stranded hundreds of motorists.

Still of major concern was the situation in numerous small towns, villages and hamlets whose normal supplies of bread and milk have been chocked off for two and three days.

PLOWS BUSY AGAIN

The provincial highways department reported snow plows, many of which were inoperative during the storm because of heavy drifting and zero visibility, were back in operation.

Some plows were transferred by railway from unaffected areas to snow-beleaguered districts.

Highways 98 and 3 now were open throughout their length.

Telegraph and telephone men reported some progress in repairing lines torn down by the blizzard. Many rural lines are still down.

T. Joseph Hall of Ayr, near Kitchener, became the ninth storm victim when he suffered a heart attack Wednesday while pushing his automobile.

Three persons died Wednesday in traffic accidents when automo-

Drew Urges Canada Show Brotherhood To New Arrivals

"We must start right at the dock and right at the airport" to foster the ideals of brotherhood and make immigrants to Canada feel at home, the Hon. George A. Drew, leader of the Opposition told 250 guests at the charter-night banquet of the Peterborough chapter of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews at the Empress Wednesday night. "Determined and ruthless" Communists are planted at strategic debarkation points to lead lonely and confused immigrants astray, Mr. Drew warned. Since the Communists have "declared war on freedom" Canadians cannot afford to let this "poison" enter the country at such a vulnerable point as the debarkation centres.

Communism is not a mental exercise nor just a different doctrine, said Mr. Drew. It is, rather, "the ultimate reality." Canadians cannot afford to be deluded into the comfortable belief that it will fade away or that immigrants, because they are in a more prosperous land will, ipso facto, be immune to Communist propaganda.

It is natural for us to wonder what kind of citizens these immigrants, over two-thirds speaking neither English or French, will become. But the answer, Mr. Drew felt, is in the hands of Canadians already here. These "through genuine understanding and acceptance of the newcomers" must help then to adjust to new conditions in this country and help them surmount "the most difficult problem" — the language barrier.

OVERSOLD

The problem is compounded because "many immigrants have been oversold on Canada." They come expecting to find "a land of milk and honey with dollars growing on trees" and become confused as they try to start life anew in alien and often unfriendly surroundings.

No church, no service club, no organization, however praiseworthy its aims can hope to integrate the immigrants without the help of the citizenry as a whole said the speaker. All must help to explain the rights, privileges and responsibilities of citizen-

U.K. Building Large Force Atom Bombers

LONDON (AP) — Britain is building a powerful force of atom bombers to guarantee peace by impressing "any potential enemy with the suicidal folly of aggression," the government announced today.

Parliamentary Air Secretary George Ward told the Commons "we shall continue our policy of strength through quality and hitting power rather than sacrifice this in an attempt to achieve weight of numbers."

Ward asked Commons approval of a £491,640,000 ($1,376,592,000) bill to run the RAF for the year beginning next April 1. This is £6,360,000 ($17,808,000) less than last year and only slightly under the budget for the army.

Ward said the first of Britain's revolutionary four-engine jet bombers, the triangle-shaped Valient, will join the RAF this year. Two other long-range jet bombers, the Vulcan and Victor, will be close behind.

Ward said Britain's aim is to "do everything possible to prevent a war happening and to prepare to take the shock of it if it comes."

He said a whole fleet of supersonic jet fighters—the Swift—is being rushed to completion as the backbone of Britain's defence.

Ward added that another jet fighter, the Javelin, will soon join the R&F and help double the size of Britain's night fighter force.

Say Fire Bug Responsible Toronto Blaze

TORONTO (CP) — A fire authority said today a fire which broke out in a building where 20 men were sleeping Wednesday night was set deliberately.

Platoon chief Percy Taylor said the blaze in the downtown Jarvis street house in which the men had paid 75 cents each for a place to sleep "could not possibly have started without someone setting it."

Constable Wilfred Death was credited with saving the men, bringing his life-saving total for the month to 53 persons.

He saw smoke curling from the building, kicked down the front door and shouted to wake the men. Then he went upstairs and helped out an elderly man with a heart condition.

Taylor said a fire a month ago in a dwelling across the street where 25 children and eight adults were sleeping was also set deliberately. Both buildings are owned by the same company, he said.

Constable Death was also credited with turning in the alarm on the first blaze.

"Today's fire started in a partition behind a bathroom sink," Taylor said. "There was no wiring there and no heating equipment, nor anything that could start a fire by spontaneous combustion."

Toronto fire department began an investigation.

Niagara River Floods Roads

FORT ERIE (CP) — The Niagara river, lashed by strong winds, swept away a large section of a retaining wall Wednesday night and flooded a roadway near the Peace bridge across the river.

The road on the Mather Arch circle was still flooded and covered with debris today. Winds from the south were reported to have bottled the river's headwaters entering from Fort Erie, crashing the water against the wall.

Town officials termed the damage to the wall a major break.

Premier Arrives Indonesia

DJAKARTA, Indonesia (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived tonight from Ceylon after a day-long flight in the Royal Canadian Air Force C-5 transport from the last Commonwealth stop of his round-the-world tour.

The Canadian leader and his party were met at the airport by Prime Minister Ali Sastroamidjojo of this new southeast Asian state and a number of high Indonesian officials. The Canadian ambassador, G. R. Heasman, also was on hand.

Prime Minister Sastroamidjojo, formerly was Indonesian ambassador to Ottawa and Washington.

The Canadian leader left Ceylon after a gay final-night party at which Ceylonese dancing girls in dazzling Oriental costumes gave an open-air exhibit.

Ceylon's Premier Sir John Kotelawala gave the farewell reception Wednesday night at his private residence. During the party, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, the Canadian prime minister's daughter, fed bunches of ripes bananas to Kotelawala's four pet elephants.

The visit here will also contain a busy social schedule, but the prime minister is not expected to discuss any specific political or economic problem with Indonesian leaders.

McCarthyism Might Result If Information Disclosed

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has refused to make public its security screening of government workers on the grounds that the disclosure could lead to McCarthyism. Acting Prime Minister Howe Wednesday declined to answer two Commons questions about government steps to weed out security risks.

"It is not in the public interest to answer these questions," he said.

"We all abhor McCarthyism, but so far we have been able to do a security job here without resorting to the kind of situation that arises in other countries."

The questions, by Dave Fulton (PC—Kamloops), asked for the names of members of the government's security panel, for details of its operations and the number of civil servants dismissed or transferred as security risks.

Mr. Howe's reference to McCarthyism was an obvious reference to the United States controversy over methods of Senator Joseph McCarthy's committee in investigating communism among United States federal employees.

His statement followed by a few hours President Eisenhower's criticism of "disregard of the standards of fair play" in congressional investigations.

He suggested that the questions be withdrawn.

$150,000 Blaze Guts 2 Hotels

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two hotels across the street from Winnipeg's city hall were blitzed into charred rubble overnight by a $150,000 fire which chased 60 guests into below-zero weather but took no lives.

The only casualty was a rescue squad fireman who was overcome by smoke, although debris thundered to the street as flames collapsed the front walls of the adjoining Manitoba and Imperial hotels, both landmarks.

Also a total loss were a restaurant, barber shop, watchmaker's store and a fur company, all of which rented space in the Manitoba Hotel building.

Below-zero weather and a stubborn wind fanned the fire of unknown origin. One fireman, Edwood Gray, 40, was overcome by smoke. He was released from hospital shortly after admittance.

1,087 Men Laid Off By CNR Since Nov.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian National Railways has laid off 1,087 men since Nov. 1 in main shops.

Bogus Reception For Duke

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Melburne university students today poked fun at the royal tour in an irreverent reception for the Duke of Edinburgh—and he loved it.

It was all part of the good old British institution of "ragging," and the Australian students spent 30 minutes showing they are as good at it as home-grown Britons.

They mocked the red-carpet treatment, stuffy speeches and bouquet presentations offered to Queen Elizabeth and the duke since they left London on their six-month Commonwealth tour last November.

Outside the university union House, the students unrolled a moth-eaten carpet for the duke, presented him with a pair of crutches, an admission ticket and a huge silver key.

One student prepared to read a speech of welcome compressed into a summary "which will not read." He threw it into the air instead and, as the pages showered around him, the duke said with a grin: "That was a good speech."

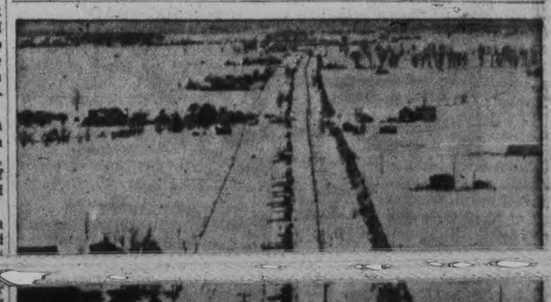
Nationalists Prepare To Attack China



TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Premier Chen Cheng said today that Nationalist China is starting active preparations for an attack on the Red-held mainland and "I believe the counter-attack . . . should not be far away."

In a report to the national assembly, Chen declared that all efforts are being directed toward a successful invasion of the mainland, but he did not indicate when such an attack might occur.

Canada Beats Finland 20-1

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto East Yorks took another giant step towards winning the world hockey title for Canada when they pulverized Finland 20-1 at the championship tournament today. It was the biggest scoring spree of the tournament so far.

Canada's fifth straight victory gave them 10 points and kept them in a first-place tie with Russia's undefeated Moscow Dynamos, idle today. But the Canadians' record of 52 for and only three goals against in the five days is far ahead of the field. Czechoslovakia, which lost to the Russians earlier, is next in scoring proficiency with 37 goals. The Russians, pre-tournament favorites, have 29.

A LONG LINE OF CARS and trucks are shown stalled on No. 2 highway just east of Chatham after the district was snowbound in the heaviest snowfall to hit southwestern Ontario in years. More than 1,000 cars and trucks were jammed on the snow-blocked highway, some of them in eight-foot drifts. Seven hundred telephones were out of order in the Chatham area when snow and tree limbs broke the wires. There was a danger of floods as rising temperatures melted the snow. The Thames river in southwestern Ontario was reported filled to its banks. —(CP Photo)

Toughs Armed With Knives Wreck U.K. Youth Centre

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

LONDON (Reuters) — Young toughs armed with stilettos have wrecked a £100,000 youth centre—Britain's best—built specially for them and other underprivileged 'teen-agers in the south London slum of Walworth.

The wanton destruction of Clubland came less than five months after it was officially reopened by comedian Bob Hope, who was born near Walworth. He contributed $37,800 in 1951 to restore the club, badly damaged by bombs during the war.

Kindly little Rev. Jimmy Butterworth, Methodist minister who is founder-director of Clubland, was near tears today as he looked despairingly at the ruins of his life's work.

"How could they have done it to me?" he asked. "I can hardly believe it."

In the last three weeks juvenile thugs have given vent to a grudge against the parson who tried to be their benefactor—what kind of grudge he doesn't know. They have broken into the youth centre almost nightly.

They have slashed and broken expensive furnishings — comfortable easy chairs and couches, tiled bathroom fixtures and showers. They have shattered hundreds of phonograph records in the theatre-dance hall and destroyed most of the 500 lockers in the boys' and girls' rest rooms.

When they could wreak no more havoc at the centre the hoodlums directed a personal attack at Butterworth. Sunday they tossed bottles through the windows of his chapel while he was preaching.

Fear of the mobsters and their knives has cut the centre's membership from 500 to 60, and it is still dropping.

A policeman now stands guard to protect the two-storey brick building and the remaining loyal club members.

"I hate to admit it," said Butterworth, puffing anxiously on his pipe, "but some of the gang are boys from the club. That doesn't say much for 30 years work among youth here."

1,200,000 Key Tags For Ontario Motorists

TORONTO (CP) — More than 1,200,000 key tags will be mailed to Ontario motor vehicle owners this month by the key tag service of the War Amputations of Canada.

Hubert S. Baxter, chairman of the service, said today the sale of tags last year provided $15,996 to the help of war amputation cases across Canada.

The tags are made in a Toronto plant employing 18 amputees.

The service asks 35 cents or more from motorists keeping the tags. Last year about 40 per cent of vehicle owners sent in money.

One lady contributes $25 each year.

St. Laurent's Daughter Busy Selling Canada Overseas

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP) — Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, youngest of Prime Minister St. Laurent's three daughters, is running her father a close second at spreading Canadian goodwill around the world.

The attractive, 38-year-old wife of a Montreal lawyer has been her father's close companion, family counsellor and sometimes his personal representative during the dozens of functions in seven countries visited so far on the Canadian leader's goodwill tour.

She has made friends for Canada wherever she has gone.

At Bonn, West Germany's capital, while the prime minister was occupied with state matters, Mrs. O'Donnell was guest of honor at a dinner given by Mrs. T. C. Davis, wife of Canada's ambassador there, for the wives of other diplomats and of members of the Canadian embassy staff.

At Gros Tenquin, France, she was the luncheon guest of Mrs. W. Weiser, wife of the group captain who commands the RCAF station near the German border.

Mrs. O'Donnell chatted with the large group of wives of RCAF officers, visited the trailer where Mrs. Weiser is raising three children, and talked about the problem of children's muddy feet.

The prime minister's daughter has two adopted children of her own.

Whether she mixes with Canadians abroad or the people with whom Canada wants friendly relations, Mrs. O'Donnell has been in the limelight.

Though world-touring on a tight air schedule means living out of suitcases, Mrs. O'Donnell has had to be turned out tastefully for half a dozen different daily occasions.

She mounted a camel without qualm in Karachi, Pakistan's capital, and got up on an elephant at Botale, a village 40 miles from the capital of Ceylon.

At New Delhi, it was life in a luxurious presidential palace.

Pope Continues To Improve

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope Wednesday night passed his eighth consecutive "fairly good" night and his slow progress toward recovery continues, Vatican sources said today.

The informants said the amount of solid food given the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic church is slowly being increased. This consists of small portions of fruit and rice. However, most of the Pope's diet still is semi-liquid.

Thirty-eight days have passed since the first announcement Jan. 25 of the pontiff's illness, tentatively diagnosed as gastritis.

Truck Collides With Car; 1 Dead, 3 Hurt

SMOOTH ROCK FALLS (CP)—A 34-year-old father of two children was killed and three others injured early today when their car collided with a tractor-trailer truck near this community 60 miles north of Timmins.

R. F. Leishman of Marathon, pinned in the wreckage for some time, died on a stretcher as he was being admitted to hospital here.

Taken to hospital were Steve Kozlovich, 25, of Kapuskasing with a fractured left leg, his wife, Shirley, with facial cuts and Gaston Habel, Kapuskasing, with a fractured hip.

Four other passengers in the car and two men in the tractor-trailer escaped injury.

Police said the blade of a bulldozer which the truck was carrying sheared off the roof and left side of the car. First aid was rendered by passengers of a passing bus.

The car was travelling toward Kapuskasing from Smooth Rock Falls. Most of the passengers had been attending a convention of the Ontario and Manitoba council of a pulp and paper mill union at Kapuskasing

38 Canadians To Study In U.K.

OTTAWA (CP)— Thirty-eight Canadian engineers and engineering students have been chosen to study in the United Kingdom under the 1954 Athlone Fellowship awards.

The fellowships, named for the Earl of Athlone, Canadian governor-general from 1940-46, provide two years of study in British universities or industries. Their purpose is to spread knowledge of British engineering among Canadians.

The U.K. bears the expense of travel, fees and living. Twenty-eight go to final year students and 10 to graduate engineers. The 10 winners include:

Students—Toronto University: D. S. Shaw, Walkerton; Queens: I. J. MacDonald, Kitchener.

Graduates—L. R. Turner and J. S. Ellis, Kingston; H. C. Pettigrew, Otterville, Ont.

Douro Asks One Spray Against Warble Fly

Douro township is enquiring from W. P. Watson, Ontario livestock commissioner of Ontario, whether its warble fly control work this season may be confined to one application of the spray material.

Council has re-appointed Russell Little inspector for the enforcement of the warble fly control act. This action against the cattle pest is pretty well established in the township, and the council has a notion that the one spray might be sufficient. They are referring their question to Mr. Watson.

Salary of the road superintendent was increased Monday from 95 cents an hour to one dollar, to compensate him for car mileage. This increase takes effect immediately, subject to departmental approval.

Accounts passed were: General township payments $293.55; relief $88; road account $390.71.

Premier Frost Attends Harvey Funeral

NORTH BAY (CP) — Premier Frost, members of his cabinet and heads of northern Ontario municipalities were among mourners who overflowed Trinity United church here today in tribute to W. B. Harvey, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Nipissing, who died Monday.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. James Semple.

Honorary pallbearers included Premier Frost, Highways Minister Doucett, Public Works Minister Griesinger, Travel and Publicity Minister Cecile, Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell and Mines Minister Kelly.

Member for Nipissing since 1948, Mr. Harvey at his death was also vice-chairman of the Ontario Northland transportation commission and industrial commissioner for northern Ontario.

Mothers Brave Snowstorm

CHATHAM (CP)—Three Chatham district mothers braved a snow storm and blocked roads to get to hospital here where each gave birth to sons. All are doing well.

For Mrs. Gerald Rothery, 22-year-old brunette who gave birth to a seven-pound three-ounce boy, it was a double event. It was also her wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Rensje Doma, 44, who gave birth to her seventh child, was forced to turn back on her first attempt to reach hospital but an ambulance finally got through drifts from Kent Bridge, 13 miles northeast of here.

Neighbors with tractors breaking trail through fields and ditches helped bring Mrs. Robert Evans to hospital from McKay's Corners, 15 miles from Chatham. An Ontario provincial police cruiser brought her the last 10 miles.

Mr. Evans didn't go home after his wife was safely delivered of her baby, a third son. He couldn't get back through the snow drifts.

biles skidded off slippery roads. Four other persons died of heart attacks shovelling snow and one woman was struck by a train during the storm.

Ice-sheeted streets in Toronto Wednesday night and today contributed to one of the worst traffic tangles in the city's history. Cars moved at five miles an hour.

ROADS HAZARDOUS

The highways department described driving conditions today as still "hazardous if not impossible" around Chatham and London.

Both sides of Highway 2 throughout the embattled Chatham area were reported lined with trucks and cars.

Tilbury, 25 miles southwest of Chatham, was bursting at the seams with one of the worst traffic jams in memory. Transport trucks and automobiles, their drivers and passengers, were holed up in every nook and cranny about the town.

Stragglers from stranded vehicles drifted into the town all day long and into the night seeking accommodation.

An emergency amateur radio network was set up Wednesday to provide contact with storm-bound towns.

At Kincardine on Lake Huron, no grocery or meat trucks had been able to reach the town of 2,700 in two days. However a Canadian National Railways train arrived there at 11:25 o'clock Wednesday night.

Other isolated villages depending on amateur radio communication were Seaforth, Exeter, Clinton, Wiarton, Elora and Forest.

SCHOOLS EMPTY

It was impossible to estimate the number of school children unable to get to classes because of the storm.

The storm was described by Chatham residents as the worst to hit the area since 1918. A two-mile line of stranded cars and trucks was reported outside of Merlin, 12 miles southwest of Chatham.

In Sarnia, separate, public and secondary schools were closed Wednesday. Public and high schools may open today but separate school pupils have been told to stay home until Friday.

COMMUNICATIONS SNARLED

Snow, ice and winds of 40-miles-an-hour tore down telephone and telegraph wires, leaving some communities without communications except for emergency calls and messages. An emergency amateur radio network was set up to provide communications for some towns and villages, including Kincardine, Seaforth, Exeter, Clinton, Wiarton, Elora and Forest.

In the Stratford district hydro and telephone linemen used snowshoes to reach breaks since trucks were unable to get through snow-blocked country roads.

The highways department said all highways leading from London to Windsor, 125 miles southwest, and Sarnia, 60 miles west of London, were blocked Wednesday night. Roadblocks were set up in London to stop traffic headed towards Chatham on No. 3 highway and at Windsor to halt eastbound traffic into Chatham.

Drew Urges

ship, so that new Canadians can become good citizens "not only for their sakes but the nation's as well."

"When I hear someone at my door at six o'clock in the morning, I know it's only the milkman." This impression of Canada from a recent immigrant struck Mr. Drew as being the essence of Canadian democracy. He pointed out, however, that the incentive to be free decreases in direct proportion to the confusion and loneliness of the immigrant.

Those who are lonely, said Mr. Drew, are easy prey for "carefully planted" Communists who offer them a chance to be a cog in an upheaval of society. Some new Canadians see in these spurious offers a chance to get back at the indifferent democratic, and the free society is thus weakened.

PEACE NOT ENOUGH

The major aim of the free world should not be peace, said Mr. Drew for "you can find peace in the grave or as a slave." A peace without freedom is no peace at all, he said, and those who seek peace at any price will ultimately slit their own throats.

The press is not doing all it could to keep immigrants from being lured into the red camp, said the speaker. He called on all papers to champion the cause of the immigrant more, all advertisers to consider displaying their wares in foreign language newspapers and the public to give active support to these newspapers.

There are 105 foreign newspapers printed in Canada in 22 tongues. The weaker ones are those with an anti-Communist tone because, according to Mr. Drew, the Communist papers have unlimited "undeclared resources" and are able to distribute all across the country in the most strategic areas.

We should then put democratic foreign-language papers in the hands of the immigrants and then so assimilate them that they can appreciate the value of the democratic English and French papers.

The best way to effect this integration is "to urge all immigrants to take part in as many community activities as they can handle." It should be "fully explained" to the new Canadians how they can add to their community and enrich their own lives.

At this point, Mr. Drew called for more public support for adult language classes. These, he said are absolutely essential weapons in the war against Communism because they lead the new Canadians to a greater degree of in-group solidarity.

IDEOLOGICAL WAR

The major war of the 20th century is not being fought in smoke-choked beach-heads but in the minds of men and women everywhere. Anyone who doubts that the ideological battle is endless, said Mr. Drew, should visit Berlin. Berlin is zoned into eastern and western sections and on the faces of "every one of the East Berliners you can see despair, hunger and fear." Those who vacillate in the abhorrence of communism, said Mr. Drew would "soon stop wavering" if they could visit Berlin as Mr. Drew did last year.

On the home front we must educate the new Canadians to the facts of economic life. Recessions and depressions "invariably hit hardest" at those who have been here the shortest time.

If immigrants are educated to the possibility that there may not always be pie in the sky, they will be less likely to fall prey to "the ruthless servants of the Kremlin." This brought Mr. Drew back to his point that the world is fighting an ideological war, a war "we can't afford to lose."

Referring to brotherhood generally, Mr. Drew said that "there just isn't any room for jealousy among peoples." All citizens should take it upon themselves to make sure that whatever racial, religious or political affiliations a man may have, he should not "especially in this land of opportunity" be allowed to become jealous of his neighbor. Jealousy, said Mr. Drew, is the seed-bed for suspicion and distrust.

FOSTERED BROTHERHOOD

Mr. Drew closed his remarks by suggesting that one helpful byproduct of this "age of tension" is the spirit of brotherhood of necessity engendered in the democratic half of the human race. He said that "the reality of the threats to our freedom" presents Seaman, he adjured all "who have faith to look with fearless eyes" to look forward to "freedom's crowning hours."

In a frivolous mood before swinging into the serious espect of his talk, Mr. Drew waxed eloquent on the career of one James Gay of Guelph, "undoubtedly the worst poet ever to wiggle his stuff into print." Mr. Gay battled his Muse in the 19th century one of his gems beginning "Mary Queen of Scots, Yes, you are no forgot."

Mr. Gay described himself shyly as "the poet laureate of Canada and the master of all poets." This, avowed Mr. Drew, was an example of "the becoming modesty of all natives of Guelph." (Mr. Drew is himself a Guelphite.)

When Longfellow died, poet Gay penned a "Dear Alfred" letter to Lord Tennyson, saying that "now there are only two of us left and there is surely no room for jealousy between us." (This letter was printed in the volumes of Tennyson's correspondence.)

From this chunk of poetic nostalgia, Mr. Drew skipped across a few decades and deftly set a more somber mood, suggesting that there is even less room for jealousy in the Canada of 1954, mentioned in a few paragraphs back.

The only woman at the head table, Mrs. Harry Cherney thanked Mr. Drew on behalf of the Peterborough chapter of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. She said that he had "broadened the vision of us all." Men of Mr. Drew's "clear perception" are vitally needed if the "vague hopes inherent in the very word "brotherhood" are to be transcended into domestic amity and world peace." She also expressed the hope that Peterborough could come up with a poet laureate to match Guelph's James Gay.

Gordon K. Fraser, MP, introduced Mr. Drew. He also called on all citizens to "get behind and shove, for there is much work to be done to realize the ideals of brotherhood." He felt it was a great privilege to introduce the speaker (though he said he was 'lucky' to get through a blizzard from Ottawa). He said however that a logical choice might have been Hon. Harold Scott, one time minister in Mr. Drew's Ontario cabinet.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

BLASTY RECEPTION

The shivering arrival of Jim Ellis from Florida Wednesday was like a vertical leap from summer into midwinter. Several others also might be mentioned as getting back to help in packing winter off along its way.

SPORT NEW CLOTHES

Just in case you hadn't noticed, the employees of the Liquor Control Board store on Water St. are sporting new jackets and shirts. Recently they were issued with the new apparel, blue sports jackets and light grey sport shirts. Each jacket has a small blue Ontario shield with LCBO lettered diagonally across the shield.

The show will last from 3 to 4:30.

FAVORED SMALLER GRANT

Ald. John Dewart has told The Examiner that he did not vote in favor of the $1,000 grant to the Peterborough Nursing Registry in the meeting of the committee of the whole city council Monday night, although he did vote in favor of an amendment which would have meant a $500 grant. Those who supported the $1,000 grant were Aldermen Art Burrows, Stan McBride and Gordon Powell.

OVER THE TOP?

In spite of the fact that Penny-a-Day is running ahead of last year by $43.14, up until Wednesday night, 12 schools are running behind last year. Friday, the last day, was the big day last year—$180.12. This year's biggest day so far was the first day, with $119.5d, so the pupils are being urged not to forget their pennies tomorrow, the last day. If every child in every school room in every school takes his or her penny, they are sure to beat last year. Good luck!

AT JEBSON FUNERAL

Among those who attended the funeral of Joseph A. Jebson in Toronto Wednesday afternoon was a group of friends from Peterborough, among them: James Wharry, Dr. Robert F. Nott, Dr. E. Clifford McKee, Ian McRae, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Castle and Curley Krug. Several others, including Frank Buckland, were turned back below Bewdley by weather conditions. The late Mr. Jebson was employed for some time at Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. before his illness forced his retirement.

VON FACES OFF

Miss Harriet McGeary, of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Wednesday night faced off the puck at the hockey game between Peterborough and Orillia. It's expected that a representative of the Red Cross will perform tonight, with other Community Chest agencies represented during the rest of the playoffs. Arranged by the publicity section of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, these stunts are designed to call attention to the fund's need for $100,000 on behalf of the ten agencies taking part in the drive.

Ban Liquor Advertising

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Television advertisements which show people drinking alcoholic beverages would be forbidden under a bill introduced in the Michigan legislature this week.

The measure would revoke the liquor licence of any liquor, beer or wine manufacturer or retailer who permitted TV ads showing drinking.

The bill nearly died in the House liquor committee, but was reported out favorably Wednesday after legislators received scores of letters and telegrams urging such action.

There was no indication when the House would vote on the measure.

Mr. Fulton, however, asked Mr. Howe to reconsider his stand. The questions had been framed so that the answers would not indicate any employee involved or reveal any security information that should not be disclosed.

Mr. Howe said that is a matter of opinion. If only one man had been fired, the answer would make his identity obvious. There was "no good purpose to be served" in answering the questions.

CCF leader Coldwell said it was not democratic to have a board "suggesting certain sentences without anyone knowing about them." Mr. Howe said the board does not order dismissals.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin eventually ordered the questions to be dropped under House rules.

Czechs Arrest 23 Jews

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Radio Free Europe said today 23 Jews have been arrested by Czech Communist authorities in Pilsen, and the Jewish community fears a new Red anti-semitic drive.

The 23 were seized in February for "forbidden contact" with Jewish organizations abroad, RFE said. Most Jews in Czechoslovakia have relatives abroad and many correspond and receive gift parcels from them.

Canadian Troops Leave For Korea

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seven hundred Korea-bound soldiers, vanguard of 8,000, rolled through Vancouver today to begin the fourth complete rotation of Canada's Far East force.

They arrived from eastern Canada aboard three special trains which paused here for seven hours, then headed for Seattle where the members of the Queen's Own Rifles were to embark.

Germans Paving Way For Rearmament

BONN (AP)—A French protest notwithstanding, the Bonn government plans to push through projected constitutional changes to German rearmament.

An American spokesman said the amendments, necessary for German membership in the projected European army, cannot become effective until the army treaty has been fully ratified by all the member countries, including France.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 3 7-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 96 3-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.71⅞, against $2.71⅞.

Scots Wha' Hae

Cheers from all Scots to Scotsman John deNavarre Kennedy. Proposing the toast to the Queen, Judge Kennedy suggested that the audience at the charter banquet of the Peterborough chapter of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews drink to "Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II of England and I of Scotland." There was a gasp from the audience, then several happy smiles.

Toronto Trading Groups Lower

TORONTO (CP) — All groups were lower in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Utilities, constructions, textiles, refining oils, manufactures, liquors and steels were lower. Papers were steady and financial institutions showed the only gain.

Western oils showed the greatest range as gains went to Merrill's 40 cents and losses to Jasper's $1.50.

Golds were lower with seniors mixed, juniors down and holding companies slipping a little.

Base metals were lower in seniors and juniors. Manitouwadge-area base metals were steady.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals slipped.

Security Measures Being Taken England

LONDON (Reuters)—Police here have taken special security precautions to guard Buckingham Palace, the houses of Parliament and Prime Minister Churchill's residence at 10 Downing street from any imitation here of the shooting in Washington Monday of five American congressmen.

The tightening of security has been ordered over an area bounded by Trafalgar square, Victoria station and Hyde Park corner in central London, it was learned today. This area includes the foreign office and other main government offices.

A considerably stricter watch than usual will be kept on persons approaching Parliament. Scotland Yard officials said police experience has showed that an unusual crime often attracts imitators.

Fog Disappears

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The fog disappeared over most of Newfoundland Wednesday night and only traces of it remain around Gander airport today. The thin haze is not expected to interrupt flying operations there.

The fog, which lifted just a day before it would have broken the 1945, 10-day record, has paralyzed all air traffic to and from this city since a week ago Monday.

British Papers Scorn Eisenhower

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower's statement in Washington Wednesday on Senator McCarthy drew a chorus of "weak," "disappointing" and "scarcely a slap on the wrist" from British newspapers today.

"Eisenhower spoke today — at last—about McCarthyism; he left the senator rejoicing," said the London News Chronicle's story on Wednesday's United States presidential press conference.

"The president's sword was blunted and dangling tonight; the senator's was flourished higher than ever," the Liberal paper added.

The Daily Herald, Labor, headlined its story "bully Mac scorns like rebuke" and declared: "The issue now becomes even more clearly 'who is president—Eisenhower or McCarthy?' "

Lord Beaverbrook's Empire-minded Daily Express described the president's statement as a "weak reproof—scarcey a slap on the wrist for Wisconsin's Red-hunting senator."

BIG DISAPPOINTMENT

The Times described Eisenhower's words as a big disappointment for "those who had hoped that at the 11th hour the administration would realize the time had come when Senator McCarthy must be stopped—and stopped by the only man left with enough prestige to be able to fight him successfully."

The Independent paper added in an editorial:

"And meanwhile the corroding effects of politics by smear and purge run through large sections of American life—an offence to liberal-minded men who hate Communists everywhere."

The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, was almost alone in taking some comfort from Eisenhower's remarks.

"His statement was not the ringing denunciation of the senator for which some had been hoping," said the Telegraph, "but it was probably more effective because of its philosophical approach."

Revolver Shot Stops Thieves

TORONTO (CP) — A shot from a provincial constable's revolver sent a stolen car crashing into a hydro pole guide wire Wednesday night ending a wild chase ove ice-covered streets.

The shot, fired by P. C. Russ Taylor of the East York detachment punctured the rear tire of the car.

Ferne Draper, 16, Ronald Lyttle, 18, and Keith Ward, 19, of Toronto were arrested in connection with the theft of the car from a downtown used car lot.

The youths escaped injury and the car was not badly damaged, police said.

Mr. And Mrs. Wm. Arnold Honored On 50th Wedding

GORE'S LANDING (ENS) — Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold of this village were "at home" to many friends and relatives, who called to wish them many years of happy wedded life. During the afternoon and evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were assisted by sisters and brothers at the reception.

The tea-room was decorated in gold and white streamers. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centred with a two-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Miss Jessie Sherwin, sister of Mrs. Arnold. Tea was poured by Misses Emma and Jessie Sherwin. Mrs. Hugh Sherwin and Mrs. Eldridge Sherwin, all of the Fenella district, served the many guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were the recipients of several lovely gifts, which included a mantel clock and mirror, from sisters and brothers; a china tea set, satin cushion and a large floor lamp was presented to them on Monday evening, when about 12 members of the United Church called. On behalf of the United Church congregation, J. D. Medcoff read an address, and the lamp was presented by J. D. Fowlie. Over 100 cards have been received from Toronto, Cobourg, Roseneath, Camborne, Coldsprings and Fenella.

On March 2, 1904, in the Roseneath parsonage, Mrs. Arnold, the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sherwin, and William Arnold, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arnold, were married by the Rev. Wm. J. Sanders, pastor of the Roseneath charge. The attendants were Miss Kate McCullough, as bridesmaid, now Mrs. E. J. Murphy of Edmonton, Alta., and George Varcoe was groomsman. He now lives in Regina, Sask. Following their marriage, they farmed for 23 years north of Roseneath. In the year 1926 they moved into the village of Roseneath, where they resided for 3 years. During this time, Mr. Arnold was agent for the Massey-Harris company, and he was also a member of the Alnwick township council.

In 1929, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold moved to Precious Corners to the farm of the late Daniel Ferguson, where they farmed for the next 20 years. In 1949 they retired from farming and moved to the village of Gore's Landing, where they purchased the home of Bert Cheyne. Mr. Arnold was born in 1876 on the farm now owned by Vern Harris, which is about one mile and a half from this village, and his family moved to Alnwick township when he was five years old. Mrs. Chas. Blodgett of Alnwick township is Mr. Arnold's only surviving sister. She was unable to attend the festivities, owing to her health and the fact the roads have been blocked by snow.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Arnold have been active members of the Methodist and then the United Church all their lives. Mrs. Arnold has been interested in the women's organizations of the churches at Roseneath and Camborne and now at Gore's Landing. Mr. Arnold has served on practically every board of the church, including a commissioner to the general council of the United Church of Canada in 1928 when it met in Winnipeg. While living at Precious Corners, Mr. Arnold was a member of No. 1 school area board for four years, the first school area formed in Hamilton township.

On Tuesday noon, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold held a turkey dinner for 12. Those present included Mrs. A. Y. Robertson, whose late husband was pastor of this charge in 1953; Mr. and Mrs. H. Lander, Coldsprings; Elias Sherwin, Warkworth district; Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Sherwin, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sherwin, Misses Emma and Jessie Sherwin and Archie Sherwin, Mrs. George Sherwin, all of the Fenella district. Mr. Lander proposed the toast to the bride and groom of 50 years ago. Both Mr and Mrs. Arnold made suitable replies.

Messages were also received from Dr. F. G. Robertson, MP, and Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, MPP, minister of welfare.

Seymour Asked For $100,000

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Seymour Township council met in the council chambers this week.

A delegation comprising W. F. Scott, R. D. McDonald and F. S. Linton asked council to raise a debenture of $10,000 to assist in completing the payment for the Campbellford Memorial hospital. A total of about $43,000 is still owing on the building. Council said they would consider the matter.

Council agreed to inspect the lack of drainage between concessions 13 and 14, after Dan Petherick drew the matter to their attention.

A grant of $300 to the Seymour Agricultural society was made, after Fred Bennett addressed council, asking for the regular grant.

No action was taken regarding a request from Dr. David Burgess, requesting that he be allowed to purchase a portion of land at the rear of his premises on Bridge street in the town of Campbellford, which is owned by the township.

After passing the pay sheet, council adjourned until the first week of April.

Cobourg School Built 1953 Already Filled

COBOURG (ENS) — The new east-end public school, a $288,999 structure, which was opened last year, is already filled to capacity and the school board last night authorized the secretary of the board to write the architects and ask how soon working plans for a four-room addition could be supplied.

When the ten-room east-end school was built, it was so designed that extra class-rooms could be added with a minimum of structural changes. It is believed that the heating plant can handle four additional rooms. Cost of four new rooms is not known as the $288,000 figure for the ten-room east-end school includes cost of the land and certain expenditures which will not have to be duplicated in the addition of four rooms.

At the conclusion of the summer term, approximately 80 pupils will be graduated from the public school to the collegiate. About 150 kindergarten pupils will pass into the grades and a new influx of youngsters will register for kindergarten. However, the problem is not the new pupils entering kindergarten, but the absorption into grades of those passing out of kindergarten. This figure in itself poses a problem of finding adequate accommodation, it is pointed out by the principal, Mr. Grant Sine, but in addition around 115 children are scheduled to come here this summer when the ordnance depot personnel moves into town.

Even the construction of a four-room addition to the east-end school will only meet the current problem of congestion. It will not handle future school expansion.

Traffic Engineer To Help Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)— A plan to provide 'fore' parking accommodation in business section of the town is being prepared by a traffic engineer at the request of Councillor Jeff Rolph, chairman of the police committee. The survey will be presented at the council meeting next Monday and will also be discussed with the chamber of commerce.

The plan calls for long term parking meters in the market square, where 66 cars can be parked; another parking area with long-term meters in the Albert and First street corner with room for 57 cars; widening of Second street by taking some of the boulevard off and providing angle parking on the west side of it for about a dozen cars from King street to the south end of the town hall.

Magnet Used To Find Gun Lost In Lake

GORE'S LANDING (ENS). — Using a powerful magnet, a valuable rifle was recovered from Rice lake on the weekend. The rifle, the property of William Westhauser of Toronto, was lost during the New Year holiday when Mr. Westhauser and his granddaughter broke through the ice near Sheep island.

Returning with his son Dick for the weekend at the cottage the two searched the open water where the rifle was thought to have been lost. They located it and tried to raise it with magnet and makeshift wire contraptions. On a second attempt, hooking on to it, they raised the rifle near enough the surface they could reach out of the boat and get it. The gun was not damaged by its bath in the lake.

Communism Subject Of Address To K Of C

COBOURG (ENS)—A Knights of Columbus dinner was held Wednesday night in the Baltimore hotel. The Rev. V. McGivney, parish priest at Pickering, discussed communism. The speaker told of receiving from new Canadians the story of how communism spread its influence in Europe and its efforts to indoctrinate people who were leaving to start a life in Canada. Father McGivney also told of the efforts of Communists to influence labor unions.

He was introduced by James Tracey of Cobourg, grand knight, and was thanked by Emmett Creighton of Port Hope. About 150 were present, coming from Cobourg, Port Hope, Grafton, Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa and Colborne.

Syndicate Prepared To Finance $140,000,000 Toronto Project

TORONTO (CP) — An international syndicate headed by Sir Robert MacAlpine of England is prepared to finance a $140,000,000 redevelopment project in the heart of Toronto.

It was reported that the project will cover 65 acres and plans call for the construction of eight 16-storey apartment blocks providing 6,500 apartments.

The area affected is bounded by Bloor street on the north, Carlton street on the south, Yonge street on the west and Jarvis on the east.

Sir Robert, who heads an international firm of contractors which recently opened a Canadian division, will arrive in Toronto in 10 days to put the scheme before city council. The project will not cost the city anything but it would be required to expropriate the site. The syndicate would then buy it from the city at cost.

The project is largely the brainchild of Edwin Kay of Toronto, internationally known landscape architect.

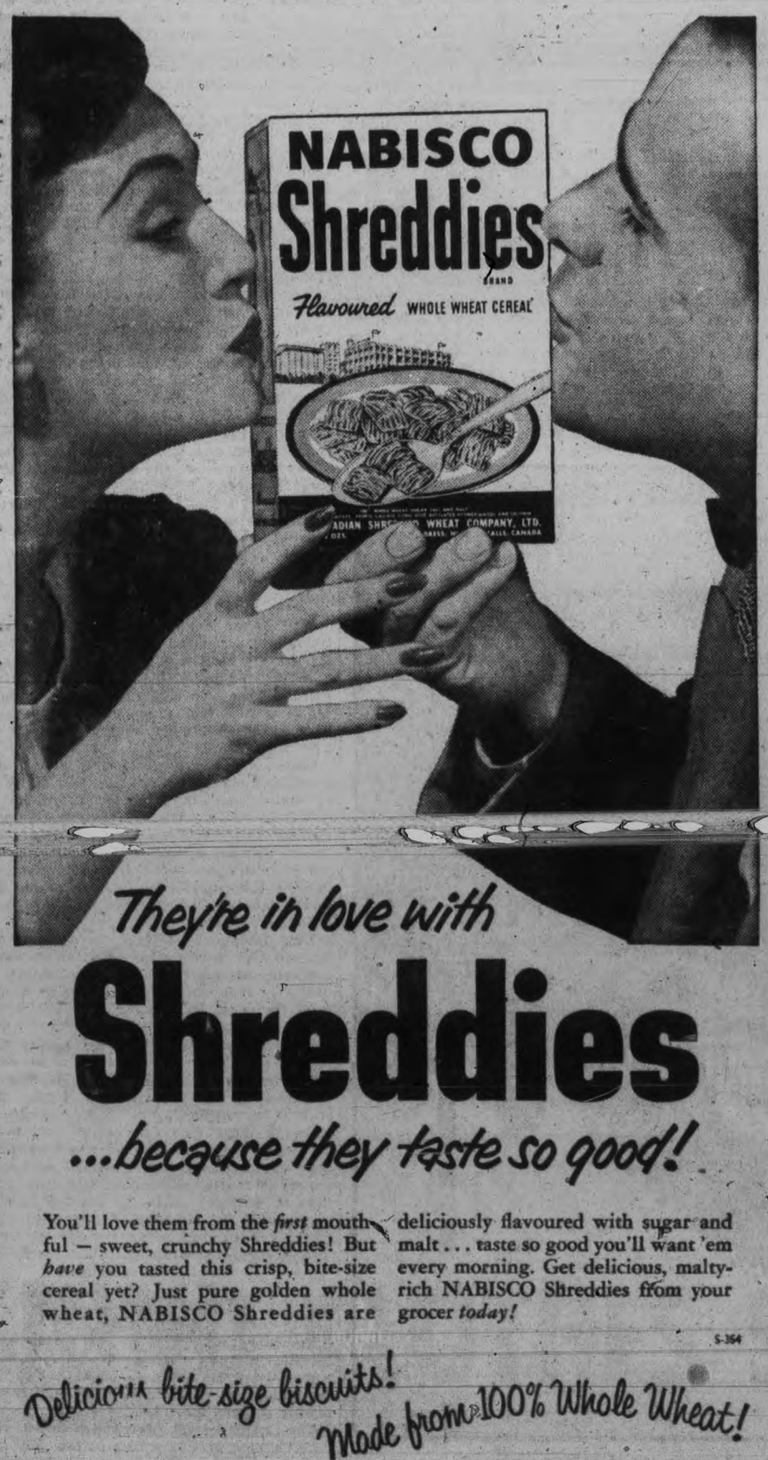
It was reported that in addition to the British money behind the project the syndicate has the backing of Felix Warburg of New York and Swiss capital.

SECOND DEVELOPMENT

It is the second development project financed with private capital planned within the area this year.

In January a Swiss group disclosed plans to build an $8,000,000 apartment development between Wood and Alexander streets. Simultaneously, a local group announced plans to build a $3,500,000 hotel on the Yonge street frontage of this project.

The entire site would be landscaped so as to integrate the buildings allowed to stand such as Maple Leaf Gardens and the CBC radio and television studios.



It is understood the whole scheme has been undertaken as a model project for other cities, and details of the planning and organizing are to be released as a study in the March issue of the Royal Architectural Journal, official publication of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

Co-Operation Needed At City Hall

The Finance Committee of the City Council—that is, the whole Council—is hard at work trying to arrive at estimates of the money the city will require to foot this year's bills. The time is getting late. Nearly a quarter of the year has already gone by. Tax notices should be in preparation. The Council is severely hampered this year by an unusual circumstance. What the Council can afford to allot, and the tax rate it must strike, depend greatly on the total assessment. The assessment rolls have not yet been returned to the Council by the Court of Revision. It is on these, legally, that the Council strikes its tax rate, and bases its tax notices to property owners.

The Court of Revision is late this year in making its returns because it has not yet finished its hearings—not even the appeals by owners of residential properties. The major industrial appeals have not been heard at all, and cannot be concluded before March 24th. The Court of Revision must not be blamed for this slowness entirely. Since the first of the year it has been in session, generally three evenings a week. It is the most prolonged and busy session a Court of Revision has ever had in Peterborough. The reason? The reassessment which took place throughout the city last year. Most assessments were raised. Appeals from them have been entered by the hundreds. But in view of the job facing it, could not the Court have sat more frequently, and held more daytime sessions? The hearings have been spun out an unconscionably long time.

* * *

The three-man Court of Revision hearings continue week after week. Yet the Council must determine the budget and the tax rate. The City Treasurer must prepare his figures. The City Clerk must send out not only the revised assessment notices but the tax bills. None of these men know what the total assessment will be, and it seems that some of them have not even had preliminary reports from the Court on the revisions that have been made to date. It is a time for closest co-operation rather than for niggling insistence on priorities, protocol and position, so that the darkness may be lightened and guessing reduced to a minimum. After all, it is not far from one office to another in the City Hall; even the Court of Revision sits there.

What Is This New City Called Metro?

To distinguish between the municipality of metropolitan Toronto, a creation of last year, and the corporation of the city of Toronto, which still exists, a new city name has come into use: Metro. There is Metro Mayor Fred Gardiner. There is Metro Clerk W. W. Gardhouse, there is Metro Works Commissioner, etc., etc.

Dreadful as Toronto appear to some people (non-Torontonians), even outsiders could not wish a more lamentable name for the place, whose core is the city of Toronto, than "Metro". Why Torontonians themselves should accept it is beyond our worst imaginings of their character. Metro is the name of nothing at all, except a littered and rather shabby underground railway system on a pretentious and not wholly ignoble Canada metropolis.

What can this metropolitan Toronto be called? Greater Toronto? That is an appelation Torontonians have been fond of giving the place years before the agglomeration of city and townships became a municipality. Why not follow the London example, and call the metropolitan organization "Toronto"? When one refers to London, one means all the boroughs which go to make up the great town administered by the London County Council since 1889: Westminster, the City of London, Southwark, Stepney and so on. When one wants to refer to the unit or area which is the corporation of the City of London, one calls it "The City" or the City of London. So it is too, with Paris. Therefore, let "Toronto" mean the municipality of metropolitan Toronto, and the "City of Toronto" be the place administered by Mayor Lamport. Have done, you columnists and wisecrackers, with the shoddy term "Metro". Not even the City of Toronto deserves the term, and certainly not Toronto.

N.Y. Republicans And Canadian TV Fans

Republican leaders of New York State have announced that the election campaign in that state this year will be the shortest since 1938, if a bill now being drafted is enacted. This bill fixes the date of the Autumn primary as Sept. 14, and the state convention dates as Sept. 21, 22 or 23. The campaign would thus be limited to six weeks—with the election Nov. 2—as compared with nine weeks in 1950, ten weeks in 1946, and fourteen weeks in 1942. The Republicans want the campaign shortened partly to save expenses, and partly to cut down Democratic opportunities to promote their candidate for Governor.

Since the Republicans plan to use television extensively, and that medium is much more costly than radio, the curtailed campaign is necessary to keep expenses down. This will be welcomed by the television audience throughout Eastern Ontario generally, for most of its entertainment comes from stations in New York State. Many among this audience are no doubt interested in U.S. politics to some extent, but we doubt if their interest would survive an intensive television campaign. And there were reports that even U.S. audiences became bored with politics by television during the last Presidential campaign.

Cutting down Democratic opportunities is a logical move. The Republican Party in New York State must always guard against the Democratic threat in New York City, which has sometimes decided the issue. Republican leaders well remember the Roosevelt regime, and there is a possibility that another Franklin Roosevelt may be the Democratic nominee. With that possible advantage to start with, Republicans feel that Democrats should be limited as much as possible in other ways.

Television audiences elsewhere in Canada are also largely dependent on U.S. programmes for entertainment. All such audiences will find U.S. politics interfering with that entertainment for varying periods, depending on state decision, this coming Autumn.

Peterborough Culture

Peterboroughs pop up all over the place. We know that there is a Peterborough (England), a Peterborough (New Hampshire), and everybody knows that there is a Peterborough (Ont.). There is a rumour that there is a Peterborough in South Australia. There is also an Earldom of Peterborough and a Soke of Peterborough (not the same thing). Recently our news pages carried an American story about twin colts with a single torso, and the date-line was Peterborough, Indiana. Never heard of the place, but we are glad to know that the cold which spread from one head of the colt to the other is disappearing and that the two-headed, three-month old colt is in good condition, even if one head remains "definitely paler" than the other.

Our research into Peterboroughs reveals a surprise: that there exists a "Peterborough culture", known specifically by that name to students. Peterborough (Ont.), need not preen itself on this. The "Peterborough culture" refers to pre-historic Peterborough, England, and nothing remains of it but fragments of decorated pottery and tools. The Peterborough culture flowered in the Neolithic Age, archaeologically speaking, which began around 2,500 B.C. and lasted to be overlapped by the Bronze Age. The Peterborough culture, was, it seems, of native and English East Coast origin, and it preserved much of the Mesolithic hunter-fisher tradition. (The Mesolithic Age preceded the Neolithic Age.) The prehistoric dwellers in the Peterborough lowlands were able to produce tools superior to anything known before them, and established a widespread trade in stone axes, in that age without metals. Alley Oop probably imported his axe from Peterborough.

Any connection between the old Peterborough culture and the new one which flourishes on the banks of the Otonabee River, Peterborough County, is fortuitous, as indeed is the [illegible] the other Peterboroughs. The Canadian Peterborough was named for the Hon. Peter Robinson, who in 1825 brought the Irish immigrants to this area and thus made a settlement where only Scott's Plains had existed in a clearing by the river banks.

U.S. Legislators' Dollar Rewards

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

THE current debate in Britain about whether the salaries of Members of Parliament should be raised from £1,000 to £1,500 a year makes curious reading on this side of the Atlantic. For, discounting the difference in the general level of salaries between the two countries, an American Senator (Upper House Member) or Representative (Lower House Member) would consider even £1,500 a laughable reward for his services.

AT PRESENT each Senator and Member of Representatives draws each year 12,500 dollars in salary and 2,500 dollars in expenses. Three thousand dollars of this is tax exempt as an allowance for the expense of living in Washington. The legislators have a retirement programme by which they receive a pension at the age of sixty-two, if they have served for six years.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN ADDITION, both Senators and Representatives are amply supplied with office staff. On either side of the Capitol are two large office buildings which provide a suite of offices for every member of Congress. Representatives receive a fixed sum for office expenses, since the districts they represent are theoretically equal in size; while a Senator, who may represent a State as tiny as Rhode Island with a population of eight hundred thousand, or as large as California, with eleven million people, receives for offices expenses an amount varying from forty thousand dollars a year to fifty thousand dollars a year, depending on the size of his State.

THAT is not all. All Senators and Representatives are allowed nine hundred dollars a year for the rent of office space in their home districts. Official mail from their offices goes out free under the privilege of franking. Each Senator is allowed four hundred and fifty dollars a year for telephone calls, sixty long-distance calls a month and an allowance of two thousand dollars a year for telegrams. There is a radio and television studio in the Capitol where all members of Congress can make recordings for use in their home districts at a nominal fee, and which most use as a means of making a weekly report to their constituents.

ONE might think that with all these privileges and facilities the Members of the United States Congress would consider themselves well off. But in fact every Senator and Representative of my acquaintance complains bitterly about his remuneration. It has to be remembered that each one is the delegate of his State or district in a much more direct sense than a British M.P. is the delegate of his constituency. All voters feel entitled to exact the fullest service from their Senators and Representatives, including the handling of all their relations with the Government on contracts or pensions or deferment of their sons from Army service; as well as on entertainment and guidance when they come to Washington.

IF Congressmen do not show a good record of effectively promoting the interests of their constituents they will not be re-elected, however great their ability; and many Congressmen who cut a sorry figure in Washington are re-elected time and time again because they have a reputation for aiding their constituents. Moreover, if they are defeated in one State or district they cannot, unlike the British M.P., find a seat elsewhere. Consequently every Senator's office handles literally tens of thousands of letters each month.

MANY members of Congress have to maintain a house both in Washington and in their own districts and to make continuous visits there which in the case of West Coast Congressmen is expensive.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CANADIAN House of Commons, whose Members have much the same problem as the American Congressmen, have just voted themselves an increase, from six thousand dollars to ten thousand dollars a year; and there is a proposal before the United States Congress, which will probably go through, to raise the salaries and expense accounts of Senators and Representatives from fifteen thousand dollars a year to twenty five thousand dollars a year, or almost ten times what a British M.P. now receives.

THE ARGUMENT, often heard in Canada, that politics is a public service and should not be rewarded by salaries big enough to attract men merely for the sake of the money has never been strongly voiced in the United States. Although many rich men go into American politics — there are at least six millionaires in the Senate at present — the United States has never had a "landed gentry" in the British sense, nor the close association of its leisured class with politics from which this attitude derives.

NEVERTHELESS, the number of facilities with which an American Congressman is blessed is a temptation to corruption. A Californian Republican Representative, Mr. Ernest J. Bramblett, has just been convicted on seven counts of [illegible] tent employee. His conviction has created a minor political crisis, for the Republicans have a majority of only four in the House of Representatives, and Mr. Bramblett won his seat by such a small margin in 1952 that it would be likely to be won by a Democrat if he were to resign and cause a by-election.

IT is a sign of an attitude in Congress different to that which would be found in the Canadian or any British Commonwealth Parliament that Mr. Bramblett has appealed, and has said that he has no intention of resigning until he receives a verdict from the Supreme Court.

Fearsome Thing

(Windsor Star)

The age when an 'ostler announced to his squire, "Your dogcart waits without," is more than a half a century past, and has small prospect of returning. But one man, in Detroit of all places, is finding that a team of three dogs offers a cheap and efficient way of getting to work.

They pull his little red wagon three miles in about 18 minutes, and could do better if it weren't for the stop lights. But if this is a trend the Detroiter is introducing, it must be viewed as a fearsome thing.

Parking space for cars, at an average of four persons to the car, is a problem. Parking space for dogs, at an average of three dogs to the passenger, is infinitely worse.

An American View: GETTING TOO BIG FOR HIS BRITCHES?

Pulpit And Pew

(FROM THE LONDON TIMES)

"OUR new rector . . ." wrote Dorothy Wordsworth, "has given us three excellent sermons and two very bad ones—we fear the good are exhausted." How easily it seems to have fallen even from that kindly pen, the familiar lay criticism of the parson's efforts.

It is not penned or uttered so often nowadays, because sermon tasting is out of fashion; but it is still to be heard on the way home from church, or read in the papers, and probably has just about as much validity, and as little, as it ever had.

The clergy as a rule are too gallant to make the most obvious retort—that many a good layman could preach a good sermon, and some of them might deliver two or three, but few of them could put together one or two a week for thirty, forty, fifty years or so.

The criticism is not always lay; it is sometimes episcopal, which emboldens the laity. The Bishop of Rochester has lately been talking of hastily constructed, "pitiful little homilies," of sermons that merely "occupy an interval," of addresses "conducive to slumber."

A great many men who are no longer young have painful memories of the last named but the homilies that made them nod, and sigh, and wriggle about in their sailor suits, as they "sat under" some powerful pastor in the days of their youth, were far from "little." They went on for three-quarters of an hour, and a bag of mint humbugs could only partially assuage the pangs of batteneddown boyhood.

Yet even then some sermons seemed better than others, and it was simply a question of length. The Bishop seems to think that boredom will sprout from the briefest sermon if the preacher has nothing to say; and so it will.

If the fare is good the people will ask for more perhaps, as once they did in Strasbourg—though that, to be sure, was fifty years ago, and the preacher was Albert Schweitzer. Some of his sermons were too short for some of his congregation, and he was mildly reprimanded and told not to preach for less than twenty minutes.

THE complaint is sometimes made that too many sermons now are read. Yet even this has something to be said for it. In the late 1880's the Bishop of Ely, Lord Alwyne Compton, forbade the deacons in his diocese to preach more than one sermon a week of their own composition. If they were required to deliver a second they were to write out some sermon of a standard divine, to be supplied them by their diocesan.

The object was that the deacons might have more time for reading; but, said a clerical correspondent, it would be "a sensible relief to the laity." There it is again, the familiar jibe. And even reading has its pitfalls.

In a north country chapel many years ago, on a Sunday when no preacher was available, the senior deacon read a sermon from a book. He discovered in the middle that a page was missing, but making no betrayal by apology, went boldly ahead. And no one seemed any the wiser.

Snake Farmer

(Manchester Guardian)

Starting a puff-adder farm has probably a limited attraction for would-be colonial pioneers, but a young European in Nyasaland is reported to be undertaking such a venture.

On two acres at Fort Johnston he is building a house, and will "herd" 500 of these unlovable reptiles. For the venom a good market exists. The South African Institute of Medical Research, in Johannesburg, is prepared to take 100 grammes from him monthly—delivered by air. Each adder can be "milked" about twice a month, and this bold entrepreneur calculates that with venom selling at 50s a gramme, he should attain a gross annual income of £3,000.

His supply will be largely dependent upon Africans — mainly of the Alomwe tribe — who are to be paid a salary plus commission for each capture. Since the Alomwe regard the puff-adder as a culinary delicacy there may, however, be complications.

Along the picturesque shores of Lake Nyasa serpent pits will be built, where the adders can be kept until collected and taken to the farm. This Nyasalander hopes also to import rattlers and moccasins from the U.S.A.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven . . . Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call. And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation.

Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls. And they continued stedfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers . . . And they continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, praising God, and having favour with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved. (Acts 2:5, 38-42, 46, 47.)

And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was upon his head, and his face was as it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire: and he had in his hand a little book open. . .

And I went unto the angel, and said unto him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey. And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey: and as soon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

Letters To The Editor

COMPLAINS OF SCHOOL FRILLS

SIR: In view of the fact that Education Week is at hand, it might be well to draw attention to the items that appeared in your paper of January 28, to the effect that the Ontario Department of Education was in a position to build new schools but not ready to put in all the frills viz.: gymnasiums, music rooms, home economics and shop work.

For over forty years these have been parts of each new school, quite large enough to prove their worth.

It would be indeed interesting to hear from those who have lived long enough to see the benefits of such school equipment. Can our boys saw a board more accurately or drive a nail more quickly than their grandfathers did? Have we better cooks now or are the new can openers built for speed as well as endurance?

Are we, as school trustees, entitled to use taxpayers money for musical instruction for children who have no desire for musical training when they cannot cope with the ordinary school lessons? The gymnasium is different, when children are picked up by bus and driven to school, thus being deprived of a healthy walk, the gymnasium provides a place for them to exercise. It is too cold out of doors, or maybe too hot.

In one village high school near Peterborough it costs one hundred and fifty dollars a day to transport the children from that area to school.

In closing I would like to urge the interested readers to express their views.

Thank you,
LUCILLE ALLAN.

Hastings, Ontario.

A FAVORITE PASTIME

SIR: While engaged in prospecting and travelling, bivouaced in husky dog shelters, or residing at Ritz hotels, always we have been treated wonderfully by the natives, especially as one gets further from home, far away hills look greenstone, therein perhaps the sparkling Tourmaline or the frenzied Uranium lie

Distance lends enchantment, giving the traveller a glamour, which provokes all kinds of confidences from [illegible] colour, [illegible] morsels for the stranger's cogitation are concerned with the gossipy details whereas, were we to take them seriously, would have us believe that neighbours and relatives, are really people who don't know how to live, nor when to die.

But, having to continue on our journey we can, nor would do nothing about these avowals, being of a built-in constitution of brotherly love, so conclude each side tarred with the same brush and, will have to be left to stew in their own juice.

Is there anything that would take the lace of the "watering down" of those with whom we have to hob-nob daily. Away, with one man, in the wilderness for months, the success in prospecting and living seems to come to those who can dwell upon their partner's redeeming features and thus, perhaps unconsciously, create a small exclusive society of mutual admiration. Could not this then be enlarged upon, the practice of disparagement be discouraged, movements of discussion and study made, to make our lives interesting and progressive, as they should be.

Yours truly,
ROY BRAILEY.

A NOVICE

The new recruit was on guard duty with specific orders to admit no car unless it bore a special tag. He stopped a tagless car carrying high brass. "Drive right through, driver," briskly ordered the officer.

The recruit leaned down and peered at the high ranking one. "I'm new at this, sir," he apologized. "Do I shoot you or the driver"

Lt.-Col. Neil Gemmell Commands Reinforcement Depot

Canada Finds Complicated Task Moving Replacements Into Korea

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KURE, Japan (CP)—The Korean armistice rules have complicated the reinforcement picture for Canada's Far East forces.

The rules prohibit either side from increasing their numbers of combatants or weapons in the area. Replacements are on a man-for-man and weapon-for-weapon basis, and even small-arms have check teams.
to be inspected by authorized

The Canadians ran against this problem for the first time when they were replacing a 200-man Army Service Corps unit. They were all set to make the switch at the dockside at Inchon when someone noticed that the relief company knew neither the vehicles nor the roads. The problem was solved by switching half the unit at a time.

LARGER UNITS

The rules have forced Col. John A. Allan, chief of the Canadian reinforcement group here, to replace large units at the Inchon dockside with troops direct from the American port of embarkation. Normally, units stopped at Kure for final medical check, battle preparation and personnel sorting.

Now the organization at the Kure rear base is kept functioning for any future emergency by handling smaller units brought by air from Canada and the Korean front. Lt.-Col. N. M. Gemmell of Peterborough, Ont., commanding the reinforcement depot at nearby Hiro, is responsible for seeing that the machinery is ready to handle as many as 1,400 men at once if need be.

Through his hands also pass the men recovering from wounds or illness, getting ready to rejoin their units in Korea.

GOOD MEALS HELP

Part of Gemmell's formula for getting casualties back on their feet was displayed at one luncheon where the menu was rice and tomato soup, a choice of roast beef or leg of lamb with brown gravy, creamed whipped potatoes, mashed turnips, buttered julienne carrots, pickled onions, and for dessert, a choice of cottage pudding with orange sauce or fruit.

There is good-natured camaraderie between the Canadians and Allied troops at the rear bases. The Canadians at Hiro recently beat an American team in a softball tournament among the Allied forces. The Canadians presented the Americans with a trophy—the metal arm of an old chair with an inscription. To read the inscription, the trophy had to be held in such a way that the reader got a whack on the head.

The Americans retaliated by presenting the Canadians with a trophy called the "early bird." It was a novel arrangement of oil cans which spurted water in your eye if held in a certain way.

A recreation centre supervised by Gladys Dunn of Toronto, a Red Cross worker, is a popular part of the Hiro operation. It offers a hobby shop with courses in leather work, mat-weaving, model airplane building and photography. It also sports wide murals around the walls. They appear to be in the Japanese tradition but actually are the work of a transient soldier with a yen to paint—Spr. Rowley Boyer of Ottawa.

Meanwhile at Kure, Maj. Bob Labelle of St. Boniface, Man., and Montreal has just handed over command of the Canadian Army's most unique unit to Maj. Jack Pullen of Ottawa. It's the 58th General Transport Company of the Service Corps, serving all components of the Commonwealth forces in this area. Its the first time the army has hired local labor to assume such a role.

"Labelle's own Japanese borderers" are clothed in makeshift uniforms and happily serve as drivers at $25 a month. There are 210 Japanese in the outfit and they are supervised by 38 Canadians. The operation is not only economical and manpower-saving for Canada but it also has certain obvious advantages now that Japanese civilian police regulate the highway traffic of all foreign elements in the country.

The prosecution of a Canadian driver might conceivably lead to complications. The handling of a Japanese driver by his own nationals presents no international situation.

"Fortunately, however," said Maj. Labelle, "the operation is working smoothly and we've had no misunderstanding or trouble."

Will Decide About Rifle

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department will decide by next month whether to adopt the Belgian .30-calibre Fabrique Nationale rifle for the Canadian Army.

Defence Minister Claxton Wednesday told a reporter the decision will not be made until after the rifle has undergone cold-weather tests at Fort Churchill, Man.

The army has purchased 2,000 of the rifles for extensive testing. It was believed almost certain that the army will replace the present outmoded .303-calibre Lee-Enfield with the Belgian FN. Britain already has adopted the FN in preference to the .280-calibre British EM2. That leaves Canada more or less in the position of adopting the FN or waiting for some country to come up with a new, suitable rifle.

If the Canadian Army adopts the FN, production of the rifle in Canada would begin immediately.

Birthrate Problem Causing Grave Concern In Germany

BONN — Perhaps the man with the most difficult and invidious task in West Germany today is Dr. Josef Wuermeling, the newly-appointed Minister of Families. The Ministry, which is the only one of its kind in Europe, was formed on the personal initiative of the Chancellor, Dr. Konrad Adenauer, after his re-election in September. At that time he expressed grave concern at the drastic fall in the post-war German birthrate, and the attendent threat of superannuation.

The Chancellor's concern was not without reason. By 1952 the birthrate had fallen from 19.6 per thousand inhabitants in 1938 to 15.7, the lowest in Europe with the exception of Austria. There is a disproportionately large number of old age pensioners. There are now three million widows and 380,000 divorced women, and divorces are currently being granted at more than twice the pre-war rate. The combination of post-war disillusion and economic difficulties seemed to have deprived a large section of the German nation of the "Wille zum Kind," or desire to have children. Dr. Wuermeling, who is fifty-three years old, a happily married Roman Catholic with five children of his own, was chosen to do something about it.

UNDER ATTACK

Since the creation of his midget seven-man Ministry, Dr. Wuermeling has been the butt of more than one ribald joke, and has been under incessant attack from every quarter of the German Press. He has been accused variously of being a "preaching monk," of trying to spread the influence of uncompromising Catholicism; and of reincarnating the Nazi policies on demography. The justification for creating a Family Ministry has been constantly challenged; and last week the influential German weekly Die Zeit waded in to attack Dr. Wuermeling's stated aim of making divorce less easy with the accusation that Wuermeling was a platitudious "demagogue" with vague ideas.

To strengthen his hand, Dr. Wuermeling appointed as his right-hand man a prominent official of the Protestant church — a man with seven children. He claims to have the full backing of the Protestant Church in his task. Charges that he intends to reinstate the Nazi "Mother's Decoration" are laughingly dismissed by Dr. Wuermeling, who pointed out that his is a "oc-ordinating function" purely advisory and devoid of any executive or legislative power.

Dr. Wuermeling describes himself as "a sort of watch tower," observing the work of other Ministries where it verges on "family politics." The State, he believes, has no right to "interfere" in family affairs, but should occupy itself in providing favourable conditions for those who want to have children.

TWO CATEGORIES

The Minister divides childless Germans into two broad categories: those "unfortunately large circles" were the "Wille zum Kind" simply does not exist; and those who have the will but who are prevented from having children by housing or financial difficulties. "With the first category," he admits, "there is little we can do or should do. But there is much we must do to make life easier for those in the second group."

Although Western Germany is now building houses at a rate of four hundred and fifty thousand a year, four million more houses are still needed, and Dr. Wuermeling is critical of the policy of his party, the Christian Democratic Union, of concentrating on one and two-room batchelor flats, unsuited to raising a family. He hopes to change this soon. Herr Friedrick Scheaeffer, the thrifty Federal Finance Minister, has also apparently promised Dr. Wuermeling "significant" tax reforms in the next budget to help families in the "mid-finance" groups who have more than three children.

Among other matters receiving the attention of Dr. Wuermeling in the "low moral level" of German films. He hopes that without resort to censorship their tone can be raised to render them "less derogatory to marriage." He is also anxious for the Federal Government to revise the divorce laws, which have been handed down from Nazi days when they were notoriously lax.

Must Cross Line To Get Insurance

OTTAWA (CP) — The unemployment insurance commission's umpire has repeated a long-standing ruling that workers who won't cross a peaceful picket line to get into a strikebound building cannot collect unemployment insurance.

The decision, made public Wednesday, threw out the claims of non-striking workers at Windsor, Ont., who would not go to their jobs through picket lines set up last June by striking painters on buildings under construction.

Mr. Justice Alfred Savard, the umpire, overthrew the verdict of a court of referees, which had ruled that the insurance claimants had "a legitimate fear of reprisals" if they crossed the lines.

The umpire ruled that the picketing was peaceful and added:

"I have constantly maintained the long-established principle that refusal to cross a picket line where no violence is displayed is evidence of participation in a labor dispute. . . ."

The Windsor dispute was between the International Brotherhood of Painters (AFL-TLC) and the Windsor Builders and Contractors Exchange and the Greater Windsor Home Builders Association.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Let's start off with a short chat about the nags. No fellow, we don't mean our wife or boss, but the high-bred harness racers of Hugh Stewart.

Since arriving home late last fall from the sunny regions of Lexington, Kentucky, Hugh's stables have been at the exhibition grounds. Perhaps you've heard about that controversy.

But on Monday began their first step back to the Grand Circuit. Just in case you didn't know, that circuit, centred about New York State and working southwards, has the best in harness racing.

Quite a number of spectators gathered about the huge van, especially built for carrying these valuable horses. Starting in the wee hours until nearly mid-morning, the Stewarts packed.

Finally young Hugh and Jim along with stable hands moved on their way to Montreal and Richilieu Park. There they'll train their nine horses for at least a month, perhaps six weeks, before the racing season April 18.

After Montreal the Stewart racing plan is set for Vernon Downs, near Utica, New York State, and then to Westbury on Long Island. There they'll likely stay and finish the season for they'll be racing among the best.

Best Horses In World

"Best horses in the world there," said the friendly horseman. "You have to have the best to race there and we think we have."

Please pay close attention to the next few paragraphs. Save your money for a few months and then keep an eye for Hugh's horses on the race sheets. Who knows, perhaps you'll win enough to pay your income tax.

Calumet (that rings a horsey bell) Wayne fills the starring role for the Stewart stables on their track south. With a record of 2:02, set last fall at Lexington, Calumet Wayne won six important races last season against the top horses of the world.

Purchased by Hugh last year while in Lexington, this horse is expected to set the track afire for the Stewart's because "he's the star of our show."

Here's a believe it or not: The Stewart standby for years, old Stewart Direct is making a comeback.

"Direct's sound and looks as good as five years ago," described Hugh of the stable's pet, now 12 years old. "We rested him in '53 just to give him a holiday on account of his age."

May we point out that Direct's record is still among the best, 2:03.

From the Harrisburg sale, the Stewart colors will wave on the four-year-old Raceday, a green horse with no record as yet. In several appearances on the Circuit last season Raceday ran in 2:06—2:07, not bad for an untried horse.

As a yearling Raceday was sold from the Walnut Hall farm at Lexington to its previous owner for $3,400.

Bred By Stewarts

Also making the trip south were two of the Stewart Stables' own. Their hopes rest high on Stewart Direct and Stewart's Choice, both trained last year. Then there's Happy Daybrook, a three-year-old; Clever Crumbrook, Brownie's Playgirl and finally a "dandy little mare" with a 2:11 record, Chief's Nellie.

A tenth horse, Stewart's Tag, another homebrew, is in training in Campbellford and will travel south in a month's time. The last from the old stallion, Big Gun, Tag is the rave of local horesemen who claim "she's out of this world."

Apart from the facilities and other arrangements about the American tracks, it's quite easy to see why the Stewart's move southward for races. It's the huge purses, something unheard of in this region.

The purses, it's hard to believe, are from 10 to 30 times as large as those offered at Ontario fairs. At Westbury alone no race it less than $2,000 for a one-dash heat. Other purses run as high as $5,000.

Yes, it might be worth a look at the race sheets soon.

Boxing Weight

Before we move out of the corner for another week, we'd like to mention a late bulletin from Alex Cross.

After a year of puttering about the district training and boxing in the odd card, the Peterborough boxers have lined up a card for the Brock St. Arena on MONDAY, MARCH 15. This will be the first in the city in about five years.

The boys will be fighting under a new name, the Alpha Boxing Club, so named after Louis Yeotes' old club of some 20 years ago. That change was made in respect for Louie, the genial billiard man, who has helped the boxers this winter.

Toronto's Vic Bagnato has agreed to send down some of his best Hogtown fighters for the occasion. In fact tough Roy Bloom will meet hardy Emmett Crough (undefeated) in the main five-rounder.

In the semi-final Alex has pited Bill Twomey, a welterweight, against a good Italian boy, Tap Nasturzio in another five-rounder.

A heavy hitter, Pete Anderson, whom we hope you'll remember from the newsboys' recent card in Toronto and on a TV show, is slated for the first district heavyweight bout. He'll meet Alpha's English-born heavy, Bill Cridland.

Peter Howe, from Alpha, is in the other arranged bout, fighting at 135 pounds against a colored boy Lorne Gibson of the Bagnato camp.

There'll also be four other bouts, probably featuring the younger lads who can mix colorfuly.

Another bright note in boxing is the new training grounds. Thanks to the co-operation from the 50th HAA Regiment, the club will be training in the old band room at the armouries, regularly Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. That's certainly a break for the boxers.

Incidentally if this card goes over, there'll be more every two weeks. If it doesn't, well in Alex's words, "the bailiff will be after us."

Sr. Petes Take Game Lead In Series With Orillia; Kingston, Oshawa Tied 1-1

By DON GRANT

Eddie Redmond's Petes won the first game of the senior "B" group semi-finals with Orillia Pontiacs today. That's right TODAY. At five minutes after midnight the Petes, paced by a two-goal spree by Bill Crowley, finally defeated Orillia 3-1. No, the game didn't extend into overtime; it just didn't start on time. In fact it was nearly an hour and a half late, beginning at 9:55 p.m. Once the game did start the Petes settled down to business despite the long wait and promptly took the 1-0 lead in the series which resumes Friday night in Orillia.

Meanwhile in Kingston the Oshawa Truckmen tied their semi-final series with the Goodyears. After two minutes of the overtime the Truckmen scored the winning goal, 4-3, to tie that series at one game each.

At game time (8:30) at the Civic arena 1,500 shivering fans waited for the Petes-Orillia game to begin. In the cold and dampness they patiently waited for Orillia to arrive. Finally at 9:40 the team bus pulled in, claiming icy roads kept it late.

Even the referees, Maurice Walsh of Toronto and Bus Cain of Cobourg, were 45 minutes late arriving, icy roads along the lakeshore holding them back.

PENALTY-RIDDLED

If the opening game is any criterion for this series, it's sure to be penalty-riddled. Walsh and Cain handed out no less than 25, 12 alone in the scoreless first period. In fact in that first period the teams played at full strength for only three minutes, twice playing four aside.

All the penalties were minor violations such as high-sticking, boarding, tripping and holding with the exception of a misconduct, followed by a match misconduct, to Pete defenceman, Keith Montgomery.

Late in the third Montgomery was raked twice along the boards and argued himself into a penalty with referee Cain. While sitting out the 10 minutes, he passed some personal remarks to referee Walsh and was thrown out of the game with two minutes to play.

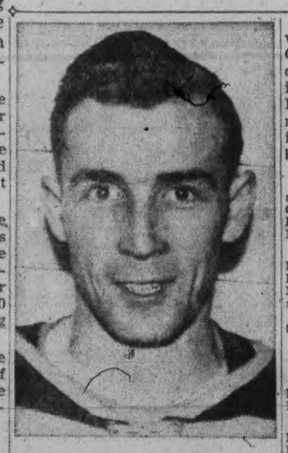
Despite the wave of penalties, they didn't affect the scoring. In fact only the Petes' second goal was scored while players were off, then both teams were playing four aside.

SCORES TWICE

Always an opportunist, Bill Petes. He was so much so Wednesday night that his making the best of every chance to score resulted in two goals and assisting on the third.

After the scoreless first, Crowley scooped in a loose puck at the Petes' blueline early in the second. Breaking quickly up the left side, chased by two Pontiacs, he blasted a shot from just inside the Orillia blueline which caught the right corner, high up.

Clinging to that one-goal lead until late in the period, Redmond set Crowley and Bert Hill up for a two-man break while both teams had two men off. Crowley passed to Hill who gave Orillia goalie Shropshire, little chance to save.



Orillia's lone goal followed within seconds. Taking the face-off, Orillia pressed. Shewchuk passed out to Pearsall and he looped a slow lifter past goalie John Donlevy.

ADDS SECOND GOAL

Crowley was again the opportunist in the first minute of the third to score the Petes' assurance goal. Standing beside the Orillia goal, he slapped in a long pass from Eddie Redmond.

Despite his team's loss, Orillia's goalie, Shropshire, shone. Catching, kicking and smothering the puck neatly, beating the Petes on several "sure" goals, Shropshire kept the Pontiacs in the game.

Shropshire didn't receive too much protection from his teammates who were too busy attempting to bounce the lighter Petes rather than play the puck. Their actions only resulted in trips to the penalty box.

BILL CROWLEY

KILLS PENALTIES

Bruno Favero, the little winger for the Pontiacs, was outstanding, especially killing the numerous Orillia penalties. Several times he nearly turned the odd-man disadvantage into advantage with his close checking.

Without the services of stars, Gus Leonard, out with eye trouble, and Deny Peterson, leg trouble, the Petes used Roy Armstrong and Don Floyd. Both filled in well, Floyd working in for several close-in chances only to find Shropshire Johnny-on-the-spot.

Ice Chips — Former Orfun Orillia - import Bob (Rabbit) White provided his fellow Orillia cheerers with noise makers—among the Orillia fan contingent was Orfun quarter, Jim Milligan, and linesman Jack McIntyre—Referee Walsh received 16 stitches in the [illegible] erecting a senior "A" playoff between Windsor-Stratford — he stepped in too soon in a high-sticking duel—several weeks ago he had his nose broken—for a while it appeared that the Petes would call the game off due to Orillia's late arrival—a number of fans asked for "rain" (when it's freezing!!!) checks—Letter to Editor (Wednesday's Examiner) resulted in strict check on smoking in the arena, also on few bottles.

Mills' Brothers Win Bout Against Earl And Montana

The villainous Mills brother, Al and Tiny, won the main tag team wrestling bout at the Brock Arena before a fair-sized booing crowd last night, defeating Hombre Montana and Earl McCready in the deciding fall. A couple of grapplers on the card and Referee Bunny Dunlop were late arriving, owing to the storm and icy highways, and the program was held up for a time.

Tiny Mills, going 274 pounds, pinned McCready, scaling 247, in 16 minutes for the first fall, but drivingsin E. ..i evened it at the expense of the 255-pound Al Mills in seven minutes of the second round. Tiny Mills then threw the huge 325-pound Montana in 13 minutes for the deciding fall, the Mills playing their usual mean role and working well together in their corner. They met stiff opposition, though, and McCready showed his value by taking the only fall for his side.

EAKINS WINS

The Golden Hawk, 230-pound colorful Indian, dished up a lot of stuff in the semi-final bout before bowing to Ike Eakins in eight minutes of the lively semi-final bout, both huskies (Ike went 268) showing lots of ring savvy in the heated but rather short tangle, this bout being moved up from the prelim spot, owing to the Indian's tardy arrival. The fans didn't like any part of the rough Eakins, who had to fill in on an extra bout when Firpo Szybsko couldn't get through the storm.

The curtain-raiser saw Eakins and Toar Morgan, going 230 pounds, battle to a 30-minute draw. It was Morgan's first showing here in a long time, and the chunky Tennessee grappler, who makes Lindsay his home now, was popular and looked as good as ever. But he was meeting an unsavory character, and they threw the book at each other from time to time. Hombre Montana refereed this one, when Dunlop was late.

Jr. Petes Ousted By Pt. Perry In A 5-3 Playoff

By FRED MAYBEE

Port Perry Flyers won this sixth and deciding game of their best-of-seven junior "B", OHA series for group honors against Peterborough, Wednesday night, by a score of 5-3, before a good-sized crowd of Port Perry fans. The result proved a heartbreaker to Junior Petes' supporters, after a gallant last-ditch stand by the locals; but a welcome triumph to the Oshawa-Port Perry lads, who finally edged a 4-2 game margin to earn the right to advance against Kingston in further Ontario playdowns.

Final victory came to Flyers after a fast, strenuous but essentially clean contest, with the issue in doubt till Gary Copeland fleet centre star for Flyers, sank the last tally in the final minute of play while the Creighton-Vitarelli men were valiantly striving to gain the equalizer. This late insurance marker sealed Petes' fate but in defeat the losers gave their best, to a man — and to the finish.

LATE STARTING

Play commenced sharp at nine p.m., despite a heavy snow storm that made driving extremely difficult causing late arrival of visiting players.

Notwithstanding furious thrusts either way by both attacking forces, neither team scored until the half-way mark in the first frame. Then Bill Twist, who wore a special headgear for the game, drew a quick passout from Paul Doris at the blueline on a fast attack and whistled a long low drive past Howe, to open the scoring.

At 11:40, Referee Cromble ruled Gary Kearns off for interference; then Bud McDougall, one minute later, for the same offence. Port Perry were quick to capitalize on the double shortage; and at 13:23 a checkerboard attack featuring the Copeland-O'Connor-Romanuk trio easily paired off as the former backhanded the disc in. With McDougall still away, Flyers tallied 27 seconds later, on a close-in ganging attack, with Copeland the marksman once more, aided by Dunc Brodie and defenceman Dykstra. Stunned by this ill-fortune, the men of Creighton fought back furiously, but their best efforts fell short, despite territorial advantages, as Ross Howe proved unbeatable in the net.

TWO-WAY ACTION

The mid-frame saw sustained two-way action and some of the finest playoff hockey of the series, great goaltending at either end, but neither team able to score. An early miscue to Davies of Flyers, and later to Till, enabled the visitors to storm the Howe citadel; but to no avail as the Flyer custodian turned in his best game to foil every thrust, aided by fine defence work out front. Petes outshot their rivals, though Delahey too, had his busy moments in the second, and in fact throughout, to come up with a great game, but the breaks failed to yield in Petes' favor during this session. Doris drew a late high-sticking penalty and Flyers stormed Delahey in the final seconds of play. McDougall, Gord Coyle, Lawrence Ball and Frizzelle held like grim death against the onslaughts of O'Connor, Attusley, Brodie, Dystra and Johnson.

The first minute of the final frame proved a repetition of the last-minute of the second, as Petes held off; then, back to strength, Ball scored the tying marker on a grand solo effort. Rushing past centre Ball eluded the defence to cut in close, fired a hot one Howe managed to stop but was unable to snare the rebound as Lawrence poked the biscuit under his feet. Then came another break for Flyers, seconds later, as O'Connor shot, and Murray Byrne partially stopped the drive which caromed crazily to the far wing where the uncovered Fisher picked up the loose disc. He fired a sharp drive to the right corner of the mesh past Delahey who had little chances on the blistering drive. This put Flyers one up. Dunc Brodie tallied near the half-way mark on a brilliant solo effort when he broke fast to elude the defence, in manner similar to Ball, cut in, and dumped one to the open side giving Delahey no chance as he sped past the cage.

BACK IN RUNNING

Bud McDougall and his mates put Petes back in the running at 16:04 on a dandy effort as he took Doris' pass and flew in to beat Howe with a close, right-wing drive, and play reached feverish pitch as sticks broke like pulpwood, and flying bodies were a dime-a-dozen. Despite desparate plugging however, Petes were unable to do further offensive damage and Flyers continued their stubborn defence tactics of continually shooting out of danger to suffer icing faceoffs. Petes continued their drive to the finish and went down battling hard even after Copeland's final tally in the dying seconds.

Port Perry—Goal, Hawe; defence, Johnson, Dykstra; centre, Attersley; wings, O'Connor, Fisher; alts., Copeland, Brodie, Romanuk, Gibson, Masters, Till, Myles, Davis.

Petes—Goal, Delahey; defence, Frizzelle, Byrne; centre, Kearns; wings, McDougall, Doris; alts., Twist, Heffernan, Coyle, Gardner, Snape, Hook, Pue, Ball, Ferguson.

NHL Teams Battle For Positions In Playoff Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thursday could be a night of decision in the see-saw battle for playoff positions in the National Hockey League. Four of the five teams still in the running for post-season berths see action tonight. The first-place Detroit Red Wings entertain second-place Toronto and the third-place Montreal Canadiens visit the Boston Bruins, currently tied with New York for the fourth and last playoff spot. Detroit needs only a tie to be certain of being in the hunt for the Stanley Cup. Toronto and Montreal also are near certainties but their tussle is for second place and the right to meet the fourth-place team in the semi-final round.

The real battle is between New York and Boston. The New Yorkers moved into a tie for fourth place Wednesday night by tying Toronto 3-3 on captain Don Raleigh's hat trick. Boston will be out to break the deadlock tonight with a win over Montreal.

FAVORED FOR PLAYOFFS

The Bruins still are favored to take fourth place since they have played two fewer games than the Rangers. Their record of four wins, one draw and one loss against Montreal in Boston this year also makes them favorites to win tonight's game.

The Maple Leafs, who took a one-point lead over Montreal in the race for second place by tying New York Wednesday night, will be aiming for their first goal on Detroit ice this season when they go against the Red Wings.

The Vezina trophy battle also will highlight the Detroit-Toronto meeting. Harry Lumley of Toronto saw his average drop to 1.77 Wednesday night as the Rangers beat him for three goals. Terry Sawchuk of Detroit will go into the game with a 1.72 average.

In addition to the Detroit jinx on scoring, Lumley will be hampered by two injuries suffered in last night's game. He was bruised badly on the knee in the first period, and after returning to the net was struck over the left eye by a shot from Doug Bentley in the third period. He needed 10 stitches to close the gash.

Winning Odds In Favour Of Canadian Hockey Team

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The odds shifted heavily in Canada's favor today as the Toronto East York club faced Finland in a bid to tie Russia for the lead in the world hockey tournament.

Winners of their four starts while Moscow Dynamos are unbeaten in five, the Canadians breezed to an 8-1 victory over Germany Wednesday while the Russians barely managed a 4-2 victory over winless Switzerland. Czechoslovakia, beaten by the Dynamos Tuesday, were tied with Canada for second place after a 7-1 victory over Norway, their fourth win of the tournament.

The Russians and Czechs were idle today while Switzerland opposed Norway and the Germans were drawn against Sweden.

The Swiss, easy prey for Canada and Czechoslovakia earlier in the tournament, gave the Dynamos a bad time Wednesday. They disrupted the Russians' pattern-passing attack and forced them to resort to individual rushes.

HAD LITTLE DIFFICULTY

By contrast, the Canadians had little difficulty handling the equally aggressive Germans. Held off the score sheet for the first 14 minutes, East York then scored twice before the intermission, added two more goals without a reply in the second and ran wild in the finale to match the eight-goal output they have managed in every game thus far.

The only minor flaw came in the third frame when Rudolf Weide managed a tally for the losers, the second shot to elude goalie Don Lockhart since the tournament began.

Sets Deadline For Senior Rugby Decision

KINGSTON (CP)—The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union is reported to have set Saturday as a deadline for a decision on whether McMaster University will be permitted to participate in the intercollegiate senior football league this season.

Several plans were considered by representatives from Toronto, McMaster, McGill, Western and Queen's Universities for a five-team football loop but no decision was reached. Delegates agreed to discuss matters with their athletic boards. A telegraphic decision regarding McMaster will be given by Saturday.

McMaster competed in the intercollegiate league as a regular member for the first time last year. The Marauders did not win a game during the season.

Last January Toronto, Queen's and Western voted to drop McMaster from the league, using the CIAU constitution as their authority. The constitution says that the original teams — Varsity, Queen's and McGill—must not let anything interfere with their traditional rivalry.

MISSED DATE

Because Hamilton was in the league last year McGill missed a playing date in Toronto and many old graduates protested. It was then that Toronto, Queen's and Western voted to drop McMaster from the league.

McGill, however, supported McMaster.

The three colleges that voted in favor of dropping the Marauders said they are ready to operate as a three-team league next fall if McGill insists on supporting McMaster.

NHL Teams Battle For Positions In Playoff Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thursday could be a night of decision in the see-saw battle for playoff positions in the National Hockey League. Four of the five teams still in the running for post-season berths see action tonight. The first-place Detroit Red Wings entertain second-place Toronto and the third-place Montreal Canadiens visit the Boston Bruins, currently tied with New York for the fourth and last playoff spot. Detroit needs only a tie to be certain of being in the hunt for the Stanley Cup. Toronto and Montreal also are near certainties but their tussle is for second place and the right to meet the fourth-place team in the semi-final round.

The real battle is between New York and Boston. The New Yorkers moved into a tie for fourth place Wednesday night by tying Toronto 3-3 on captain Don Raleigh's hat trick. Boston will be out to break the deadlock tonight with a win over Montreal.

FAVORED FOR PLAYOFFS

The Bruins still are favored to take fourth place since they have played two fewer games than the Rangers. Their record of four wins, one draw and one loss against Montreal in Boston this year also makes them favorites to win tonight's game.

The Maple Leafs, who took a one-point lead over Montreal in the race for second place by tying New York Wednesday night, will be aiming for their first goal on Detroit ice this season when they go against the Red Wings.

The Vezina trophy battle also will highlight the Detroit-Toronto meeting. Harry Lumley of Toronto saw his average drop to 1.77 Wednesday night as the Rangers beat him for three goals. Terry Sawchuk of Detroit will go into the game with a 1.72 average.

In addition to the Detroit jinx on scoring, Lumley will be hampered by two injuries suffered in last night's game. He was bruised badly on the knee in the first period, and after returning to the net, was struck over the left eye by a shot from Doug Bentley in the third period. He needed 10 stitches to close the gash.

Winning Odds In Favour Of Canadian Hockey Team

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The odds shifted heavily in Canada's favor today as the Toronto East York club faced Finland in a bid to tie Russia for the lead in the world hockey tournament.

Winners of their four starts while Moscow Dynamos are unbeaten in five, the Canadians breezed to an 8-1 victory over Germany Wednesday while the Russians barely managed a 4-2 victory over winless Switzerland. Czechoslovakia, beaten by the Dynamos Tuesday, were tied with Canada for second place after a 7-1 victory over Norway, their fourth win of the tournament.

The Russians and Czechs were idle today while Switzerland opposed Norway and the Germans were drawn against Sweden.

The Swiss, easy prey for Canada and Czechoslovakia earlier in the tournament, gave the Dynamos a bad time Wednesday. They disrupted the Russians' pattern-passing attack and forced them to resort to individual rushes.

HAD LITTLE DIFFICULTY

By contrast, the Canadians had little difficulty handling the equally aggressive Germans. Held off the score sheet for the first 14 minutes, East York then scored twice before the intermission, added two more goals without a reply in the second and ran wild in the finale to match the eight-goal output they have managed in every game thus far.

The only minor flaw came in the third frame when Rudolf Weide managed a tally for the losers, the second shot to elude goalie Don Lockhart since the tournament began.

Sets Deadline For Senior Rugby Decision

KINGSTON (CP)—The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union is reported to have set Saturday as a deadline for a decision on whether McMaster University will be permitted to participate in the intercollegiate senior football league this season.

Several plans were considered by representatives from Toronto, McMaster, McGill, Western and Queen's Universities for a five-team football loop but no decision was reached. Delegates agreed to discuss matters with their athletic boards. A telegraphic decision regarding McMaster will be given by Saturday.

McMaster competed in the intercollegiate league as a regular member for the first time last year. The Marauders did not win a game during the season.

Last January Toronto, Queen's and Western voted to drop McMaster from the league, using the CIAU constitution as their authority. The constitution says that the original teams — Varsity, Queen's and McGill—must not let anything interfere with their traditional rivalry.

MISSED DATE

Because Hamilton was in the league last year McGill missed a playing date in Toronto and many old graduates protested. It was then that Toronto, Queen's and Western voted to drop McMaster from the league.

McGill, however, supported McMaster.

The three colleges that voted in favor of dropping the Marauders said they are ready to operate as a three-team league next fall if McGill insists on supporting McMaster.

Ab. Ryan Leads St. Peter's To 88-76 Victory Over Whitby In Cage Final

Possession of the ball meant everything Wednesday when St. Peter's High seniors and Whitby High met in the first game of the two-game points-to-count series for the lakeshore senior "B" championship. Both teams took advantage of possession each time as they ran up the high total of 164 points. The Saints took a 12-point lead, winning 88-76. The return game will be played next Tuesday.

Winner of this series will advance into the senior "B" COSSA championship tournament next Saturday in Toronto. At the same time the junior Saints are in the lakeshore finals against Uxbridge, beginning that two-game series Friday at 4 p.m. in Uxbridge.

STRESS OFFENCE

Both quintets Wednesday neglected defence as they stressed offence for more points. Whitby, excellent shots as collegiate players, were content to stand back and shoot, while the Saints worked in well.

Abbie Ryan, who has been sparking the Saints in recent games, virtually presented the Saints with the win. Set neatly by his teammates the young star used layups and set shots to total an amazing 37 points, by far the Saints' best scoring effort this season.

Doug Galvin, the Saints' standby, was among the top scorers, playing his usual game and scoring his usual number of points, 22. He was closely matched by Dan Quinlan, a former junior, who had his season's richest night with 21 points, a number coming on his jump shot.

Whitby also relied upon a trio to provide the points. Jim Musslman who starred for the lakeshore high last year again hit his high scoring pace with 25 points, followed by Lloyd Scott with 23 and Ron Borchuk with 15.

TAKE LEAD

Musslman and Borchuk led the lakeshore quintet to a high-scoring 22-15 first quarter lead as Ryan kept the Saints' close. But in the second quarter the Saints took over as Ryan, Quinlan and Galvin hit the basket regularly, totalling 28 points, for a half-time score of 43-36.

After that the Saints never looked back. The same trio matched Whitby's 22 points in the third quarter when Scott led the Whitby quintet to a rally. In the fourth the Whitby lads weakened under the steady Saint attack and the Saints added to their game and series lead.

Lindsay Evens OHA Series Beating Ports

LINDSAY (ENS)—Vic Corley scored a goal in each period here last night to lead the Muskies to a 7-2 win over the Port Hope Redmen. The win evened the Lakeshore League intermediate "A" final series at a game each, the Redmen having won an 8-2 verdict in the opener. Corley's first period goal was supplemented by counters from Tommy Hutton, Stu Hicks and Jack Grahm to give the Muskies a lead they never relinquished. Goalie Red Wasson of the visitors had a bad period, but settled down in the last two frames.

Harry McKeen scored the first goal for the losers in the first period. In the second frame Bill Parker and Corley scored the only goals to give the Muskies a 6-1 edge starting the third. The middle period produced some of the roughest hockey with Bill Douglas of Port Hope leading the penalty parade with two minors and a misconduct. The teams split a paid of counters in the final frame, Freeman of the visitors scoring first and Corley completing his hat trick in the last minute of play on one of the best goals of the night.

Referees Herb Payne and Bun Kingdon, both of Peterborough, called 18 penalties, 17 of them minors, while the Muskies drew 10 of them. The Muskies' wide margin of play was best shown in shots on goal, figures which were 45 by Lindsay and only 24 on the Muskies' O'Connell. Third game of the series goes Friday night in Port Hope.

Harper Pressed To Win Bout

CALGARY (CP)—Doug Harper of Calgary, Canadian lightheavyweight boxing champion, was hard pressed Wednesday night to gain a unanimous 10-round decision over aging Benny Flake of Salt Lake City, Utah. It was a non-title bout.

Harper weighed 174¾ and Flake 161.

The decision was greeted by a round of boos from most of the crowd of 1,500. Flake made a game battle of it all the way as he preserved his record of never having been knocked out or having a bout stopped because of a cut.

One judge voted six rounds for Harper, two for Flake and two even, the second gave seven rounds for Harper and three for Flake, and the other voted five for Harper, two for Flake and three even.

International Regatta Toronto August 15

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control Wednesday reversed a civic parks committee decision and granted permission for an international regatta to be held here Sunday Aug. 15.

The board emphasized, however, that its decision did not signal the extension of Sunday sports. Mayor Allan Lamport said he would be opposed to any attempt to permit stock car racing on Sundays.

It was announced that a special by-law will be passed permitting the regatta and will be repealed immediately after.

Alberta Rink Likely Winners Canadian Curling Championship

By JACK ENEFER

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's rink in the Canadian curling championships has passed its stiffest competition without a defeat and appears on the road to bringing Alberta its fifth national curling crown.

In the six draws since the championships opened last Monday, the 29-year-old Matt Baldwin, has knocked over such rinks as Jimmy Welsh's Manitoba foursome, Saskatchewan's Campbell brothers from Avonlea, the Reg Piercy rink from Halifax, the Dr. W. L. MacDonald four from Charlottetown, northern Ontario led by Don Groom of Sudbury, and British Columbia, skipped by E. C. (Bung) Cartmell of Vancouver.

If Alberta takes the crown, it will mark the 20th time in the 25 years that the championships have been played that the title has gone to western Canada, and the fifth time Alberta has won it.

Manitoba has won the championships 14 times. The last was in 1953 when Ab Gowanlock took it with a rink from Dauphin, Man.

Baldwin got through two of his most crucial games Wednesday, defeating northern Ontario 6-5 in the afternoon draw and getting British Columbia 11-8 in a night contest.

More than 12,000 persons, a record for the bonspiel, took in the two draws.

PERFECT DRAW SHOT

Baldwin's toughest match was against Groom's Sudbury crew and he won it with a perfect draw shot with the last rock of the game. With the score tied 5-5 going into the last end, Groom had two rocks nestled to one side and about six inches from the button, and a guard sitting just outside the 12-foot ring.

Baldwin's last rock eased around the guard and curled across the button and up against Groom's two stones, nudging them back to leave Alberta counting one.

Cartmell teamed in a fine draw duel. Alberta got the jump on B.C. when they counted three on the first end and three on the eighth.

With Alberta leading 8-4 on the ninth end, Cartmell had a chance to tie when his rink placed four rocks in the rings. Baldwin drew to the button with his last rock. But Cartmell's runner missed taking out the Alberta stone by a good four inches and Alberta counted one.

EASY COMPETITION

Baldwin now faces what the experts and observers consider relatively easy competition.

He has yet to meet Newfoundland, which still needs its first victory in five starts; Ontario's Ross Tarlton rink from Hamilton, which has won three and lost two; Quebec's W. R. Tracy foursome from Arvida which has won two and lost four, and New Brunswick, skipped by R. T. McCully of Moncton, which won two and lost three.

Northern Ontario, Baldwin's closest competition with five victories and one loss, has yet to meet Saskatchewan which has won three and lost two; Nova Scotia's Reg Piercy rink from Halifax which has won two and lost three; Manitoba which has lost five and won one, and Prince Edward Island which has a 3-3 record.

Middlecoff Defends Golf Title

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cary Middlecoff, back in action after a 10-day illness, today began defence of his $30,000 Houston open golf title.

The Memphis dentist is a top favorite despite having been out of tournament competition since he lost the Phoenix open playoff Feb. 8 to Ed Furgol.

The only two-time winner here, Middlecoff had a 68 Wednesday for his final practice round on the 7,122-yard, par-72 Memorial Park course.

Most frequently mentioned as the men Middlecoff may have to beat for the $6,000 top prize are two other long hitters, Johnny Palmer and Roberto de Vicenzo. Palmer, the 1949 winner here, won the Mexican national open last Monday, one stroke in front of Argentina's de Vicenzo.

The starting field of 159 will be cut Friday to 90 players and ties. Sunday's race to divide the $30,000 jackpot 40 ways will be limited to the low 60 and ties.

Canadians who qualified for the opening are Johnny Hendrick of Ottawa, who shot a 71 in the qualifying round, Bob Dean of Cornwall, Ont., and Murray Tucker of Toronto, both with 72, and Al Balding of Toronto, 74.

Training Camp Notes

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Don Larsen, one of the brighter young pitching prospects with last year's St Louis Browns, checked in late at Baltimore Orioles' training camp Wednesday and found himself in trouble with his new bosses.

"Larsen hasn't made the team yet," snapped general manager Art Ehlers.

Larsen, who had a 7-12 record with the tail-end Browns last season, was not listed on the Baltimore starting roster.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop and lone holdover from the pre-war championship teams, reported for work Wednesday with New York Yankees.

The small infielder said that he felt better at the start of this season than at any previous time in the last four years. "For the first time since 1949 I haven't got an ache or a pain," he declared.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bill Terry picked up a bat Wednesday and showed Brooklyn Dodgers how a .400 hitter does it. The former Giant manager, recently elected to the hall of fame, spent most time with George Shuba and Bill Antonello, spare outfielder who disappointed at the plate last season.

After a long drill, manager Walter Alston said that four more pitchers, Ben Wade, Jim Hughes, Don Bessent and Ed Roebuck, are ready to work regularly.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A preliminary agreement between Boston and Washington on a trade involving Mickey Vernon, the Senators' holdout first baseman, was reported jelled.

Apparently sincere in their vow to get rid of Vernon unless he signs quickly, Clark and Calvin Griffith, the Washington high-command, said the Red Sox were mulling over a deal for Vernon. "Some sort of answer" is expected today from Joe Cronin, Boston general manager, they said.

Cronin and Calvin Griffith discussed possible trades Tuesday. Calvin said afterward that Vernon was the only Washington player mentioned. He said the Senators were seeking more than one player from Boston but refused to give any names.

G. Walton Leads

G. Walton had high three of 796, while he and P. Sweeting tied with top single of 343 in the Major Bowling League. Patterson's led teams with 3526 and a single of 1331. The 7-0 wins went to Curtis, Crowley, McLeod, Sherbrooke, Patterson's and Revenoors over Lock, Wonder, Edwards, Silents, Hewitt and Selkirk in that order, as 5-2 victories were taken by Burtol, UE, Bartley and Plazas against D & W, Godson, Boucher and Paramounts. E & B won 4-3 from Seahorses. There was one 6-1 triumph for Clapper's against Clements.

Other good scores were: W. Flint 709, W. Harris 744, P. Sweeting 761, H. Killen 734, A. Mattucci 775, A. Caccavella 701, and a single of 308 by C. Clarke.

Bakers Parade

LONDON (Reuters) — Bakers wearing their aprons and white caps paraded through the House of Commons Wednesday night to appeal to members of Parliament about a bill now before them. The bakers' purpose was to prevent any substantial modifications of the bill's provisions, which imposes strict limitations on the amount of night work bakers may do.

Last-Place Reds Become Spoilers

The last-place Providence Reds have assumed the role of spoilers in the American Hockey League.

Wednesday, the Reds trounced the championship-headed Buffalo Bisons, 5-2, a week after they humiliated the same team 13-5.

The Bisons are 15 points ahead of second-place Pittsburgh Hornets so the win gave Providence a great deal of satisfaction.

Paul Larivee counted twice for the Reds and Pete Kapusta, Chuck Scherza and Ken Davies once each. Pete Babando scored twice for Buffalo.

Hershey Bears defeated Cleveland Barons 3-1 and Pittsburgh swamped Syracuse Warriors 7-1.

At Hershey, markers by Dunc Fisher and Norm Corcoran won for the Bears in the final period. Pittsburgh scorers at Syracuse were Willie Marshall, Dan Lewicki, Chuck Lumsden, Andy Barbe, Bob Hassard, Bob Sabourin and Ray Timgren. Hal Tarala registered the only Syracuse tally.

Aussie Miler Fails Again

MELBOURNE (AP) — John Landy, Australia's premier miler, failed again today in an attempt at the four-minute mile. He was timed in 4:05.9 at a special twilight meeting at Olympic Park.

What was promised as perfect weather conditions for Landy's attempt to reach the magic mark—or at least to break under Haegg's current world record of 4:01.4—developed into a bleak evening with winds up to 20 miles an hour.

Landy's sectional times were 57.5 for the first quarter, 1:59.3 for the half-mile and 3:03 for the three-quarters.

He was ably assisted over the first half-mile by Len McRae and John Douglas. McRae went with him for the half, while Douglas lasted for another furlong.

Landy won the race by 70 yards.

Defeats Suffered By Top Teams In Junior Hockey Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Maybe road games had something to do with it but the top three teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series had a rough time last night—they all lost.

St. Catharines TeePees, league-leaders of the OHA, were defeated 9-6 by the Reds in Trois-Rivieres, Que., during the only interlocking game. It was the first loss for the TeePees during their current tour against teams of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior League.

In Ontario second-place Toronto Marlboros dropped a 5-2 decision to the Greenshirts in Kitchener while the third-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors were being beaten 5-3 by the Cubs in Hamilton. Barrie Flyers took a 3-1 home-ice victory from Guelph Biltmores.

The TeePees were never ahead. The Reds, in fourth place in the OAHA league, were led by Jean-Guy Gendron who fired three goals.

Herve Lalonde added two and singles went to Leo Fournier, Yvan Houle, Jean-Marie Cossette and Gilles Matteau. Brian Cullen and Hank Ciesla led the TeePee marksmen with two each. Others were scored by Barry Cullen and Hugh Barlow.

STORM TROUBLE

The Kitchener-Marlboro contest was delayed an hour because the Toronto team ran into rough travelling conditions en route to Kitchener. Marlboros arrived with only 14 men after a three-hour trip over ice-glazed roads. Wally Maxwell, Sonny Larose and Bob Pulford were marooned on the outskirts of Toronto and didn't get to the arena until the game was ready to start.

The victory made a successful debut for new coach Kenny Reardon, who is replacing Stan Long. Long was suspended for a year for pulling his team off the ice during a recent game.

John Reinhart, making his first appearance in Junior A competition, was a standout for the Greenshirts. He was replacing Claude Pronovost who is out with injuries.

Del Topoll, Gord Onotsky, Bud Horne, Fred Glover and Graham Joyce were the Kitchener snipers. Mike Elik and Wally Maxwell scored for the Marlboros.

KILREA STARS

In Hamilton the Majors kept pace with the Cubs for two periods but Brian Kilrea scored twice in the final period to give Hamilton the victory. Joe Zorica, Cummy Burton and Marlin McAlendin were the other scorers for the Cubs. Dick Duff, Jim Logan and Brian Anderson were the Toronto scorers.

Barrie's victory over the Biltmores enabled the Flyers to keep their playoff chances alive. The victory left Barrie in sixth and last playoff spot, three points in front of Guelph. The Flyers have five games left in the schedule.

John Martan led the victory with two goals, the other Barrie counter going to Don Cherry. Bob Attersley notched Guelph's marker.

Galt Black Hawks are at Guelph, Marlboros go to Barrie and St. Michael's plays at Kitchener in junior action Friday.

Thistles Sail For Japan To Plav Hockey

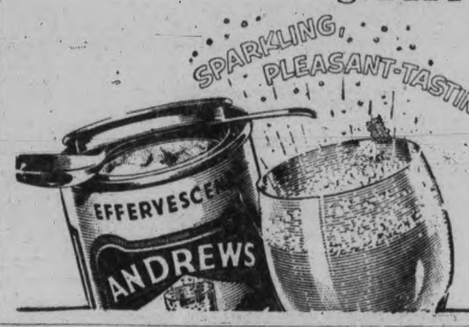
VANCOUVER (CP) — Kenora Thistles sailed from here Wednesday on a 15-day voyage to Japan for a hockey barnstorming tour.

Representing the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the 14-man group will play nine games in a 16-day tour of Japan.

Thistles captured the Canadian intermediate title last year by defeating Ponoka, Alta., to qualify for the tour.

They took with them some 12 dozen National Hockey League sweaters and 12-dozen miniature hockey sticks to give to Japanese children. The souvenirs were bought with part of the proceeds from the sale of programs and badges in Kenora to raise $9,600 to get the team to Vancouver and back. The CAHA takes care of the rest, through an arrangement with the host Japanese Skating Association.

The trip, said CAHA vice-president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, accompanying the team, may be extended to include Australia.



"That is," said Dunn, "if the Aussies can put up a $15,000 guarantee for loss of wages and $20 a man a week for spending money."

Thistles arrive in Tokyo March 20 and are scheduled to return April 3.

Thistles average about 170 pounds and won't do any rough stuff.

"We don't want an international incident on our hands," said playing-coach Don Robertson.

HAPPY IN THE SERVICE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Al Sherman, new coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, said on his arrival here Wednesday he isn't using Canadian football as a springboard to a better job in the United States and "if my future is in Canada, I'll be quite happy."

He told reporters: "If I had wanted to stay in the National League I could have, not as a head coach but as an assistant. But a head coaching job would probably have come along in a few years.

"After being a professional coach I don't think there is any chance of my returning to the States as a college coach. Even a professional job would take a lot of consideration.

"I don't consider the Winnipeg job a stepping stone to a bigger job in the States. I think there is a wonderful future up here, and I'll feel just as good winning in Canada as I would in the U.S."

STUKE SIGNS U.S. END

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coach Annis Stukus announced Wednesday that former Chicago Bear end Andy Hillhouse has signed a football contract with British Columbia Lions of the Western Conference.

A six-foot-four, 225-pounder from Texas, Hillhouse was named all-Southwest Conference end while with Texas A. and M. in 1947 and 1948.

Stukus also said that Don Hollingsworth, a 22-year-old fullback with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four the last two years, may be signed by Lions.

He said Hollingsworth, who intends to make his home in Vancouver, has been given permission to make a deal here.

CURLERS ELECT OFFICERS

EDMONTON (CP)—W. C. Boyd of Regina was elected president of the Canadian Curling Association at its annual meeting Wednesday.

It was decided to hold the 1955 session at Regina March 2, the day after the Canadian championships open there.

Emmett Smith of Bourlamaque, Que., was elected honorary president of the association.

R. A. Donohue of Halifax was named first vice-president, succeeding Mr. Boyd.

John Dutton of Winnipeg was elected second vice-president. Honorary secretary-treasurer is W. B. Cowan of Toronto.

CALL UP DEFENCEMAN

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Wednesday brought up defenceman Bingo Allen from their Sherbrooke farm club in the Quebec League.

A replacement was needed when it was learned that Marcel Pronovost, Detroit's veteran backliner, was suffering from a back injury as a result of being checked in the Wings' game last week against Chicago in Omaha, Neb.

Allen is getting his first crack at big time hockey at the age of 30. He's been playing minor league hockey for 12 years.

NEVER TOO OLD

THESSALON (CP)—Bill Phillips, 54-year-old sportsman, business man and former athlete, returned to the line-up and scored the winning goal as Thessalon Eagles defeated Blind River 5-2 in an Algoma District Senior Hockey League game here.

Hockey fans are amazed at the way that Phillips, who coaches the Eagles and plays once in a while, can still keep in step with the hard-hitting, fast-skating senior hockey players.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Billy Martin, hero of New York Yankees' 1953 world series victory over Brooklyn Dodgers, has received word that he must report for military service March 8.

BOMBERS COACH — Al (Lefty) Sherman, 32, former backfield coach with New York Giants of the National Football League, is the new coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Inter-provincial Football Union. He succeeds George Trafton, released earlier this year with one year remaining on a three-year contract. Sherman played quarterback with Philadelphia Eagles from 1943 to 1947 and was head coach of their farm team in the American Association, the Paterson Panthers of New Jersey. CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY STARTS — Rinks representing nine provinces are shown at the opening play in the 25th annual Canadian Curling Championships in Edmonton this week. Seen in action are rinks representing Nova Scotia, Quebec, Northern Ontario, British Columbia, Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. The New Brunswick rink did not compete in the opening draw. All 11 rinks were paraded into the Edmonton Gardens by a Highland pipe band and were welcomed by curling officials and representatives of the province of Alberta and the city.—(CP Photo).

Waterfront Fires

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Police are investigating the possibility that a firebug is at work after the fifth big waterfront fire in as many weeks caused an estimated $80,000 damage Wednesday night. The blaze destroyed a three-storey wooden lumber storage building at the Gloucester Marine Railway and damaged a fishing boat docked there for repairs.

Canada Overcomes Differences

SOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters) "Outstanding" Canadian playing in the world hockey championships here is overcoming differences in Canadian and European interpretation of rules, W. B. (Baldy) George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Wednesday.

However, he said, Toronto East York, representing Canada at the title games, have had to learn to stop checking their opponents into the boards.

"While the Europeans permit considerable interference, they allow no boarding," George, who is accompanying the team, explained.

Every team has its own style, he added, based upon the rules interpretation followed in its own country.

Despite the different interpretations, the CAHA chief said, "play has been aggressive, and the Canadians have been able to make good scores because of their finesse of play, speed, and outstanding goal keeping and defence."

Warsaw Victorious Over Hiawatha, 10-4

WARSAW (ENS) — Warsaw's community rink had its largest crowd this season (over 700) when Warsaw defeated Hiawatha 10-4 in the second game of the E.P.L. semi-finals. The game was fast and clean.

Warsaw opened the scoring when Brydges and Musgrave tallied to count. Griffen from Evans and Williams and Stan Lonsberry from Len Lonsberry put in a couple of quickies. Warsaw's third penalty was costly when Payne was off and Hiawatha got their first goal, Cowie from Stock. Vic Clements quickly retaliated and while Payne was still in the penalty box, he stick handled his way down the ice and outsmarted Atchison making the score 4-1 at the end of the first.

In the second, G. Darling from Len Lonsberry put Warsaw well out in front and then Payne rapped in another. Then at 6:27, the Lonsberry brothers did it up neat again when Len took a pass from Stan to beat the Hiawatha goalie. Hiawatha decided Warsaw had its share so Morgan with the aid of and at 13:00 Brydges scored from Musgrave to make the score 7-3 for Warsaw.

In the third Hiawatha opened the scoring when Close took a pass from Musgrave and beat Wingett. Mathews from Len Lonsbery tallied and at 11:00 S. Lonsberry took a pass from Clements and rapped it in. Len Lonsbery ended the scoring when he played it alone and scored making it 10-4 at the end of the third.

All the players played a fine game and Wingett in goal for Warsaw was very good. Len Lonsberry lead the scoring with two goals and two assists, Stan had two goals and one assist.

Warsaw: Goal, Wingett; defence, H. Darling, L. Crowe; centre, S. Lonsberry; wings, V. Clements, Mathews; alternates, G. Darling, L. Lonsberry, Payne, Watts, Williams, Friffen, Evans.

Large Crowd Enjoys Dick Bird's Lecture And Film On Natural Life

Peterborough Nature Club drew the major attraction of their lecture season when they presented movie-lecture Dick Bird at St. Peter's auditorium on Wednesday evening. More than 800 nature lovers crowded the hall, filling it to capacity while Mr. Bird gave running commentary to his latest lecture film "Alphabet of the Outdoors".

Although Mr. Bird was suffering from a heavy cold after coming to Peterborough after fulfilling 71 straight shows in the United States, his outdoor film made amends for the commentary that was at times rather hard to hear.

The scenario for the "Alphabet" was made up from sequences he and his wife had shot over wide areas of North and South America; during the last eight years. It was pleasingly planned in the alphabetical sequence.

There were tropical and temperate birds, animals, insects, flowers, turtles, fungus and fish shown in their natural habitats; a great many of them ultra close-ups that pleased the mixed audience from mere youngsters and there were many, to grandparents.

Mr. Bird's all-seeing camera revealed many things about wild creatures that the audience were unaware of until they saw them. There was, for instance, the membrane "windshield wipers" on the blinking eyes of owls and there were many fine shots of nervous animals such as fox in family groups and fights between male rudy ducks. Even the large constrictor snakes of the Amazon country were shown and, though loathsome, certain beauty could be seen in them.

Mr. Bird's wife, Ada, was his projectionist and during summer months in the field she ably handles a second movie camera to catch sequences that might be missed.

The Birds finish their lecturing at the end of March and plan to spend the summer near their home in Regina filming several thousand feet of color film on loons for Walt Disney nature films in Hollywood. In the summer of 1953 they spent all their time in the Canadian Rockies making pictures for Disney of mountain goats; some of the film was shown in his "Alphabet" screenings.

Executives of Peterborough Nature Club were very happy with the turnout on Wednesday evening and lost no time in speaking to the Birds to put the city on their tour next year. They know tha they will be the ace attraction.

DEFENSIVE REPTILE

CANADIAN COUNCIL OF CHRISTIANS AND JEWS, Peterborough chapter, received its charter on Wednesday evening from O. B. Roger, co-chairman of National Council. Guest speaker, the Rt. Hon. George Drew was also given a civic reception in Mayor Norman Graham's chambers in the city hall in the afternoon. He is shown at that function, top left photo, receiving tea from Alderman Alene Holt, and a second cup from Mrs. Graham in the lower right photo. Charter Presented To Chapter Of Council Christians, Jews

A year-old dream came true Wednesday night for librarian Bill Graff and other local citizens as the new Peterborough chapter of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews received its official charter.

Brotherhood Week has just ender but C. B. Roger, treasurer of Shell Oil and one of the three co-chairmen of the national council, expressed the hope that true brotherhood of men would make a Brotherhood Week obsolete. Mr. Roger presented the charter to the new Peterborough group.

The world is getting smaller, geographically, said Mr. Roger, "but we are still using obsolete working plans in our daily living." Every individual, he said, needs a "mental housecleaning to eliminate adolescent prejudices."

All religious groups hold to the same basic premises of amity, justice, understanding and co-operation said Mr. Roger. It is "up to us all" opearting from these premises to work towards an "ideal standard of human relations."

Although the services of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews are available to all, without limitations, Mr. Roger pointed out that 90 per cent of the council's operating capital comes from fewer than 300 contributors. He expressed the hope that all citizens, whatever their station in life or whatever the status of their pocketbook, would consider the aims of the Council as a personal responsibility.

CHAIN OF BROTHERHOOD

"This beautiful lift-lock city is part of a chain of brotherhood, forged from coast to coast," declared the Rev. Richard D. Jones, executive secretary of the national council, in introducting Mr. Roger and sketching the aims and purposes of the council. Peterborough, he said, has accepted a responsibility to help and see that brotherhood becomes a practical reality rather than just a. mellifluous phrase.

Religion is not reduced to "a weak common denominator," in the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, said Mr. Jones. On the contrary, he said, by promoting the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the spiritual interpretation of the universe it makes each religion more vital and more securely anchored in the timeless tenents of its own faith.

Mr. Jones recalled that the Canadian Council was organized six years ago and "at that time the Council was me." He sketched the early struggles of the organization, the doubt and apathy with which the movement was greeted in some quarters, and its gradual expansion across the country. Recently regional head-quarters have been established in Montreal and in Calgary.

Bill Graff is the man who has been "constantly pushing and keeping the aims of brotherhood alive in Peterborough." He said that Mr. Graff is "one of Peterborough first citizens." Then, sweeping his eyes over the audience he noted that "one lady isn't clapping quite as loudly as some but I'm sure she agrees wholeheartedly." The lady was Vivien Graff, wife of the librarian.

FIRST CITIZEN

This tribute was echoed by Fred J. Overend, one of the three co-chairmen of the Peterborough chapter and the man who received the charter from Mr. Roger on behalf of the local group. He suggested "in all humility" that Mr. Graff should be the first choice for Peterborough's citizen of the year.

The "sympathetic, active and healthy co-operation" of every citizen is needed to spread the ideals of brotherhood said Mr. Overend. He said that the charter itself could mean little without not only the interest but the active support of all, through all 52 weeks of the year.

Mr. Graff's main job last night was introducing "one of the best head tables I've seen." Pausing to pay tribute to guest speaker George Drew "who raised grants to the library from $270 to $12,000 he introduced the following:

The Rev. A. A. Mathews, Rabbi O'Donoghue, W. C. Grant, Mrs. Harry Cherney, T. J. Carley, Mr. Drew, Judge John de N. Kennedy, O. B. Roger, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, the Rev. Richard Jones, Mayor Norman Graham, Fred Overend, Isadore Black, and William Hamilton. The latter three are the Peterborough chapter co-chairmen.

Civic greetings were presented by Mayor Graham. W. C. Grant, reeve of Lakefield brought the best wishes of Peterborough county on behalf of Warden Willard Waterman who was unable to be on hand.

Presiding over the banquet was Judge Kennedy. The invocation was given by Dr. O'Donoghue. Dinner music was provided by Charles Allen at the piano.

A Community Fund Agency

Preventing Abuse to Animals Basic Aim of Humane Society

Over a 15-year period the farmer constantly abused his fine horses. They were poorly-housed, ill-fed, maltreated. One of the horses had a splinter of copper inserted in his hoof because the farmer wanted to ward off evil spirits.

A man wanted to get rid of his cat, since it had scratched him. He took it by the legs and repeatedly banged its head against a stone wall.

Another man had a beautiful Airedale dog which he could no longer keep. One morning he took it outside, flipped a rope around its neck and left it to strangle to death hanging from a tree.

The Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign for $100,000 will commence on March 8 and continue for two weeks. Ten agencies of which the Humane Society is one all receive help from the fund.

These are but a few of the gruesome stories in the casebook of Mrs. Anna B. Hamilton, president of the Peterborough Humane society. They show that society must always be on guard against the sadistic, malevolent and thoughtless specimen of the human race who treat their animals, or those of others, or strays, with cruel, callous indifference to the animal's well-being.

NOT SPOILSPORTS

The Peterborough Humane Society is not a group of sentimentalist spoilsports. They are all animal-lovers to be sure, but their aim is simply to see that people observe the rudiments of civilized behavior towards those who have no power to fight back.

One of the most popular misconceptions of Humane society work is the notion that the group spends its time propagandizing that animals should be codled, beribboned and generally treated with cloying sentimentality. This often does almost as much harm to a healthy animal as mistreatment.

Many cases of cruelty right here in Peterborough, or in the county, are almost too fantastic to believe. But the documentary evidence, the society feels, should be proof enough that the organization needs money from the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign in order to carry on.

The Society lost track of the hundreds of dollars it spent on the farmer who abused his horses. Time after time society representatives would visit the farm and find animals left out to die, mares foaling in a blizzard, or gaunt and emaciated geldings starved and forgotten. A fusilade of shotgun shells was the usual greeting of the society's representatvies.

Finally the Ontario Humane society ordered a sale of this man's horses. He forcibly tried to stop the sale and later tried to rustle the horses back from neighbors who had bought them. Eventually he bought more horses and the same depressing story repeated itself. But if the farmer was stubborn, the society was stubborner and the battle continued, ending only with the death of the farmer.

Locally much of the society's work is with stray animals, and this is often the most hearbreaking aspect of the group's activities. Stray dogs are taken to the society's shelter and if unclaimed after 48 hours, are electrocuted by shelter supervisor Bruce Menzies.

Mrs. Hamilton feels that if more people stopped to think of the inevitably high mortality rate at the shelter there would be far fewer animals unclaimed. The group does its best to see that as many animals as possible get good homes, and in the case of exceptionally fine animals arranges to sell them if no owner is found. But there are still many perfectly healthy animals who must be killed because humanity is indifferent.

mane society tersely observed:

Or as one member of the Hu- "A dog may be man's best friend, but a man is certainly not a dog's best friend."

In January the society was bitter about indifference on the municipal level. When the mercury was at the bottom of the thermometer, dogs were cowering at the bottom of their unheated cages at the animal shelter. It was not, however, better to die for the cold had damaged the electrocution chamber and the executions were an agonizing and drawn-out process. When apprised of the state of affairs at the unheated shelter, Mayor Norman Graham installed a heater.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Public indifference to the vital work of the society is reflected in the poor attendance at the society's regular public meetings. The executive feels that all who own dogs or cats and indeed all citizens can benefit from these meetings. Authorities on all types of animal behavior and treatment are invited to be guest speakers. At the last meeting, for example, a veterinarian spoke on how to administer medicine to a dog. This lecture was needed because many people just force the animal's mouth open and pour it in.

Perhaps it is some salve for the conscience of Peterborough city and county that many cases do not involve conscious cruelty. But this is a mixed blessing for the neglect cases are often more difficult to pinpoint. Typical cases often involve household pets left to forage for themselves while the householder is away, sick horses put out to pasture and forgotten, workhorses unwittingly worked too hard.

Each legitimate complaint to come to the society must be investigated. Often there must be follow-up trips until the mileage cost is almost prohibitive. Then there is the problem of keeping the streets clear of strays, both to protect the animals and the city. None of these things can be done without money.

There have been almost as many corny jokes about dog-catchers as there have been about mothers-in-law and the usual caricature of the dog catcher is a cruel ogre out to eliminate as many animals as possible from the face of the earth. Nothing could be further from the truth, and few jobs could be more heartbreaking than Bruce Menzies'.

For some dogs, death is the inevitable sequel to a round-up, but if there is any other choice the Society will take it. And often humanity demands a quick and merciful end.

PREVENTION OF ABUSE

But if all the Peterborough Humane Society did was keep the dog population at a stable level, they would have difficulty making a case for community support for their work. Much the more vital aspect of the program is prevention of abuse, and punishment for those who are guilty.

Prevention of abuse, says Mrs. Hamilton, is one of the basic aims of the society. If people can be taught to respect the rights of other animals, who differ from man only in being a little less intelligent, it would be a far happier community.

If the public were so educated that cruelty and abuse to animals ceasd to be, the Peterborough Humane society would simply fade away. And a society in which there would be need for a Humane society would be a wonderful one in which to live.

But since people are, if anything, becoming more callous the Sociey needs to expand. It must be ever vigilant to see the animal population's Bill of Rights is respected.

On the Humane Society rolls ther are 100 members, a figure which the executives hopes will grow considerably in 1954. The slate of officers is as follows:

President, Mrs. Anna B. Hamilton; First Vice-president, Miss June Fraser; Second Vice-president, Mrs. May Macdonald; Third Vice-president, Claire Stuart; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. W. Cole; Corresponding secretary. Mrs. A. D. Young; Treasurer, Miss Effie Wood; Social Convenor, Mrs. Phyllis Denne.

A LONE VIGIL is maintained by George Osceola, an 80-year-old Florida Seminole Indian who appears to be taking life in Washington in barefoot stride, as he poses amiably in native garb on a bench near the Capitol building. He and other Seminoles are in Washington for hearings on legislation regarding federal control for Indians.

Will Erect Statue Of Late Monarch George VI

LONDON (AP) — Plans for a £100,000 statue of the late king George VI, to be erected in a "noble setting" in London, were disclosed today by trustees of the £1,630,000 King George VI Foundation.

Another £985,000 will be spent on training and recreation for British youth and £440,000 will go for adult recreational and welfare projects, the announcement said.

Funds for the foundation were raised by public subscription after the king's death February, 1952.

A booklet giving details of how the money will be used said Queen Elizabeth has approved the appointment of William McMillan as sculptor of the statue. McMillan also created the statue of the late King's father, King George V, which stands in Calcutta.

The booklet said the site of George VI's statue will not be disclosed until the Queen, now touring the Commonwealth, has approved it.

Architect of the statue's setting will be Louis de Soissons, who designed the new British foreign office.

FUND ALLOCATIONS

The largest allocation from the fund is £500,000 for the leadership training project for young people. Its purpose will be to enable voluntary organizations to "develop and extend leadership training for boys, girls and adult leaders."

Other allocations include:

For a national youth recreation centre scheme £400,000. It will be used to develop existing play centres and build new ones.

For youth hostels, to be open to young people from overseas as well as those of the United Kingdom, £85,000.

For an old-people's recreational club development scheme; £200,000.

For a general adult recreational club scheme, £200,000.

For a social service scheme for old people, £40,000. It will assist in training of those engaged in their care and welfare.

Co-operation Sought With Unions

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — The sixth annual Canadian convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) decided Wednesday to seek increased co-operation with other unions.

A resolution approving this action was passed with the aim of making greater efforts in 1954 to reunite the labor movement.

It was also agreed that the union would continue concentrating on organizing workers in the mining, milling and smelting districts in the northern part of the Prairie provinces and in the Timmins and Noranda areas in northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec.

Jim Byrne, Liberal member of Parliament for Kootenay East and a former president of the Kimberly local of the union, told the convention that Canada must expand its trade as possibly one means of solving the unemployment problem.

Mr. Byrne, still a member of the union, said greater trade is not the entire answer. The construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and the pipeline to bring Alberta natural gas to eastern Canada would also ease the situation.

Neil Thibault of Sudbury was elected by acclamation to the newly-established office of vice-president of the Canadian Mine-Mill council. Fifteen others were nominated but declined to run.

Royal A Success

GUELPH (CP)—The 1954 College Royal at the Ontario Agricultural College ended Wednesday a success. Wednesday was the last day of the college show and normally is the big day. Slushy snow prevented the 5,000-turnout the show has had in the past, but it did attract about 3,000 visitors.

ANCIENT CORN—Fossilized cobs found in a bat cave in New Mexico shed new light on the origin of corn. Paul C. Mangelsdorf, Harvard professor, holds a 5500-year-old cob, hardly bigger than a present-day kernel.

Lindsay Building $96,800 For 2 Months

LINDSAY (ENS) — The total value of building permits in Lindsay for 1953 was near $100,000 for the first two months of the year, according to town assessor Harold Beatty.

Permits for February totalled some $53,000, while total permits for the year reached a figure of $96,800. Residential permits represent some $60,000 of the figure to date.

THE TOWERING tresses of this French beauty are supposed to emulate the extravagant coiffure of Marie-Antoinette. A Paris hairdresser used plastic fibres to create the ceiling-sweeping hairdo. Austrian Seaman Cannot Find Place To Live

BALTIMORE (AP)—The freighter Trojan Seaman sailed today from Baltimore with Charles Slanina, 56-year-old Austrian-born seaman, still aboard after a last desperate attempt to re-enter the United States.

Without a country he wants to call home, Slanina finds himself trapped in a maze of immigration laws, changing political boundaries and costly mistakes dating back more than three decades.

Slanina dejectedly told his story Wednesday night over a cup of coffee in the small messroom of the Trojan Seaman.

It all started with a mistake, "a bad mistake I made."

"I came over here in 1922 from Czechoslovakia and jumped ship. I worked as a machinist in New York for a long time before I took out my first naturalization papers.

"But I was scared. Scared to get my second papers and try to become a citizen because I thought I might get deported.

"So, I did nothing, now look where I am."

BECAME SEAMAN

In 1920 he returned to his homeland, was a minor government official for a time and two years later shipped to the United States as a merchant seaman.

With a passport renewable each year from the Czech consulate in New York, Slanina said he was told he could get his citizenship if he spent five years actual sailing time on U.S. ships.

All went well until the post-war rise of a Red government in Czechoslovakia. The consulate which issued his papers was closed and the passport became invalid.

U.S. immigration officials told Slanina he still had seven months sailing time to go before he could become a candidate for U. S. citizenship.

He got a temporary document, "in lieu of passport" and in early December, 1952, shipped out with the Trojan Seaman.

REFUSED RE-ENTRY

Then the McCarran immigration laws became effective, and Slanina, without a valid visa or passport, was refused re-entry. He's been aboard the Trojan Seaman ever since.

Govt. Proposes Protection For Neglected Children

TORONTO (CP) — Greater protection for neglected children and infants available for adoption was proposed in a sweeping revision of existing child welfare legislation presented in the Ontario legislature Wednesday.

The new act, a consolidation of three outdated acts, proposed appointment of a director supervising all aspects of child welfare and the setting of prison terms and fines for parents who neglect their children for an unreasonable length of time and for persons who give or receive money in the adoption of a child.

The act, presented by Welfare Minister Goodfellow, would become effective Jan. 1, 1955.

The house will not sit today in respect for W. B. Harvey, Progressive Conservative member for Nipissing, who died Monday.

In reference to the child welfare legislation, Mr. Goodfellow said the province is "more or less dealing in human flesh and I think we should have protection for the children who may be victims."

NO BLACK MARKETING

The proposed legislation calls for a maximum $2,000 fine and-or a three-year prison term against persons involved in money transactions in the adoption of a child.

"In case there should be black marketing of babies—and we do not think that any black marketing is going on in Ontario—we are inserting this section in the act," Mr. Goodfellow said.

A maximum one-year jail term and-or a $500 fine was proposed against persons leaving children under 10 years of age unattended for an unreasonable length of time.

Emotional neglect and the incompetence of parents were added as new grounds for neglect.

Rights and protection regarding religious faiths would be extended to religious faiths other than Roman Catholic and Protestant. An illegitimate child would be deemed to have the religious faith of his mother.

Temporary wardship would be limited to 24 months and the power to terminate permanent wardship would be transferred from the administrative to the judicial level. The age limit on wardship would be reduced from 21 to 18, except in special circumstances.

Quebec Gov't Admits Children Were On Roads' Payroll In 1952

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Liberal opposition in the Quebec legislative assembly Wednesday raised the question of child labor hired by the Union Nationale government and drew from it an admission that children were on the payroll of the roads department during the 1952 election.

The government said the practice was stopped as soon as it was brought to its attention. Liberal leader Georges Lapalme charged the department had hired children between seven and 12 years of age.

Mr. Lapalme presented a list of 15 names of children in Bonaventure riding in Gaspe who allegedly had received cheques ranging from $5 to $30 for road work. Roads Minister Talbot said that when the irregularities were brought to his attention, he immediately ordered all payments stopped. He said the minimum age now for road work is 17.

Provincial treasurer C. H. Fines presented the 1954-55 budget to the Saskatchewan legislature and estimated surplus on revenue account at $300,000. The budget calls for revenues of $78,415,000 and estimated spending of $78,119,000—the largest in the province's history. The surplus for 1952-53 was $14,890,700.

ACCURACY BOX-SCORE

The British Columbia legislature heard a Social Credit member urge that newspapers be asked to publish an accuracy box-score. Mrs. Lydia Arsens, who said she had been misquoted recently in a newspaper in her home riding of Victoria, proposed that newspapers carry a front page box-score, which would begin with the paper showing a 100 per cent. accuracy figure.

However, one percentage point would be deducted each time a citizen could prove the newspaper had made a mistake, deliberate or otherwise.

The Manitoba legislature was told that a 5,000,000-acre clay belt sprawling across the Hudson bay railway may become Manitoba's most northerly agricultural region. Agriculture Minister R. D. Robertson said the clay belt is in the Thicket Portage-Wawbowden area on the railway to Churchill.

Provincial Treasurer Fielding, tabling the public accounts in the Nova Scotia legislature, reported the province had a $2,753,000 surplus in the fiscal year ending last March 31. Premier Macdonald's Liberal government had estimated it would end the fiscal year with a $919,000 surplus, an increase of $400,000 over the previous year.

Dogs To Help

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Police fighting to stamp out the marijuana trade on this island are going to get some help from specially trained police dogs. Three Jamaican policemen have gone to England to learn how to handle the canine detectives.

P. Salonius Victor "Y" Handicap Swim

In the YMCA weekly handicap swim, Peter Salonius was the winner by a touch from Roger Finnamore. Wayne Ash was a close third, and a new recruit, Gary McInroy, placed fourth in his first race.

The event, 100 yards free style, was keenly contested and nine swimmers out of the 18 who took part improved their best times for the distance, namely, Roger Finnamore, Ken Stickle, Edgar Scrutton, Peter Salonius, Wayne Ash, Barry Baker, Gary McInroy, Terry Northrop and Michael Triggs.

David Ross was the winner of the swimming club shield for the month of February with a total of 31 points earned. Barry Baker was second with 30. The swimmers are preparing for the dual meet with Trinity College schools to be held on March 13.

Stop Liquor Advertisements

A baptismal service was conducted by the Rev. L. T. Pocock, of Millbrook, in St. George's on the Hill, when the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harris was baptised Wendy Marie. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harris of this village and Mrs. Clapperton of Baltimore, a sister of Mrs. Kenneth Harris.

Mr. Dennis Lloyd of Trenton, spent the week-end with his wife and children at the rectory, where they have been living for the past month. Mrs. Lloyd was formerly Marguerite Bingham of Cobourg and Peterborough.

Mr. Bill Meggs left for Ottawa on Sunday to spend the next three months in taking an accounting course. Mr. Robert Meggs, Toronto, spent a day at his home recently.

Pine Forests Being Cut Too Quickly

TORONTO (CP)—White and red pine are being cut twice as fast as they should be for a proper perpetual yield policy, J. S. Sharpe, head of the Ontario division of timber management said Wednesday.

Mr. Sharpe told the legislature's lands and forests committee that at the present rate of cutting Ontario's red and white pine would be liquidated and it would take 67 years to catch up.

At present the department is adopting a "slow down" policy of the amount of pine that can be used for mills.

Alistair Johnston, (PC — Parry Sound) said he believed the decline of yellow birch was more serious as it takes more than 100 years for the growth of a mature tree.

"Around Parry Sound in the last 10 years yellow birch has been disappearing like snow in spring," he said.

Department officials said the reforesting of yellow birch now is under way.

Mr. Gemmell said legislation will be introduced at the current session compelling companies to provide reforestation to ensure a second crop.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads — dissolve them. Get two ounces of PEROXINE POWDER from any drug store and apply generously with wet, hot cloth over blackheads. They dissolve and disappear by this safe simple method.

PUERTO RICO REGRETS—Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, of Puerto Rico (right) talks with President Eisenhower at the White House after flying to Washington from San Juna, to express his regret to the President and other U.S. officials over the shooting of five Congressmen by Puerto Rican Nationalists.

Will Discuss Industrial Decentralization

TORONTO (CP) — Development Minister Warrender said Wednesday the first regional meeting for the study of industrial decentralization will be held in Toronto May 11-13.

Mr. Warrender told the legislature that delegates from eastern Ontario, who earlier met with Premier Frost and officials of the planning department, would attend the first meeting.

The minister said the department has laid out the province into regions and it was the over-all plan to prepare for a broad, orderly development of land on the provincial level and the specialized problems of the municipalities.

Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver said that up until now "the net results of the department have been pretty well to make the large cities larger and to bring no relief to the outlying communities."

Mr. Warrender said the larger areas are growing, "they are not growing larger because of our part."

"We cannot tell industries where to go but we can advise them. . . Our policy is one of decentralization and it will continue to be."

Cancellation Of Allowances

TORONTO (CP) — An increased number of cancellations of 'mothers' allowances due to a more adequate income was recorded during the year ending March 31, 1953, the annual report of the provincial welfare department shows.

"This is a heartening sign of increasing prosperity in the province leading to a higher degree of self-sufficiency on the part of families who might otherwise require public support," said Welfare Minister Goodfellow in tabling the report in the legislature Wednesday.

The percentage of cancellations increased to 24 per cent from four per cent in the previous year.

Although the number receiving the allowances had decreased by 127 to 7,621 from the previous year, expenditures had increased by $400,000 to $6,717,595. The increase was due chiefly to a larger number of persons receiving fuel allowance and special assistance.

Young Modern Brings Bible Up To Date

The creative imagination of a Sunday school pupil made news in The Weekly News, a weekly pictorial newspaper published in Glasgow, Scotland. It found its way there by way of a Toronto magazine.

The story is quoted here:

"The teacher in a junior Sunday school at Lakefield, Ontario, was presented with a large box of plasticine by the parents of one of the pupils.

"At the next class she handed out plasticine to her youngsters.

"Then she asked them to make a model to illustrate one of the Bible stories she'd read to them.

"One six-year-old made an elaborate and very detailed model of Noah's Ark.

"He stood back to admire his handiwork. Then he proceeded to add a TV aerial to the roof."

Impersonated Officer, Fined

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Lindsay district man, Frank Presley, was given two years suspended sentence in magistrate's court Wednesday when he appeared on a charge of impersonating a peace officer and was convicted.

Presley was charged on February 19 after he had told his landlady in Lindsay that he was an officer of the department of lands and forests and was in town on a deer case. Presley is not connected with the department Lindsoy officer Walton said today.

Under examination Presley said he had been intoxicated when he told the woman about his official position but explained that since he had wanted to be a game warden and had spoken to others previously about his desire it might have come out of a drunken conversation. Magistrate R. I. Moore assessed costs of $18.50 or fifteen days with the sentence.

JUST LIKE WARSAW

A group of fans adjourned from Civic Arena last night to Bert McLeod's store to await the arrival of the Orillia hockey team. They had nearly an hour's session, and it transpired that Cec Hayes had taken in the Hiawatha game at Warsaw this week, impressed with the fact that except for artificial ice machinery the Dummer community's rink appears at night to be on par with the Arena. News that Orillia was in at 9:40 ended the conversations with approval of the Warsaw enterprise.

WOMEN'S WORK PRIZES

The home department committee of which Mrs. Floyd Curtis is chairman has completed the prize list for this branch of Peterborough Exhibition. Women who are interested in this feature may obtain advance copies some time next week when they arrive from the publisher. Applications may be made by telephone to No. 25781 or by letter to the secretary of the Exhibition board, Mrs. J. T. Tully, at Morrow Park.

HE TOOK THE TRAIN

A Toronto man returning from Belleville to his home early Wednesday evening had trouble enough on Highway 2 even as far as Port Hope. He drove on, to the Welcome intersection. Snow blowing, surface glare ice in spots, and both east and west traffic stalled up and down the hill. The driver turned back, drove to the CNR station, bought a ticket to Toronto. "I have an appointment for nine in the morning. I want to get there". He did, in an hour and a half on the main line 8:33 p.m. train. He expects to return as soon as weather permits to pick up his car in Port Hope.

Good Driller Killed By Ambition

Fellow Workers Say Buck Industrious, Ahead Of Schedule

Perhaps if William John Buck hadn't been such an industrious workman he would have been alive today. Fellow workmen told a coroner's jury, Monday, that Buck "was a good worker," and, "he didn't like standing around doing nothing." Apparently he went ahead with his drilling before the area was properly checked.

A five-man jury ruled that Buck was killed between 3.00 and 4.00 p.m. February 15 at the Nepheline Mine when a steel drill, operated by the deceased, came in contact with dynamite sometime previously loaded in a secondary drill hole.

The jury recommended "That when secondary blasting takes place, a count of any missed holes be given to the pit supervisor who could, when the safety factor permits, order said missed holes to be marked and disposed of."

A compound fracture of the skull was said to be the cause of death.

Dr. H. E. Gastle, of Lakefield, said that Buck was dead by the time he arrived, but that there was "nothing to indicate the man wasn't in good health prior to the accident."

NEAR SCENE

"The last thing that Buck saw doing was drilling, when I saw him alive," said Ardon Myers, of Lakefield. He said he was near the scene of the accident waiting for his truck to be loaded.

"What did you notice to be the first sign of danger?" asked Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw.

"I saw him go up in the air and heard the report. Saw the rocks in the air, other than the man. I was about 30 to 40 feet away . . . turned my head and ducked." He said he and Jim Wanamaker had got into the truck after Wanamaker had gone over to Buck and said, "It was no use." They went in search of the pit supervisor, Reg Mathews.

Mr. Wanamaker said he turned his head and saw Buck just as the accident occurred, and that "he was in full operation."

"I seen him go in the air and come down . . . just the form on the ground. I ran over—there was an instant of pause—soon as I could get there. Didn't touch him, but knew we needed a stretcher." It took "approximately four minutes" to return with the stretcher, he said. "I would say he (Buck) was dead by the time the truck reached the blacksmith's shop about three or four minutes later.

LEFT TO HIMSELF

"I'd say there was a breath of life in him when we arrived with the stretcher," said Mathews, but thought he was dead when they got him to the shop. He said Buck was on secondary drilling (drilling rock from the initial blast that is too large for the grinding machines), but that he had no detailed instructions. "More or less left to himself . . . He's hired as a driller or set up as a driller. Powder men check the hole after the initial blast," said Mathews.

Mathews said the powder that Buck-drilled into hadn't been put there that day "or for at least two months." He explained that secondary holes are checked by powder men and drillmen, but that this particular hole must have been loaded, left unexploded and covered by mud or snow.

He said "Buck had no orders to start on this particular piece sticking out. In my opinion he was a guy who didn't like to be standing around doing nothing . . . he was ambitious. Other blasting had probably covered the old secondary hole after it

OVER SHE GOES—The stocky chimney, left standing in the ruins of the Loblaw store after the fire a month ago, was pulled over today as wrecking crews started cleaning out the gutted store. At present Loblaws are considering the possibility of rebuilding the George St. store. Peterborough Textile Mills Hit By Low-Priced Imports

Peterborough, too, is feeling the economic pinch caused by the general depression in the Canadian textile industry. There has been a loss of business because of cheap foreign competition, and this has resulted in a 21 per cent drop in employment. Last year at this time the payroll of five Peterborough companies manufacturing clothing was 322 men and women. Today that number has been reduced to 253. Dominion Woolens and Worsteds Ltd., who have a plant on McDonnel St. and are engaged, chiefly, in the machine knitting trade, are the most seriously depressed. Their business has dropped off badly and the number of production workers has dropped from 167 to 116.

Things are much worse at their sister plant in Hespeler. There the production workers last Sunday voted 163 to 39 to take a wage cut of 13 per cent on their gross earnings. The work week will remain at 45 hours, though some employees are working short time.

NOT IN PETERBOROUGH

"That situation doesn't affect our mill," Robert Merrett, manager of the Peterborough plant, said today. But he declined to speculate on what the future might bring.

"We have no similar plans for Peterborough," said Henry Barrett, president and chairman of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, referring to the voluntary wage cut. "Production is quite different. In Hespeler it's worsteds and woollens — cloth; in Peterborough it's yarns."

"We're not nearly as busy as we were," said Mr. Merrett. "There's been a severe loss in business because of foreign competition."

This was enlarged upon in a speech today by Mr. Barrett addressing the company's annual meeting at the Royal York Hotel.

"We are faced with a struggle to keep our mills in operation while foreign textiles, made by workers paid less than half the wages paid by Canadian textile markets," said Mr. Barrett . . . "We are being pushed out of our own market by goods . . . that enter Canada under the lowest tariff of any major world textile-producing country.

"I do not believe in excluding imports," he said. "Imports in a reasonable amount act as a stimulant to domestic industry. In excessive amounts—and on an unreasonable cost basis—they kill it."

Well, what's to be done about it? Mr. Barrett's solution (though he didn't use the expression) was to admit wool-cloth competition on a quota basis. The idea was praised by two Peterborough executives who know the business, James M. Heffernan, manager of Peterborough Elastic Co. and Colonial Weaving Co., and Gordon Monkman, general manager of G. Whitaker and Co. Ltd.

Only a certain percentage of the market would be available to outsiders.

"What percentage of the domestic market should be served by the Canadian wool-cloth industry"? asked Mr. Barret, rhetorically.

U.S. 95 PER CENT

"The United States' government for their own market says 95 per cent. I suggest this is too high for the Canadian economy. Perhaps a 75 per cent share of our market would be reasonable. The jobs of more than 80,000 Canadians depend on a healthy Canadian primary textile industry.

"If imports cause unemployment in a sound industry, tariffs are too low."

Barrett pointed out that 18 mills have been closed in the last six months from Nova Scotia to Alberta. Thousands have been thrown out of work and whole communities have been "economically crippled".

"Meanwhile Canada's bargaining agents continue to honor agreements made under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, the spirit of which has not been honored by the countries most responsible for the slump in the textile industry and other industries: the United States and Great Britain.

"For the wool-cloth industry," Mr. Barrett concluded, "imports from Great Britain are the greatest problem. We must certainly buy goods from Great Britain to enable them to earn dollars to buy our wheat and other primary products. But should the Canadian textile industry be sacrificed to this end? I do not believe it should. It is too well-established and important to Canada. There are many products that can be imported from Britain and elsewhere without endangering careers and establishments in any one section of the Canadian industrial economy."

A. Cecil Wolff of the Albion Knitting Co. Ltd., Park St., said that business in his plant was about as good as a year ago. There are normally about 20 employees and that is the present working force.

Albion Knitting manufacture knitted athletic outside wear. This is a specialty line that is more flexible than the average manufacturer can meet. Today they are

Bob Graham Heads Naval Association

Bob Graham has been elected president of the Peterborough Naval Association for 1954. He succeeds James Hamilton in that office.

Mr. Graham, who was secretary in 1953, was elected at the annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday at the Canadian Legion.

Here is this year's slate of officers: Bob Graham, president; Cecil McClennan, vice-president; Charles (Pete) Meridew, secretary; Tom Bradley, treasurer; and executive members, John D'Angelontonio, Eric Kimball, Bill Moore, Bob Robertson and Ken Remnant.

Lou Durkin, president of Branch 52, Canadian Legion, was scrutineer and installed the new officers.

At the business session it was decided to donate $100 to the Legion's Poppy Fund for welfare work among ex-servicemen.

It was also announced that there would be a membership campaign to sign up naval veterans in the association. At present there are 55 members.

Missionaries Appeal For Organs For Africa

The Rev. J. Arthur Steed, superintendent of the United church and ex-African missionary, who is now residing in Peterborough is making an appeal for a number of organs for African churches. The circumstances are these. When Mr. Steed was in Angola, West Africa, he trained a choir of 600 Africans to sing the Hallelujah Chorus in four parts and the whole of the cantata, Esther, the Beautiful Queen. The people amongst whom he worked, are very musical. The organist of that choir became the music teacher at the central schools at Dondi teaching students from seven mission stations to play. Decentralization is rapidly taking place so that instead of one mission station church in a region of 100 miles square there are being built six or eight regional churches. These require organs. Mr. Steed's son, the Rev. Harold Steed, BSA, has taken his father's place and is living in the house his father built. He was here in Peterborough at the United church exhibition last year. He has sent asking if organs could be secured. Many people have cottage organs they no longer require. If they would like to present one and contact Mr. Steed at 612 Centre St. or telephone 9234, he would see to the rest, repairing the organs and sending them out to Africa at a cost of about $200 each.

Loblaw's May Rebuild Burned-out Store

The Loblaw company is exploring the possibility of rebuilding its Peterborough George St. store, gutted in a $600,000 fire February 11.

Ralph Tambling of the drafting department in Loblaw's head office in Toronto, told the Examiner today that tentative costs schedules are now being prepared. But it is "too early to say" whether or not a new building will go up. This depends on whether these cost reports show that rebuilding would be a paying proposition.

Meanwhile Carl P. Greensides, manager of the burned George St. store said that he was "not at liberty to discuss" any plans Loblaw's may have for rebuilding.

George Drew Admires City Hall

Peterborough's city hall got another plug from a distinguished visitor Wednesday afternoon when the Hon. George Drew was guest of honor at a civic reception in the mayor's parlor.

Officially greeted by Mayor Norman Graham, the former Ontario premier and present leader of the opposition in the Canadian House of Commons, recalled that it was just 25 years ago he was first elected an alderman in Guelph.

"So I have a special interest in municipal buildings, particularly your wonderful modern city hall," he told the group of city officials and representatives of the city council, utilities commission, board of education and separate school board.

Mr. Drew expressed particular pleasure in the fact that the building was free of debt.

"I haven't seen a more attractive council chamber anywhere," he said. "I'm sure surroundings like this help in the deliberations of city business."

One of those present at the reception received an especially warm greeting from the visitor. This was Ald. Art Burrows, who was Mr. Drew's comrade in the 16th Battery, RCA, during the First World War.

City Clerk E. A. Outram conducted Mr. Drew on a tour of the city hall.

Mr. Drew was accompanied at the reception by Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough, who drove his party leader from Ottawa Wednesday afternoon through a blinding snowstorm and received commendation from his passenger on his skill.

PARKED CAR HIT

One minor accident was reported Wednesday in front of the home of James A. Innes, 158 Parkhill. The Innes' car, parked at the curb, received about $60 damage when hit by a car driven by Audrey E. Hunter, 23, and owned by Georg M. Hunter, 619 Union St. Police said the Hunter car was backing up at the time and received about $25 damage. PC Gerald Emmons investigated.

51 From McGill St. Attend Court Appeal Assessment

The court of revision resembled an old-fashioned town meeting Wednesday night when 51 ratepayers from McGill St. turned up at the general committee room of city hall to appeal their assessments. Although only two of the appellants were heard, the single issue was the allegation that neighboring properties were affected by noise, dust, smoke and flies from nearby Exhibition Park. The proceedings were punctuated by words of protest from the floor and murmured dissent as four witnesses gave evidence for the city. At one point, chairman John Harstone called for order.

It took 3½ hours to hear the appeals of Riley Bowen and William Andrews, of 345 and 266 McGill St., although about half an hour was taken up by a discussion of procedure, part of it resulting from the fact that the city had appointed Robert Carley as counsel.

"If we had known that there was going to be a lawyer here tonight, we might have had one to act for us," one of the audience told the court.

(Many of the appellants had appeared at earlier hearings of the court. But when it appeared they were appealing on similar grounds, Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis explained, the hearings were adjourned until Wednesday night.)

"There's nothing unusual about the city having a lawyer here," Mr. Harstone said. "If you feel you are prejudiced by this, we will adjourn at once."

SET DATES

After a 15-minute adjournment, Mr. Harstone announced that dates would be set for subsequent hearings and any adjustments could be made by consulting the assessment commissioner, who then prepared a schedule of nightly hearings lasting until March 15.

Mr. Harstone explained that any appellant who wished could appoint someone to cross-examine the city's witnesses; or the group could elect someone to act for them all. But each appellant's consent to someone acting for him had to be stated in writing.

"Each case is to be treated individually," he said. "This court has no intention of restricting your rights in any manner and the evidence must be taken separately."

The first appellant, Mr. Bowen, said he was bothered by flies from Exhibition Park and the smell of manure from the horse-barn.

The smell was a nuisance when the wind was in the north-west and he was bothered with flies all summer long.

"Sit on the back porch and you would be smothered with flies pretty nearly all day if it was warm at all," he claimed.

He said the noise from sports events and entertainments was loud enough that it could be heard in the house, even with the doors closed.

"Do you think those conditions have affected the value of your property?" asked Mr. Harstone.

WOULDN'T BUY

"If you wanted to sell it and somebody came down there and saw the conditions, they wouldn't want to buy it," answered Mr. Bowen.

Cross-questioned by Mr. Carley, Mr. Bowen said the noise was from loudspeakers during sports events and races. He admitted he hadn't seen the pile of manure near the horse-barn since fall. He said the races left a film of dust on his front porch that had to be swept up.

It turned out that the second appellant, Mr. Andrews, was counselled by Frank Foster, QC, on account of his deafness. Mr. Andrews attributed the dust both to horse races and stock-car races.

"If you were down there sometimes when they run those motor races, you would see a cloud of dust like a snowstorm," he said.

The amount of dust was such that he had to close his windows, even on hot nights.

He said he wasn't bothered by football practices or softball games in the daytime.

"You have to be reasonable," he said. "They have to keep the boys off the streets."

But he said he could hear the loudspeaker in his house with the doors shut. And it was impossible to carry on a conversation in his back yard.

It was the odor that was the real nuisance. When there was a wind on a wet day, there was an odor from the pig and sheep pens.

Sometimes the clothes had to be taken off the line because of the smoke from burning rubbish, he said.

Showing pictures of Mr. Andrews' property to the court, Mr. Foster commented, "He has a beautiful back yard which he can't use under these conditions."

The assessment commissioner was first witness for the city and explained in detail how Mr. Andrew's assessment had been computed, comparing the base rate with properties on other streets in the city.

NO CONSIDERATION

He said that he hadn't given any consideration at all to the alleged nuisance caused by proximity of any property to Exhibition Park and had very little personal knowledge of the nuisance.

The second witness for the city was John Kitney, chairman of the Exhibition board. He said the track was used for stock-car racing on only two nights last year.

"There will be no stock-car races in the Exhibition grounds in the future under the present board and I don't think there will be any under any future board," he said.

He said there were gates across the track near the entrances which were not locked at all times and sometimes citizens used the track to practice driving.

Twilight horse racing was held twice in June and afternoon racing twice in August, he said. The track was watered at both stock-car and horse race meetings and to his knowledge there was no

Nature, Not Man Responsible For Erosion

TORONTO (CP) — Nature, not man-made diversions and regulations, has been responsible for erosion and inundation of land bordering the Great Lakes, the legislature was told Wednesday.

In tabling the report of the select committe on water levels of the Great Lakes, chairman O. F. Villeneuve (PC—Glengarry) said recent property damage was due to the increase in precipitation and a decrease in evaporation.

The net effect of artificial factors —such as the Long Lac and Ogoki diversions, the Lake Superior regulations, the Chicago sanitary diversion and the Gut dam and channel alterations—"is measured in fractions of inches, compared to the natural factors which cause variations as great as six feet."

Mr. Villeneuve said the committee discovered during inspections of seriously affected areas instances of building actually in progress with the lake lapping at the doorstep."

There are no laws preventing persons from building on unprotected land that is within the zone of the natural ranges of lake levels.

"This committee is strongly of the opinion that no . . . indemnification should be made out of public funds to redeem their poor investments."

RESTRICT DEVELOPMENT

The committee did recommend that land subject to erosion or inundation, in the opinion of the minister of planning and development, should be restricted for private development until suitable protective works have been installed.

It also suggested that municipalities be given the power to acquire these lands for park, recreation or protective purposes.

R. M. Myers (PC — Waterloo South), a committee member, said the "very nature of the Great Lakes is instability."

"As long as we have lakes we will have erosion and inundation and I would like the people who live on those lakes to remember that."

Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver, also on the committee, supported the stand that the province should not pay for property damage.

"It would be impossible financially. No government could be expected to come to the financial aid of those who suffer from the elements."

FLOODS HIT ONTARIO—Firemen at Churchville, near Toronto, carry a woman and baby to safety from their flooded home after torrential rains and warm weather sent the Humber, Credit and Etobicoke rivers in the Toronto district surging over their banks for the third time in two weeks. Churchville was the cetnre of the flood damage where 26 families were driven from their homes for the second time. In other parts of southern Ontario a severe snowstorm followed heavy rains, isolating communities and stranding 1,000 cars near Windsor. —(CP Photo).

TV Programs Too Rushed For Perfection

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What's the matter with TV entertainment? Producer Leland Hayward says it's too rushed.

Once a top Hollywood agent, he switched jobs to become Broadway's most successful producer. He has fostered a string of hits, including "A Bell For Adano," "State of the Union," "Mister Roberts," "South Pacific," "Call Me Madam," "Point of no Return" and "Wish You Were Here."

He is also responsible for two of TV's most memorable shows. The first was the Ford anniversary show, which is still being talked about. His second effort was last Sunday's comedy hour version of "Anything Goes" with Ethel Merman, Frank Sinatra, Bert Lahr and Sheree North. It was one of the happiest TV outings within memory.

"I wasn't at all satisfied," said Hayward, who appears to be something of a perfectionist. "There were so many things that could have been improved if we had more time."

PRACTICE TOO SHORT

I asked him how he felt after the historic Ford show.

"I was miserable after that one," he replied, which proves he is a perfectionist.

"Everything is done in too much of a hurry in TV," he continued. "Why, we only began work on 'Anything Goes' three weeks before the show went on. Our first rehearsal was a week before the performance, and then it was only a reading of the book."

Hayward also finds fault with the TV format.

"The hour show is simply too short for a musical comedy or even a straight play. You don't really have an hour to play with; you have 48 minutes. In 'Anything Goes,' we had 22 minutes of music. That left a mere 26 minutes to get the book across. Ridiculous!

"You put a good show together, then you have to cut, cut, cut. It's the same with straight plays. They build up a good plot, then kiss off the final scene with a fast, 'Is that so?' 'Yes, it is,' 'hello,' 'goodbye.' You leave the audience hanging on the ropes."

He believes that shows will have to go an hour and a half to be effective. Despite his criticisms, he is fascinated with TV and is listening to the offers of the networks.

MODEL OF NATIONAL GALLERY—This is the architect's model of the proposed National Gallery of Canada which is to be built in Ottawa. Designed as a national centre of the arts for Canada, the cost of the proposed structure is estimated at about $5,000,000. To be built on Sussex St., the building consists of three floors and a basement, and contains provision for expansion later. The design was submitted by the firm of Green, Blankstein, Russel and Associates of Winnipeg. It was selected from entries by 103 contestnants.—(CP Photo).

Create Terrible Public Relations

TORONTO (CP) — Bryan Cathcart (PC—Lambton West) said Wednesday some United States pipeline contractors have created "terrible public relations throughout their lines."

Mr. Cathcart was referring to those companies which went back to the United States after damaging some Ontario farmers' property.

C. E. Janes (PC—Lambton East) said these companies were responsible for damages but many farmers would not press a claim of $5 or $10.

He told the legislature's natural gas subcommittee farmers could take these cases to court, but the big oil companies would fight such small cases with all their resources because they are afraid if they lost one small claim, they would be faced with a flood of claims.

Laws Will Safeguard Province's Forests

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's fire protection laws have "sufficient teeth already" to safeguard the province's forests, Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell said Wednesday.

Mr. Gemmell told members of the legislature's committee on lands and forests that the province was not planning on similar legislation now before the Quebec legislature calling for the banning of all smoking by individuals walking or in vehicles in forest areas.

"We consider our law has sufficient teeth already," the minister said. The Ontario law provides stiff penalties for people starting fires by not extinguishing cigarets and other burning material.

Wider Training For Youth Members Ask

OTTAWA (CP) — Broadening of vocational training facilities for Canada's youth was advocated Wednesday by members of all parties in the Commons.

In the short Wednesday sitting of the House, they took up almost the whole session in urging the extension of the training of young Canadians for jobs and of fitting them for life generally.

The discussion came as Labor Minister Gregg brought in a bill to amend the Vocational Training Co-Ordination Act to provide chiefly for vocational training of disabled civilians. The House approved a resolution preliminary to the bill and later gave first reading to the bill itself.

Mr. Gregg said "very special arrangements" are to be made for the disabled in training, now carried out under provincial jurisdiction with the federal government giving financial help under a measure passed in 1942.

He noted that the government here gives grants to the provinces for vocational schools, and he said the need for such schools has been "pretty well filled."

Julian Ferguson (PC — Simcoe North) said more emphasis should be placed on the moral training of youngsters.

"Canada does not recognize the benefits to be gained from the proper guidance of our youth," he said.

Mr. Ferguson said action in this direction would serve, also, the practical purpose of cutting down the country's expenses on prisons and institutions for the insane.

He said the federal government should lose no time in getting together with provincial and municipal authorities on this kind of action.

Canada's youth, he said, will "go to the dogs" unless something is done to develop physical and mental abilities.

C. W. Hodgson (PC — Victoria, Ont.) said the government should help overcome the shortage of nurses by paying $10 to nurses in training. Money problems kept many girls out of the nursing profession.

TEXTILE-TOWN—This is an aerial view of the town of Magog in Quebec's Eastern Townships, one of the Canadian textile towns which is feeling a country-wide depression in the industry. In the foreground is the big plant of Dominion Textile Company Limited. Some 10,000 of Magog's 13,000 people are dependent on the textile industry—(CP Photo).

Quebec Textile Towns Suffer From Effects Of Slump In Industry

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MAGOG, Que., March 4 (CP)—This elegant little town of clean white buildings, stately spires and friendly people is entertaining a black visitor: unemployment.

Typical of textile towns in Quebec's eastern townships, Magog is feeling the grind of a Canada-wide depression in the industry on which it was built.

Some 10,000 of its 13,000 folk are dependent on textiles and are striving to hold what has been gained since cotton manufacturing began here in 1888.

During the last three months of last year 700 persons lost their jobs at the Magog plant as the Canadian cotton industry steadily lost ground against United States competition.

WORK PART-TIME

H. A. Leduc, mill manager for Dominion Textiles Company Limited, said in an interview this leaves 1,300 men and 350 women working on part-time.

He said the situation is more serious in that the layoffs began at a time when the plant—which manufactures washable cotton fabrics—normally would hire extra help and drive for the summer trade.

SEASONAL INDUSTRY

"It's essentially a seasonal industry anyway, but if a drop comes when there should be a rise, the situation is really serious," he said.

The full pinch still had not been felt as many persons had savings when the slow-down came. It is common for more than one person from a family to be employed in a textile town, since a high proportion of women get work as compared to a coal town, for instance.

To cushion the shock here, the company operates on the basis of five days one week, three days the next, Leduc said. This enables the workers to "save up" idle days and collect unemployment insurance.

Magog, situated in a popular resort area as well as one suited to industrial development because of power resources, is mainly a one-industry town, but there are other means of livelihood.

Mayor Ovila Bergeron said the town has received unfavorable publicity by being singled out as an example of hardship wrought by the textile crisis.

He noted the town had erected a large factory building to house new industry, and that four new industries, to employ 300 persons, now have been assured.

"Things are not as good as they were, but they aren't as bad as they've been painted, either," he said.

Merchants had held a meeting decrying reports that the town was in serious straits. There had been no increase in requests for help from the poor this winter as compared to others, the mayor said.

DIVERSE EFFECTS

Jeffery Bonhomme, personnel manager of the textile plant, said a "couple of hundred" of its employees have moved away. Generally, the pinch—similar to that in such textile towns as Valleyfield and Sherbrooke, Que., Cornwall, Ont., and Oxford, N.S. — showed in small and sometimes surprising ways.

Grocery stores reported an increase in the [illegible] said applications for loans have dropped. Instalment buying has increased

As chairman of an organization for underprivileged children, Mr. Bonhomme said, "Every day I get calls for help but since New Year's only four or five families have asked for food".

The visitor to Magog sees an outwardly prosperous town with impressive churches and schools and well-kept homes. The traditional pride and thrift of French- Canadians, who make up about 70 per cent of the town's population, may be a factor in retaining prosperity, Mr. Bonhomme said.

"But the young blade who used to take his girl to dinner and a show now takes her for a walk," he added.

OUTLOOK POOR

"The worst will come about the end of March, when unemployment insurance dwindles."

At La Providence Hospital, Sister Cecile, the superior, reported that payment of bills now is $2,500 to $3,000 a month less than when there was full employment.

This had occurred at a time when extension of the 44-bed hospital was urgently needed. There had been 522 maternity cases since the beginning of the year, and Sister Cecile said she knew of mothers who stayed away through lack of funds.

An oddity of the situation is that the town's two movies recently reported an increase in patrons. This had followed a drop. A reporter visiting Magog met one professional man who was leaving town "because I can no longer make a living".

Mr. Bonhomme said average weekly wage at the plant—counting incentive bonus—is $74.80, and housing was chronically at a premium until recently. A check with real estate agents showed some 15 apartments now vacant.

Tavern keepers reported a brisk business on weekends, but a sharp drop at other times. Grills—more elaborate places for eating and drinking—have been harder hit, with sometimes only a handful of customers.

Farming Future Brighter

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said Wednesday the 1954 outlook for farmers is bright.

Speaking at the official opening of the Middlesex seed fair he predicted a 25-cent rise in the price of sugar beets, good prospects of tobacco sales to Britain and possible sales of more cheese to Britain.

India will not buy wheat from Canada this year, he said, because of a bumper crop there, but the wheat surplus in Canada is "no cause for worry."

Mr. McCubbin said farmers are sending too many cattle to market now—30,800 head a week when consumption is 28,000 head a week. He said they should not be afraid to hold back cattle because the picture for the year is good.

Mixture Of Work, Relaxation Aboard St. Laurent's Airplane

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP)—Travel aboard the big four-engined plane in which Prime Minister St. Laurent is touring the world is a mixture of work and relaxation.

A round-the-world cribbage tournament with most of the 28 persons aboard taking part is in progress on three boards during long hours of flight in the pressurized grey-upholstered cabin. Members of the air crew of 15 whose work is done when the C-5 is aground take part. Members of the prime minister's staff get into one of the games when there is no work to do.

On short hops between neighboring countries Prime Minister St. Laurent first of all goes into conference with Charles Ritchie, roving ambassador for the tour, and with Ross Martin, assistant secretary to the cabinet. Details of the program for the next stop and details of speeches are gone over.

D. M. Cornett, external affairs department officer, studies arrangements for accommodation aground, handling of more than 90 pieces of luggage and all kinds of matters of organization. The 34-year-old official who has a map of Asia pinned to a wall of the plane before him is a sort of travelling tour manager.

TOUR MC

The master of ceremonies of flights is Group Capt. J. G. Stephenson who commands the Rockliffe RCAF station and on the world tour fits together the prime minister's plans with those of the RCAF air crew handling the plane.

Group Capt. Stephenson, a Second World War bomber pilot, also acts as ADC to the prime minister and with gold-braided aigrette about his shoulder walks with him on the many arrival and departure guard inspections.

Dr. Eric Davey, assistant chief of the health division of the health department, keeps an eye on the prime minister to make sure he stays fit and aground gets information about the health of Canadian representatives abroad, particularly those working in tropical climates.

Inspector Philippe-Vaucher of the RCMP in Toronto sees to security arrangements for the prime minister and at stops travels about quietly with local plainclothesmen just to make sure nothing goes amiss.

WESTERN ORIENTAL — At first glance this "Hochmeister" church tower in the U.S. sector of Berlin resembles an Oriental pagoda. Actually the effect is achieved by the scaffolding on which workmen are busily repairing the belfry, which was heavily damaged during the war.

Ambitious Economic Plan To Change Southern Europe

By SUSAN STRANGE

LONDON (OFNS)—An ambitious regeneration of the rural slums of Southern Europe was proposed today by United Nations officials of the Economic Commission for Europe.

Skipping quickly over their annual chore of reporting on the economic progress and problems of Western and Eastern Europe, the U.N. officials this year devoted their major effort to a detailed "Study of Economic Development in Southern Europe," putting forward several novel and controversial suggestions for alleviating the poverty and economic backwardness of Mediterranean countries.

These are some of the proposals which emerge from this expert study—a study which may cause raised eyebrows in several capitals north of the Alps:

(1) That France and other North European countries should lift restrictions on workers immigrating from Italy, Greece, Spain and other southern countries;

(2) that the industrialized countries of Western Europe should join with international organizations such as the World Bank to give large long-term credits to Mediterranean countries, enabling the latter to buy capital goods for economic development plans;

(3) that these industrialized countries should, meanwhile, progressively reduce tariffs, quotas and other restrictions against Southern Europe's biggest potential exports—fruit and vegetables;

(4) that they should also exempt Southern Europe from obligations to liberalize trade, and should allow it to protect its infant industries from the competition offered by their more vigorous northern rivals.

UNDEVELOPED AREA

The report forcefully points out that Europe, generally considered to be one of the economically advanced continents, has in the Mediterranean fringe—from Spain and Portugal through Southern Italy to Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey—its own underdeveloped area.

Here, the average infant mortality rate is twice as high as in Western Europe, illiteracy is common, diets poor and average incomes perhaps 60 per cent below the average for Western Europe.

Although many more people here work on the land—50 per cent in Southern Italy compared with six per cent in Britain — wheat yields are only half as good as in Western Europe.

Even on an optimistic estimate, the widening gap that has developed between the rural slums of Southern Europe and the relatively rich and prosperous north cannot be bridged quickly or without immense investment of capital and drastic social changes. Even to halve the gap in the next thirty years would take an investment of capital equal to between ten and fifteen per cent. of national incomes—a higher percentage that is, than even the capitalized countries of industrial Western Europe set aside for investment.

INCREASE TAXATION

E.C.E. officials see little possibility that sums of this size could come from private sources. To begin with, they suggested that the Governments of Southern Europe should radically revise and increase taxation—not by imitating the direct income-tax systems of the North, but, for example, by taxing the rich on the size of their houses, their ownership of land, even on the number of domestic servants they use or the imported cars they buy. Taxes in Mediterranean countries, they point out, were not always so much lower than in the North If they were raised, a start could be made with the extended farmers' advisory services, new roads, subsidized fertilizers and other measures to raise the pathetically low standards of the impoverished South.

Yet the E.C.E. recommendations testify to the belief that the countries of Southern Europe can do little without outside help. The study maintains that its plan for export credits from Britain, France, West Germany and other Western European countries would also help to stimulate industry in these countries These credits, however, would not be "tied" to the exports of the lending country. This is what happens now when, for example, Germany gives export credits to Greece under a bilateral agreement, or France to Spain. Instead, the borrowing country would be able, in the words of E.C.E., to "shop around," and allocate its orders according to price and delivery advantages prevailing in different industrialized countries.

The bait held out to the exporting countries would be that their deliveries would be paid for in World Bank bonds which they could cash with the World Bank for their own currency, or, presumably, for dollars. Although the scheme sketched out by E.C.E. is not quite clear on this point, it would seem to indirectly involve the U.S. (through increased contributions to the World Bank or whatever other international lending organization might be set up), no less than the West European countries, in the financing of Southern Europe's long-overdue economic development.

E.C.E. seems conscious that it may already have outstepped the subservient and impartial role of a mere international commission. It does not therefore venture to add - although this is surely implied in every word in its detailed description of Mediterranean poverty—that the United States has important political advantages to win by fostering and helping such a scheme. Taking a long-term view, the political danger spots of Europe tend to be also the economic sore spots — of which Southern Italy is perhaps the most obvious. As long as these remain, the integration of Western Europe so fondly desired by the United States can never, so the U.N. officials clearly believe, progress far.

Russian Development May Be Ahead West

OTTAWA (CP)—Henry Hosking (L—Wellington South) said Wednesday that Russia may have surpassed the West in the development of scientists and engineers.

The display of Russian equipment in the Korean war, he said in the Commons, made it "easy to believe that perhaps they have outstripped us in the production of scientists and engineers."

Soviet arms had "bettered our own equipment which we thought was the best in the world."

Mr. Hosking, speaking during a debate on assistance for vocational training, said "when it becomes a national issue as to whether we have enough scientists and engineers, then it becomes the problem of the Dominion government."

Canada needed trained technicians to maintain the industrial and defence equipment produced by her scientists.

Unaware Of Fire

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Fire broke out on the roof of the building housing the Middlesex seed fair here Wednesday while crowds flowed through the building, many unaware of the blaze. Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars. Faulty wiring was believed the cause.

AFTER 5-DAY BATTLE — Mrs. Vera Rideout, 46, who was rescued from a leaking 25-foot sailboat in which she was attempting to sail alone around the world, is comforted by Tom Joseph, a sailor aboard a French training ship which picked her up. Mrs. Rideout started from San Pedro, where she lived on her boat, the Chelan, and hurt her back when the small craft started to leak.

Canadian Businessman Not Ready To Take Personal Action

By FORBES RHUDE

MONTREAL (CP) — Business men kick but don't do enough about it, D. B. Cruikshank of Ottawa, president of the Canadian council of the International Chamber of Commerce, said today.

His two-year term of office, he commented in an address prepared for delivery to the council's annual meeting, had given him much pleasure, but it had not been strewn with roses all the way.

"The Canadian business man," he said, "is ever ready to complain of governmental restrictions and interference in the conduct of private economic undertaking.

"However, he is not nearly so willing to give expression to his own thinking and take action on behalf of himself and other private business men.

"The International Chamber of Commerce provides Canadian business men with a mechanism to give expression to their joint view on economic and commercial problems, and to contribute work on the phase of the problems which may be closest to each."

VIENNA CONGRESS

The Canadian council had sent 32 delegates last May to the international chamber's biennial congress in Vienna, the largest Canadian delegation to a congress since the organization was formed after the First World War.

There, before nearly 1,500 delegates from 34 countries, the Canadian delegates presented to a world audience their council's views "regarding the desirability of free markets for primary commodities, as well as our views on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

Other council activities included a memoranum last year to President Eisenhower's commission on foreign economic policy (Randall commission), which had expressed Canadian business's view of United States policy in tariff and general economic matters.

ICC's views were being continually made known to governments and other international organizations, including the United Nations, with which a special liaison office is maintained in New York.

ASIAN COMMISSION

Another important development in 1953 was ICC's decision to establish a regional commission on Asian and Far Eastern affairs with headquarters in New Delhi.

Decision to hold the 1955 congress in Tokyo was in line with ICC's interest in Far Eastern countries.

Present membership of the Canadian council, Mr. Cruikshank reported, now is 22 organization members; 172 associate members, representing various firms, and one individual member.

Carl Bergithon, general manager said several new members have joined from the West, and added:

"We need a larger representation from the West, which plays such a large part in the Canadian economy, both agriculturally and industrially."

23 Complete Course In First Aid Work

NORWOOD (ENS) — The Home and School Association has sponsored a St. John Ambulance first aid course with L. E. Tomkins of Peterborough giving the lectures.

Dr. A. R. Atkinson and Dr. L. Calvert conducted the examinations at the completion of the course.

There were 23 who successfully completed the course and have now received their certificates.

Mr. John Page received the third bar to his medallion previously earned from St. John Ambulance courses.

Those successful were: Messrs. Huge Allen and Bob Duncanson, Miss B. A. Borland, Mesdames Allan Baker, Lloyd Bennett, Allen Dunk, Lloyd Fleming, Stan Flett, H. W. Hudson, J. Hyslop, Ross Irwin, Gerald Martin, J. G. Nixon, Charles Puffer, Marvin Preston, G. Rennison, Neil Rogers, Max Scott, Everett Waters, Art Watkins, Rod Webb and H. Wilford.

Line Up In Snow Buy Cheap Coffee

TORONTO (CP) — More than 2,000 persons—most of them women and some with babes in arms—lined up in the snow and rain Wednesday at a Toronto cut-rate general merchandise store to buy coffee at 50 cents a pound.

The sale was advertised by Ed Mervish, owner of "Honest Ed's, who said he paid $1.15 a pound for the coffee—the general retail price in Toronto.

In the one-hour sale 760 pounds of coffee was sold.

Police called to handle the crowd told the store manager a summons would be issued—the store has no licence to handle food.

Students Told Of Work Of Fund Agencies

Russ Baer has been a busy man this week, speaking to student assemblies in the three local high schools on behalf of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign. Mr. Baer is the publicity chairman of the drive.

Speaking at Kenner, PCVS and at St. Peter's, Mr. Baer stressed the generally unheralded work of the ten agencies. Said Mr. Baer: "We all need to understand the work of these agencies better. By learning what these agencies do for you and for your community, you students can help to make giving easier and more satisfying."

The work of the Community Chests agencies usually receives no headlines, said Mr. Baer. For this reason "we have to make a big noise at this time of year." Students, he said, can be liaison workers between the agencies and the community as they learn more of the agencies' activities.

Sketching briefly the functions and history of each of the agencies, Mr. Baer drew on his own experiences to recall such things as the work of the Salvation Army in wartime England, and of his own mother in co-operating with the Children's Aid in taking in unwanted children. The work of all these agencies is "going on around us each day."

Theme of Mr. Baer's three addresses was not to much asking the students to contribute, but was a plea for greater understanding. Claire Collins' penny-a-day drive takes care of the schools.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Of Older Mate Told To Avoid Younger Man

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for two years to a man 20 years my senior, am now 29. Shortly after our marriage, I met a young man whom I had known in high school. At one time we dated. He is still single, and claims the reason he never married is that he always loved me.

My husband knows the young man, too, and we three have become very friendly. We often go together to the movies, dinner and even on trips. The young man is lots of fun, while my husband is more subdued. My husband is very difficult to please, very set in his ways, and I know I love the other man more. My husband and I knew each other only two weeks when we married, and now I wish I had waited a while. Should I go on the way we are, tell my husband how I feel baout our friend, or just leave home?

ETHEL G.

CONFUSION EVIDENT

ANSWER: I have gleaned your problem from the letter that at time verged on the incoherent.

That you are mixed up is very evident, but the confusion isn't due so much to the fact that you love another man, or think you do, as it is to your urgent desire to have a love affair, and keep your marriage intact.

A frantic desire for security apparently motivates your life. You married your husband for just that reason, plus the fact that you probably thought he'd be your last, or only, chance for matrimony and grabbed him in a hurry. Now, you see a more desirable man in your life, but the Johnny-come-lately lacks the stability of your spouse.

I notice particularly that you have absolutely nothing definite to say against your husband, so I judge there is little with which you could find fault. He isn't much fun you claim — yet he seems very willing to take you out, to give you the enjoyment you want. He's hard to get along with, is another of your complaints, which simmers down to the blunt fact that you simply haven't adjusted yourself after a brief marriage of two years. That will come later, and with the other fine qualities your man has — his undoubted love for you, his steadiness, his desire to give you all the material things he can — you had better stick with him and do something to make this marriage a success. If possible, avoid telling him you love — or think you do — someone else. Make some other excuse for dissolving the trio and resuming your married life as a twosome.

DEAR MISS DIX: Although Paul and I haven't dated for several weeks, I still like him. He's going with another girl but I don't know whether that's just to make me jealous or not. I'm 14 and he's 16.

GLORIA M.

ANSWER: You had better assume that he really likes the girl and has no ulterior motive in dating here. A boy 16 is scarcely ready for steady dating; for that matter, neither is a girl of 14, so put this little romance behind you, Gloria.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm the young daughter of a fairly well-to-do family. Recently my father took into his employ a young man who spoke very little English. I helped him with his studies, and soon we realized we were in love. The situation worried the boy so much he left his job, and got another one in town. Now, when I go into the store where he works, he scarcely notices me.

M. C.

ANSWER: You seem to have adopted a Lady Bountiful attitude toward the boy, which, presumably, he resents. Certainly a boy who is struggling through school, and working, is in no position to share your carefree life. He is to be commended for removing himself from temptation to neglect his schooling. Don't add to his difficulties by running after him.

Lakefield WMS Members Guests Of CGIT Group

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The re-affiliation of the CGIT with the Women's Missionary Society was held in the Sunday school rooms of the United Church on Monday evening and was well attended considering the inclement weather. A sing-song, led by Margaret Calbery with Mrs. H. Trethewey at the piano, opened the program.

The opening ceremony was in charge of Marion Trethewey who welcomed the guests, mothers and members of the WMS attending.

Special guests included Mrs. C. V. Coons who represented the vice - presidents for younger groups of the WMS; Mrs. W. R. Young of George St. United Church, Peterborough, who represetented the presbyterial secretary for affiliated CGIT groups, and replaced Mrs. Leo Copp who was unable to be present, and Mrs. W. Armstrong of the CGIT groups of George St. Church. The former two took part in the service.

A copy of the world friendship insignia, a Bible and beside it a lighted candle, formed the worship centre.

During the service a cheque for $10 was presented to Mrs. Young for the scholarship fund for overseas service and towel kits and clothing for a bale, made by the girls, to the Lakefield WMS.

After the affiliation service, the culmination of the mission study projects from the study book, "Out of This World," were presented as follows: Group 1, Margaret Calberry as leader told the story of Korea with each girl taking a part; Group 2, led by Mrs. Trethewey, gave a radio broadcast, "Around the World In Five Minutes." The girls of this group were dressed in the costumes of the countries taking part. Group 4, with Anne Samis as leader, had a wall hanging demonstrating a Bhil hut and told the story "Switzerland of the Orient" which takes place in Thailand. The fourth group, headed by Mary Jane Foster, also presented a radio broadcast, "Southern Cross Radio Station," and those taking part were costumed to represent various countries.

During the worship service, four tableaux were presented and were entitled, "Light of Knowledge"; "The More Abundant Village Life"; "For Healing and Health"; "Offering and Worship."

Refreshments were served by the girls and Mrs. Percy Darling was in charge of making the tea.

On Sunday morning, 23 CGIT members attended worship at St. John the Baptist Anglican Church where they were welcomed by the minister, the Rev. L. J. Delaney.

Mrs. E. W. Olver, Clementi St., was guest of honor at a surprise party at her home on March 1, when her sons and their wives and families came to wish her a happy birthday.

The supper table was centred with a beautifully decorated cake and Mrs. Olver received a number of attractive and useful gifts from her family and friends.

Her grandchildren concluded the evening by singing "Happy Birthday To You."

Child Aged Six Wins Honors In Piano Class

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Virginia Belfer, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Belfer (nee Frances Field) and granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Field, Roseneath, who has won numerous piano awards in the past two years, again gained acclaim at the Brantford music festival that concluded last week.

Virginia took top honors among competitors from Toronto, Brantford, Hamilton and many other centres, receiving the highest mark of any festival contestant with 90 points. She won the Graham Bell IODE cup, the T. E. Barton memorial trophy for "the most outstanding competitor and best musciansihp", in all classes up to 15 years and another gold trophy, two silver cups and a silver spoon.

Adjudicator Ronald Biggs was profuse in his compliments noting that her piano brilliance "had to come from within" and could not be fully gained by ordinary instructions.

Virginia resides at Galt with her parents, but visits frequently with her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. George Field, Roseneath.

Eight Teapots Presented New Kitchen

MILLBROOK (ENS)—About 60 sat down to the supper held in St. Andrew's church hall on Tuesday evening as a rally of the town group of the women's association. Mrs. J. T. Crowley, group leader, presided.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the presentation of eight large teapots to the new kitchen by Mrs. John McKnight and Mrs. E. McMillan. The money for their purchase had been raised by the sale of aprons since the beginning of the year.

The Rev. Margaret Butler explained the meaning of the WA theme song "Let the Beauty of Jesus be seen in me." She said that even those who did not believe in Christianity were attracted to the character of Jesus as it was portrayed in the Bible. Mrs. Butler led in prayer and Mrs. A. R. Payne gave the scripture reading. A tribute to Mrs. George Olan, a member who died recently, was given by Mrs. Chester Fisher.

JOHN WESLEY

Bruce Ingham of the high school staff gave a talk on John Wesley, who, he said, was the greatest Englishman of all time. His greatness lay partly in his ability as an orator. He was able to speak to 32,000 at a time and to make them all hear without the aid of a microphone such as present day speakers use. In his lifetime he delivered 40,400 sermons. He was a great writer. He wrote 26 volumes of his daily journal, a cook book, and many other books. Although he did not write so many hymns as his brother Charles, who was the author of 6,000, the ones he did write were of the highest order.

John Wesley, the speaker thought, was largely responsible for clarifying the style of the English writing of his day so as to make it easily understood by all. Wesley was also a great traveller. He travelled a quarter of a million miles, most of it on horseback. He had great ability as a financier. He made the equivalent of several million dollars, but gave it all away for the furtherance of his work. One historian credited John Wesley with saving England from a revolution.

HISTORY OF WA

Dr. Edna Eastcott, the second speaker of the evening, traced the history of the WA, first known as the Ladies' Aid, from its very beginning when the church was built in 1882. Quoting from the press of the day Dr. Eastcott told that the church was "the most handsome and commodious one in any village of the district with a seating capacity of 800."

The first president of the women's society in 1882 was the minister's wife, Mrs. Matthews. There were no records between that and 1898 when Mrs. Argue became president which office she held for 13 years. Among the highlights mentioned was the installation of electric lights in 1912. Miss Mae Needham became president in 1913 and held the office for 15 years. Miss Needham recalled that at that time they served from 500 to 700 at the annual fowl supper.

Other highlights mentioned were the burning of the mortgage in 1919, the church renovation when the gallery was removed, and the choir loft lowered, the golden jubilee in 1932, the last fowl supper in 1937, the first weddings the women's organization catered to, those of Jean Stinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stinson for many years prominent in the life of the church, and of Della Mae Sisco, the daughter of the Rev. A. L. Sisco and Mrs. Sisco during his pastorate which took place in 1941. Recent presidents mentioned were Mrs. P. I. Bentley, Mrs. A. R. Payne, Mrs. John McKnigh and the present one, Miss Josie Sutton.

Belmont Township Schools To Hold Own Contests

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The Belmont Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Harry Tinney, Havelock, with 16 members and six visitors present.

The president, Mrs. W. Harris, presided and gave a report of an executive meeting held recently where the matter of the oratorical contests came up for discussion. It was decided that instead of the district public school pupils coming to Havelock and competing with the pupils of the local school, a contest will now be held for the township pupils in the township hall.

The Belmont girls supper club was given permission to use the township hall for an afternoon tea March 19, to be followed with a bingo at night.

Mrs. W. Harris, as president of the Belmont branch, will attend the OAC conference in Guelph May 6 and 7.

The program consisted of a paper on citizenship and education read by Mrs. Rae Outwater; a reading by Mrs. W. Smith; a contest conducted by Mrs. G. Hartin in which several of the ladies had the correct solution.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Tinney for inviting the society

Refreshments were served by Mesdames H. Hoard, H. King, J. Lloyd, F. Elmhirst.

Highlights of the regional conference were given by Miss Hazel Wilson and full reports are to be presented by delegates next month. Mrs. Roma Brindle reported on the YWCA annual meeting.

Plans for the Spring Hat Tea on March 13th were outlined by the convener Mrs. T. Cook, who announced that Mrs. W. J. Gilling will commentate. Also, that there will be a draw for an "Easter bonnet".

The April 7th meeting was planned to be a "guest night". World Service Day is to be observed March 29th and a guest speaker will be present for an evening meeting.

Miss McIntyre reported on So-Ed and also on National's new YWCA Journal which replaced the Quarterly.

Mrs. Arthur King Re-elected Head Of Sewing Circle

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The annual meeting of the Victoria sewing circle was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Arthur King, Wednesday afternoon.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Arthur King (re-elected); secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Murray Fraser (reeltced); pianist, Mrs. Arnold Dafoe; press reporter, Mrs. Clarence King; work committee, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Arnold Dafoe; advertising committee, Mrs. Rae Outwater, Mrs. Earl Dafoe, Mrs. Lyle King; sick committee, Mrs. L. Hornsby.

The roll call was answered by the payment of dues. The treasurer, Mrs. M. Fraser, presented a very gratifying financial statement. One of the main projects for the past year was the work done at the Victoria cemetery.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arnold Dafoe, April 7, and will be an all-day quilting with a pot luck dinner.

Serve Pancakes At Fun Night

St. Luke's Church Year held a very successful "fun night" in the parish hall Wednesday with an exceptionally large attendance in spite of the weather. Mrs. Fraser Watson had charge of the evening.

Games planned to amuse young and old alike were arranged by Mrs. J. Lee, Mrs. W. J. Gilling, Mr. and Mrs. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. D. Grylls and Mr. and Mrs. R. Krant. A 20 Questions panel was conducted by Mrs. Fraser Watson.

Amusing highlight of the evening was a comedy skit including Mr. D. Worboy, Dr. G. R. Langley, Mrs. D. McIntyre, Mrs. H. M. Yule, Mr D. Menzies and Mrs. F. Legon.

At an executive meeting earlier it was decided the Church Year will be responsible for painting the kitchen, choir vesting rooms and washroom. Collection for the month amounted to $102.

For refreshments Mrs. A. Ebbs and assistants served pancakes.

Featured Fashion Points Of This Spring Shown In IODE Revue

Whims of the top-ranking experts that have become fashion laws of Spring 1954 are all to be seen in the fashion revue presented by the Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE, this year.

The bonding of hat and frock, hair-do and make-up, to the faces and figure of local people, whom nearly all of the audience know by sight at least, has been most happily carried out by convener of the show Mrs. Ken Wilson and her assistant Mrs. B. R. Smyth.

For the first showing Wednesday evening, on the stage of the Collegiate auditorium, there were more than 700 spectators. Tribute is due the committee in charge that this show started exactly at the time announced—8.15 p.m.—and the final curtain was drawn at 10 o'clock—on a bridal scene that was simply a dream.

Big news each season is the skirt length, and this spring it is at least one inch shorter, and looks well in the show. The color stressed is Navy, and commentator Mrs. J. A. Nornabell forecast that it will outsell all others 3 or 4 to 1 in coming weeks.

One navy dress was so embroidered all over that from a little distance it appeared to be a print. Another very flattering style with frosted with white angora. Navy striped one of the shirt-dresses that are newly popular and serve to emphasize the "covered-up" look. Another one of these that looked very smart had borrowed its inspiration straight from a gentlemen's shirt and was in pink, grey and white striped cotton.

The new "halter" neckline was shown in a hugely checked navy dress, which had one of the oft-repeated Spencer jackets. Mostly it was a variation of the becoming widely-scooped neckline but there was also the stiffly starched "choir boy" collar, and the "deep cuff" white collar. There was much talk of the 3-inch sleeve.

The sheath skirt is fighting it out with the Empire princess line in this show, and there was good choice on either side. But the widely flaring skirts seemed to be favorites for summer, especially in the pretty polished cotton profits. Crinoline petticoats with ruffles often bound in bright color flirted beneath most of these swinging skirts. Others took their stiffness from interlining, and even a sheath dress was said to be interlined with taffeta to keep it in shape.

Finely pleated skirts give another choice. One of the nicest shown was on a printed silk dress worn under a bright colored coat in one of the "costume" ensembles. The costume, achieved also with short cropped jackets and contour jackets over the dresses seems the best suggestion for this spring. The perennial suit just doesn't grow in this show.

Hats are again sprouting roses and bows and most of them have veils. They are "shells," jewelled "pill boxes", or maybe "cartwheels," and the models were wearing them straight on. It was pointed out that small clips are now used to hold them

HONORED MISSIONARY

The town of Leduc, near Edmonton, was named after Rev. Hippolyte Leduc, an Oblate missionary in the west.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Anna And The King Of Spaghetti

A project that started out to be me giving a lesson in English (as if I knew any) to an Italian husband and a French wife, turned out to be a delicious Italian supper cooked by the charming French girl.

They were invited with their two-year-old Tony to our house for dinner and Anna was going to bring some Parmesan cheese that Matt had brought from Italy. What actually happened was that they arrived early bringing Italian spaghetti, a large can of Italian peeled "plum" tomatoes, a package of ground beef and pork, and a big wedge of Parmesan cheese (from Italy).

Matt tells us that the Consul in Italy said he would not find any of his native foods in Canada, so he came well stocked with four valises full of the food he loved. The immigration official must still be shaking his head in wonderment for when Matt came through the immigration at Halifax the official asked him how many he had to feed in his family. "Me and Anna."

But let's get around to the actual preparation of

ANNA'S SPAGHETTI AND MEAT BALLS

First Anna finely chopped one-half onion and put it on in a large frying pan with about 1-3 cup of corn oil to gently fry. Of course, she would have preferred olive oil. When the onions were transparent she added the salt and pepper and a 28-oz. tin of Italian peeled plum tomatoes. This can had a spray of basil in it. She let that simmer while she made the MEAT BALLS: One pound of a 50-50 mixture of ground pork and beef, ½ cup very finely chopped parsley, 1 egg, pepper and salt and garlic salt, 1 tablespoon oil, ¼ cup fine cracker crumbs. This she shaped into 14 balls and rolled in very fine cracker crumbs.

Anna constantly returned to the stove to stir and mash the tomatoes in the sauce to make a smooth paste of it all while it gently simmered. Before she was finished our sauce cooked 2 hours —but Anna said 3 hours would have made it better.

Right here I want to add that as the sauce cooked down twice Anna added ¼ cup cold water.

When the sauce had simmered down to her satisfaction she browned the meat balls on all sides in another frying pan in about ½ cup oil. This browning and turning took long enough to cook them through. She transferred them to the sauce to keep hot.

Meanwhile she put on to boil 2 quarts water with 1 tablespoon salt, and when it was boiling hard added 1 pound of very thin spaghetti and stirred it constantly with a wooden spoon for 8 minutes. She drained it very well, through the big sieve.

The meat balls were served on a hot plate. About one-quarter of the sauce was spread on a hot platter and about half of the spaghetti and some grated Parmesan added in alternate layers, then more spaghetti and sauce and cheese. These she tossed with two forks until we had a platterful of spaghetti coated with rich red sauce, flavored throughout with Parmesan. Everybody was standing and watching and drooling, so there was nothing left to do but for everyone to carry dust raised on any of these occasions.

FRENCH BUILDER

Claude Perrault, 1613-1688, who designed the Louvre in Paris, was a physician by profession.

Mr. Kitney said he thought the Exhibition grounds were used more than any park in the city and were offered free of charge to the citizens for non-profit activities.

The grounds were used for field meets by the secondary schools and some of the public schools and the Orfuns used the grounds for football practices and games. The loudspeakers were directed towards the stands and he didn't think the noise was excessive. The speakers couldn't be heard plainly on the south side of the park.

He said that, apart from the horse barn, the livestock buildings were used only during the week of the Exhibition and were washed down by the fire department and fogged with disinfectant beforehand. He said he hadn't noticed any odor outside the buildings because they were cleaned immediately after the Exhibition.

BURN REFUSE

To the end of 1953, refuse from games and other events had been burned in the centre ring inside the track but from now on the city's sanitation department would dispose of it.

Mr. Kitney said the track was dragged between 5.30 and 6.30 a.m. while the dew was on the ground. He hadn't noticed any dust raised on any of these occasions.

No complaints had been received from neighboring businesses.

He said that some race horses had been stabled there last summer but no manure was stored in the open; it was kept in a large concrete box which was emptied twice a week. Certain agricultural days such as Achievement Day and Black and White Day were also held there.

Cross-questioned by Mr. Foster, Mr. Kitney repeated that there was no odor from the buildings and that there was no dust raised by the races.

In a dramatic gesture, the city's third witness, Hugh Stewart, turned to the audience and said, "We're not here to buck your assessments. We want to protect the future use of the park for the citizens."

"Then tell the truth," said someone in the audience.

"I would take my oath on what I have to say," said Mr. Stewart, pointing to the Bible on the table.

Mr. Stewart explained that he had sold his Hilltop stock farm last year and then signed an agreement to purchase another farm. But the deal had fallen through and he had asked the Exhibition board for permission to rent the barn to stable his horses.

He had thoroughly cleaned the barn and insulated it with straw. He had piped water into it and placed cinders around the outside. "In my ignorance I banked manure around the barn just as the parks department does the flower beds in winter," Mr. Stewart said. "But the health inspector came down and suggested I remove the manure and I replaced it with sawdust.

"Positively no manure has lain on any part of the grounds in my day," Mr. Stewart said. "The stables are cleaned three times a day and the manure put in the manure box. Probably five or six loads a week are taken away during my stay there."

HAZARD TO RACES

Mr. Stewart said dust was the greatest hazard of horse-racing drivers and the track had been watered until some of the drivers complained it was watered too much. There was bound to be a bit of dust but he hadn't heard any of the spectators complain.

There might be a few flies there, he said, but thoroughbred and standard-bred horses were thin-skinned and had to be sprayed during the summer.

Cross-questioned by Mr. Foster, Mr. Stewart admitted that the surface of the track would have a loose "cushion," and that on a windy day some of the surface could be blown away.

As to any odor, if the buildings were properly ventilated and disinfected, it would dissipate. There would be no odor left in the floor unless it were dug up.

Dr. A. M. Johnston, a veterinarian, said Mr. Stewart had the barn in excellent condition and there was no odor outside the barn. He described the ventilating louvres in the barn and said "You might as well say the horses are outside."

Dr. Johnston said this would be the 31st year he had been using the barns for his own horses and he hadn't known the races to cause any dust but he said, "I don't know how many times after tea I have seen car drivers kick up an awful dust on the track.

"The only nuisance I've heard of down there is caused by those dogs on the other side of the fence," he said.

finishing production of Ottawa Roughrider jersies. They also do them for Toronto and other NHL clubs, some United States teams and even a Scottish team.

"We've noticed there's a little more pressure on," said Mr. Wolff, "but we got out early to do a selling job. I know that in the industry generally things are not so good."

"We're running along about normal but the competition from Europe is particularly severe right now," said James M. Heffernan, manager of the Colonial Weaving Co. and the Peterborough Elastic Co.

Colonial are manufacturers of woven labels and have a normal working force of about 75 employees.

"We have the same number of employees but the prices are so reduced that there is very little profit," said Mr. Heffernan.

The Peterborough Elastic staff, however, has been reduced from 25 to 17 because of strong Japanese competition. Elastic braids and elastic as used in suspenders, and children's and women's underwear is coming into this country from Japan at a much cheaper price.

"In many cases we couldn't get the cost of materials from the present sales prices," said Mr. Heffernan. "The only way to do it is to put Japan on a quota basis. Let them ship in, say 10 per cent of the Canadian market, and then cut them off.

"We don't mind competition, particularly from America where there is a good standard of living. But the Japanese are getting about 25 cents an hour compared to our wages of $1.15.

Gordon Monkman, general manager of Whitaker's, pointed out that his company import raw wool. They don't manufacture it into clothing. But because of the decline in the Canadian textile industry they are doing about 50 per cent less business than last year at this time.

This drop in business is reflected in employment. There are now 25 instead of the usual 35 production workers at Whitakers.

"Of course we are hoping it will improve, but at the moment our mills are in rather bad shape," said Mr. Monkman.

"The outlook doesn't look very bright for the textile industry. The alternatives are to raise tariffs (and the present government is against such a policy); or reduce wages (but that means a drop in the living standard and people can't afford that these days."

All interested parties are looking ... industry out of its present depressed condition.

had been loaded with powder."

Mathews agreed with Dr. H. G. Carleton, coroner, that there was a possibility that some dynamite might remain after a blast if the sticks weren't quite touching when loaded. "There might be some chance for research work," said Dr. Carleton.

"If it all had been cleaned, it might not have happened," said Mathews.

Inspector for the department of mines, George Riddle, said that regulations required the area in an open place to be drilled to be washed with water and inspected for old holes first. "There is still bound to be some human error," he said.

"Buck was apparently a good worker," said Dr. Carleton addressing the jury. "He went to drill in a place where he probbaly couldn't see where he was going. If he, or someone had cleaned it off—it mightn't have happened. Of course, accidents will happen."

Jury was composed of: Foreman, Irwin Hamley; Charles Duchemin, Fred Grant, G. A. Martin and Charles Woolf.

Col. E. Birdsall Tells History Of North Shore

Early history of the north shore of the Rice Lake district was sketched by Colonel Everitt Birdsall at a meeting of the Peterborough Historical Society in the library Tuesday.

The area was settled by Birdsalls, the first being Richard Birdsall, born in Yorkshire in 1799. He came to Montreal as a surveyor with the Board of Works and settled what was then virgin country on Lot 1, Concession 1,, near Asphodel.

Asphodel owes its name to a misconception by the original Birdsall. He thought that Canada's national flower, the trillium, resembled an asphodel.

The Birdsall family tree got started after Richard's second marriage in 1836. Col. Birdsall is descended from this union.

But the Birdsalls were not the only residents of this district Richard soon had one George Kens for a neighbor, his homestead located a stone's throw from the serpent mounds which were partially excavated by the Royal Ontario Museum in 1952.

Agriculture got started with the arrival of Peter Robinson in 1825. Most of the immigrants of this period, who did not long leave the original settlers alone; were hardy Scots. Many of their stone houses and taverns still stand.

Recalling the life of the Rice Lake Indians, Col. Birdsall remembered how he used to go out and see Indian babies tied to boards and strapped to trees while their mothers were working. As recently as 1921 he came across an old Indian woman in a dugout canoe who had never seen a white man before.

Early settlements had to be near waterways, said the colonel, because road transportation was primitive. He recalled watching massive log drives, as many settlers used to go to Montreal to buy a horse—travelling atop the logs.

Col.. Birdsall was introduced by William Graff and thanked by Mrs Maniece.

Mrs. Allen Lewis of Hastings also spoke briefly of her house in Hastings which has been occupied by for family for four generations. It was built in 1830.

John Londerville was chairman of the meeting.

Hit City Bus But Not Impaired

"The day is over when buses can bull their way through the streets without due consideration for oncoming traffic," said Robert Carley, defending Lloyd Lowry, 26, of RR 2 Lakefield, who was acquitted on an impaired driving charge in magistrate's court, today.

William G. Hunt, driver of the bus involved, said he stopped or "almost stopped" at the corner of Simcoe and Water St. and waited until two south bound cars passed the intersection. He said he saw Lowry's car about "100 or 125 feet" north of Simcoe St., when he started to make his left-hand turn.

Hunt said only about four feet of the bus was left in the intersection at the time of the accident, but admitted Lowry struck the rear end of the bus about seven feet from the centre of the road, and that the greater part of the bus was blocking the west half of the road.

HAD THREE PINTS

Lowry said he had three pints of beer about an hour before the accident, but they did not affect his driving. "I wasn't half that far," he said, referring to Hunt's estimate of the distance between vehicles when the bus began to turn. "I tried to swing around him, but there was north-bound traffic and I had to swing back."

Lowry admitted being stubborn when PC Harold Andrew told him to move his car, but claimed it was his quick temper and not alcohol which made him so.

"The officer asked me why I didn't move the car as it was holding up traffic . . . and I told him I'd move it when I'd removed the glass lying around it."

Mrs. Lowry said her husband's condition was "good," when she left the car before the accident. "If I thought he wasn't capable, I'd have driven myself," she said.

"In my opinion, there is not sufficient evidence of negligence on the part of the accused to justify conviction," said magistrate W .R. Philp. "Because the accused was abusive is no indication of intoxication."

NEW DELHI (AP) — Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya returned from Korea today and said he opposes voluntary repatriation of war prisoners—the process he supervised as chairman of the recently-dissolved neutral nations repatriation commission.

"This new type of warfare—the conversion of the mind—puts a premium on voluntary desertion," he told reporters at the airport. "Are you going to have a neutral nations repatriation commission at the end of every war?"

something to the dining-room table and lay to.

Matt carefully instructed us about twirling the spaghetti on our forks with a dessert spoon in our left hands for a guide and support.

The spaghetti was the first course. My greatest joy was watching little two-year-old Tony manage that spaghetti like an old-timer. If a couple of strands of spaghetti escaped his little rosebud lips he slurped them in with dispatch. The meat balls were passed and with these Matt ate bread—so, so did I. Then a tossed salad, but that was made by me. So was dessert, which they were gracious enough to praise even if it was only lemon snow with custard sauce.

Matt and Anna and Tony are coming back for a Canadian dinner, but I have no illusions about competing with their cooking finesse or her charm.

Fairs Things Of Past Exhibits Get Rave

NORWICH, Ont. (CP)—A director of the Norwich fall fair says rural fairs were designed for the horse and buggy days and the 102-year-old fair may have held its last show.

Major J. C. St. John said at the North Norwich Agricultural Society's annual meeting farmers no longer have show horses and a win at Norwich with cattle isn't worth much any more.

A public meeting has been called for March 11 to decide the fair's future. Norwich is 15 miles southeast of Woodstock.

Featured Fashions

in place and the unsightly elastics are done away with. The color above all was white, unless the selection matched the gown or contrasted sharply, as red with navy.

The hair-dos were becomingly adapted variations of the Italian boy and the urchin cuts on models who had their hair newly styled for this occasion. Once the hair was sprayed with pink to match the satin cumerbund of a pretty cocktail dress.

"Making the most of your complexion" was the title of a five-minute talk by the make-up artist for the show, Madame Lenart. She stresses "naturalness" and blends powders and lipsticks right here in Peterborough for the individual, from formulas learned in Europe, where she took her training. A feature with her is lipstick color that can be worn with any outfit.

Flower earrings complemented several frocks and for late day wearing there were beautiful rhinestone necklaces, pins, bracelets and ensembles. One dress wore a large pin at centre back of a vee neckline, cut the same back and front as is commonly done this spring.

Enchantment of butterfly colors enhanced the deft handling of net tiers, tulle and nylon in the charming frocks selected for the bridal scene, and lent a delicate glow to the lovely bride, who of course wore white in a softly billowing model, and a veil newly arranged.

For benefit of wedding planners we mention the colors of the attendants' frocks in this show: jade and lime green combination for the maid of honor, fragile orchid, sky green and cloud pink for the bridesmaids, each with a specially designed headdress to match. They carried small nosegays and the commentator called attention to the new type of bride's bouquet, small and dainty.

After a parade of "wedding guests" had come in, and before the bridal party, Mrs. B. R. Smyth and Mr. Mort Knox sang "O Promise Me."

A new spinet-type organ has been loaned for the show and it is played throughout by Mr. Charles Allen.

Fashions around "the clock," which formed the centre stage decoration, commenced with a group of sport clothes, skirts, sweaters, slacks and blouses. After intermission there was a bathing suit display, featuring the ensemble of printed coat over printed suit, with the breath-taker in striking awning stripe.

Regent of the Jeanette Scott Chapter Mrs. Andy Rutter opened the show with an explanation of the student educational work that is done with proceeds from this annual project. Later she superintended the giving of donated prizes which were drawn for by Mrs. W. G. Hall, a life member of Municipal Chapter, IODE.

The fashion show committee assisting the conveners ineluded Mrs. Ted Howard in charge of decorating, Mrs. Jack Comstock, tickets, Mrs. John McColl, wardrobe, Mrs. Howard Shields, lighting, Mrs. John Fraser, publicity, Mrs. Alan Drynan, programs, Miss Mary Medd, ushers.

Mrs. Haig Kelly selected the models, who were Misses Delores Anthony, Ann Guerin, Lois Corner, Pat Collins, Wilma Watson, Joan White, Ruth McKee, Margaret Ingram, Jackie Rose, Joan Lynch, Mary Stewart, Jane Buckland, and Mesdames M. Knox, G. Harrison, H. Shields, S. Munro, J. McNeil, J. Dougherty, M. Comstock and J. Matthews.

The show is being repeated tonight.

Open Verdict In Girl's Death

SARNIA (CP)—A coroner's jury Wednesday night returned an open verdict in the death of an attractive 24-year-old blonde who died in hospital Oct. 24 shortly after she was found in her hotel room with a bullet wound in her side.

Rudolph Horoux, former manager of the Huron hotel, in a statement read at the inquest said he and hotel guests entered Louise Blackhall's room in the early morning after a guest had heard a shot. He said they found Miss Blackhall unconscious in a pool of blood, with a gun and a note nearby.

Constable E. Millard said the note read: "I did this myself."

Three witnesses said the woman had previously tried to kill herself.

The jury, under city coroner Dr. Douglas Logie, returned after 40 minutes' deliberation for further instruction. A spokesman asked whether Morris Leduc, an employee at a downtown hotel, was questioned by city police after he left the Huron hotel the morning of the shooting.

Detective Robert Myles said Leduc was not questioned because Mr. Horoux said Leduc had left the hotel alone before the shooting.

Bus, Warm Spot For Motorists

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two London women Wednesday told the story of a blizzard-stranded bus that proved a warm haven for bogged-down motorists near Chatham.

Mrs. Pearl Conner and Mrs. H. T. Thornton, both returning from vacations in Florida—said bus driver Clayton Merritt of London kept the motor running all night to keep the bus warm for his 34 passengers and many motorists who took refuge with them, including a man and a woman with seven children.

Two youths with a jeep brought gasoline from a service station in Chatham as the bus burned two gallons an hour.

In the morning a farmer invited the whole group of stranded passengers into his house for breakfast.

Canadian Girl Unlucky In Giant Slalom Race

ARE, Sweden (CP)—Two falls in the last 200 yards cost 15-year-old Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa the giant slalom title today in the world ski championships.

Miss Heggtveit, winner of the giant slalom in the Holmekollen festival at Opdal, Norway, two weeks ago, had the fastest time for the first half of the 1,300-metre course today, 37.2 seconds. But her two falls on the icy closing run dropped her back to 31st place.

Lucienne Schmith of France was the winner in 1:38.9 minutes. Miss Heggtveit covered the full course in 1:53.2.

Lucille Wheeler of St. Jovite, Que., took 18th place with a time of 1:47.5.

OUT OF THE PAST—This volume, believed to be the oldest typographic book known, probably turned out by Johann Gutenberg more than 500 years ago, is now in New York's Pierpont Morgan Library. It's a 376-page book containing all the major masses and was printed for the Roman Catholic diocese of Constance, Germany. Frederick B. Adams, Jr., director of the library, holds the Constance missal above a case containing a Gutenberg Bible. Adams says it is the most important printed book ever acquired by an American library. Previously the famed Gutenberg Bible had been considered the first book printed from movable type.

Union, Hydro Still At Odds

LINDSAY (ENS) — Talks between employees of the Lindsay Hydro Commission and the commission committee on a union contract have failed to bring an agreement to date. The latest meeting was held last week when both sides presented their proposals, but they still differed in three major points: union recognition, union security and wages. The union's proposal will be carried to the commission's full meeting next week for further study. Meanwhile, both sides today denied a rumor circulating in the town that a strike would be called by the union this weekend. The members of the commission answering the union's request for a speed-up in the negotiations pointed out that members of the commission were attending the Ontario Hydro Convention this week and were unable to take further action on the talks.

Business Schools Defend Standards

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of business colleges Wednesday rose to the defence of their education standards and operations before the Ontario legislature's committee on education.

W. F. Marshall of London, Ont., secretary-treasurer of the Business Educators' Association of Canada, said the schools are self-regulating.

"Let a student fail and the punishment comes back to us right away. . . If we did anything dishonest with the student. . . the results would be drastic. The school is definitely an institution that regulates itself."

Mr. Marshall said that of the 77 business colleges in Ontario, 41 operate independently, 23 belong to the educators' association and 13 to the Canadian Business Schools' Association.

He said the independents—small well-established schools with a teaching staff of one or two—were doing "excellent work."

"I don't know of a single school that is not doing a conscientious job."

Education Minister Dunlop said his department found that the greater the number of business colleges in associations, the less control and regulations are necessary.

Charles Wells, of the Guelph Business College, and a representative of the Canadian Business Schools Association said he believed the business college has a place in adult education."

Government To Modify Veterans' Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The government proposes to modify legislation which protects veterans of the First World War and the treasury from death-bed marriages.

Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe announced the plan Wednesday in the Commons when he introduced a resolution preceding a bill to amend the Pensions Act.

Under the act widows of veterans of the 1914-1918 conflict are not entitled to receive the veterans disability pension if the marriage took place after May 1, 1951. The bill proposes that this cut-off date be advanced to Jan. 1, 1954.

Mr. Lapointe said he first considered abolishing the provision. However, he said he then decided that veterans and the treasury are entitled to protection from women with a mercenary nature.

Without the provision he feared "death-bed marriages" between older veterans and younger women seeking to obtain a veteran's disability pension on his death. The provision would protect the soundness of marriages by veterans.

The legislation would permit the payment of pensions to children adopted by veterans after the appearance of the injury or sickness which made the veteran eligible for pension. Pensions ranging from $2 to $20 a month now are paid only to children adopted prior to the date a veteran went on pension.

Had Indigestion; Nerves On Edge, Couldn't Sleep

Woman Tells of Relief She Got By Taking Syntona. Now Also Free of Dizzy Spells. "Enjoy Meals Once More."

People who suffer from common stomach disorders, constipation, nervous, fatigued, rundown condition and associated aches and pains are often surprised by the good results they get by taking Syntona Herbal Compound. Many letters clearly indicate that they never expected Syntona would do so much to help them. Any one still doubting this need only try Syntona a short time to be convinced of its effectiveness.

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mr. Hazel Merritt, 48 Mondamin Street St. Thomas, Ontario, said in a recent statement:

"For a long time I was troubled with indigestion and would have a heavy, bloated feeling after my meals. This condition seemed to upset my nerves so badly that I couldn't sleep well at night. I tried most of the ordinary things, but no real relief until I began taking Syntona.

"Now I enjoy my meals once more and am not troubled with that awful discomfort in my stomach afterwards. My nerves are calmed down, and I get better sleep and am also free of sick dizzy spells which I had for a long time before."

HOW IT ACTS

Syntona is made from 12 of Nature's Selected Herbs and Roots. It acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and helps to drive excess acids and poison waste from the system. Its stimulating stomachic action promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

U.S. Military Not Helping Reds—Wilson

Tells Reporters That Rumours Just Tommy-Rot

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson say any "idea the army is coddling Communists is just damn tommy-rot" but that he is looking for better ways to handle security-risk cases in the United States services in the future.

Wilson snapped out the "tommy-rot" comment at a press conference Thursday during which he was questioned about the case of Maj. Irving Peress, the army dentist who invoked the fifth amendment of the U.S. constitution in refusing to answer questions about possible subversive connections. Senator McCarthy, investigating the case, has sharply criticized the army.

The Pentagon chief's comment stirred the Wisconsin Republican senator, who only a few minutes before had vowed he was "all through" issuing statements, to retort that, "No one has ever claimed that the army as such is coddling Communists."

ONE SUBJECT

In his press conference, devoted this week to the sole subject of communism, Wilson said:

1. Using a "task force" from his office, he is setting out to determine the "who and why" element in the army's sudden issuance of an honorable discharge for Peress months after Peress was said to have invoked the protective amendment in refusing to answer questions about communism.

2. Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens was "technically responsible, because he's the boss," for the handling of the Peress case—but "I wouldn't think" Stevens would resign because of the matter.

3. His "task force" is covering "the whole incident, from Peress right through, so we'll know the facts, so we can handle things better in the future. . . . This is sort of a new kind of a problem; you wouldn't want a man to be able to dodge the draft just because he says he is a Communist."

The policy on this point, as it stands now, is that if a volunteer for enlistment refuses to state whether he has or has had Communist connections, he is refused acceptance by the army. If a

Worst Storm Of Winter For Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy snow hit parts of snow-clogged western Ontario overnight and today, adding to effects of the worst storm of the winter, which has taken at least 10 lives.

Fifty-mile-an-hour gusts whipped a snowfall of two to three inches in the Wiarton-Centralia area north of London, piling it into huge drifts across the already snow-burdened district.

In other parts of western Ontario, slowly recovering from a blizzard-like blow that piled drifts 12 feet high and blocked highways, local storms piled up another two or more inches during the night, the weather office here reported.

Some 2½ inches fell in London district and at Brantford but the snow stopped by morning as skies cleared and winds dropped.

At 9 a. m. today the Ontario highways department reported all roads clear in the province except along the Lake Huron shore where a three-mile stretch along Highway 21 between St. Joseph and Drysdale is blocked. Snow has clogged nine miles along Highway 84 between St. Joseph and Hensall and only one-way traffic is allowed. High winds were reported in the area all along the Ontario shore of Lake Huron.

ROADS ARE ROUGH

The highways department reported all roads clear in the Chatham, Windsor, Sarnia area though there are many rough and narow sections. One department official said the road conditions are "a little better" than Thursday.

In the rest of the province it was generally clear during the night. The weather office said it would be mostly cloudy with little change across the province today.

British Army Near Cairo Says Naguib

Were Preparing To Pounce On Egyptians

CAIRO —(Reuters)— President Mohamed Naguib said today British forces from the Suez canal zone had "advanced within 40 kilometers (25 miles) of Cairo" the day after he resigned late last month.

He added: "British troops in battledress were ready to swoop down on us had we not promptly settled our differences."

Naguib was addressing a Moslem congregation after Friday prayers at Sayeda Zeinab mosque. He urged faithful Moslems to "unite in face of the imperialism trying to divide us." Unity is the Moslems' only weapon "to oust the enemy," he said.

Naguib was stripped of all his titles by the revolutionary junta but was reinstated as president only two days later. Junta strongman Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser became premier.

Since last October, Anglo-Egyptian negotiations for the evacuation of some 80,000 British troops from the canal zone have been deadlocked.

Referring to Naguib's statement, a British military spokesman said British national servicemen in brigade strength were actually engaged in modern desert warfare manoeuvres in the desert on the Suez-Cairo road south of Suez.

Egyptian authorities were notified of the exercises which began on Feb. 24 and ended Feb. 27, he said.

No Indications Anyone Fired As Security Risks

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 3,000 federal civil servants have undergone routine security checks in the last year. The number approximates the intake in the civil service during that time plus transfers involving security within government departments. However, there is no indication how many—if any—persons might have been fired as security risks, refused jobs in the first place with the civil service or denied transfers or promotions.

The subject of security was brought up in the Commons Wednesday when Davie Fulton, PC member for Kamloops, asked that the names of members of the government's security panel be made public, for details of the panel's operations and for figures on the number of civil servants dismissed or transferred as poor security risks.

Acting Prime Minister Howe said: "It is not in the public interest to answer these questions." He added: "We all abhor McCarthyism."

Mr. Fulton, in an interview, said that he intends to pursue the subject and that he is drafting new questions to ask the government.

NOT ACCUSING

He made it clear he has no intention of accusing the civil service of harboring Communists.

His purpose was to determine whether the security panel is doing an efficient job and to make sure that the panel is "absolutely fair."

Security checks are made on all new civil servants and on civil servants transferred to new posts in "sensitive" branches of government, such as the defence research board, atomic energy and national defence.

Security is the responsibility chiefly of the deputy ministers of government departments. They are the persons who ask the RCMP to make investigations.

Bomb Explosion Injures Moroccan Sultan

MARRAKESH, Morocco—(Reuters)—The Sultan of Morocco was injured by a bomb explosion in a mosque today.

The sultan, Sidi Mohammed ben Moulay Arifa, 65, was installed last August after French authorities deposed and exiled his relative, Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef for exposing the nationalists' independence demands.

The sultan suffered head injuries from the bomb which exploded inside Marrakesh mosque, where he was taking part in Friday prayers.

A nationalist attempt to assassinate the new sultan as he was going to prayers in a Rabat mosque failed last September.

In Marrakesh, hilltop city of southern Morocco, an unsuccessful attempt was made last week on the life of one of the sultan's principal followers, El Glaoui, pasha of Marrakesh.

Wildcat Strike Ties Up New York State

NEW YORK (AP) — Wildcat strikers tied up New York's huge port today, defying a federal court order in a battle for union control of the waterfront.

Resentful members of the independent International Longshoremen's Association refused to work luxury-liner and other piers in Manhattan, and stayed off the job at piers in Brooklyn and Staten island.

Waterfront police reported that the rival AFL union of the same name also refused to report to work at strikebound piers, apparently to avoid any brawling.

The two unions are fighting for control of the dock workers.

The striking ILA longshoremen said they acted because of a federal court restraining order obtained against them yesterday by the national labor relations board.

Passengers boarding the liner Queen Elizabeth were forced to carry their own luggage. The Cunard line mustered about 100 office workers to help out.

Commons Docile, Stagnant Says John Diefenbaker PC

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has been told it has become "docile and stagnant" through the growth of cabinet powers. John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) said Thursday that Parliament has become "a sounding board to put through what the government decides is good for the country."

He was criticizing a government proposal to give the cabinet power to fix salaries of members of the Canadian pensions commission. That has been done since 1919 by parliamentary statute.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the pensions commission would become a pawn of the government.

"Parliament with its authority has become nothing more than a memory and a fiction, with no more than the right to fulminate on government actions." It had become "docile and stagnant."

The Commons was being asked, week after week, to surrender its supremacy. The salary proposal was "just another surrender by Parliament to the all-knowing, all-benevolent government."

The proposal he opposed was one of several amendments to veterans' pensions legislation contained in a bill introduced by Veterans Minister Lapointe. Other provisions, including one extending pension benefits to adopted children of veterans, met with general approval.

However, Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) moved to strike the salary plan from a resolution preliminary to the pensions bill. The motion was defeated 65 to 41 in a standing vote.

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) sided with the Liberals in voting against the motion. He said he opposes the salary plan, but argued that it should be handled in the veterans affairs committee that will consider the measure.

Other opposition members supported the amendment.

Col. Brooks said Parliament should call a halt in the transfer of its powers to the cabinet. The people of Canada were "tired and fed up with the governor-in-council (cabinet) assuming the right and the role of the representatives of the people."

Jacobs Gets 14 Years For Manslaughter

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—William Jacobs, 31-year-old father of six children, today was sentenced to 14 years in penitentiary for the killing of Alfred Hindrea, 76.

Jacobs was convicted of manslaughter by a Supreme Court jury here last week.

Hindrea's death occurred last Christmas eve in his shack, adjacent to the house in which Jacobs lived at Weller Park, near here. Jacobs, who had been drinking, testified he had no knowledge of the events surrounding Hindrea's death.

Investigation Of Ex-PoW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Army today ordered Cpl. Claude J Batchelor held for a pre-trial investigation of alleged misconduct and charges of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea.

The 23-year-old Kermit, Tex., soldier was placed under arrest at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, today.

He arrived there Thursday for a medical checkup.

Batchelor is one of two American prisoners of war who had a change of mind and came home after first electing to remain with the Communists.

The other was Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, 23, of Cracker's Neck, Va.

On Feb. 18, the army ordered a court-martial trial for Dickenson on charges he gave the Communists information about fellow prisoners in order to gain better treatment for himself. His trial is due to begin sometime late this month but the date has not been set.

The formal charge against Dickenson is unlawfully collaborating with the enemy.

Fire Causes $250,000 Damage

ELORA (CP)—A factory fire that gutted a division of the Mundell Furniture company here today caused damage unofficially estimated at more than $250,000.

Fire equipment was rushed from nearby Guelph and Fergus as the two-storey factory building burst into flames at 7:40 a.m., driving out 20 employees. The flames spread so rapidly the workers left without their coats.

The main building of the company is located across the Grand river from the burned-out finishing division.

James Cameron, company secretary, said the fire started in the varnish room on the second floor. A rush of flames followed an explosion. The building was jammed with machinery and hundreds of new living room suites.

Elora fire chief Frank Frankish, an employee of the company, was one of those who fled. After he turned in an alarm 12 persons were ordered from a nearby apartment any spread of the flames.

Firemen concentrated on saving an adjacent frozen food locker plant and a grocery store from the terrific heat.

St. Laurent Honors Indonesians

JAKARTA, Indonesia (CP)—Canada's prime minister today placed a huge wreath at the foot of a simple white monument commemorating the 1945 declaration of independence by 80,000,000 Indonesian people.

The simple ceremony was performed by Prime Minister St. Laurent on a sun-bathed lawn in front of a white bungalow called "Independence House." Eight Indonesian leaders met there nine years ago and drafted their proclamation which later brought self-government after years of Netherlands rule to a string of tropical southwest Pacific islands extending more than 2,000 miles.

Earlier the Canadian leader, who arrived here Thursday night on his round-the-world goodwill tour after visiting India, Pakistan and Ceylon, called on Indonesia's prime minister, Ali Sastroamidjojo, who had greeted him on arrival at the airport here. He also called on Vice-President Mohammed Hatta. During his brief Indonesian stay—he leaves Saturday for Manila—the Canadian Prime Minister is the guest of President Soekarno, once leader of the Independence movement.

Substantial Increases For Premier, Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP) — Increases of $5,000 for the cabinet and $10,000 for the prime minister are law but they won't be paid until April 1.

A bill to increase cabinet salaries to $15,000 from $10,000 and the prime minister's salary to $25,000 from $15,000 was given royal assent Thursday in the Senate by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, deputy governor-general.

This increase, plus previously-approved boosts in pay for members of the Commons and Senate, gives the prime minister a total of $37,000 a year and his cabinet ministers $27,000 a year each.

The increase in indemnities for parliamentarians is retroactive to last Nov. 12 when the current session of parliament began. April 1, effective date for cabinet salary boosts, is the start of the 1954-55 fiscal year.

Red Commandos Attack Hanoi Airport

HANOI, Indo-China (Delayed)—(AP)—French army headquarters announced that Communist-led Vietminh commandos raided Hanoi's big civil airport, five miles away at Gialam, and blew up an undisclosed number of airplanes today.

Exact losses were not disclosed, but army spokesmen said "several planes" had either been destroyed or partially wrecked in explosions.

(French censorship of dispatches from Indo-China has grown increasing strict in recent months. Presumably this accounted for the delay in this dispatch.)

(In Singapore, informants said often as many as 15 to 20 transport planes, including big Skymasters, are parked on the field overnight.)

The Vietminh raiders attacked at about 2:30 a. m., going from plane to plane on the main airport runways and placing high explosives in plastic containers under the engines.

The airport guard opened fire on the raiders as big explosions started. The blasts could be heard clearly in Hanoi, across the Red river.

One Vietminh raider was killed.

(A later dispatch from Hanoi said more than 200 suspects had been rounded up following the raid.)

Most of the aircraft at Gialam belonged to private companies and were used in transporting men and war material to the big French union fortress of Dien Bien Phu, in northwest Indo-China. The Vietminh objective obviously was to the planes being used for this important airlift.

There was no announcement of any casualties among French and Viet Namese personnel.

$350,000-A-Year Bookies Arrested

TORONTO (CP)—Two men who police allege took between $1,000 and $2,000 a day in bets on horses from east-end factory workers, were arrested Thursday night.

[illegible]'s Greenwood said investigations disclosed that more than $350,000 a year was bet by workers in the east-end.

Held on charges of registering and recording bets and keeping a common gaming house are Henry Adams, 30, and Joseph Veaudry, 39. They were remanded a week when they appeared today in court.

Police said the pair had sheets of paper fastened to their arms by elastic bands. On the sheets were written the names of hundreds of horses running at Florida, California and Louisiana tracks. Police said they seized hundreds of betting sheets in a raid on an office in east Toronto. Other sheets were seized in raids on homes.

100,000 Coyotes Killed '53 Attempt To Combat Rabies

EDMONTON (CP)—Nearly 100,000 coyotes were killed with poison or traps during 1953 as Alberta fought a rabies epidemic that threatened to sweep south to the international border.

Although the disease still is a menace to humans and livestock, it has been virtually confined to the Athabaska area, about 100 miles north of here, and a few sections of the Peace river block and the Northwest Territories.

Dr. E. E. Ballantyne, chairman of the central rabies control committee, says the disease will be prevalent "for a long time" because of the difficulty of eliminating it from wild life.

Rabies, or hydrophobia, first invaded Alberta in June, 1952, although it had been present in foxes and wolves in northern Canada for several years.

Since then there have been 400 known cases among domestic animals in the province.

Although about 200 humans have been given anti-rabies treatment—a painful two weeks of needle shots—there have been no proven contacts. Once symptoms develop in humans, the result is usually fatal. Every persons bitten by a rabid animal does not develop symptoms however.

Although the disease is chiefly contracted through bites, heavy rubber gloves were recommended to trappers to protect them from infected saliva.

A dog vaccination program north of the 55th parallel was carried out by the health of animals division of the federal agriculture department. Assisted by RCMP and forest rangers, the inspectors vaccinated about 14,000 dogs north of the parallel in the winter of 1952-53.

The disease also was found in bears, beavers, foxes, lynx, moose, rabbits, wolves and weasels in Alberta and caribou in the Northwest Territories.

The epidemic now seems well under control.

"But anything can happen," says Dr. Ballantyne.

Few countries have ever rid themselves of the "mad-dog" disease. The only countries reported free from rabies are Britain, Ireland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Hollan, Australia, Switzerland and Hawaii. Only about 10 states of the United States have never reported incidence of rabies.

Siberia is generally considered the origin of the Western epidemic. Either the rabies virus was carried across the Bering strait by rabid animals in recent years, or else it has harbored in the Northwest Territories for centuries.

Release 4 Cars From Lake Ice

SUTTON (CP) — Four of seven automobiles frozen in the ice of Lake Simcoe, 50 miles north of Toronto, were freed Thursday night and the others were expected to be released today.

Sixty men worked at freeing the cars, driven on to the ice by fishermen.

Some of the cars were submerged to their windows and it was feared for a time they would go under completely.

Crisis Will Effect Economic Structure

STE. ADELE, Que. (CP) — Monty Buckman, executive director of Halifax Corduroy Limited, said Thursday night the current recession in the textile industry is a "crisis that will eventually affect the entire economic structure of Canada."

He called on the federal government to "offset the march to the breadlines" by strengthening its laws governing dumping and unfair competition by foreign countries.

Mr. Buckman told a group of textile manufacturers and business men at a two-day meeting here that Canada is allowing unfair competition.

Dulles Says American Money Helps Canada

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — State Secretary Dulles of the United States said Thursday the "spectacular development" of Canada during the present century is primarily due to co-operation between private investors of the United States and Canada.

During an address to the Inter-American conference here Dulles said approximately $5,000,000,000 of private United States capital has been invested in Canada.

The U. S. investments had made a significant contribution to producing for Canada one of the highest standards in the world.

Pope Still Improving

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius again was reported a little better today. The slow improvement of the last week in the general condition of the 78-year-old Pontiff was maintained, Vatican sources said, and he again passed a fair night.

Convinced That Dark Days Lie Ahead For America

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Siegfried Weisberger, convinced that "the age of the boob is upon us," is closing his Peabody bookshop still stocked with 100,000 volumes nobody wants to read.

"I predict very dark days for America," said the old friend of H. L. Mencken.

"Everyone in the cities used to look up to the doctor, the lawyer, the professor. They were idols," he continued.

"Today—they all look up to the business man."

He gestures with ferocious eloquence and brushes a bit of cigar ash from his tweed vest.

This is the kind of talk one used to hear in this basement beer stube from Mencken, the writer. . . the musician. . . the scholar. . . the critic of the 20s.

But now Siegfried, his shaggy moustache bristling and his bright blue eyes seeming to spark, is heading for the country, a farm in New Windsor, Md.

"The people don't want books and ideals and culture. They only want dollars. They sold 15,000 pairs of shoes last year, and this year they want to sell 750,000 pairs—progress."

Siegfried believes in the Magna Carta, the bill of rights, H. L. Mencken, German music and philosophy.

He despises all forms of censorship and official meddling. He was once fined for serving beer to a 20-year-old Yale man, horrendous enough in Siegfried's eyes, but the final profanation was this—the detectives checking his place didn't even remove their hats.

As you enter this musty shop with a 32-year history you are confronted with a scene of scholarly chaos.

If there are counters, they are invisible beneath an avalanche of volumes ranging from collections of Bach madrigals to cook books.

There are lithographs of an early 1900 flavor on the walls in no particular arrangement at all and a cartoon or two bearing Mencken's signature.

In the rear of the shop is its heart—the beer stube. Tables are tossed about in proximity to the sturdy old bar and the room is dominated by a stone fireplace. A collection of German silver and old beer steins is scattered about, apparently dropped on anything that would give support.

There is a piano. The atmosphere is conducive to good conversation, romance or song—take your choice.

Siegfried says he hopes to find time on the farm to write a book about Mencken. That may be some compensation for his patrons—local scholars, beer lovers and seamen from other shores.

Should Combat Unemployment

BRAMPTON (CP)—CCF leader Coldwell said Thursday night the federal government should "take positive and immediate action" on unemployment and falling farm income.

Mr. Coldwell, in a speech prepared for delivery to a CCF public meeting, said he is worried about the government's "lack of concern over these problems and refusal to take special measures to combat them."

Mr. Coldwell said the government has taken little action to alleviate the effects of falling farm prices. These had been dropping for the last couple of years, and indications were that the net farm income for 1953 would be down by 12 per cent from 1952.

"One of the major reasons for the drop in the net farm income," Mr. Coldwell said, "has been the glut on the market of many of our goods under Canada's present trading policies."

Spend Thousands To Undermine Gov't Marketing

TORONTO (CP)—An official of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said Thursday packers are spending "thousands of dollars" in an attempt to defeat the Ontario hog marketing project. He spoke at the annual meeting of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association. Lawrence Kerr of Chatham said truckers and drovers have been telling farmers they are doing the actual selling, rather than the producers' marketing agency, and showed money from packers to prove it.

V. S. Milburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, criticized packers for "under-the-table" payments to truckers.

"We know such payments are being made," he said. "I have heard packers' representatives admit they were doing it. They started out to do it in an effort to defeat our agency and now, to a large extent, they are doing it in competition with each other in order to get hogs.

"It's costing them thousands of dollars, and I think they would be happy to get out of it if they could do so and save face."

Mr. Milburn offered suggestions as to how the producers and their marketing agents, United Livestock Sales Ltd., could deal with the problem.

He said auditors could be hired to check packers' books to ascertain what payments were made to truckers. Any truckers who did not deliver hogs to destinations specified by farmers could be prosecuted.

If a fine did not discourage a trucker from taking hogs to packers of his choice rather than the producers', the matter could be taken to a higher court and the trucker prevented from hauling hogs.

The question arose from a discussion of money. Harry Wilson of Charing Cross said after hearing financial reports that he felt profits of the marketing agency should go back to the farmer. At present 20 per cent goes to the association; income tax is paid, and the balance is divided among the six companies making up the United Livestock Sales Limited.

The financial report said that last year the association received about $17,000, $33,800 went for income tax and the companies got $35,000. It said the selling agency takes a fee of 20 cents a hog.

C. D. Black, general manager of the selling agency, said farmers should make sure their hogs are sold through the agency and should ignore excuses offered by truckers who did not want to take them to the markets selected. He also suggested that farmers see that trucks or railway cars provide for good bedding for hogs and that the animals are adequately protected against the weather while on the way to market.

Chicago Badman Chicago Bandit Dies Penniless

CHICAGO (AP) — Terry J. Druggan, 55, the voluble, dapper bootlegger who with scarface Al Capone was one of the pioneer gangster millionaires of the prohibition era, died Thursday. He was believed virtually penniless.

Druggan, one-time beau brummel of Chicago's fabulous period of gang warfare in the early '20s, has been ailing for years. He had been out of the public spotlight for some 20 years, after his release from prison.

Prohibition made millionaire beer barons of Druggan and Frankie Lake as they fought and shot their way side by side almost to the top of the heap of gangsters and bootleggers. Mainly he served the Capone dynasty, operating seven breweries for scarface Al. He was among the original 28 "public enemies."

Lake, Capone and several other of the front-ranking gang leaders of the prohibition era preceded him in death.

NATO Can Help Free Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—A Senate committee investigating closer economic co-operation within NATO Thursday heard a suggestion that the North Atlantic Alliance can help promote freer international trade.

Bruno Foa, consulting economist to the New York office of an Italian banking house, said he does not think the 14-member North Atlantic Treaty Organization should usurp the functions of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, negotiated among some 50 countries to lower trade barriers.

The wider the group participating in trade liberalization, the better were the results, he said in reply to questions from Senator W. D. Euler, former Liberal trade minister. However, NATO could do a lot towards creating a favorable public opinion for closer economic co-operation.

Mr. Foa and Ettore Lolli, manager of the Banca Nazionale del Lavoro of Rome, appeared as witnesses before the Senate trade relations committee which last year launched a probe of ways to make greater use of economic clauses in the NATO treaty.

Living Costs Unchanged, Coffee Dearer

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs remained unchanged during January for the first time in almost four years.

Prices jumped for such things as coffee, pork, hospital rates, soap and taxi fares, but these were balanced by other scattered declines, keeping the consumer price index at the December level of 115.7, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

It was the first month the yardstick was held steady since April, 1950. Since then there have been changes in the yardstick, either up or down, every month.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, made three successive drops in the last three months point. It now is 2.5 points below of 1953 for a total decline of one the high of 118.2 reached in December, 1951.

Most significant in the January survey was the shelter column, which includes rents. This column which had been rising almost steadily, remained unchanged at the peak of 125.4 set in December.

This resulted from a balance between a decline in home-ownership costs and a tiny increase in rents.

The food column, which previously had propelled major changes in the index, rose by a mere one-tenth of a point to 111.7, first rise in five months, but well below the peak of 122.5 in November, 1951.

Pork and coffee prices rose, but these were partially offset by fractional dips in the price of grapefruit, potatoes, tomatoes, beef, fish, raisins and orange juice.

Determined Greet Queen

CASTLEMAINE, Aust. (Reuters) Plans to prevent crowds from gathering here to greet Queen Elizabeth because of an infantile paralysis outbreak were completely ignored tonight as the royal train arrived.

Four thousand persons—among them hundreds of schoolchildren—crowded the station at Castlemaine, determined to go ahead with their welcome.

(Earlier reports said the royal train passed through Castlemaine without stopping.)

The mayor ignored an instruction that he should hand over his address of welcome to Sir Michael Adeane, the Queen's private secretary.

Avoiding the outstretched hand of the secretary, he read the address himself to the royal couple, who stood smiling on the observation platform of the train. The Queen handed her reply unread to Adeane, who passed it to the mayor.

STAYED ON TRAIN

The royal couple did not step down from the train. Newspaper men aboard were asked to remain on the train, and only John Cain, premier of Victoria, some officials and five photographers went on to the station.

Mayor G. W. McMeeken chatted with the Queen for two minutes on the train, which is making a two-day whistle-stop tour of northern Victoria.

Admits Assault In Beer Party

LINDSAY (ENS).— A 22-year-old Bancroft Indian, Ronald Gould, was placed on suspended sentence for a year and assessed costs of $18 when he pleaded guilty in court today of assaulting his neighbor, Herman Wight, last Saturday night during a drinking party.

Evidence by Wight and his 17-year-old wife, Della, showed that Gould and his 16-year-old wife had been invited to visit the Wights on Saturday night. Some 48 pints of beer had been brought to the party.

Gould apparently got too much to drink and during the evening made frequent trips out of the house taking beer with him. The assault charge arose when someone sugested the Goulds should go home. Gould challenged Wight and Wight's uncle to try to put him to bed. A scuffle ensued during which Mrs. Wight telephoned pronvincial constable Jack McKendry of Apsley. The commotion had ended when he arirved, Gould having gone home leaving his shirt which he had doffed during the scuffle at the Wight home.

Magistrate R. I. Moore, in suspending sentence for one year, counselled Gould to drink less, but did not make an order for total abstinence.

Licence Withheld Man Drove Jailed 3 Months

LINDSAY (ENS) — William Lawer, 20, of Lindsay, was jailed for three and one-half months and fined by Magistrate R. I. Moore in police court today when he pleaded guilty to driving and owning a car while his licence and right to drive a vehicle were under suspension.

Lawer lost his driving licence and his car was impounded last December by Magistrate A. E. Gee when he was convicted of being in care and in control of a vehicle while intoxicated. He was picked up by the provincial police on Feb. 9 and an investigation showed that he was driving a car he had purchased since the suspension.

This second vehicle was ordered confiscated by Magistrate Moore who sentenced Lawer to three months for driving while his licence was suspended. He levied a fine of $25 and $17.50 costs or an additional 15 days for owning the car while he was under suspension.

Lawer also pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining liquor while under the age of 21 years and received in addition $10 and $2.50 fine or ten more days to run concurrently with the other charge.

100 Unionists March On Parliament

OTTAWA (CP)—About 100 members of the left-wing International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers marched on Parliament Hill today to demand that MPs and the cabinet help solve Canada's unemployment problem.

Once inside the Commons, the delegation broke into small groups, each planning to confer with at least three MPs.

Delegate L. Gauthier of Sudbury, Ont., said the union groups will meet with the cabinet later today.

He said the IUMMSW will demand that the cabinet open up more jobs and reduce unemployment, expand world trade—including trade with Russia—and reduce taxes.

IUMMSW completed its annual convention in Port Colborne, Ont., Thursday.

The union was expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor in 1950 because of Communist leadership.

Expect Lay-Off Of 1,000

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Slumping business is expected to result in more layoffs affecting nearly 1,200 workers on railroads in New York state.

Hardest hit are the New York central car shops at Buffalo and Albany, where more than 1,000 layoff notices were reported posted yesterday.

The Delaware and Hudson Railroad announced that 131 employees on its Susquehanna division will be laid off this week-end.

ALSO BLABBERMOUTHS

Communists or crypto-Communists are not the only security risks. Also considered in that category are alcoholics or just plain blabbermouths.

The government's view is that public hearings on security checks would destroy sources of information.

The government set up the security system in 1946 after Igor Gouzenko, cipher clerk in the Russian embassy here, disclosed operations of a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

In December, 1951, Prime Minister St. Laurent said in the Commons:

". . . In the development stage of defence production some methods and processes are of enormous importance and their betrayal could do injury to the whole nation.

"The question at issue (dismissal of an employee of A. V. Roe Aircraft Company as a security risk) is not guilt or innocence of some particular charge. The sole question is whether a certain person can or cannot be entrusted with secret defence material.

". . . Assessment of character may be the only consideration in some instances. That is not a matter of charges, or of trial or of proof. It is a matter of judgment."

ANOTHER ORDER

A second policy, applying to officers, was established by Stevens Feb. 20 and circulated to all army commands with instructions that handling of cases covered by it "be expedited." The order under that policy is that officers found to be security risks be given discharge "other than honorable."

But the defence department Thursday proposed legislation which would provide for the retention in service—in the ranks—of anyone inducted under the Doctors Draft Act—as was Peress—even though they refused to answer questions about communism.

The department said the object of the legislation is to "remove any doubt that may exist as to the authority of the armed forces to retain and utilize in a professional capacity in an enlisted was drafted or ordered to active duty.

It was a quiet day for the traffic department Thursday. Only one collision was reported, this at the corner of King and Water Sts. Thursday morning. Sherman Nelson, 30, of Warsaw, facing east on King. A second car, was stopped at a stop signs and driven by David Gerolamy, 23, of 14 Edgewater, was travelling south on Water St. planning to turn right onto King. Because of slippery roads, Gerolamy could not make his turn complete, and the two cars were in collision. Total damage to fenders was estimated at $55.

Speeder Fined

LINDSAY (ENS). — Donald Fanhauer, Renfrew, was convicted in absentia in police court today of speeding at 75 miles an hour on Highway 35. The charge was laid by provincial constable Clive Naismith on February 2 after he had chased Fanhauer for more than three miles at 75 miles an hour without overtaking him. Fanhauer did not appear in court. Magistrate R. I. Moore heard the evidence and levied a fine of $20, and $2.50 costs, or 10 days.

Presented Brief To Counteract Any Recession

The 13-man delegation from the two Peterborough locals of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.), returned this week from Ottawa after presenting MPs with their "anti-depression" program and their six-point brief on national affairs.

They met in joint committee with the opposition— PCs, CCF, and So-Creds — and afterwards MPs were approached individually.

George Wallace, president of Local 524, UE, conferred with Gordon K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough), on beralf of the 3,700 production workers under contract to the UE in Peterborough. Local 527, a composite group, is the other UE union in the city.

The anti-depression program includes two general recommendations:

1. Full employment, and 2. Protection of present living standards.

Members of Parliament were also given a booklet prepared by the UE research department on the UE's proposal for an all-Canadian seaway and power project.

Following is the six-point brief:

1. Trade with all countries prepared to trade with Canada;

2. Legislation against the dumping of manufacturing goods into Canada;

3. Encourage new industries to process raw materials;

4. Increase unemployment insurance to $40 a week for the full period of unemployment;

5. An imemdiate start on an all-Canadian natural-gas pipeline from Alberta, constructed by Canadian labor and Canadian materials;

6. A request that the MPs vote against a number of sections in the proposed amendment to the Criminal Code. The sections the union disagrees with apply to trade unions.

May Suspend Workers' Visas

PRESCOTT (CP)—Employees of two major industries in this area who have been living across the St. Lawrence river in Ogdensburg, N.Y., face possible suspension of their temporary visas by United States immigration authorities.

This was indicated by J. A. Gilbert, chief of immigration in Ogdensburg, who urged the 64-odd commuters to make an earnest effort to find housing in Canada or take out immigration permits that would lead to U.S. citizenship.

The persons involved are employed at the RCA Victor plant here and at Canadian Industries Limited in nearby Maitland.

While the companies' plants were being constructed last year, the employees were given special permission by U.S. authorities to live in Ogdensburg and commute to their jobs while housing was at a premium here.

It was agreed then that the commuters would continue to seek housing here, but most are believed to have made little effort to do so.

Ronald L. Wintermeyer and Donald H. Heipel of Waterloo, both 17, asked provincial constable Robert Border where they might stay after their car ran out of gas. After checking the car and the licence number and finding them to tally with a description of a stolen car from Kitchener, Borden arrested the youths.

The boys were turned over to Kitchener police.

Ordnance Families Moving Into Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS) —Things are becoming very active at the ordnance depot. The administration building is finished and equipment is expected to be moved in this month. More and more successful applicants for jobs at the depot, who have been waiting to be called, have been advised to report for work and several groups have been sent to Ottawa on course. About a dozen new families have moved into the married quarters housing area just across the road from the depot, on D'Arcy street and more are coming within the ensuing month.

More than 100 children of ordnance personnel from out of town will be starting to public school here this summer and more than fifty will be enrolling at the Separate school. Partly on account of this influx of pupils, an addition is almost finished to the separate school and one is planned for the east-end public school.

He added that Canada "will share with us the mission that providence appears to have entrusted to man in the new world, to achieve an order of peace and justice."

Opportunities And Obstacles Face Canadian Exporters

MONTREAL (CP) — A mixed picture of opportunities and obstacles in the sale of Canadian goods to other countries, Thursday threw the annual meeting of the Canadian council of the international Chamber of Commerce into a lively debate.

In a session devoted to foreign trade and investment, speakers covered the Far East, Latin-America and the United States, but the American tariff generated the most heat.

C. Bruce Hill, St. Catharines industrialist, declared that under the present American tariff set-up an exporter can not tell what duty he will be charged, asked:

"How can you sell goods in the United States when you don't know at what price you can lay them down?"

Referring to reviews of American market opportunities by representatives of the department of trade and commerce, Mr. Hill declared:

"I object to the statement that Canadian manufacturers don't get into the American market because we can't sell goods. The Canadian manufacturer is just as good a salesman as there is in the world, but we want the same terms of entry into the United States as American exporters receive into Canada. That is a diplomatic problem, and is up to the government."

L. H. Ausman, assistant director of the trade commissioner service of the department of trade and commerce, one of the panel speakers preceding the discussion period, had reviewed possible opportunities in the American market and Mr. Hill felt he had "glossed over the real obstacle—the administration of the United States Customs Act."

Mr. Ausman had said in part:

"When many of our manufacturers look on the industrial colossus across the border, some sort of paralysis seems to set in.

"It seems to me that some of our medium and larger-sized manufacturers stand a fair chance to sell their products, not necessarily on Fifth avenue but along some of the hundreds of main streets from Maine to California."

Secret Sources Of Information

The present situation of Mr. Blair Fraser, a well-known and highly reputable writer on government affairs, raises once more the question of how far a court may go in demanding that a writer reveal his sources of information. Some time ago, respecting a libel action in British Columbia, Mr. Fraser was ordered by the judge to tell where he had learned certain things which appeared in the article which was the basis of the action. He refused, and was thus in contempt of court. The B.C. Court of Appeal upheld the decision of the lower court, and now the Supreme Court of Canada has refused to hear an appeal on this matter. Under existing law, it was inevitable that they should do so.

* * *

It is not widely understood that a court can demand the source of any information except that which a lawyer may present, only lawyers can give complete protection to their informants. A physician cannot refuse to do so. A priest can be compelled to reveal the secrets of the confessional, if the court so orders. Ministers of the Crown must give sources of information, if a court demands it. Now, while it is easy to understand how such a power came to be vested in a court, we do not think that it is in key with contemporary life. Even if most judges use discretion in the exercise of this power, not every judge will do so.

* * *

The reason that we think that the right of professional secrecy should be extended is that it often works for the public benefit. It is by no means unknown for a journalist to receive information from very high sources, on the understanding that the source will never be revealed; very often such information is given for excellent and necessary reasons. It is also common for journalists to receive information which is for the public good from very humble people, or from people who have good reason to keep clear of the law, such information working for the public good.

* * *

A judge can decide for himself, or can very quickly find out, if a journalist is a reputable and honourable man, or a vendor of ill-substantiated and sensational information. If the journalist is of the former, and commonest, kind we feel that he should be privileged to protect his informants, or that he should be privileged to confide their names to the judge and to the judge only, under seal of secrecy. The judge would then be able to decide on the reliability of the informants, and nobody would suffer.

* * *

Appeals against contempt sentences are likely to be allowed in the near future. We should like to see legislation which would protect journalists against demands that they should reveal names which they have given their professional word of honour to keep secret.

Immigrant Brothers

The Hon. George Drew, in Peterborough Wednesday evening to perform a brotherly task—to address the newly-formed local chapter of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews—had some homely advice on how to treat immigrants. He pointed out that many of the newcomers to Canada were fleeing from Communism or the arms of Communists, to take up a new, free life, where the knock at the door at six o'clock in the morning is only the milkman. They come here not knowing the language, the customs. They come with courage but trailing many fears. They are confused. They need not only guidance but a helping hand. They need not only encouragement but protection.

Mr. Drew said that Communists in Canada try to seize upon the newcomers at the dock and airport. The foreigners do not know one Canadian from another. They must be protected from the wiles of the Red greeters. And "through genuine understanding and acceptance of the newcomers" Canadians already here must help them to adjust to the new conditions and help them surmount 'the most difficult problem"—the language barrier.

We invite immigrants. Glowing pictures of the life in Canada are held out to them. The true north, strong and free, flowing with milk and honey. Whatever "overselling" of Canada there may have been abroad, as Mr. Drew alleged, we must not undersell Canada once the newcomers have arrived. We have just had a week of "Brotherhood". If anybody stands in need of brotherhood, it is the immigrants in their first weeks and months in the new land.

Without help and friendship, (different things from mere tolerance), how can these new persons become good, patriotic and effective Canadians? If the friendship is held out to them by Reds, who take every opportunity of preying on the fears and hopes of new workers, and to decry our system of democracy, what kind of Canadians will they become, these immigrants now so full of hope for a decent living and for freedom? Mr. Drew's remarks on this subject should be taken to heart in every neighbourhood in this city.

How's Your Average Income?

Because the Department of National Revenue is interested in collecting income taxes it is also interested in incomes. The figures that come to it give the Department an opportunity to tot-up how much people earn—according to their tax form declarations. We have been examining some 1951 tables, just published. In that year Peterborough had 12,810 income taxpayers; they declared an average income of $2,930, and they paid on that income a total of $37,500,000. This was an average of $211 for the year.

On the basis of average income, computed from forms, people of Peterborough are far down the list. Top average income in cities of Canada was earned by Trail and Kimberley—$3,486. A difference is that only 6,890 people in the two towns paid income tax. Shawinigan Falls (Que.) is second, average income of 8,310 taxpayers being $3,433. Next, surprisingly enough, is the city of St. John's, Newfoundland. The average declared income for tax purposes there was $3,348. We note, however, that in that city of 53,000 only 10,070 people paid income tax. Compare this with 12,810 Peterborough taxpayers out of a total population then of 38,272. Incidentally, some Newfoundland people are fond of saying, "Look how much tax we pay in exchange for the Federal subsidies, grants, bonuses and the like". Well, St. John's is the only Newfoundland town in the whole Canadian list of income taxpayers, and the St. John's people paid a total of only $3,600,0000 in income tax. Peterborough, as we have already said, contributed $2,700,000 that year.

The average income of Torontonian income-tax payers was $3,267, of Montreal taxpayers $3,330. But Toronto admitted to 434,340 taxpayers, Montreal (a larger city) to 362,540. Further, despite the declared higher average income of Montrealers, they paid an average tax of $357, while Torontonians paid $366. In fact, the highest average tax in the country was paid in Toronto. Does that indicate that Torontonians are more honest than citizens of other places, or less skilful in finding tax loopholes?

Right Age For An Air Hostess

A surprising amount of fuss has been caused by the action of a U.S. airline which announced that in future it would not employ any air hostesses who were over the age of 32. It said that 'an attractive, youthful appearance ordinarily is found to a higher degree in young women'. This statement of opinion has aroused deep resentment in the breasts of some of our contemporaries, who say that only callow young men like young women, that a beautiful woman is beautiful at any age, and so forth. We think that, upon the whole, the air line is within its rights; if a youthful appearance is what is wanted in an air hostess, it will obviously be found among young women; if 32 is the age they have decided on for their limit, it is nobody's business but their own. Our only comment on the conduct of the air line is that it has made a common mistake of our day, in making its company policy widely known; it is quite possible to run a business successfully without inviting the whole world to give its opinion on every matter of policy.

We have travelled to some extent on airships, and we have yet to see an air hostess who could be described by even the most indulgent critic as beautiful, or even pretty. They are usually nice-looking, capable girls, healthy and intelligent—but they are not beauties. How this legend of beautiful air hostesses arose we do not know, but we presume that it is a standard part of airline publicity.

As a general principle, we object to age limits for ordinary jobs. The measure of a man or woman's ability to hold a job should be their performance in it. We object to the notion that a woman ceases to be beautiful at any special age; if she has ever possessed real beauty she is not likely to lose it; if she was never any more than a pretty doll, she may lose her beauty at any time, and even by such a slight misfortune as slipping in a puddle.

But if an airline wants young women as hostesses, we see nothing to complain about. After all, nobody agitates to have pilots kept on their job when, in the opinion of an air line, they are too old for it.

American Congressmen, now legislating themselves pay increases, may raise their demands since the Puerto Rican shooting in the House of Representatives. Danger-area bonuses, like the extra pay of front-line American soldiers.

PARIS LETTER

Pleased With The Record

By NORA BELOFF

PARIS is cheerful. After all these dreary weeks of snow, skiddy roads and low yellow-grey clouds, the sun suddenly broke through as if it were spring. By the time you read this letter the sun will probably have retreated; but even its brief presence made winter seem less perpetual.

Few cities are more responsive to the weather than Paris. A sunny afternoon found the folding stools of the amateur fishermen reopened at the edge of the Seine, a literary clientele jostling round the reopened bookstalls on the quais, and the towpath, all the way from Notre Dame Cathedral to the Place de la Concorde, crowded with uninhibited young couples and family-with-dog processions, congratulating one another on the blueness of the sky and the brightness of the sun.

CERTAINLY this is a moment when the French have every reason to be pleased. They have just — and within less than an week — broken two world records: their best diving bell has dived deeper, and their best railway engine driven faster, than has ever been known before.

The diving bell, or bathyscaph, was manned by two naval officers: Commander Georges Houot, forty years old, and engineer Pierre-Henri Willm, who is twenty-seven; and these two reached the fantastic depth of two and a half miles.

THE MACHINE was towed one hundred and sixty miles from the West African coast, opposite Dakar, where the Atlantic was known to be exceptionally deep. Before dropping down, frogmen, armed with large poles to fight off the sharks, were sent in to make sure the vessel was seaworthy.

The bathyscaph is pulled downards by a number of weights held to its hull by electro-magnets. When the current is switched off the weights fall away and the bathyscaph—it also carries a large tank of petrol, which is lighter than water — rises slowly to the surface.

BUT HOUOT and Willm were in no hurry to come up. They stayed down for six hours, and afterwards said how impressed they had been by the blackness, utter immobility and unchanging temperature of the water. They were surprised, too, to find so much life at so great a depth: plankton was found, in large quantities, throughout the descent, and even at four thousand metres they encountered a shark.

THE BATHYSCAPH was not equipped for scientific investigation; but the French National Centre for Scientific Research is now planning suitable equipment to qualify the miniature submarine for service in various fields — geology, biology, botany, oceanography, physics and so on — which it is hoped will gain new discoveries in the watery world. Eminent French professors are already putting down their names to be allowed to join subsequent diving trips.

The second world record is much more prosiac: a small train — a diesel engine pulling three carriages — on the Paris to Dijon line reached a speed of one hundred and fifty miles an hour. No other train has ever approached this speed, and the driver, M. Magnaudex, was proud, if modest. "She ran absolutely steadily," he said afterwards. "She might have been doing no more than a mere eighty-five miles an hour."

TECHNOLOGY is all very well, but France is not the country to equate it with civilization. For the French, what matters most is the quality of human rather than mechanical achievement; and it is the outstanding works of art, craftsmanship and good state which command the highest respect. The pity of it is that the yearning for high quality and distinctiveness has, throughout the ages, been villainously exploited. People think they are buying — they are certainly paying the price for — a "Gothic" Virgin, a seventeenth-century drawing room suite, a Goya portrait, a Chantilly lace veil; but all they wind up with is an artful contemporary copy.

In the protracted struggle for artistic fair play the public has mobilised the police, who have now had the idea of opening an "Exhibition of Forgeries" in Paris to show they are on their toes, and to warn uninitiated buyers.

A VISIT to it certainly makes you think; and I saw people who seemed to be shuddering at the thought that perhaps their most treasured belongings qualified for the show. You hurry past a group of "false primitives," then past a Daumier (1808-1879) which turns out to be a "chromolithography" (mechnical type of reproduction) pasted on to an old canvas, and an especially-repulsive imitation Alfred Sisley (1839-1899) in which — as the catalogue says — "only the forged signature is altogether convincing".

A PHONEY PICASSO portrait, it seems, was purchased recently (by a person dismissed in the catalogue as "an ignorant buyer"). It is a very long, near a rather sculpture, inauspiciously named "Innocence," but which once had the effrontery to present itself as a real Rodin (1840-1917).

The police have in many cases contrived to borrow geniune works, and so can display the forgery's shortcomings by contrast. The difference stands out most conspicuously in the imitations of ancient African scupture: some white, Western and vulgar trait always seems to slip in in the case of the forgery.

BESIDES PICTURES, sculptures and drawings, the exhibition covers glass work, jewellery, furniture, ceramics, coins, stamps, paper currency and first editions. There is an astonishing set of forged letters from Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Lazarus (after his resurrection), Cleopatra, Julius Caesar, Charlemagne and "Le Roi Soleil" (Louis XIV). All these were penned by a single man in what ranks among history's greatest hoaxes. Between the years 1860 and 1868 a M. Vrain Lucas sold 27,345 autographs for large sums of money to an eminent geometrician, Michel Casles. The professor was delighted to have them, as he believed they substantiated an important thesis he was trying to advance.

ANOTHER FORM of forgery uncovered by the exhibition, and which is causing considerable alarm, concerns the wine trade. Labels of first-class firms are constantly being put on bottls containing second-rate wine.

A serious case is reported from Holland, where an honest Dutch chemist, M. Brunier, claims he can reproduce the chemical formula of any wine, substituting, among other items, distilled hay, and obtaining a taste indistinguishable from that of the real thing. A less honest merchant bought six thousand litres of this mixture, and rebottled it using the labels of all the best-known French vineyards. The French were particularly shocked to learn that he had even gone to the length of selling it to priests for celebrating Mass.

M. Pestel, director of the French Institute for High Quality Wines, has hurried to Amsterdam to help in the investigation. I understand he took with him several cases of real wine to let Dutch officials see—or taste—for themselves.

Letters To The Editor

CATHOLIC OPINION ON TETZEL

SIR: "Observer," in a letter on the Luther film, says "Tetzel . . . never taught that indulgences bring about the forgiveness of sins, nor can it be proved that he used the expression: 'As soon as money in the casket rings — the soul its flight from Purgatory wings'."

To keep the record straight, I quote the following from the Catholic Encyclopaedia on Tetzel, (vol. XIV, page 540.)

"The couplet attributed to him

As soon as the gold in the casket rings
The rescued soul to heaven springs, like that attributed to Luther,

Who loves not wine and wife and song,
Remains a fool his life long;

though verbally spurious, can in both instances be in substance unfailingly traced to the writings of their respective authors. By Tetzel they are substantially acknowledged in his Frankfort theses. Here he accepted the mere school opinion of a few obscure writers, which overstepped the contents of a papal indulgence Bulls . . . By the teaching he laid himself open to just censure and reproach."

Yours truly,
L. H. SAUNDERS

LET THE BUYER BEWARE

SIR: The judgement rendered by the Ontario Court of Appeal on February 1st, 1954, in the case of Gratton vs. Forest City Motors, is of particular importance to any person who intends to buy a used motor vehicle.

By section 13 of The Sale of Goods Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario, Chapter 345, on any sale of goods, unless the circumstances of the contract show a different intention, the law implies a condition, on the part of the seller that he has a right to sell the goods an implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods, and an implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any charge or incumbrance in favour of a third party not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time of the contract of sale.

Millions of dollars worth of goods change hands yearly on the faith of these implied undertakings by sellers that buyers shall become the owners of the goods and shall have quiet possession free from incumbrances. Otherwise, trade and commerce could hardly be carried on.

Yet the words "unless the circumstances of the contract show a different intention" must not be overlooked, as we shall see.

In the Gratton case, Mr. Gratton bought a used truck from Forest City Motors, expecting, naturally enough, that he could get a good title and become the owner of the truck free from incumbrances. He signed a written contract of purchase and sale, but probably paid little or no attention to the terms. Even if he read it over, he might not have understood the meaning of clause 15, which was to the following effect:

"There are no representations, warranties, collateral agreements, conditions, express or implied, statutory or otherwise, with respect to the property or this contract or affecting the rights of the parties other than as specifically contained herein."

What the written contract apparently did NOT contain was a warranty of title or any reference to quiet possession by the buyer or freedom from incumbrances.

It seems that, unknown to both seller and buyer, the truck was subject to a lien under a conditional sale agreement made by a former "owner" who had sold the truck without disclosing the lien. Canadian Acceptance Corporation, the holder of the lien, seized the truck from Mr. Gratton.

The existence of this lien would ordinarily have been a breach of the condition and warranties implied by section 13 of The Sale of Goods Act. Accordingly, Mr. Gratton sued Forest City Motors for damages resulting from the loss of the truck.

Unfortunately for Mr. Gratton, the Court of Appeal came to the conclusion that clause 15 had the effects of excluding any such condition or warranties from his contract. He was thus left with no truck and no remedy for its loss, since his action against the seller was dismissed, and there was no other person from whom he could recover damages.

The moral is, first, that there should be a central registry of title for motor vehicles. The Ontario members of the Canadian Bar Association and the Federation of Ontario Law Associations have been urging such a step for some years.

Meanwhile, the moral for motor vehicle purchasers is, "Read your contract before you buy the motor vehicle. And don't sign a contract containing a clause like clause 15."

Yours very truly,
STEWART RYAN.

WAR GRAVES IN NETHERLANDS

SIR: As you are, no doubt, aware in The Netherlands there are graves of many thousands of Canadian soldiers who gave their lives in 1944 and 1945 for the cause of freedom and for the liberation of my country.

I am taking this opportunity to write to you in order to draw your attention to a misunderstanding that has arisen from time to time in connection with the caring of Canadian graves in The Netherlands, the building of cemeteries and the erecting of tombstones.

During the war The Netherlands people considered it an honour to look after allied war graves but on the liberation of our country the Imperial War Graves Commission took over this task. Since that time they have exercised the greatest devotion and care in the extensive work of building the cemeteries, of tending the graves and of erecting the tombstones for the 20,000 members of the Commonwealth who gave their lives for the liberation of our country.

The contribution of the Imperial War Graves Commission is not, I am afraid, always realized in Canada, and it is to their efforts that I wish to draw attention. On its side The Netherlands Government, only as a small token of gratitude, has presented in perpetuity the land on which the cemeteries and graves are situated.

The Netherlands people foster the memory of Canadian war dead and, on Remembrance Days, our children often lay flowers on the graves. However, I wish to make it clear that the outstanding work in the maintenance and care to the cemeteries has been performed by the Imperial War Graves Commission. The Commission deserves, in all fairness, the appreciation and gratitude which is so often wrongly withheld from them.

I thought your readers might be interested to know these facts.

Yours sincerely,
A. J. LOVINK
Netherlands Ambassador.

REPLIES TO DISGUSTED VETERAN

SIR: In reply to "A Disgusted Veteran" I would like to give a few pointers he seems to miss in his frustrated state. At the age of 18 most of the DP's and Englishmen and Scotchmen have finished high school and are one or two years on their way to their chosen careers. Is he trying to imply that in spite of the slow education in this country that no Canadian has been able to brush up what he's learned in High School, in nine months (a refresher course we call it?) after attending school till 18 I think he should have had something to offer an employer and I don't mean a letter from a minister. These DP's and Englishmen have or they would not be employed. Let's suppose the "company" want a fitter, are they going to employ a DP who is one or a Canadian who isn't? These people left school and learned a trade, long before 18, some without pay for 5 years in order to equip themselves with something to offer such an employer, so don't blame them if you didn't. On the question of rents, I'm just as frustrated as he is on that score. Finally I would like to say that this idea, Canada for Canadians, etc., is one of the reasons he had to go into the Air Force and if we could learn to live together, our families may enjoy the chance he missed.

Yours truly,
"SCOTCH TRADESMAN."

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Now about the midst of the feast Jesus went up into the temple, and taught. And the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man letters, having never learned?

Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself. He that speaketh of himself seeketh his own glory; but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him. (John 7:14-18.)

Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus . . . Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. (Phil. 2:5, 12, 13.)

A BRITISH OPINION

The Movie Column

Lindbergh Story To Be Filmed During 1954

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The story of Charles A. Lindbergh's flight from New York to Paris will finally reach the movie screens late this year.

Ever since his history-making journey, he has resisted Hollywood offers to dramatize the story on film. When he published his own version of the flight last year, studios began bidding for rights to the book, "The Spirit of St. Louis." Lindbergh turned down their bids for one from a man who has never produced a movie before, Broadway showman Leland Hayward.

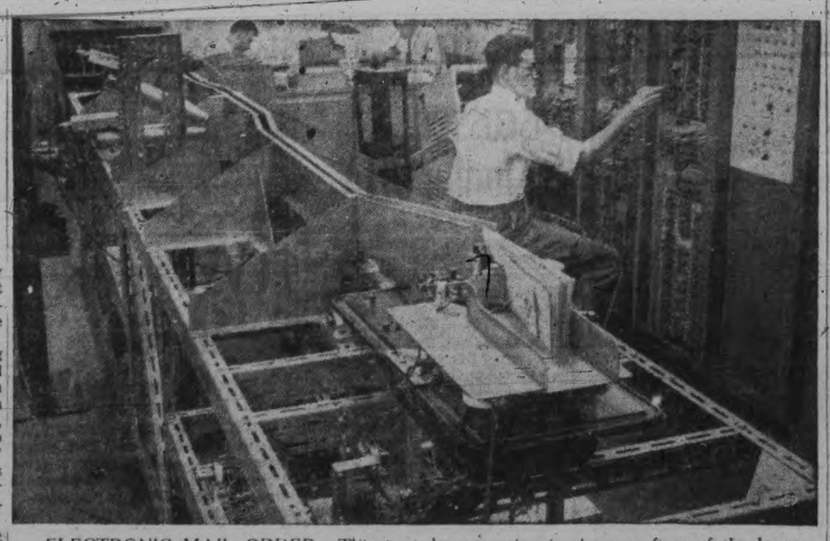
"When the book first came out I didn't even read it; I had always been so tied up with aviation myself," said Hayward, who is a pilot and founder of Southwest Airways.

"Then I got around to reading it. I was fascinated. When I came to the part where his wheels touched the ground at le Bourget, in Paris, the tears came to my eyes. I didn't think he could make it!"

Right now Hayward is seeking an actor to play the flier, and he's getting plenty of help.

MOTHER'S WORD

"Of course, every actor wants to play the part," he sighed, "and I have a great pile of photographs from unknowns, who say, 'My mother always said that I looked just like Lindbergh.'



"I would like to find an actor who is not famous. I think the public is jarred when it sees someone like Clark Gable portraying a well-known figure. You don't know whether you're watching Gable or the person portrayed.

"The locations are a problem too. It will be hard to find any place that looks like Roosevelt Field in 1927. And it is almost impossible to reproduce the coastal New England towns he flew over. Nearly every town on a large body of water today has TV aerials on the houses!"

Havelock News

The many friends of Donald Ray Revoy of Havelock will be pleased to know he has returned home after his operation in a Toronto hospital and is convalescing at his home in Havelock.

Friends from Toronto who called on Mrs. Revoy over the week-end were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Adair and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mulligan and daughter Sharilyn Dianne and Miss Mary McArthur of Campbellford. Mrs. Revoy who has been confined to her bed in her home for the past three weeks will still be in bed for some time yet, although she is making steady progress.

ELECTRONIC MAIL ORDER—This is a working model of the electronic mail-sorting machine which can do the work of between 300 and 500 men and is said to be the fastest in the world. The first actual test of the memory machine is expected to start in about nine months. By 1957, it is hoped that such electronic machines will be operating in three or four of the larger cities. A code is stamped on the back of the letters. They then are fed into the letter-demand feeder as shown here. The feeder kicks them through separately on a conveyor belt to the electronic reader which halts the letter briefly until the electronic brain advises the routing of the letters. —(CP Photo).

Electronic Sorter Planned To Expedite Sorting Mails

By CECIL SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP) — Canada's Post Office department is entering the electronics field to keep up with the growing use of the mails and to take a big load off memory - harassed sorters.

Technicians are working on an electronic sorter which will be capable of handling the work of between 300 and 500 men and doing it faster than anywhere else in the world.

The first actual test of the device is expected to start in about nine months. By 1957, it is hoped that electronic machines will be installed and operating in three or four of Canada's largest cities.

STARTED TWO YEARS AGO

Research started about two years ago after Walter J. Turnbull, Deputy Postmaster General, was in Europe and looked over sorting equipment that speeded the routing of incoming and outgoing mail. He then put it up to experts to build a machine that would go even further.

Mr. Turnbull said that with the volume of the mail growing approximately six per cent a year, a breakdown is approaching in the capacity of sorters to memorize the names and locations of all of Canada's post offices, the routes to get to them, and the names of the smaller communities serviced by them.

"The electronic brain shows great promise of solving the memory problem," he said.

The device is capable of storing as many as 13,000 names and their proper routing on a drum that functions somewhat like the cylinder in a dictating machine. It can handle between 30 and 40 letters a second compared with manual sorting which requires at least two successive operations at the approximate speed of 30 letters a minute.

STAFF OF EXPERTS

Dr. Maurice Levy, 46, a South African who came to Canada three years ago, and a staff of eight experts have set up a working model of the machine in the post office laboratory here.

Before the letters are fed into the machine, operators change written or typed letter addresses into a code of dots on an electronic keyboard. The code is stamped on the back of the eneve-lopes.

Batches of letters are then fed into the "letter demand feeder" of the machine which kicks the letters off separately on a conveyor belt to the electronic "reader."

The "reader" halts the letter and flashes the code it has picked up from the back of the envelope and questions the electronic device on its routing. The answer is given in 1-36th of a second. The letter then continues and on the advice of a brain drops through an automatically opened gate into the correct slot for delivery.

SPEEDY JOB

For example, a letter going from Ottawa to Toronto will travel through the electronic machine and will drop into the Toronto box. At Toronto, another electronic machine will sort the letters to the box corresponding to the letter carrier's route.

If a letter is going from Ottawa to small village in Quebec, for example, the brain would select the proper routing, sending it to the nearest town. The town would send it on to the village.

Enventually, major cities in Canada will have two machines, one to handle city mail and the other for outgoing mail.

Post office officials say the electronic machine will not put any sorters out of jobs, although as their jobs become vacant through retirement they probably will not be re-filled.

New Approach To Canada By Soviet Press

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—The Communist press, if an article in Izvestia is any criterion, is developing a new line on Canada.

Until now, the old theme recurring in articles every two or three months has had a shyster Canadian government linked with Canadian big business and selling Canada down the river to American monopolists.

The new approach has Canada defending her national interests against "the embezzlement of the country's wealth by the American monopolies and the strategic designs of the Pentagon."

Izvestia's writer, A. Mileikovsky, says the United States, under the guise of "continental strategy" has gripped Canada's economy.

The Soviet paper refers to the Alaska highway and U.S. defence bases in Canada, American influence in Canada's north and mentions the joint defence agreement of 1947 between Canada and the U.S.

Izvestia does not mention that the Alaska highway was a joint project and that most of Canada's "American bases" were inherited when Newfoundland joined the Dominion. It also does not mention the role of federal and provincial governments as watchdogs over Canada's resources.

The newspaper says the projected St. Lawrence seaway is another step in U.S. "continental strategy" threatening Canada's resources with increased exploitation. It does not mention Canada's extended efforts to get U.S. co-operation in the seaway project.

Izvestia makes much of alleged U.S. attempts to export an economic "crisis" to Canada and says Canada's trade position is "very vulnerable" to U.S. economic conditions. It speaks of Canada's "economic dependence" on the U.S. reducing her "to the position of a raw-material appendage."

"Wide public circles of Canada are becoming more and more convinced that the so-called continental strategy of the U.S.A. . . . serves as a smoke-screen concealing the embezzlement of the country's wealth by the American monopolists," Izvestia concludes.

Your Children's Aid Society

A Weekly Column Written in the Interest of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society

Last week, we told you how we placed Tommy with his adopting parents. That was an exciting day. The baby slept fairly well that night but every move, every sound, was heard by his new parents. Of course, he was restless for a few days until he got accustomed to his new surroundings even though he was only a little baby. But the adopting parents had expected that because they had been prepared by the staff worker of the Children's Aid society.

Arrangements were completed for the adopting parents Mr. and Mrs. Bronson, to get family allowance for their new son whom they called David John. Mr. Bronson was recognized as having another dependent so claimed income tax exemption for him.

One year's probation period! What happened during that year? A worker from the Children's Aid society called at their home four times to discuss any difficulties which might have arisen and to give assurance that the society was pleased with David's development.

The probation period is a protection to both the adopting parents and the child. If anything should happen during that time such as serious illness of the parents, necessitating the removal of the child from the home, the society is willing to take immediate responsibility. In private placements, the society does not accept this responsibility. This is another safeguard when a child is placed for adoption by the Children's Aid society.

During the probation period, Mr. and Mrs. Bronson had full responsibility for David. They looked after his medical needs, they [illegible] in fact it was such a short time after David went into their home before they felt as if he had always been a member of their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bronson had always known they would tell David he was adopted. But they experienced a few fears. Would he love them if he knew he was adopted? Again this was discussed with the social worker. Books were suggested and the Bronsons fully accepted their responsibility to tell David he was adopted.

David developed into a fine boy. Mr. and Mrs. Bronson proved to be good parents and after one year, adoption papers were signed at the Children's Aid office. It was a proud day for Mr. and Mrs. Bronson when with David, they appeared before the Judge who signed their adoption order. Now he was legally theirs, and the Children's Aid society stepped completely out of the picture.

But there was one more telephone call to the Children's Aid office. How could they get David's birth certificate and would it be in the Bronson name? They were assured that a letter to the Registrar General giving the necessary details and enclosing the fee would bring back a birth certificate for their son—David John Bronson.

Next week we will tell you something about the services of the Children's Aid society for unmarried parents.

Record Grain Yield 1952-53

WINNIPEG (CP) — More grain than ever before poured into western Canadian elevators during the 1952-53 marketing season.

Revised statistics put the total of primary western deliveries at 844,600,000 bushels to establish the reason as the greatest in Canadian grain history.

A special bulletin issued by E. E. Baxter, board of grain commissioners' chief statistician, added about 33,000,000 bushels to previously published figures.

Individual peaks were set for wheat at 535,900,000 bushels and barley at 164,800,000 compared to the previous high of 455,300,000 for wheat and 130,300,000 for barley, both set in 1951-52.

Aces, Shamrocks Lose Puck Tilts In OMHA Playoffs

Two Peterborough minor hockey teams lost and one sat it out last night in a scheduled OMHA triple-header at Civic Arena. Barrie midgets sent word that no bus would make the trip from there, so the local Shamrocks (sponsored by the Police Association) were idle Thursday. They will open their midget "A" series early next week in Barrie. The bantam Shamrocks (Travellers Association) dropped a 9-3 decision to Oshawa and lost their 'A' round by a 13-8 score. Peterborough Aces fell before Kingston All-Stars 7-4 to open their juvenile "A" series. No date has been set for the return game.

Cold weather kept down the crowd for the Ontario Minor Hockey Association playdown games here, but the two tilts played saw some keen ice action, both being clean contests.

BELOW FORM

After returning from Port Perry last weekend with a 5-4 victory over the Oshawa squad to carry a one-goal lead into the return here last night, the young Shamrocks didn't click up to their previous form and were drubbed 9-3. Oshawa bantams took a 2-1 lead in the first period, threw in three without a return next heat and outscored Shamrocks 4-2 in the third. The locals drew five of the nine penalties. Laxity on the part of the local defence accounted for several markers.

Harley McIntosh scored early for Shamrocks, but Spencer and McAvoy later tallied for Oshawa, Gray helping on the first. Lawson, McAvoy and Spencer hit the mark in the second period, the latter, Cole and McAvoy each earning an assist in this frame. Wills got two, and McAvoy and Lawson one each for them in the third, an assist apiece going to Gray, Spencer and Delves. Don Doughty and Brian Copping scored for the homesters, with the latter also aiding on one. Teams:

Oshawa — Goal, Topping; defence, Cullen and Spencer; centre, Wills; wings, Delves and Gray; alts., Bathe, Fuller, McAvoy, Wright, Cole, Long, Barriage and Lawson.

Shamrocks—Goal, Riel; defence, DeNoble and Vilneff; centre, Copping; wings, Nichols and Doughty; alts., Drummond, Fitzgerald, McFadden, Shearer, Finney, McIntosh, McCarthy, Anthony and McArthur.

CLOSE IN FIRST

The juvenile joust was keen enough in the first frame with each side counting twice. Kingston pulled away with two in the second, and they had a 3-2 scoring margin in the third of a speedy fray. It was generally clean, but a bit chippy toward the end. All-Stars drew five of the nine penalties, one being a misconduct to McIntosh. Kingston thus carries a three-goal lead into the return tilt likely next week in Kingston.

Bill Godfrey got two goals for Angus Bradley's bunch in the first period, with Jerry Strickland helping on one. Tinkess and McIntosh counted for the visitors, with Howland and Rines each earning an assist. Rines and Snelgrove scored on solo efforts for the K's in the lively middle chapter. Drinka twice dented the hemp for Kingston and Brown once in the third stanza, the latter, Howland, Bennett and Drinka getting an assist apiece. Bernie Ferren flew with nice stickwork to tally twice for Aces in the final frame, his last goal coming late in the heat, while Benny Floyd aided on both, and Don Stewart was in on the first. Teams:

Kingston—Goal, Hooper; defence, Hampton and McIntosh; centre, Drinka; wings, Brown and Bennett; alts., Bolting, Ries, Howland, Tinkess, Peters, Jackson, O'Sullivan and Snelgrove.

Aces—Goal, Masterson; defence, Pollard and Stewart; centre, Kane; wings, Floyd, Ferren, Strickland, Chambers, McFadyen, Godfrey, Parry, Davis, Brooks, Murphy and Hickson.

Referees, McIntosh and Mulholland.

LYNDS IN ACTION—Canada's world hockey team in Stockholm is seen against the Swiss club which recently held Russia to a 4-2 game. Canada walloped the Swiss 8-1 and crushed Finland 20-1. Moe Galand, background, left, scored seven goals against the Finns. Seen driving for the Swiss goal is Norm Gray. The defenders are goalie M. Riesen, down on ice, and R. Keller, 11.

Maroons Protest Missed 1 Game

TORONTO (CP)—Chatham Maroons of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league complained Thursday they only played 27 home games during the 1953-54 schedule instead of the 28 to which they were entitled.

The complaint was made at a senior OHA council meeting, at which only three of the seven league teams were represented. Because of hazardous driving conditions only delegates to attend the meeting were from Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Owen Sound Mercurys and Chatham.

Maroons may attempt to get some remuneration for the game that was not played in Chatham. The game was to have been with Sarnia Sailors but was lost when the Sailors dropped out of the league.

ADJUSTED SCHEDULES

Most of the other teams adjusted their schedules to compensate for loss of the Sailors.

It was also announced that Hamilton Tigers only played 26 home games. The Tigers, however, were reimbursed $300.

The teams will be advised that they must decide an OHA Senior A winner by March 27. The winner will meet the Northern Ontario Hockey Association champions for the all-Ontario title. The first game of the best-of-seven final for the all-Ontario championship is scheduled to start in the rink of the NOHA winner March 29.

Dutchmen Win Against Tigers

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen advanced into a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five Ontario Hockey Association Senior A quarter-finals with Hamilton by downing the Tigers 4-0 Thursday night.

Fourth game will be played in Hamilton tonight.

Dutchmen got a lucky goal to take a 1-0 edge in the first period during which they held a wide edge on play. Boat Hurley played sensational goal for the visitors but miscued on the opening tally.

It was credited to Don Rope who shot the puck in from left wing. Hurley bobbled it and when the Tigers rushed to clear several of them knocked it into the goal.

Dutchmen punched home their last three goals in the second period when Ken Laufman, Don Bauer and Doug Verity scored in that order.

Bill Harrington stopped 11 Tiger shots in this period but coasted home to his shutout win when he handled only five in the final period, for a total of 23.

Dutchies fired 44 shots at Hurley.

Latest American Hockey League bulletin to arrive at the desk remarked: "With a total of 99 points on 26 goals and 73 assists for a 19-point advantage over his closest rival, George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey seemed a certainty to be the new AHL scoring champion, as only three weeks remained in the season. Should Sullivan continue to lead until the end of the schedule, he will become the first Hershey player to do so since the 1942-43 season when Wally Kilrea was the title holder with 99 points, Sullivan's present mark. Red's 73 assists, also a league leading figure, was only three short of the all-time league record of 76 set by Ab DeMarco with Buffalo in 1950-51." Yes, the Ashburnham redhead is sure hot this year. Plenty good enough for the NHL.

Going down with colors flying in Port Perry night before last, the Junior Petes bowed out for the season, losing 4-2 by games in group finals. The husky Oshawa outfit (using Port Perry ice) have some "A" calibre players aboard and are worthy loop winners. Good luck to 'em. It was tough for the local lads to lose out after leading in schedule play, but the Pets proved a bit hotter with the chips down. Anyway Coach Red Creighton, Manager Dootch Vitarelli and the young puckists kept junior hockey going here and gave fans plenty of winter entertainment the past several months. Credit goes also to the executive of Doug Miller, Bob McCabe, Doug Landon, Bill Simms, Dr. Jack Epping, Myer Cherney, Curly Alberico, Jack McNamara, Ev Stewart, Ralph Carpenter and Jack Primeau, as well as trainer Gunner Lynch and equipment man Rock Batley.

Battle Shifts to Orillia

TPT Petes trek tonight to Orillia to take on the Pontiacs in the second of their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group semi-final set. Petes are up one by virtue of their 3-1 late victory o'er Vic Gregg's rugged squad here Wednesday, and it'll be a bruising series ere the finish. Ref Maurice Walsh seemed whistle-happy here in the opener, and we couldn't agree with some of his calls, but he knew he had to crack down hard from the start or these scrappy rivals would make it a blood-and-thunder tilt. Let's hope Gus Leonard and Denny Peterson are off the local injury list shortly, maybe for tonight's game. The same squads clash here Saturday night and Orillia has been ordered to be on time for this fray. The Petes entered an official protest to the OHA regarding the Pontiacs' tardiness. The locals return to Orillia on Monday.

The winner of this series, if it goes the limit, will be a tired, battered-up team when group finals open 10 days hence. Meantime, Oshawa and Kingston are tied at a win each in their sawoffs, third one being Saturday, but they have a big advantage in not having to travel so much. Oshawa has switched "home" games from the smaller Bowmanville rink to the big arena in the Limestone City, except for one game to be played on Belleville ice. Thus Kingston will have no travelling at all, except one short hop to Bella Villa, and Oshawa will have reasonable trips—and should do right well financially with the huge crowds drawn in Kingston. Even Belleville will outdraw Bowmanville as far as rinks go. Also, we don't expect Truckmen and Goodyears to stage as rugged a series as Orillia vs. Petes.

Juves Down, Bantams Out

Kingston juves hold a three-goal lead over our Aces in OMHA playdowns, as a result of a 7-4 win here last eve, while the local bantam Shamrocks were rubbed out of contention by Oshawa. Latter team rolled to a 9-3 victory at Civic last chilly evening to take that provincial playdown round by a 13-8 count. Too bad. Local midget Shamrocks are still very much in the provincial picture and will open their series in Barrie early next week. Barrie was due to start here last night but couldn't make the trip. Our midgets are pretty much the same squad which won the [illegible] stepping up this semester. Havelock in bantam "C" is about the only other district minor puck club in OMHA contention now.

Some hoop activity around and about this weekend again. SPS juniors open lakeshore finals tonight at Uxbridge, return one being here next Tuesday when Whitby and St. Peter's senior stage their second playoff at the SPS gym. Kingston Monarchs and the male Regents tangle at 8.15 Saturday night at SPS in their return OABA playdown joust, Monarchs being up six points. A couple of tussles also that night at Collegiate, Kenner vs. PCVS at seven, followed by Kingston vs. PCVS seniors, both boys' games. In YW girls' play this e'en, CGE play Nurses at 7.30 in their second intermediate final, Nurses leading the best-of-three set by a game; it's followed by Black's vs. Collis in senior city finals, Collis being one up in the best-of-three.

Playoff Plans Discussed By Junior OHA

TORONTO (CP)—Playoff plans were discussed Thursday at a meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A council.

It was announced that the teams finishing in first place will meet the fourth-place team in a best-of-seven semi-final. Two other series, both best-of five sets, will be played as quarter-finals.

The second-place team will meet the fifth-place team in one quarter-final while the third-placers will play the sixth-place team in the other one. Winner of each quarter-final will clash in a best-of-five of-seven series.

The OHA final will be a best-

Neutral goal judges and linesmen will be appointed for all playoff games. Goal judges will be paid $7.50 and linesmen will receive $10 a game. Referees will get $30 a game and mileage.

OHA business manager Bill Hanley was told to advise the defunct Oshawa Generals to submit "immediately" a list of their 25 protected players. The Generals were allowed the list when their arena was destroyed by fire last year.

The other teams agreed not to tamper with Oshawa's list of 25 selected players but some of them are starting plans for next season and said they want to know where they stand.

GOALIE RETURN

Toronto Marlboro manager Stafford Smythe asked the meeting if Barrie netminder Doug Hardy would return to Weston Dukes, Marlboros Junior B farm team, if regular netminder Jack Spencer returns to the Flyers.

Spencer was injured and the Flyers obtained Hardy from the Marlboros.

Before this season an injured player who was replaced was not allowed to return to the line-up until the following season. A new rule this year allows the player to rejoin his team if he recovers in time.

Smythe said he wasn't aware such a rule existed and said he wouldn't have allowed Hardy to go to Barrie if he would have known Spencer would be allowed to return to the team.

PCVS Damsels Get Series Over Cobourg

PCVS junior girl basketballers trimmed Cobourg lasses 39-6 here yesterday to sweep their lakeshore playoff round by 98-16 and advance into COSSA junior playoffs. They'll be meeting the Niagara Falls district winner next week in the COSSA tourney in Toronto. Something of a school record may be hung up with four PCVS teams (two girls' and two boys' squads) probably in the COSSA playoffs this year. The senior Garnet and Grey girls ousted Lindsay and had no lakeshore competition, so they are set for the COSSA now, too.

Mabel Gillen's junior PCI-ers missed a lot of shots in the first half but still racked up a comfortable 15-3 lead at the halfway mark. They began clicking better on passing plays and shooting in the wide-open second half to roll their 39-6 triumph. Jackie Manning got all six points for the Cobourg crew, while Bernice Callan sparked the home attack with 17 points. Joan Weir came through with seven, Sally Fee five, and Marge Patterson four, the other points being spread around among other PCVS players.

Warsaw Beats Hiawatha To Gain Finals

KEENE (ENS) — Warsaw yanked out a 5-2 victory over Hiawatha here last night to capture their EPHL semi-final round by two games to one, and advance into the best-of-five league finals against Lakefield. One of the biggest crowds of the season, saw one of the best hockey games this year with Warsaw finishing a bit stronger in a streamlined and clean contest. Goalie Wingett was brilliant in the Warsaw cage as Hiawatha outshot the winners to make it close till late in the tilt.

Cowie scored first for Jack Stewart's squad on a pass from Paudash, while Mathews tallied in the initial inning from Stan Lonsberry for Warsaw. Stock soloed for a Hiawatha marker in the second, but Stan Lonsberry and Clements counted this heat to go ahead for Warsaw, an assist each going to S. Lonsberry and Mathews. In the third, Griffin scored alone for Warsaw and Clements finished it up on a play with Mathews. The losers drew four of the seven minor penalties. Teams:

Hiawatha—Goal, Aachison; defence, Anderson, Clos[illegible]; centre, Stock; wings, Cowie, Paudash; alternates, Thompson, E. Musgrave, D. Musgrave, L. Sellaby, G. Sellaby, Heafield, Morgan, Brydges, Steenburgh.

Referees, Payne and Kingdon.

Leafs Finally Score Against Detroit End Goal Famine

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs scored in Detroit Thursday night. It was an event. Defenceman Jim Morrison, who has scored only seven goals all season, ended one of the Leafs' longest goal famines when he scored against Detroit Red Wings in a game that ended in a 3-3 National Hockey League tie. The Leafs moved into sole possession of second place in the league standings but that wasn't the feature. When Morrison beat goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk at 19:53 of the first period, it was Toronto's first goal in six games in Detroit this season and the shutout streak, which dated back to last season, had run 352 minutes, 51 seconds.

Not since Tod Sloan beat the Red Wings in the final Leaf - Detroit game of the 1952-53 season had Toronto scored at the Olympia.

In Thursday night's only other game, Montreal Canadiens and and Boston Bruins battled to a 1-1 deadlock.

The deadlock left the Leafs one point ahead of Canadiens in the run for the second playoff berth.

Sid Smith and Eric Nesterenko scored the other Leaf goals. Gordie Howe, the league's leading scorer, tallied his 28th of the season when he beat Toronto goaltender Gil Mayer. Glen Skov and Ted Lindsay scored the others.

It was Lindsay's goal with less than five minutes left in the game that gave the Red Wings the tie.

FOURTH PLACE

Bruins jumped into fourth place —the last playoff spot—ahead of New York Rangers with their deadlock in Boston. The Rangers were idle and now trail the Bruins by one point with eight games to go.

Woody Dumart put the Bruins ahead in the sixth minute of the second period when he slammed a 15-foot backhander through the open side of the Montreal net. However, Canadiens tied it up later in the period on defenceman Tom Johnson's hard slap shot deflected off a Bruin player past goaltender Sugar Jim Henry. Jean Beliveau and Ken Mosdell got assists.

One game is scheduled for tonight. The Rangers get another crack at moving ahead of the Bruins when they meet the last-place Black Hawks in Chicago.

S. Carolina Players Join Rough Riders

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders have signed two University of South Carolina players to 1954 football contracts, coach Clem Crowe announced Thursday.

They are Clyde Bennett, six-foot-two, 200-pound end who may fill the gap left by Bernie Flowers, grabbed off this year by Baltimore Colts of the National League, and his teammate, Johnny Gramling, a quarterback.

Gramling, 22, is six-one and weighs 175 and reputedly has a sharp passing record with his university. Last fall the two were named all-state and all-Atlantic conference players.

Baseball Player May Finish Active Career

By JOE REICHLER

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro trail-blazer in organized baseball, hopes to make this his last year in the game.

The brilliant Brooklyn infielder, who finds himself battling for a regular position for the first time since he's been with the Dodgers, has several business deals pending next winter which could make him independent of baseball for the rest of his life.

"I'm not saying that this definitely will be my last year," Robinson said today. "I'm merely saying I hope I can quit after this season. That depends on whether the things I have in mind will materialize.

"I'm not at liberty right now to say what those things are except that they are vitally connected with the promotion of better understanding between peoples of all races. While my prime concern is to earn a living in support of my family, it's not just security I'm after.

FINANCIALLY SET

"I could be financially set as of now if I wanted to accept any of several good jobs offered to me. Some of them would pay very well. I was recently offered a job that would pay me $50,000 a year. My wife and I both turned it down because it was not the kind of business conducive to our way of living."

The former all-around college athlete carved out a brilliant professional baseball career after hurdling the Negro barrier with Montreal in 1946. He joined the Dodgers the next year and through the next seven built up a remarkable .320 lifetime batting average. Now 35, he is the highest-paid player on the Dodgers, with a 1954 contract calling for $42,000.

SOME DAY, MAYBE—Youngster looks longingly at Washington Senators' pepper practice at Tinker Field, Orlando, Fla., probably figuring that a few years and a little more height and weight is all he needs to join them. Little League comes first for him, however.

Middlecoff Leads In 1st Round Golf

HOUSTON (AP)—Cary Middlecoff used a hot putter in 45-degree weather Thursday while carving out a six-under-par 66 for a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $30,000 Houston Open.

The defending champion from Memphis, Tenn., sank a 35-foot putt on the first green for a two-under three and then methodically beat or matched par on the remaining 17 holes.

He posted his 66 early but it left him one stroke ahead of Freddie Haas, New Orleans, and two in front of Bill Nary, Tucson, Ariz.

Par on the 7,122-yard Memorial Park golf course had its roughest day since 1951 as the rock-hard fairways gave added yardage to the shots.

Bill Ezinicki, Winnipeg-born professional playing out of Lynnfield, Mass., shot a 33-34—69 for a seven-way tie for fourth place. John Hendrick of Ottawa shot a 35-35—70 to tie for fifth place with a dozen others.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., and Bob Dean of Cornwall, both shot 38-36—74. Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener shot 36-39—75; Murray Tuker of Toronto shot 38-38—76 and Al Balding of Toronto shot 45-38—81.

STAMPS SURPRISED

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary's football club is surprised at the turn of events in the Stan Heath case.

Commenting on a report from Hamilton that the Tiger-Cats are considering cancellation of their pre-season game with the Stampeders, team manager Bob Robinette said the club is amazed that Hamilton is so put out.

A report from Hamilton said the Tiger-Cats had received no answer to several letters sent Stampeders concerning a $5,000 bond deposited in good faith of Heath's return to the west after he went east last autumn to join the Hamilton club.

The deal was later amended and final arrangement was that Hamilton would send Pete Petcoff to Calgary and the bond would be reduced to $2,500. The report indicated that because the Cats had received no answer to letters, they were planning to cancel the exhibition game.

Robinette said that the Hamilton club had been advised both by telegram and letter concerning the Heath bond and had been told there would be further correspondence when former president Don McLaws returns from a trip to California.

The Calgary manager said McLaws handled legal details of the bond.

RUSSIA WANTS TOURNEY

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—Russia is going to put in a bid to have the 1957 world hockey championships in Moscow, Boris Miyakinkov Soviet team leader in the present matches here, disclosed Thursday.

Two "ice palaces" are being built in Moscow to accommodate 10,000 and 5,000 spectators respectively, he added.

Moscow now has only natural ice rinks. However, an artificial rink will be tried out at the Dynamo Stadium next year, Miyakinkov said.

VERNON DEAL OFF

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Any deal involving sale of holdout first baseman Mickey Vernon of Washington Senators to Boston Red Sox is off.

A deal appeared to be in the making to send Vernon to the Red Sox, but Calvin Griffith, vice-president of the Senators, said Vernon won't be sold. Instead, added Griffith, he plans more talks with Vernon to see if he can get him to sign a new contract.

ROWING TEAM RESTRICTED

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Australia, which holds all the Empire Games rowing titles except the fours, will include only five carsmen in its team for the Empire Games at Vancouver next July.

The rowers are Peter Evatt, Mervy Wood, Murrey Riley, Geoff Williamson and David Anderson.

The Australian Rowing Council said that lack of funds restricted the size of the rowing team.

AHL GAME POSTPONED

CLEVELAND (AP)—Because of the heavy snowfall in Cleveland, Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League announced postponement of a game with Pittsburgh scheduled for tonight here. The Barons said the game will be played March 12.

Harness Driver Suspended

TORONTO (CP)—Driver-trainer Albert Boucher Thursday was suspended for the rest of the harness race meeting at Dufferin Park for "inconsistent performance and for changing equipment without permission."

The suspension was announced after stewards investigated the running of the feature class A pace.

Boucher drove Louise Widower, owned by Drummond Stables of Drummondville, Que., to a surprise win in the opening heat of the race. He finished fourth in the second heat.

Drummondville Stables are reported to have acquired the four-year-old Louise Widower in Chicago, where the pacer had a good record, including a 2:08 mile achieved under summer conditions.

The best it had been able to do at Dufferin previously was finish fifth.

Predict Carter Wont' Go Fifteen Rounds

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Paddy DeMarco has never fought 15 rounds, and the odds say he won't go that far tonight when he challenges Jimmy Carter for the lightweight boxing title in Madison Square Garden.

But the same odds give Paddy as good a chance as Carter had when he lifted the title from Ike Williams three years ago.

In what little wagering there has been on this fight—which hasn't stirred up much interest hereabouts—Carter has been favored at odds ranging from 1 to 3 to 1 to 4, and he's a 7-to-5 choice to knock out the rugged, charging scrapper from Brooklyn. Jimmy was the 3-to-1 underdog when he stopped Williams in 14 rounds to become champion.

Since then Carter has fought for the title eight times, lost it once to Lauro Salas and won it back again, and has become a vastly improved fighter. But he still can't draw a big crowd in his home town.

TV, RADIO

The bout, starting at 10 p.m. EST is expected to draw about 7,000 fans and $30,000 at prices ranging from $2.50 to $10. It will be broadcast and telecast locally and nationally. Carter drew about the same when he defended the title here against George Araujo last June.

Carter, a cool, careful sort of fighter, last year bombed Tommy Collins unmercifully for four rounds, stopped Araujo in 13 and Montreal's Armand Savoie in five. But he managed to look rather sour in a couple of non-title fights.

DeMarco, four years younger than the 30-year-old Carter, apparently reached his peak in 1950 and 1951, when he had only one defeat in 19 fights. His all-over record of 67-11-2 is slightly better than Carter's 65-16-8.

Alberta Set To Claim Fifth Curling Championship

By JACK ENEFER

EDMONTON (CP) — Matt Baldwin's machine-like Alberta champions were all by themselves today and only one game away from giving Alberta its fifth Canadian curling championship.

Only the mathematical possibility of a tie with Saskatchewan prevented officials from declaring the powerful Baldwin crew the winners.

The 27-year-old Baldwin, youngest skip competing in the 10-game round-robin, has played nine games and won eight of them.

Saskatchewan, made up of the Campbell brothers from Avonlea, skipped by Garnet (Mac) Campbell has played eight games and won six.

They were scheduled to meet Ontario and Quebec today in the last two draws of the five-day 'spiel. A loss by Campbell would give Alberta the championship.

COULD EARN TIE

The way it works out, Saskatchewan can tie by winning both games while Alberta drops its one game against New Brunswick in the 2:30 p.m. draw. A tie would force a sudden-death play-off.

If Alberta wins the title today, it will be the 20th time the honors have come west. The 1953 championship was won by Ab Gowanlock of Dauphin, Man.

Alberta was tripped up Thursday in the eighth round by Ontario, led by Ross Tarlton of Hamilton, a 71-year-old white-haired master of the draw.

Had Alberta won, it would have been all over. But Tarlton, playing just as coolly under pressure as the Baldwin four, outdrew them at almost every turn to win 8-5.

In the ninth round Thursday night, Baldwin got back on the winning road, thumping the W. R. Tracy rink from Arvida, Que., 16-4. Baldwin didn't play his last rock. He slid out over the hog line by a good five feet before releasing it.

THIRD WIN

Manitoba's Jimmy Welsh rink from Winnipeg, scored their third victory in eight games on the ninth round when they stopped the Don Groom rink from Sudbury, the northern Ontario champions, 9-7 in the traditional Welsh knock-out style.

Saskatchewan went after Newfoundland's R. J. Kent foursome from St. John's, winning 19-9. It was Newfoundland's eighth loss in as many starts.

R. T. McCully of Moncton, N.B., led his rink to a 12-9 victory over Baldwin's conqueror, Tarlton. Ontario had scored one on the 11th end to trail 10-9. With last rock coming home, McCully took out a Tarlton counter and scored two.

It was McCully's fourth victory in eight games and Tarlton's third loss in eight contests.

Reg Piercy of Halifax, trailing 11-10 against E. C. (Bung) Cartmell of Vancouver on the last end, scooted in for a three with a shot that brought applause from the more than 5,000 fans at the Edmonton Gardens.

It was Nova Scotia's fifth victory in eight games and Cartmell's fourth loss against four victories.

Canadian Team Not Welcome At World Hockey Championships

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The atmosphere on the ice was friendly but at the rinkside blue sparks were flying as Canada prepared for a vital game with Czechoslovakia today in the world hockey tournament.

Germany got its first victory of the tournament in today's opening game, knocking off Finland 5-1. The victory, coupled with an earlier tie, moved the Germans to fifth place behind the big four leaders—Canada, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Sweden.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Germany defeated Finland 5-1 in the world hockey championship tournament here today.

Russia and Sweden meet in a knockout battle tonight in Friday's final game.

Canada and Russia are unbeaten in their five starts to date. The Czechs and Swedes, with identical 4-1 scores, both need victories to stay in the race. All four have one game remaining after today with Toronto East York and Moscow Dynamos expected to decide the championship in their closing-day meeting on Sunday.

The Canadians overwhelmed Finland 20-1 Thursday in one of the cleanest-played games of the tournament. Only two penalties were called, one to each side.

But off the ice it was a different story. Incensed by new attacks on his team in the Swedish press charging rough play, East York manager Don Preston said that Canada should stay away from future world tournaments in Europe because "we are not welcome here."

Newspaper criticism, which had died down after the Canadians' impressive 8-0 victory over Sweden's defending champions Monday, was fanned by an injury to German centre Marcus Egen, who had five teeth smashed as his team bowed to East York 8-1 Wednesday.

Despite Egen's statement that the Canadians were not responsible for his injury, Dagens-Nyheter Sweden's biggest newspaper called the incident the Canadians' "worst crime, which has increased their deep-seated unpopularity here."

Morgon - Tidningen commented that the Canadians could take lessons from the Russians in sportsmanship.

TWO NOW OUT

Preston, a former East York player, said his club has suffered more injuries since coming to Europe than in an entire season at home.

Two East York defencemen currently are out with injuries. Harold Fiskari is through for the series with a torn knee ligament and Doug Chapman suffered a broken jaw in a collision with a Swedish defenceman. Chapman may return wearing a protective mask, for the game against Russia.

Thursday the Finns scored on goalie Don Lockhart early in the second frame, marking the third time in five games that a puck has eluded the East York netminder.

Moe Galand got seven goals, Johnny Petro counted four and Bill Shill had three. The other six were scored by Bob Kennedy, Tom Campbell, Vic Sluce, Norm Gray, John Scott and Eric Unger.

Training Camp Notes

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Orestes (Minnie) Minoso, last remaining unsigned Chicago White Sox player, came to terms Thursday.

It's reported Minoso received a sizable increase, probably getting between $25,000 and $30,000 on his new contract.

Minoso, 30, hit .313 for the White Sox last season. He slammed 15 home runs and led the American League in stolen bases with 25.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Big Jim Hughes and rookie Ed Roebuck each pitched three scoreless innings as the Hermans beat the Pitlers 2-0 in a five-inning tilt in the wind-swept Brooklyn Dodger camp Thursday.

Doubles by George Shuba and Vic Marasco, outfielder from Fort Worth, featured the two-run rally at the expense of Don Bessenet, youthful righthander. Marasco batted out of turn but it was too cold for anybody to care.

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Ernie Banks, 23-year-old rookie shortstop of Chicago Cubs, was hit on the back of the head by a pitched ball in the third inning of an intra-squad game here Thursday.

Knocked down by the pitch thrown by rookie righthander Don Elston, Banks was semi-conscious when he was taken to hospital.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Ted Kazanski, Philadelphia Phillies shortstop, was spiked in a training camp game Thursday.

Catcher Stan Lopata stepped on Kazanski's foot rounding second and cut the foot enough that it required several stitches.

Manager Steve O'Neill said Kazanski may not be available for the Phillies' first grapefruit league contest, a meeting with Detroit Tigers Saturday.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Billy Martin bade goodbye to his New York Yankee teammates Thursday then left by plane for San Francisco, where he'll be inducted into the army Monday.

Charlie finished as scoring champion of the 1934-35 season with 36 goals, 21 assists for 57 points. Syd Howe, who played some games with St. Louis and others with Detroit, was second with 47 points.

School Basketball

GALT (CP) — Galt collegiate were shaded 61-60 by Kitchener-Waterloo Collegiate Thursday but had enough points to win the Western Ontario Secondary Schools Association district junior basketball league championship.

Galt defeated Kitchener 50-41 in the first game and took the two-game, total-points series 110-102. They now advance into a sudden-death semi-final against Owen Sound and the winner will meet Windsor in the final for the WOSSA championship.

Banks Allowed Make Loans To Oil Industry

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new banking law defines, for the first time, the powers of the 11 chartered banks to make loans to the country's booming oil industry.

A bill revising the Bank Act, a redrafting which takes place every 10 years, was introduced Thursday in the Commons.

It permits banks to lend money on the security of oil and gas in the ground or in storage, on petroleum mineral rights and production and storage equipment.

The measure also doubles the minimum amount of capital which new banks must have before going into business. Finance Minister Abbott said the provision has not been changed since 1890.

The minimum requirement of subscribed capital stock would be increased to $1,000,000 from $500,000 and the requirement of paid-up capital to $500,000 from $250,000.

STOCK ISSUES

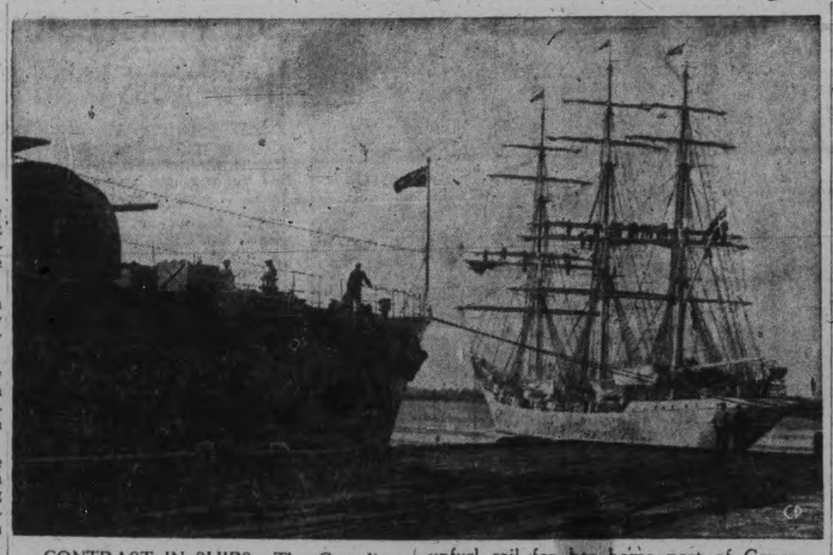
Mr. Abbott outlined these other proposed changes in the Bank Act:

1. Provisions governing the issue of additional capital stock "intended to remove some of the obstacles which now exist."

2. Each bank would be allowed to determine the way in which ownership in its stock shares may be transferred. At present this can be done only by registration on the books of the bank.

3. Prohibition of the issue of bank notes intended for circulation outside Canada and termination of banks' rights to issue currency. In practice, the Bank of Canada for some years has issued all of Canada's currency.

4. Changes in the law on bank amalgamations "to conform with current legislation and business practice."



There are two other major changes, which have been forecast in legislation already before Parliament.

One parallels an amendment to the National Housing Act, permitting banks to lend money on home mortgages under a government-administered insurance plan.

The second parallels an amendment in the Bank of Canada Act to give the central bank more control over cash reserves of the chartered banks.

$4,269,000 Worth Peanuts Bought From Mexico In 1953

By FORBES RHUDE

Money, as any one knows, is not peanuts, but, decidedly, peanuts are money.

This was brought out in serious discussions yesterday at the annual meeting of the Canadian council of the International Chamber of Commerce.

A little point, if you like, but it seemed to illustrate something big. It seemed to show that there are possibilities in international trade if you give enough thought to it.

The story came from F. L. Marshall, vice-president in charge of export, Joseph E. Seagram and Sons, Ltd., one of the principal speakers in a discussion of trade and investment opportunities abroad.

It was about the Mexican peanut —once a size which no Canadian peanut vendor would wish to sell, because he had been accustomed to the peanut of the Far East. However, faced with a chance to sell in Canada, Mexican peanut producers got together with Canadian buyers and, in short order, established a satisfactory basis of quality, grading and price.

CUTS VEHICLE BILL

Result: in 1953 Canada bought $4,269,000 worth of peanuts from Mexico—our biggest item from that country. That paid for more than half of the $7,300,000 worth of automobiles and trucks which Canada sold to Mexico.

Somehow, the exchange of peanuts for automobiles seemed to cut across the arguments of whether or not Canada could sell her goods in other countries.

It seemed to illustrate that if for the moment you overlooked the broad difficulties, there were still specific opportunities.

Mr. Marshall dealt with 20 Latin-America countries and, summing up, said:

"Virtually all the countries of Latin-America are keenly interested in expanding their two-way exchange of goods and services with Canada."

FAR EAST OPENINGS

Edward R. Ernst, superintendent of the foreign department, Bank of Montreal, spoke on the far east, and listed the following opportunities:

Japan: An important outlet for barley, wheat, pulp and other products.

Manila: A difficult market for Canadian manufactured goods, but offerings of grains and related items "have met with fair success."

Pakistan: An expanding economy should develop further needs for newsprint and other products.

India: An important market for wheat, base metals, newsprint and a varied list of "made in Canada" articles.

Despite his picture of opportunities, however, Mr. Ernst cautioned:

"The plain truth is that most of our products are meeting with intense competition in India and elsewher. Our wheat and flour are being priced out of many markets while Canadian newsprint is encountering strong competition from Scandinavia."

Study Indian Affairs

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow will fly to Victoria Sunday to study how British Columbia handles its Indian affairs.

Mr. Goodfellow, chairman of the Indian committee of the Ontario legislature, has been invited by the B.C. government to attend meetings of its Indian committee next Tuesday and Wednesday.

He will report back to the legislature's select committee on Indians which is due to make a report to the legislature shortly.

Fishing Season Opens

PORT DOVER (CP)—Commercial fishermen Thursday returned with their first catches of the season that opened March 1. They took about 1,000 pounds of fish, mainly blue pickerel. Strong winds raking Lake Erie kept the Port Stanley fishing fleet in harbor.

Deslauriers Not Guilty Of Murder

SUDBURY (CP)—An Ontario Supreme Court jury Thursday acquitted Robert Deslauriers of Montreal on a charge of murdering Frank Asselin Oct. 3.

The verdict was delivered after four hours and two minutes of deliberation by the jury.

"You are a lucky man," said Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven. "You alone know whether the verdict of this jury is the correct one."

Two companions of Deslauriers—Jean Guy Henaire and Emile Bedard—also of Montreal—last week in a separate trial were convicted of Asselin's murder and were sentenced to be hanged May 18.

When the verdict was announced he buried his face in his hands for a few moments. He was still pale and trembling when he left the courtroom.

Deslauriers will be taken to penitentiary to serve a two-year term for car theft.

Deslauriers, 28, denied in testimony that he participated in the beating that led to the bushworker's death.

He accused Henaire and Bedard of beating Asselin.

He said he didn't know Asselin, whose body was found on a side-road four miles north of here, was being robbed until the three men, accompanied by Blanche Deschaneaux, started to drive back to Sudbury.

STORM SWEEPS ONTARIO — The second major storm in three days sweeps across southwestern Ontario snarling traffic, isolating towns and disrupting communications. Two big transports snarl traffic on the highway east of Chatham, heart of the severe storm area. The blizzard and high winds piled snow eight to 10 feet in some places. Sarnia and Chatham were two of the largest centres hit and so fierce was the storm snow-plows were forced to halt operations until it abated.—(CP Photo).

Death Sentence Stays Until Talks Completed

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government will not suspend the death sentence while the question of its continuance is being dealt with by a special Commons-Senate committee.

Justice Minister Garson said Thursday in the Commons he feels the cabinet should carry out the law until it is changed by Parliament.

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) had asked the minister if the death penalty would be suspended until Parliament considers the report of the committee set up to deal with the questions.

Well-Trained Canines Lively Watchdogs For Military Patrols

BY JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—Dean barks and wags his tail like any other dog, but he can also detect mines.

He's a big liver and white munsterlander—he looks like a springer spaniel with a tail — and he's one of the wisest members of the Commonwealth division's war dog troop where a couple of Canadian handlers are being trained. The Canadians will be the nucleus of a troop in the Canadian Army where the dogs are held in high respect because of their sharp work with the 25th Brigade in the Korean war.

In fact, one of the most famous war dogs, "Killer" lost his life in a patrol with the Royal Canadian Regiment in the last days of the war. A neat white cross at the entrance to the war god school marks his grave and records his 50 successful missions.

CAREFUL TRAINING

An Australian, Lieut. P. L. Goss, of Hobart, Tasmania, is the administrative head of the school conducted by Sgt. Glen Shaw of Borth, Wales, a member of the Royal Army Veterinary Corps. The two Canadians at the school are L. Cpl. John Ness, 27, of Toronto, a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment, and Pet. Leo Dinelle, 22, of Ottawa, a member of the Royal 22nd.

Neither had ever handled a dog in a show but they volunteered for the service because they like dogs. They've been at it five months and they both say its "No. 1." They both handle dogs that act as scouts on infantry patrols. Ness has a brown and black alsatian named "Eros" and Dinelle has a white one named "Bruce." Both dogs have records of successful patrols against bandits in Malaya.

The system used by the patrol, guard, tracker and Red Cross dogs in the troop is simply sight, smell and hearing, but even veteran Sgt. Shaw doesn't know for sure how the nine-detecting dogs operate.

"The best I can do is figure they must be equipped with some sort of radar," he said, watching Dean point to dummy buried mines with his fat forepaw.

EFFICIENT WORKERS

The problem used to worry the British Army and they made several tests to try to figure it out. Thinking it was a matter of smell, they removed the olfactory nerve in one old dog but he continued to locate mines.

Another theory was that the dog noticed the disturbed earth where the mine had been planted. So instead of digging straight down to set the mines, the handlers dug in from a bank and the dogs, working on top, found them as easily as before. The dog can't be fooled by plastic or wooden mines which go undetected by mechanical mine-locaters. Recently the war dog troop turned in a better record in competition with American Mine-Detection equipment.

—(CP from National Defence).

"I'll put it this way," said Sgt. Shaw confidently. "I'd rather go over a field that had been cleared by dogs than by any mine-detecting machinery I know of."

It takes about 12 weeks to train the dog. In the schooling he's shown all sorts of mines and he watches them buried so he knows what the game is. After that he's on his own and his instinct goes into action.

The handler takes him to a practice field, first in a safe area "to get his nose down" and then into the danger area. He quarters the ground and when he finds a mine he sits down and delicately plants a forepaw about six inches from where the mine is buried. The handler prods where the paw points, locates the mine, marks it, and sappers remove it. The dog is given a chunk of meat as a reward.

Ordinarily the dog wears a collar but when he's going to work a mine field he's equipped with a harness. The harness is thus associated with his work and he knows immediately it goes on what is expected of him.

The other day a skeptical colonel gave his watch to be buried. Dean walked right to the spot and in the excitement the officer forgot to mark the spot. The dog had to be brought back to find it again.

PATROL WORKERS

The troop also has some experienced patrol dogs like the ones the two Canadians are using.

The trouble with Dinelle's dog Bruce is his white coat which would show up on night patrols. But Sgt. Shaw devised a combination of mud and iodine camouflage which leaves Bruce dirty for a week or so.

The role of the patrol dog is to hear and smell the enemy and give his handler with the infantry patrol a silent indication. He does this by taking a strain on his leash. The guard dog is trained to sense the presence of the enemy near vulnerable points like bridges and stores. He warns his handler like the patrol dog, but he is set free to attack, and trained to overpower and hold.

Finally there are Red Cross dogs, trained to find casualties lying in spots where they've been overlooked by search parties. These dogs work off the leash and when they find a casualty run back to the handler and sit at his feet. The handler then gives them the word and they lead him to the wounded.

The troop also has a pet dog that merely wags his tail and is friendly to everybody. His name is Butch and the men call him a "Korean Special" though he looks as if one of his parents had been a Chow.

CIL Plant Damaged

EDMONTON (CP)—An explosion rocked the main polythene section of Canadian Industries Limited plant on the eastern outskirts of Edmonton Thursday and caused about $300,000 damage. A small fire broke out but was quickly extinguished. No one was hurt. An investigation is under way to determine the cause of the explosion.

Lumberman Dies

ANRNPRIOR (CP) — Daniel M Lachlin, well-known Ottawa valley lumberman and grandson of the founder of the McLachlin Brothers lumbering firm here, died Thursday. He was 73. He ran the firm until it closed some years ago, was mayor of Arnprior for many years and was a former president of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association.

FILLING HALF PINT IS PROBLEM—A Niles, Mich., dairy farmer has a freak Holstein calf in his herd. At five days, Herman Dillman's heifer calf stands only one and a half feet high and is so small it needs plenty of assistance at lunch time.

Killer Whale Being Studied

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—A study of a sea monster that can gulp down a dozen seals, paralyze a whale with fear and attacks small boats was released Thursday by the Pacific biological station.

The monster is the killer whale, common on Canada's west coast. The study was compiled by fisheries scientist Gordon Pike.

Mr. Pike describes the killer whale as one of the fastest and most ferocious mammals in the water, with 10 to 14 sets of interlocking teeth that turn its prey into mincemeat.

Attempts to kill the breed with whaling vessels operating out of western Vancouver island ports have failed because the quarry easily outdistances the boats, Mr. Pike said.

He said the record Feast discovered in a killer whale's stomach consisted of 14 fur seals and 13 porpoises. The mammals grow to an average 30 feet in length and hunt in packs.

Among the lengths to which the killers will go for food, Mr. Pike listed the practice of ramming ice floes to shake loose seals.

Senate Adjourns For One Week

OTTAWA (CP)—With no government legislation expected until the Commons completes work on the housing legislation, the Senate Thursday adjourned for a week.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader in the upper chamber, said he does not expect the Commons will complete study of the government's housing legislation before the middle of next week. The Senate has completed work on all government bills sent it from the Commons. It will meet at 3 p.m., Thursday March 11.

FIRE DESTROYS PLANT

PORT LAMBTON (CP) — Damage was unofficially estimated at $40,000 Thursday in a fire which destroyed an industrial plant in this community on the St. Clair river. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Protect Babies From Illnesses

OTTAWA (CP) —The federal health department intends to take steps to protect babies from illnesses resulting from headache pills.

Health Minister Martin told the Commons Thursday his department's experts have been closely following reports of infants suffering serious illnesses from the tablets.

"The department is taking steps to ensure that appropriate action will be taken to correct the situation by all means available," he said in a tabled reply to questions asked by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre).

Mr. Martin added that some persons are allergic to different kinds of drugs.

"The size of the dose makes little difference to an allergic individual," he said, "and the dangers to such persons cannot effectively be prevented by regulation."

Must Meet Before March 26 To Discuss Land Annexation

TORONTO (CP)—The city of St. Thomas and the township of Yarmouth have until March 26 to meet on the proposed annexation of a strip of land in the township.

The date was set by the Ontario legislature's private bills committee Thursday which discussed a bill presented by J. P. Robarts (PC—London) asking for the annexation which would remove the boundary line of the township from the centre of a roadway.

City solicitor W. Scott McKay said the city proposed to pave the road to provide an adequate entrance to a new hospital.

Donald Hitch, a member of the township delegation said the township had never been approached on the proposed annexation or road improvement. He said the 35 home owners on the township side of the street had no objection to improving as a county road but with "elaborate" paving, curbing and gutters as planned by the city.

"I think the township and the city could get together on this road and forget annexation," he said.

W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston), committee chairman, wondered why the municipal board couldn't handle the question.

"The first thing you know the board will say we're taking away their rights."

Mr. McKay said the city "already knows there is objection." Appearing before the board "would just be a waste of time."

The committee agreed to meet the city and township delegations March 26.

"The matter still may go before the municipal board," said Mr. Nickle.

Red Cross Ready To Serve Whenever Emergency Arises, 2,500 Blood Donations

Into the valley of death rode the 600. The carnage was tremendous but there would have been far more deaths but for the work of an Englishwoman whose name is known the world over—Florence Nightingale. And it is to Florence Nightingale and her selfless work in the Crimean War that the Peterborough Red Cross Society traces its origins.

Wherever there is war, flood, fire, famine, earthquake or disaster the Red Cross is on hand, for it is undoubtedly the most cosmopolitan group in the world, sworn to no allegiance but to help the sick, wounded and oppressed.

Perhaps the most dramatic, but by no means the only service of the Peterborough Red Cross is the disaster service. The Red Cross was on hand at every important fire in 1953, prepared to provide clothes, bedding and emergency aid for the dispossessed. More recently, the Red Cross was at the Loblaw fire, ready to give emergency aid where needed.

BLOOD DONOR SERVICE

But vital as this work is, perhaps the most important function of the Peterborough Red Cros is the blood donor service. Last year the Red Cross blood donor service provided nearly 2,500 donations for local hospitals.

Men and women are "walking the streets of Peterborough, healthy and strong because of the blood donations of citizens," Mrs. Hazel Ray, of the blood donor service, has stated.

Unsung heroes of Peterborough are people like Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and Miss Betty Castle. The Smiths have given a total of 71 donations, and Miss Castle has given 33. These and others like them keep the Red Cross's blood bank at a high level, so that blood is always immediately available for those in need. Most major surgical operations require at least two donations, and if the patient knows in advance that he need not worry about a blood shortage, it will be a load off his mind.

There has never been a commercial blood donor service in Peterborough, although those who receive donations are encouraged to contribute themselves when they get well. All costs of organization, transportation, registration of donors, serum for checking the Rh factors of blood, and iron pills for drained donors are underwritten by the Peterborough Red Cross.

Most every citizen will spend some time in hospital sooner or later and many of these people will require up to 20 or 30 donations of blood. This would cost $20 a bottle if the patient had to pay for it, and most of us would just as soon not part with this kind of money. This, the Society feels, is a pretty potent argument for public support of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign.

The blood donor service has not confined its activities to Peterborough. Last year a group from Peterborough organized a blood donor service in Port Hope, bringing in 198 donors in a day.

INDUSTRIES BIG HELP

Locally, the service is grateful to industry for helping keep the blood bank full of bottles. Most Peterborough industries have regular donor quotas, and no donor from these industries loses financially by undertaking to give blood.

Blood donor clinics are held twice a week—Tuesday at the Civic and Friday at St. Joseph's hospital from two to four. In exchange for their blood donors receive sandwiches and coffee provided by the hospitals.

One of the most ambitious projects of the Peterborough Red Cross is the Apsley Outpost Hospital, taken over by the Society in 1946. Last year there were 448 out-patients at the hospital and a total of 753 treatments given.

The more places there are to swim, the more places there are to drown. This simple but chilling statistic has inspired the Red Cross to the most important of its educational activities under Mrs. J. P. Watts. Last year 248 Peterborough and district children passed Red Cross swimming and water safety tests.

A big step forward in water safety was taken by the Red Cross in January when Warren Clayson, director of swimming and water safety for the Ontario Red Cross, conducted an examiners' clinic at the YWCA. During the Easter holidays an instructors' school will be held, the aim being to provide a corps of instructors for local Red Cross water safety examiners Gordon Minty and Mrs. Pansy Forbes.

One concrete result of all this activity by the Peterborough Red Cross is that this city has more places to learn to swim under an instructor than any other city of comparable size in the province.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Realizing that the children of today are the Red Cross supporters of tomorrow, the Peterborough branch, under Miss Ethelwyn Dix, is concentrating much of its energy on organizing branches of the Junior Red Cross. In this county alone there are 80 elementary school Junior branches with 2,744 members.

Although no child can do much individually for the Red Cross, they are impressive by their very numbers. There are well over a million Junior members across the county, contributing their pennies for the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, for Korea and for underprivileged Asian countries.

While the Society is naturally glad enough to get this money for such good causes, the prime emphasis among the children is to teach them a responsibility for the collective troubles of the world. The Red Cross is a local organization, but it is also part of a world-wide movement whose aim is to alleviate human suffering wherever, whenever and however it is found.

Also along educational lines is [illegible] with expectant mothers. Special courses, complete with graduation pins and certificates, are held to teach mothers how to give their babies the best possible care. This service is administered by Mrs. S. O. Shields' Home Nursing committee which also conducts lectures on the vitally important but frequently bypassed subject of civil defence.

Among the other activities of the Peterborough branch, all of which depend on Community Fund support, are relief for civilians and soldiers, a Red Cross missing persons bureau, a loan cupboard for all sorts of medical equipment, and sewing groups, mostly providing children's clothing.

MISSING PERSONS

The missing persons bureau, known as the Civilian Enquiry Service, went as far afield as Russia last year in an attempt to locate relatives of Peterborough citizens. Reunion has not yet been achieved with the Russians, but other contacts have been made. This service also performs the vital function of passing on from Army headquarters information concerning the death or illness of servicemen to the next of kin.

Returning to Crimea, we find that a young Swiss named Henri Dunant was particularly impressed with Florence Nightingale's work. The Red Cross is thus a living memorial to the humanitarianism, vision and industry of these two.

Dunant organized the Red Cross, at first with pitifully inadequate supplies and equipment after the blood-soaked Battle of Solferino in 1850 in which 50,000 were killed. Dunant dreamed of a permanent neutral, volunteer organization which could be counted on to function effectively in time of war, and this is precisely what the international Red Cross is. To friend or foe in all wars it has indicated it is a friend to all, and the Red Cross's valiant work in upholding the much-ignored terms of the Geneva Convention is too well known to need repetition here.

Locally, the Red Cross Society consists of the following: Honoary president, Mrs. R. H. Turner; past president, Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell; president, Miss Jean Buck; vice-presidents, Mrs. S. O. Shields, Mrs. E. Riley, Mrs. J. P. Watts; secretary, Miss Ethelwyn Dix; treasurer, Miss Nora Whalen; national executive representatives, Mrs. C. J. Ray, Mrs. Blackwell and Mrs. G. H. Thompson.

Red Cross Society members are Miss Eva Brown, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Harry Cherney, Clare Collins, Max Comstock, Miss H. Elliott, Mrs. J. D. Fanning, Miss H. Gerrard, Miss F. Gladman, Mrs. C. R. Hagerman, Mrs. W. A. Hinds, Mrs. A. G. Howson, D. Loomis, Dr. Alice Martin, Mrs. C. B. Neal, Mrs. F. J. Overend, Mrs. F. R. Pope, Mrs. H. Rennie, Mrs. H. Rogers, Mrs. S. L. Smoke, Mrs. E. Whiteley, Dr. D. Whyte, Miss H. White, D. Diplock and Mrs. F. Hooper.

Crown Attorney Criticizes Judge's Rights

OTTAWA (CP)—Ontario's chief crown prosecutor said Thursday trial judges should not be allowed to impose prison terms instead of the mandatory death sentences on persons found guilty of murder.

W. B. Common, chief of prosecutions in the Ontario attorney general's department, gave this "personal opinion" before a Commons-Senate committee studying Criminal Code sections on hanging, whipping and lotteries.

He said that by allowing judges the discretion to reduce the sentence in murder cases would amount to "usurping the function of the jury." He was "satisfied" with the way the law functioned at present.

JURY SYSTEM

He said such discretion would "strike at the very root of the jury system." He was replying to questions by Harold E. Winch (CCF—Vancouver East).

The justice minister had this discretion but his was "an executive act, not a judicial act." There was a difference between the two.

Replying to a question by James E. Brown (L—Brantford), Mr. Common said he has known cases where a judge instructed the jury to return a verdict of either guilty or not guilty. However, the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter or a reduced charge. That would be a "perverse verdict" by a "sympathetic jury."

Columnist Dies In New York

NEW YORK (CP)—William H. Ingram, 76, who wrote a column "Off the Talbot Road" for the St. Thomas Times - Journal, died Thursday in Bellevue Hospital. He had been ill a week following a heart attack.

Ingram worked for the Brooklyn Eagle early in the century and went to Paris as its corresponded in 1906. He later corresponded for The Canadian Press from 1923 to 1929 and was president of the Anglo-American Press Association. The French government made him a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

He was married in 1935 to the late Mrs. Leroy Crummer of Los Angeles. His nearest surviving relative is a cousin, Norman Ingram of Bridgeport, Conn.

Early Maple Syrup

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Maple syrup made its first appearance of the season on the Belleville market Thursday. Mrs. W. C. Kleinsteuber of West Lake tapped her bush Feb. 25. She had 75 gallons on the market, made during the mild spell last week. Price of the syrup was $1.50 a quart or $5.50 a gallon.

Snow Balls Exported

CHICAGO (AP) — Snowballs packed in vacuum-insulated food containers were shipped to Cuba Thursday for study by high school science classes. After their academic use, they are expected to end up as ammunition in a good old-fashioned North American style snowball fight.

Well-Drilling Match Govt. Versus City

TORONTO (CP)—A well-drilling match in London, Ont., between Ontario's public works department and the city was described Thursday by W. C. Rice, chief civil engineer for the department.

He appeared before the Ontario legislature's committee on conservation.

He said the Ontario Hospital on Dundas street east on London's east side for a number of years used its own deep well. A few years ago the city drilled two deeper wells nearby and the hospital well dried up.

Then the public works department went to the hospital's rescue and drilled a deeper well, he said. The city countered by going deeper.

He said that at last report the hospital well was leading and still going down.

Refutes Statement By Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP)—Feb. 20 The Canadian Press in reporting annulment of two marriages involving men with families in Yugoslavia, referred to that country as "behind the Iron Curtain."

Kole Casule, Yugoslav consul in Toronto, has asked CP to carry the following statement:

"As is generally known, the Federal People's Republic of Yugoslavia is not a country behind the Iron Curtain. The F.P.R. of Yugoslavia is one of the members of the Balkan Pact and has friendly, Allied and military agreements with Turkey and Greece, who are members of NATO."

Maple Syrup Making Starts

Spring is tentatively emerging in the first March report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

"Maple syrup run has started in many sections of Wellington county." This is in the Guelph area where snow this week has marled these last few days in the scheduled retreat of winter.

From Lanark in the eastern section of the province: "Three producers of maple syrup have indicated they intend to begin tapping this weekend."

Prices at the Elgin seed fair auction were: registered oats $2 to $2.40; commercial barley $1.95 to $2.05; soy beans, largely the Harosay variety, $4 to $5 a bushel; white beans $5.80 a bushel and yellow eyed beans $6.10.

Simcoe county Yorkshire breeders are planning a June sale of breeding stock at Barrie June 1. York reports weanling pigs at community sales bringing $18 to $20; Lanark price has been as high as $16 apiece.

Demand for swine, breeders and feeders, is still strong in Ontario county where farmers are also enquiring about new varieties of forage and cereal crops. In Lambton some farmers have sown clovers on fall wheat. On the reverse side of the provincial rural scene is this week's rampage of departing winter with depth of both snow and thermometer readings.

Mine Union Ends Anual Meeting

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) Thursday ended its sixth annual Canadian convention by setting its basic policy with regard to political action it will take in 1954.

The program, worked out during the four-day meeting, calls for pressure against Quebec bills providing for decertification of unions with Communist membership and forbidding strikes of public employees and against proposed amendments to the Criminal Code relating to labor conduct.

Delegates' objections to the Quebec legislation were that it does not define communism and is aimed at everyone in labor as well as the Communists. Those objecting to the Criminal Code changes said the bill would confine labor rights under established British tradition, and they said a bill of rights is needed.

Trail, B.C., with its neighboring community of Rossland, was chosen as next year's convention site.

Many of the 100 delegates at the convention left for Ottawa, to lobby government supporters today while the union council meets with the federal cabinet.

VISITS INDIAN VILLAGE—During his five-day visit to India, Prime Minister St. Laurent visited two villages 15 miles north of Delhi. Suggest Survey Of Water Supply

TORONTO (CP)—A survey of the supply of well water in booming suburban areas of the province was suggested Thursday by R. M. Myers (PC — Waterloo South), chairman of the Ontario legislature's committee on conservation.

Mr. Myers made the suggestion to the committee after A. K. Watt, chief geologist of water well division of the department of mines, said there is a danger that wells in these suburban areas may dry up.

The areas had two alternatives—either drill deeper wells or join in a central water supply.

W. C. Rice, chief engineer of the department of public works, suggested legislation be brought in preventing industries from discharging waste materials into the ground near water wells.

OFFICIAL OPENING

Hon. H. R. Scott of Peterborough will officially open the Central Ontario Spring Show at Morrow park Wednesday March 17 at 2 p.m.

START SUNDAY SCHOOL

A community Sunday school will be started at the Armour Heights School this Sunday by the Young People's Union of Park St. Baptist church. Last Sunday the young people visited the Ashburnham homes advising the people of their project.

SUMMER JAUNT

Unable to wait any longer for spring, an enthusiastic river sailor returned to the river today. He was seen rowing along the Otonabee among large chunks of ice by a Riverside drive resident opposite the south end of Monaghan Rd.

PENNY-A-DAY

The penny-a-day drive for the Peterborough Red Cross and Community fund campaign netted a total of $114.60 Thursday This was an increase of $10.18 over the same day last year and brings the grand total to $573.70. The drive is running $53.32 ahead of last year's figures for the same stage of the campaign.

STOKER OVERHEATS

The smell of smoke was noticed in the Examiner building Thursday night and at first it was thought that a fire had started in the building, now undergoing renovations. However firemen located the source of the trouble. A stoker motor had overheated in Veneranda's shoe store, next door on Water St. A chemical extinguisher was used to douse the smoking motor.

KIWANIS TRAVELOGUE

The 12th in the Kiwanis Club's series of travelogues will be shown in the auditorium of the PCVS Tuesday, March 16. Mort Columbia told Kiwanians Thursday that this film on Tibet should provide a "welcome opportunity" for all to escape as far away as Tibet, if only for a few hours, at a time when tax collectors and such are apt to be worrisome. Mr Golumbia also announced that tributes to the educational value of these films have been coming into Kiwanis, and that they have been enthusiasitcally endorsed by many Peterborough teachers.

A CHILLY RECEPTION

A flock of Canada geese who must have got their dates mixed up were seen flying north this week from the farm of Percy Carman, eight miles north of Marmora. On their flights down south in the fall and back to the north country in the spring, geese often stop over on Mr. Carman's farm. However this is the earliest he's ever seen the honkers making the return trip. About 15 of them were seen in a field on the Carman property. They must have been wondering why they ever left the warmth of Louisiana, or some such snug spot, for the frozen wilds of Ontario.

A RICH-LOOKING CAPE of nine fox pelts was modelled by hunter Bruce Warr of Westwood who, with many other outdoorsmen, brought their final pelts for payment at Peterborough court house on Thursday, closing of bounty day. A total of 288 fox skins and two wolves were presented for claims that day. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

$1,575 Paid Out In Bounties For 524 Foxes, 12 Wolves

County coffers are the poorer for having paid a total of $1,572 in bounties to fox hunters during the four claim days which ended on Thursday. And wildlife chances of survival have been increased by shooting a total of 524 fox. About a dozen wolves were also brought in for claim this winter, the largest of them on Thursday, a six-foot, 63-pound predator shot by Clarence Tedford in Dummer township. The second pelt claimed for on Thursday came from an animal shot by Donald Sharpe of Warsaw, in Douro township.

Among the larger claims made were the following: City hunter Raymond Johnson, of 978 Monaghan Rd., with 18; James Barrons, Havelock, 17; Allan Reid, R.R. 1, Peterborough, 10; Bruce Warr, of Westwood, and George Hawkins, of Dummer township, with nine skins each, and David Henderson, of Peterborough, and Ralph Jopling, of Smith township, with eight each. Other hunters brought in from six to one pelt each for the $3 bounty.

MOST IN OTONABEE

Otonabee township produced the greatest number of foxes on Thursday with 52, and the remainder of the townships trailed in the following order: Dummer, 48; Smith, 47; Belmont, 46; Asphodel, 26; North Monaghan, 17; Douro, 16; Harvey, 13; Enismore, 12; Barleigh, 6; Methuen, 4, and Chandos, one.

The above township breakdown does not necessarily jibe with the totals because some hunters trailed and shot fox over as many as three townships. A number of them, too, witheld presentation of pelts since January, a few as early as December. Two wolves and 288 fox were presented on Thursday, the final day for claim. Fox hunting closed on February 27.

An Ill Wind Helps City Skiers

This week's storm may have been a minor disaster to most people but the snow it brought is a welcome sight for local skiers.

A group from the Peterborough Ski Club inspected Kemp's Hill Thursday night and found it covered with four inches of snow topped by a sound crust, which makes for ideal skiing conditions.

As a result, the junior ski school lessons will continue Saturday, with the usual transportation pick-up and instruction at Kemp's hill.

With spring creeping on apace, however, club officials are not so optimistic about future co-operation from the weather man. They urged all registered class members to get in on this last lesson.

TOPPED ARCHERS

Norm Wood led with 226 of a possible 270 points this week in Peterborough Archery Club competition. Other scores were: Mrs. M. Dollack 178, Rolly Brier 176, Mrs. Norm Wood 174, Orville Grant 171, Herb Pullyblank 158, Walter Wood 157, Warren Taylor 152, Mrs. O. Grant 151, Mrs. H. Pullyblank 93, Mrs. W. Wood 83, and Mrs. W. Taylor 71.

Suspect Caught In 85 mph Chase

MADOC—Two men charged with breaking, entering and car theft were arrested near Madoc early this morning after an 85 mph chase on Highway 7.

Daniel R. Thomas and Gordon Willoughby of Smiths Falls were apprehended as they tried to flee across a nearby field when the car skidded off the highway.

The pair were first spotted by Tweed Postmaster C. R. Porritt, who noticed them leaving Belch's drug store about 3 a.m. Mr. Porritt notified Mr. Belch, who called OPP officers in Belleville.

Ted Courneyea of Tweed also saw the men and called OPP Constable Bolyea at Tweed before taking up the chase.

The car was cut off at Madoc by Mr. Courneyea and the OPP cruiser when it skidded off the highway as the river tried to turn and head back towards his pursuers.

Hope To Tell Story Of Wasting Land

Kenneth M. Wells Gives Start To Education Week

As a preliminary to Education Week (March 7 to 13) the Peterborough Teachers' Council on Thursday night heard an address by Kenneth M. Wells, farmer-author of three books on rural life in the Medonte district.

The council is made up of primary and secondary school teachers from both the city's public school and separate school systems. Its purpose is to be a central body uniting groups in the teaching profession, and its chief work is the annual promotion of Education Week.

Mr. Wells is of United Empire Loyalist stock and, incidentally, is the brother of Dr. J. P. Wells, Peterborough's MOH.

BOUGHT HOUSE FOR $15

He described his early life and education in Canada, as well as London and Paris; and he told of his dissatisfaction with city life and his desire to get back to the soil. With his talented artist wife he went to Medonte, bought an adandoned farm house of great white pine timbers for $15, and moved it to the poorest land in Medonte.

The couple christened their new farmhouse the "Owl Pen" and it became a source of writing material for Mr. Wells, a feature writer for the Toronto Telegram. Through the printed word the farm and district have become well-known, and last summer there were more than 5,000 visitors who came to see the author of "The Owl Pen", "Up Medonte Way" and "By Moonstone Creek."

Big business has also intruded on this solitude and firms are demanding "Owl Pen" honey not in dainty jars, not in pounds, but in tons, said Mr. Wells. There no longer seems such a thing as a simple life.

The author continues to record the amusing incidents and daily happenings of the Owl Pen world in his newspaper series; later these are edited into book form. But this phase of authorship is not the objective of Wells or his wife.

CONSERVATION

They hope to write three books with conservation as the moral. A story of the wasting away of Ontario farms as evidenced by neglected farm buildings, depleted forests and dried-up streams.

They will describe an immigrant family settling in Canada in pioneer days and trace that family through succeeding generations, showing that if men do not care for the land that supports them, these natural resources — soil, forests and mines—will be depleted.

Mr. Wells said this trilogy would be more than just a plea for scientific conservation. It would be a plea for a deeper love of Canada and a greater national pride in her. What was needed was an appreciative care of her remaining forest wealth and a fair treatment of her soil.

Arnold Noftall, past president of the council, introduced Mr. Wells who addressed separate assemblies of PCVS and St. Peter's High School students in the afternoon.

Sister Clotilde, 1954 president of the council, was chairman of the meeting in Trinity United Church. A large audience of both professional and lay people attended.

Assessment Of G. Whitaker Cut $14,750

Gordon Monkman, general manager of the G. Whitaker Co. Thursday received a $14,750 assessment cut from the Court of Revision, on the firm's property at 193 Hunter St. The reduction is from $77,670 to $662,920.

The court upheld the firm's contention that the original assessment was too high. Basis for the reduction was the recent conversion of manufacturing parts of the plant into warehouses. Over 80 per cent of the firm's Peterborough holdings are now empty warehouse space.

The Whitaker company a British wholesale wool firm, has not been operating at full strength here for some time. In common with most other textile firms, it is suffering from a recession in the industry.

Unemployment Up But Levelling Off

After unemployment throughout Peterborough and district reached its highest peak in January since the war years, it rose again in February. James Sharp, district employment office manager, reported today that at the end of February the office has listed 2,583 men and women wanting jobs. At the same time in January there was a total of 2,530 jobless. Despite the slight increase Mr. Sharp felt the unemployment was gradually beginning to level off after increases for the past four months.

Last weekend the office had seven openings for men and 24 jobs for women, mostly all requiring skilled workers. But Mr. Sharp said in the past week more jobs seemed to be opening up. He was also hopeful that "nice weather" would provide even more jobs.

MORE GET INSURANCE

With the increase in unemployed in February there was also an increase in those receiving money through the insurance scheme. Then there were 22,273 on claims as compared with 1,984 in January. This increase, said Mr. Sharp, was due to claims not processed late in January, now reaching the claimants.

The number of unemployed on claims is also the highest since the war years and is mostly due to short-time work in city factories such as the Western Clock Co. and the Peterborough Lock Company. The February peak is 300 more claims than the 1953 peak reached in January when 1,916 men and women were drawing unemployment insurance.

The bulk of those on claims were from Peterborough. Mr. Sharp estimated that 55 per cent of the 2,273 men and women drawing money were from the city and of these 621 were working short weeks, therefore eligible for short-time claims.

The remainder of these on claims, about 45 per cent, were from the district which includes Peterborough and Haliburton counties, and parts of Victoria, Durham and Northumberland counties.

A year ago February the office had listed 1,659 men and 464 women as looking for work and at the same time had 1,842 people drawing unemployment insurance. There were only 39 jobs available, all requiring skilled workers.

A Drifter

A United States weather balloon, released in Buffalo on Feb. 26, was retrieved from a tree at Curve lake on Monday by Mrs. Cecil Knott. A red parachute about three feet in diameter was attached to the punctured white balloon which was in turn attached to a small flat plastic case containing weather-recording instruments. The box complete with a 1½ foot aerial bore the following numbers: 430524 and 2590894 and the request to ship it back to the United States Government at Jolliett, Ill. An examination of the instrument box showed that the balloon had attained an altitude of 16 miles.

Summer Theatre Gets Auditorium At Same Rent

The board of education's supervision committee are recommending that the Peterborough Summer Theatre have the use of Queen Mary auditorium for an 11-week period from June 28 to September 11, at a rental of $160 a week.

This was decided at a committee meeting Thursday night.

The Michael Sadlier group may have their first week in the PCVS auditorium if they wish, from June 21 to 28. By that time the secondary school pupils will have finished their graduation exercises and the auditorium will be available. The Queen Mary auditorium will be in use until the week of the 28th, and the trustees ruled that the pupils came first when considering its use.

SAME RENT

Rental to the Summer Theatre group of Queen Mary auditorium will be $160 a week, the same as last year. At the last board meeting it was decided to charge the group the full cost of running the auditorium in the summer months, including wear and tear.

Members of the supervision committee went over the items of expenditure carefully and found that the exact figure was $162; but on a motion by Mrs. Kathleen Bell the extra $2 was disregarded and the recommended rental was $160.

Clarence Corbett suggested that at the end of the season the rental should be reviewed and Mr. Sadlier informed at that time if an increase was anticipated for the 1955 season.

"If we have to raise the rental we should do it next year," said Mrs. Anne Rowell. "Mr. Sadlier has his plans laid by now."

Another resolution, made a month ago, that the board should not go halves with the Summer Theatre on a refrigerator unit to cool the auditorium, was again added to the committee's recommendation.

Farmers Near City Protest Pay Excessive Share Of Rural School Costs

New Schools Required As City Families Move Into Townships; Charge Assessments Low Compared To Farms

Chemong Farm Forum gave a decisively negative answer to the question: "Do you think the property school tax is on a fair basis?" at their meeting Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Braden C. Mann. The chairman was Tom Pennylegion. A rural view of results of the urban trek to country living is summarized in the report of the Chemong Forum's discussion. "In our particular school section everything was running fine until about ten years ago, when a number of people started to buy lots along the paved road, and build homes.

"This situation together with the winterizing of cottages in the park and at the lake made it necessary to build a new school. Now our new school is full, the old school is full, and some consideration is being given to building again.

LOW ASSESSMENT

"The assessment is low on these small holdings, and it is the eighteen farmers who are paying a large part of the school costs. There are 136 children attending school, and only four of them are from farm families.

"We feel that school costs and their operation should be divided by the number of ratepayers, and in that way an equal amount would be paid by each ratepayer for school tax."

The secretary of the Forum meeting was Burritt Mann of Bridgenorth who prepared the report for Forum headquarters.

Peterborough Forums echo the spirit of protest in the Chemong statement of the disproportionate charge to farm property of new school requirements that have been transposed from urban centres.

Central Smith Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scott sounded another "No" to the question.

And their reason: "Because the small land owner does not pay a fair proportion of the school tax, though he generally has a high income and many children in school . . . Our Forum thinks a per capita levy in addition to the property tax would be a fairer way to finance schools in our province."

SATISFIED

Beaver Forum (Smith) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McConkey, Burritt Jopling leader, said their school section No. 7 was composed almost entirely of farmers "and we are quite satisfied with the present method of raising funds. However, we are certainly very sympathetic to any community that has an influx of urban people, and we feel that some different system should be worked out in order to keep down the friction that invariably follows between urban and rural taxpayers . . . Some of us felt the school tax should be based on the dwelling assessment, but we were divided in our opinion . . . We don't think the school tax is on a fair basis. A farm that would sell for $10,000, for example, is assessed for a lot more than a house of the same value."

Westwood Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mood, with Mrs. W. Graham discussion leader, reported: "We do not think the school tax is on a fair basis, in rural areas particularly. Farmers pay high taxes on both their residence and lands and barns (business equipment), and other

Halifax Collapse Crushing Blow Former Manager

A moving requiem for Timber Structures of Canada, bankrupted February 22, was paid by former vice-president and general manager Ralph Fulbright at a Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday.

In his farewell address to the club, Kiwanian Fulbright said that his short talk, given from his place in the audience before the regular program got under way was "the hardest thing I ever had to do."

Speaking in a subdued and tired voice, Mr. Fulbright said that "serious trouble" at Timber Structures dated back for years. "Bad products" of the firm in previous years "eventually began to catch up with me and with my staff".

After he took over Timber Structures, Mr. Fulbright was "very pleased" with subsequent progress. Then "everything began to happen." A bridge and a building in Quebec collapsed and had to be repaired at a total cost of $30,000. Two Ontario contractors went into bankruptcy leaving the Timber Structures holding the bag for $32,000, and other bills began to pile up.

Crushing blow, said Mr. Fulbright, was the collapse of the Shearwater garage in Halifax. The firm found that "it was impossible to live with these staggering liabilities" and it was forced to fold.

Mr. Fulbright also paid tribute to the "long, late hours" put in by the manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank and to the "grand bunch of fellows" in the Kiwanis club.

John Broderick of St. Catharines Coming to Federation Dinner at Warsaw March 24 . . . Holstein Club Sets Dates For Bus Trip and Banquet . . . Junior Farmer Curlers Grateful For Success of Bonspiel . . . Twelve Holsteins Sold.

Jack Broderick of St. Catharines, a director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, will be the guest speaker at the Warsaw Federation dinner Wednesday, March 24 at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. Broderick is a past president of the Ontario Federation, and it may be assumed from his engagement in Peterborough county that he will have something to say about the incursion of the Western Farmers Union.

The series of local Federation dinners is still in the planning stage, Harold Lewis said yesterday, and further announcements will be published when arrangements are complete.

Peterborough Federation executive and other active members have been rather silent about the bid of the westerners to displace the Ontario Federation after fifteen years of its establishment and agency in rural affairs. Some of them say they don't know much about it! ndicating that they were interested in the overnight meetings that have been held here and there in Victoria, Peterborough and now in Durham.

The president of the Manitoba Union was billed to speak at Cavan Thursday afternoon.

Grateul To Curlers

"The co-operation we get from Frank Paterson and his assistants has been a big help to us," Gordon LaPlante said at the Maple Cattle Breeders annual meeting Tuesday night. "I don't think there is another agricultural office in the province that does as much for our work. We start our seventh year with Maple next month. Last year we had 123 new members and they are still coming in. To all the members and to Harry Kennedy and Stewart Whittington, directors, we are grateful for the help they have given."

Health Unit Proposed

"A health unit for Hastings" was a suggested project for the county at the meeting of River Valley Forum with Foxboro and Hazards Forums as guests. The proposal was submitted by Mrs. A. Kuglin, R.N., for the consideration of Hastings Forums.

Guest speaker was Robert Burkitt who told of his recent trip as Junior Farmer delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago. Musical numbers were: piano duet by Misses Donna Carlisle and Grace Heasman, vocal solos by Jack Bush and piano duos by Misses Grace and Joan Heasman. Thanks to River Valley was expressed by Mrs. N. Broad of Hazards and Mrs. George Carlisle for a delightful evening.

Choir On the Air

Ken Best has made a tape recording of the Junior Farmers Choir, directed and accompanied by Charles Allen. They will be heard on the Education Week program, Monday, March 8, between 3:30 and 4 p.m. over CHEX. Their numbers are: "Morning" by Oley Speaks, and a Czechoslovakian dance song.

Rural homes particularly should be interested in hearing the singing of this group of Peterborough Junior Farmers, young men and women. They have been together only a year, and the radio audience will have this opportunity of noting the fine progress they have made in choral work.

Holstein Club Trip

Peterborough Holstein Club has two events in planning, a banquet April 21st at Club Aragon, and a bus trip Saturday, March 27, visiting a group of farms in York county and the headquarters of the Maple Cattle Breeders Association. Cost of the trip will not be more than five dollars.

Speaker at the dinner will be Dr. Richard Jones of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

12 Holsteins Sold

John Tamblyn of Orono recently bought twelve Holstein cows in the district from Coughlin Brothers, Preston Armstrong, Keith Eason and Albert Elmhirst. These animals were to fill an order from Pennsylvania buyers.

Holstein Calves Due April 1 At Norwood

To avoid conflict with the Central Ontario Spring Show, delivery of Holstein calves at Norwood fair grounds has been set back from March 17 to April 1.

"We want to see both the Spring Show and our own Norwood Fair Holstein calf project successful," G. A. Brethen, president of the fair, told the Examiner yesterday. "So, we are making a few changes in the rules that are to apply to it, and we are requesting parents please to make note of them."

"In setting the age limit at 12 to 18 years for entrants we find that some of our most interested younger people would be debarred. So, we are making the minimum age for entry the same as last year.

"The age for entry is now set, being 10 to 18 years inclusive, and open to any eligible boy or girl in the Peterborough county area.

"After several important meetings with the executive of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association we have been able to get their initial estimate of cost of thse calves delivered at Norwood of $100 reduced to approximately $75, registered and transferred.

PRICE IS REDUCED

"This price of $75, as estimated, should make it possible for any boy or girl interested in getting a right start in better livestock, to enter. Throughout this program we are striving to impress all concerned that we are not interested in cheap or just average calves. We want individuals to be as uniform as can be got in type, age and breeding, suitable as foundation animals, to get our boys and girls off on the right start.

A LIVESTOCK INVESTMENT

"We believe this can be one of the most valuable projects the Norwood Fair has so far undertaken, not only for the sightseers who will be crowding the cattle ring to see this long lineup of artificially sired heifers and their young owners on Saturday, October 9. But, more important, is the impact it will have in the breeding of better Holsteins in the Peterborough district for generations to come.

"In addition to the substantial cash prizes offered by the Norwood Fair and the provincial government to each boy and girl finishing the project, the Norwood branch of the Royal Bank of Canada is offering a handsome engraved trophy to the winner.

"We already have the entries of some very promising boys and girls, and we would appreciate all others to co-operate with us by telephoning or mailing their entries as early as possible, not later than Wednesday, March 17."

Parents and the young people should telephone Mr. Brethen, Norwood 23937, or D. A. McNeill, secretary, Norwood, 23556.

GOOD CLUB CALVES

Young people going into 4-H Calf Club work will be equipped with carefully selected pure-bred Holstein calves and at the same time will be helping to promote a new and highly attractive feature of the fair as was demonstrated by the long line of Hereford calves at Norwood last fall.

Norwood directors are not drawing a close line for the area from which boys and girls may enter.

Any of the young people within the county will be welcome, and they can take their calves into the nearest 4-H Club.

Mr. Brethen said this week: "We want to get the most value we can for the boys and girls. Holstein breeders of our area will be interested in them, and associated with them also will be our Norwood Fair dirctors and membership."

Calves are being carefully selected, the cost is down to approximately $75, and the expected date of delivery is April 1.

Members of Peterborough Holstein Club having good January or February heifer calves of Maple breeding are requested to write or telphone Mr. Brethen at Norwood.

Lindsay Shorthorn Sale.

Consignors to the Victoria sale of Shrothorns at Lindsay fair grounds Tues. Mar. 16 at 1.30 p.m. are: H. M. Dack, Brechin; Clarence Duggan, Brechin; Brien Farm, Oakwood; Innes Bros., Blackwater; M. J. Jenkins, Little Britain; Mr. and Mrs. Cairns Lee, Omemee; Cecil Westlake, Beaverton; C. R. Short, Seagrave Lloyd Fowler, Woodville; Ross Davidson, Janetville; Ernest Jenkins, Little Britain. Guernseys, 3 Ayshires, 5 Herefords and 7 Shorthorns. Forty per cent of the cows bred by Maple last year were to Holstein sires.

The sale of Maple daughters last year at Oakville was the fourth highest consignment in the province with an average of $387 as against $505 in 1952.

Total Maple breedings were 48,864, an increase of 3,459. The Peterborough figures were 5,659 against 4,968 in the previous year.

FINANCIAL FACTS

Assets at Dec. 31 were: Cash in bank $5,257; accounts receivable $41,760; advance to employee $1,395; livestock $34,614; prepaid expenses $953 . . . amounting to $83,979.

Also: land $9,514; buildings — cost $81,726, less depreciation of $15,937, leaving $65,789; equipment including $5,609 depreciation, $5,713; houses not used in the business cost $34,784, less depreciation $1,702, net $33,082 . . . Total assets $198,077, as compared wth $174,795 at the end of 1952.

Those are a few of the facts quoted from the financial statement, a copy of which has been mailed to every member.

One detail of accounting cited by Mr. Snider as an impediment to profitable operation if the practice was extensive: a York county farmer owed the Association one dollar from 1951.

"His monthly account went out with the others," Mr Snider said. "The statement was rendered for 27 months, at four cents a month postage, amounting to $1.08, and finally he paid us the dollar".

Harry Kennedy, chairman of the meeting, said the Association would have to take time in repaying members' loans. "It was capital we needed to start with. One thing the directors feel is that we are breeding cows too cheaply. To keep up our service to the increasing membership in our area we had to put on a third technician."

GRATEFUL TO DEPARTMENT

In his appreciation of the support and co-operation of the Peterborough members, Mr. Kennedy paid a tribute to the office of the Department of Agriculture. New contracts were being received every week, and that had been going on from the begining of the association here.

Mr. Paterson said the Department was glad to be of help in the breeding plan.

"Of the hundreds of men who are in the association around Peterborough only a few are as active as they should be," Mr. Paterson said. "However, you are all to be congratulated on your progress. You started in a small way when most people didn't know much about artificial insemination and your association had a turnover last year of more than one-quarter of a million dollars. Growth will bring new problems, and of course you know that the Department has decided to discontinue the subsidy this year."

Stewart Whittington, Gordon LaPlante and several others spoke briefly and Mr. Kennedy related some of the highlights of the autumn convention trip to Michigan.

"Highcroft" Full Of Nails And Likely To Die, Leaving Posthumous Asset

Lonelm Texal Highcroft, top ranking Holstein bull of the Maple Cattle Breeders' unit, could "pay off the mortgage", even if he dies, Dr. D. C. MacKay, veterinarian, told the Peterborough group of that association at their meeting Tuesday night at the YMCA.

"Highcroft is full of nails and may be dead before we get home," Dr. MacKay reported. Even so, Maple has enough of his frozen semen at the Ontario Agricultural College to retire the members' loans now amounting to $83,005.

"Lonelm Texal" is the designating prefix of the George Jackson Holsteins.

Farmers understand the reference to the accumulation of nails in the fourth compartment of a cow's stomach. These animals crop close, and instead of chewing their feed they swallow for rumination and digestion. Nails are only part of the variety of indigestibles. Usually they cause no trouble to the animals unless they pierce the stomach wall and work through to the heart.

Highcroft's record of heifers from 1700 cows has been so rewarding that his seed has been increasing in demand from breeders who appreciated his proved quality.

BOOST SERVICE FEE

For that reason, the directors of Maple are submitting to the county groups of members at their annual local meetings preceding the association's convention at Maple Tuesday March 23, a proposal of authority to determine the price of Highcroft semen.

"That the bylaws be amended authorizing the directors to make all decisions regarding the price and conditions of sale of all the frozen semen from the Association's sires." Peterborough gave assent.

That is a general direction, but it relates immediately to Highcroft. Dr. MacKay and the several other headquarters officers said that the price could probably be increased from the ordinary fee of five dollars to around $100, and as there is sufficient semen in store for 800 inseminations there is a prospective value of $80,000 that would be enough to repay the members' loans to the association.

If Highcroft dies one of these days, he will be a posthumous asset in frozen seed which is estimated at an approximate value to Maple of $80,000.

The members were told that in any case their loans would be repaid, but since the outset when the first charge was $35, subsequently reduced to $25, the buying power of the dollar has been declining.

"We are holding our own money to pay back to ourselves, but this year we will not be getting the Ontario government's grant of $19,834, as it was last year," said Maple president Ralph Robertson.

Treasurer A. E. Snider said the directors had decided last year to take some action to recover accounts receivable amounting to $46,186; with allowance of $4,426 for bad debts, the outstanding amount of this asset was $41,760 at Dec. 31 last.

Here and elsewhere, some farmers paid their Maple bills at the bank, but often there was lack of identity in some of those accounts reaching Maple. Then, it happened in the odd case that when bills were sent out to those men a second time, they were annoyed and needless friction arose between the office and the farmer.

"If any of you here tonight received a second bill for an account you paid we offer our apology, but there is an easy way of avoiding any misunderstanding in the first place," Mr. Snider said. A few accounts in the receivable column were up around $40 to $90, but most of these debts were in small amounts.

ORDER OF DIRECTORS

"We are sending out these unpaid accounts at the rate of about 60 a month," Mr. Snider said. "We are doing so, because we have been ordered by the board of directors to take action to collect this outstandng money. And those directors are the men you elect to run your Maple affairs."

Wilfred Keffer, manager, reported 37 bulls in the stud as follows: 15 Holsteins, 4 Jerseys, 3

THE POLLED HEREFORD BULL, "Indian R. Prince Regent" jointly owned by Homer Hawkey of Indian River and Calvin Ireland of Everett, Simcoe county, has been sold to the Oxford district breeding unit. He is a son of Indian R Stanway 2nd and Miss Princess Real and on the paternal side is a grandson of Somersby Stanway 209th and Helen Blanchard from the polled Hereford line Col. F. E. Birdsall of Birdsall, Prince Regent was born in September 1949 and raised by Mr. Hawkey who sold a half interest in him to Mr. Ireland in March 1951. This is the second polled Hereford sire sold to the Oxford unit, both grandsons of Helen Blanchard thereby tracing to Indian R and Birdsall background. Accompaned by Charles Fisher of Bailieboro Mr. Hawkey left at 5 a.m. Monday for Stratford to deliver Prince Regent. They returned home Tuesday. He says there are five polled Herefords in Ontario artificial cattle breeding units, two imported from the United States one bought from the Mossom Boyd herd at Bobcaygeon, and the two others as already mentioned by Mr. Hawkey of Indian R blood lines.

Spoils Appetite

KINGSTON, England (CP) — P. Pevett found 40 pounds of chedar cheese in a street in this Surrey town and handed it over to police. They gave it back to him and said "You can start eating, but if the real owner turns up you may have to pay for what you have eaten."

Drummond Line Forum

The Drummond Line Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McFarlane Monday evening with twenty members present. The subject discussed was 'Do you consider the present system of school taxes unfair to farmers?'. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wismer were present to help with the discussion. Contests were enjoyed after the discussion and the ladies served lunch.

LIVESTOCK SHOW

Oldest fat-stock show in the world, the annual Smithfield show in England goes back to 1799.

Grateful To Ag. Rep.

For their fifth annual bonspiel next winter, the 112 Junior Farmers of the province who were here Monday from 9 a.m. until midnight, voted unanimously to return to Peterborough.

"If the rink people will have us," said Bruce McLeod of the Oxford county rink which placed third in this season's tourney.

He and Bill Murray are from farms near Embro in the old Scottish township of Zorra.

In the distribution of prizes, the Juniors remembered Ira Moore of the Curling Club who was in charge of the draw and was a standby as umpire. The gift to him, as a representative of the Club, was presented by Keith McIntyre of a Keene rink who was chairman of the wind-up session.

"I hope you'll all be back again," Mr. Moore said in his acceptance. "I enjoyed the day as much as you did."

Appreciation was expressed to Canada Packers for the dinner they provided, and to the women of the Curling Club who served it.

The Quaker Oats prizes, four windbreakers, to Ray Grant's winnin rink from York county were presented by Bruce McLeod. In his thanks to the company, acknowleaged by Jack Roberts, he included appreciation of the detail work done by Frank C. Paterson and his assistant, Ken Best, "in providing such a good time for so many of us."

Thanks were also extended to Dick Hillard of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, who is secretary of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association, for his presence and share in making the arrangements for the bonspiel. He presented the Association's trophy to the York county rink.

The day's games, each rink playing three, are a new medium in which Junior Farmers from Carleton county to Grey and Bruce become better known to each other. The two Peterborough rinks for instance, skipped by Bill Miller and Keith McIntyre, have opportunities of mingling with young farmers of their age in their conventions and judging competitions, and in social gatherings, associations that were not available to their fathers.

Obviously this is a main factor in the Department of Agriculture's encouragement of the organized affairs of the young farmers of today. Friendships that are formed in these meetings foster new understandings and community of interest that help to enlarge the outlook of young men who will be rural adults tomorrow. The Peterborough Curling Club should recognize itself in partnership with the Department, at least for one day of the winter, and incidentally emphasizing the position of Peterborough around the geographical centre of the province.

Make Ottawa Capital In Fact

OTTAWA (CP)—A parliamentarian suggested Thursday night that government arguments to support transfer of National Film Board offices to Montreal from Ottawa also might be used to transplant the House of Commons.

J. Angus MacLean (PC—Queens) said in the Commons:

"If Ottawa is the capital in name, it should be the capital in fact."

He added that Works Minister Winters had advanced the argument that Montreal has the largest pool of "creative talent" in both the English and French languages.

The board produces films in both tongues.

Mr. MacLean said a lot of the Commons "production" is in the two languages and if that argument was followed "we might have to move the House of Commons to Montreal."

Gordon K. Fraser (PC — Peterborough West) said that once the board has moved to Montreal its activities will not be watched as closely as now by Citizenship Minister Harris who reports to Parliament for the board.

Work Of Kiwanis Reviewed By Panel Of Speakers

A camping experience can give impetus to an entirely new way of life, Miss Rachael A. D. Young of the Children's Aid Society told the Peterborough Kiwanis Club Thursday. She was one of a panel of speakers reviewing the work of the club with underprivileged children in 1953.

A nine-year-old boy named Tommy was put out on the street by his mother in 1949, Miss Young recalled. Since he had no reason to expect anything but callousness from adults he stole money, skipped school, lied and was heading for a reformatory when the Children's Aid Society thought he might be salvageable.

Through the Kiwanis Club, Tommy was able to go to a YMCA camp and "since there were exceptionally good counsellors at camp that year," his whole attitude changed.

Often, said Miss Young, the results of a little investment in a human personality do not begin to show until years later. In this case Tommy has become the model child of foster parents and is doing exceptionally well in school. Miss Young paid tribute to the "wonderful work" of the Kiwanis club in this connection and expressed the hope that it would be repeated. Last year Kiwanians sent 13 children to camp.

(Miss Young also recalled the case of two sisters, Anna and Jane, daughters of a hard-working widow. Kiwanis arranged a 10-day stay at the YWCA camp. Result was that the girls became more enthusiastic about living and were able to lift much of the burden from their mother.

ESTABLISH THE NEED

The more responsibility we assume for poor families, the more responsibility we encourage them to relinquish," another panel speaker Kiwanian Ernest McWilliam warned. He said that it was vitally important that need should be definitely established before the Kiwanis club gives aid, but that it should then be given unstintedly.

Mr. McWilliam reported the case of a family of ten children and two parents evicted from Enismore township and squatting in Smith near his summer cottage. He investigated "the dirtiest home I've ever been in" and as a result the Kiwanis club gave the family food and supplies and helped the father to get a job.

Dr. Joseph Howes had two cases to report, one of a 15-year-old girl with residual paralysis after a polio attack and a nine-year-old boy with a case of softening of the hip-bone. Both were given medical treatment financed by the Kiwanis and both were helped to take their schooling at home.

A case of a family living on the edge of penury right in the city was recounted by Erle Armstrong. His investigation showed parents of three children living in dilapidated quarters downtown. The father, a war veteran, was drawing $90 a month pension plus a small family allowance bonus. The Kiwanis helped him with his hospital bills and provided the family with clothes, bedding and a memorable Christmas.

The panel moderator, Dr. Dunham, said that the Kiwanis has "two sets of books, one for the cash and one achievement book". He said that helping underprivileged children was a responsibility to be shouldered by each Kiwanian, and that if the achievement book was kept in good shape, the budget book would take care of itself.

In charge of the meeting was president Bob Bastable. A singsong was led by the Rev. Gordon Maxwell and Ken Wilson. The panel was thanked by Les Reichardt.

17 Cottage Hospitals Serve 25,000 Outpost Families Annual Fee $10 Per Family

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Seventeen cottage hospitals operated by the Newfoundland government at key points around the province serve about 25,000 village and outport families. Hospital and medical care is provided, in many cases in isolated areas.

The government started the system in 1936 when six small hospitals were estabished, each with a doctor and several nurses. For a $10 annual fee every family in the areas got free treatment and hospital care. The patients paid for transportation, maternity care, dental extractions and drugs.

Now, 18 years later, 17 hospitals have accommodation for 461 patients and provide professional care at small cost.

RATES VARY

Subscribers to 14 of the hospitals pay an annual fee of $15 a family, at Channel and Botwood it is $24 and at Gander $36. Rates vary according to the means of the families in the different areas.

The government is not making money on the deal—it never has Dr. Leonard Miller, deputy health minister, says: "The system is working, the people are getting medical care at a price they can afford, and the government has every intention of continuing hospital expansion as needs arise."

Figures showing how much the government loses on the operation are not available, but Dr. Miller says in order to break even, the average subscription rate would have to be about $60 annually, about three times the present rate.

Two-thirds of the fees goes to the doctor who also gets a basic salary from the government. This salary, however, does not give him a civil servant's status and he is not pensionable. All other personnel are paid straight government salaries.

The staffs, like the hospitals, vary in size. The smallest hospital is at Fogo with six beds, the largest at Gander with 95. Four of the hospitals have two doctors, the rest one.

AVERAGE STAFF

The staff for an average hospital of 25 beds is one doctor, three nurses, four ward aides, a laboratory x-ray technician, janitor-orderly, secretary and a small domestic staff.

Most of the staff, if away from home, live in the hospital, but the doctor is usually supplied by the government with a rent-free house. Besides his basic salary and percentage of fees, the doctor also receives regular rates when caring for cases coming under the workmen's compensation board or department of veteran's affairs.

All the 21 doctors are experienced medical graduates and Dr. Miller says he would "stack them against any group anywhere."

Personnel at the hospitals have little spare time. About 7,000 people are admitted annually. Between 3,000 and 4,000 major operations are performed each year.

There are usually about 12,000 x-rays, 9,000 laboratory tests and some 5,000 teeth extractions, along with regular hospital cases. These are average figures covering several years.

Nobody is compelled to subscribe to a hospital, but if a non-member family requires medical attention, the regular fee must be paid, along with a penalty fee of the same amount, plus cost of treatment.

Two High Notes Beat Singer

LONDON (AP)—Kirsten Flagstad, top Wagnerian soprano, permitted Elizabeth Schwarzkopf's soprano to substitute for hers on two high "Cs" in a recent operatic

The recording company announced this Thursday, the first official admission of what several American record critics already had told their readers.

This musical event, without a known parallel in artistic circles, took place in a recent four-hour recording of Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" in which Miss Flagstad sang every note but two in the final pressing.

"Miss Flagstad was not satisfied with the playback of the two notes," the British recording firm, His Master's Voice, said. "She was very happy to have her good friend, Elizabeth Schwarzkopf, sing them for her."

Thus those who listened to the HMV-RCA Victory recording will hear two high Cs dubbed in by a voice other than that of the 59-year-old soprano who has been described by critics as "the greatest singer of our day."

NEW PROOF THAT MILLIONS CAN END THE NEED FOR LAXATIVES

—find relief from constipation this safe, natural way—without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human malady.

Nor is there any reason for developing the habitual use of harsh laxatives—of dosing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding, in some potion or pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long-continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found not in the drug store but in your food store!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LIFE-LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

One of these elements is natural fibrous bulk, or vegetable cellulose, which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—with nothing taken away to lessen its effectiveness—sold under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative cereal. How effective is All-Bran? This has been demonstrated in a series of systematic clinical studies reported in leading medical journals.

In one study, 135 people with known delayed bowel function were given one ounce of All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-ray with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

OF THE 135 PEOPLE, 107 SHOWED DEFINITE CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT IN JUST 7 DAYS.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STUDY, BETTER THAN 6 OUT OF EVERY 7 PATIENTS WHO [illegible] ALL-BRAN IMPROVED.

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.

When people use these products habitually—in a way that laxative makers never intended—they punish their digestive system in a way that nature never intended. Instead of correcting the cause, they often actually make their condition worse.

If you think you must take a laxative preparation occasionally, do so. But do it wisely. Read the instructions completely. AVOID EXCESSIVE USAGE. But for natural and lasting relief put your trust in nature. Just eat daily a one-ounce serving of All-Bran for breakfast and drink plenty of water.

This All-Bran plan has helped millions to re-establish and to maintain healthful regularity. Why not you?

Lumber Dealers' Methods Criticized

OTTAWA (CP)—A prominent Ottawa lumber retailer charges that many retail lumber dealers in Canada are using unethical methods to push sales in a buyers market.

The charge was made Thursday by D. Kemp Edwards, Jr., of D. Kemp Edwards Lumber Ltd., in a speech to delegates attending the second annual meeting of the eastern Canadian section of the Forest Products Research Society.

Mr. Edwards said the sale of lumber has changed from a sellers to a buyers market during the last two years. Many lumber retailers had not been able to adjust themselves to this situation.

"Unethical practices are rampant and the channels of trade have been diverted to the extent that the situation has become serious. It seems the right time to take stock of the situation."

Mr. Edwards did not describe the unethical methods he said some retailers were using to promote their sales.

Reece Sentenced To Hang On June 8

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Harry Reece, 48, Thursday night was sentenced to be hanged June 8 for murder in the stabbing last Oct. 21 of Mrs. Florence Ricker, 34, who police said formerly lived with him.

A jury in Ontario Supreme Court deliberated four hours before convicting Reece. It attached to its verdict a recommendation for mercy which Mr. Justice W. Judson, presiding, said will be passed on to the proper authorities.

Reece made no reply when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

Mrs. Ricker, who left Moncton, N.B., and lived in Montreal and Niagara Falls, Ont., before coming here 10 years ago, was found dead in a pool of blood in a house on Junkin street in an upper middle-class residential area in the north-central part of the city. Medical men said she died from a single thrust of a knife in the middle of her back.

LOVERS QUARREL

Evidence was that a love affair between Reece and Mrs. Ricker wore thin and that at a wine-drinking party the couple quarrelled over another man.

Crown counsel Lloyd Goodwin said in his address to the jury:

"Rarely has there been a clearer case of the guilt of a man charged with murder. The facts are clear, simple and straightforward."

Defence counsel Judy Lamarsh suggested to the jury that someone else might have stabbed the woman while Reece was in a drunken stupor. Mr. Justice Judson in his charge described this theory as "fanciful, far-fetched and verging on the absurd."

Green Hair Just For A Day

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A pretty young woman whose hair was green for a day returned to work at Douglas Aircraft Co. today as a brown-haired girl, and plane production resumed a steady pace.

Mrs. Lucille Ballinger, a clerk, told a friend one day at work, "when you cut your waist-long hair, I'll color mine green." The friend cut her hair.

So yesterday Mrs. Ballinger appeared on the job wearing a bright red blouse—and green tresses. The lacquer she applied had made her hair grassy green.

"I suppose 200 or 300 workers came by to stare," said Mrs. Ballinger. "I didn't think it would cause such a commotion. I must admit it stopped production."

Mrs. Ballinger applied soap and water to her locks Thursday night.

Expert Skiiers Enter Cross-Country Race

SUDBURY (CP)—More than 20 of Canada's top skiers are expected to take part Sunday in the Canadian senior men's cross-country ski championship meet, to be held on a course two miles north of here.

Snowfalls during the last week have provided a good skiing base for the one-day meet. It is expected that cold weather will continue over Sunday to keep the 18-kilometre course in shape.

The Sammon Pojat Athletic Club, a Finnish ski club here which is sponsoring the meet, says Pauli Huhtala, 22, twice Finland's cross-country champion, has arrived from overseas to take part.

Some of the Canadian skiers who will take part are Jim Georgas of Owen Sound, Ontario's nordi champion; Carl Martitsch of Sudbury, a jumping and cross-country ace, and a pair of A class skiers from Montreal, Bill Baldwin and T. Allenbach.

Basketball Semi-Final

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Trotters defeated Brantford 80-31 here Thursday night to take a 49-point lead in their two-game, total point Ontario ladies junior basketball semi-final. Lois McDonald led Brantford with eight points.

Second game will be played in Brantford March 13.

Peroxide Used To Drive Sub

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, Eng. (Reuters)—Hydrogen peroxide, the bleaching chemical, will power Britain's latest top-secret submarine, which was launched here today.

The submarine Explorer came from a yard which has built subs for 50 years and sent 89 to sea in the Second World War. Everything about her except her size—225 by 15 feet—is secret, but she is said to be able to cross the Atlantic under water at between 20 and 30 knots.

She is also said to be faster than the American atom-powered Nautilus.

The explorer has the latest in escape apparatus, including a radio-equipped signal buoy which shoots to the surface and sends distress signals, and two one-man escape chambers, one on each end of the ship.

One man at a time enters the chamber, floods it and escapes. It is then drained and used again. There is also a new-type breathing apparatus.

Lady Reid-Young, wife of the chairman of Vickers Armstrongs Limited, christened the Explorer. The Explorer is the first British sub launched in six years.

St. Andrew's WI Hear Of Visits To Sick

Mrs. I. Sexsmith introduced the study chapter for the evening. She spoke about the work of the ladies in the larger cities such as Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg who visit the sick in the hospitals.

She told of many of their difficulties and also of the joy and satisfaction that these visits brought to the sick. She told of the small gifts and books which these ladies like to receive to take with them.

Mrs. Sexsmith closed the study period, by asking the auxilary to think of ways in which they could hel in this work.

Mrs. R. D. Duncanson thanked [illegible] who helped her in preparing the study for the evening and soloist Miss Lowndes.

Propose 50% Finance Cut In War On Lampreys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Charles E. Potter (Rep. Mich.) today deplored a proposed cut of more than 50 per cent in money for the United States fish and wildlife service's four-year-old war on sea lampreys in the Great Lakes.

Potter, in an interview, said there should be no let-up in efforts to control the eel-like parasites which have practically cleared Lakes Michigan and Huron of trout and other valuable food fish, and now are raving Lake Superior.

If necessary, Potter said, he will battle in the Senate for higher appropriations for the control work. He said the lampreys' depredations have reduced the financial "take" of Great Lakes fishermen to about $1,000,000 a year compared with $12,000,000 before 1945. That's when the lampreys first started entering the lakes in large numbers, clinging to the bottoms of ships passing through the Welland canal.

Potter said he will ask John L. Farley, new director of fish and wildlife service, to discuss with him the reasons for halving the lamprey-fighting funds.

Prodded by the budget bureau, Potter continued, the service cut its request for the control work to $180,000 for the year beginning July 1, as compared with $370,000 appropriated for the 1953-54 fiscal year.

MONEY FOR WEIRS

Most of the money has gone for electrical weirs (barriers) to divert the lampreys from streams where they can reproduce.

In recent testimony before a congressional appropriations sub-committee, Farley said the "sharp curtailment" was proposed because of "a general feeling that this responsibility is not wholly a federal responsibility and that there should be state co-operation."

The service, he added, "investigated and determined an effective means of control. So we are ready to hand over an effective program to anybody that wants to start it—the federal agencies, state agencies, or the Canadian government.

"The present program would continue the existing fish weirs and hope that we can work out some program in which states would contribute partially to, and it is also hoped that a co-operative arrangement can be worked out with the Canadian government to have them implement control on the Canadian side."

Potter said the eight Great Lakes states and the Canadian government have been co-operating in the lamprey war for some time. Canada allotted $300,000 for lamprey research and control in 1954, following up an initial 1953 appropriation of about $60,000.

Netted $194,000 On Stock Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Russel Sprague, former member of the Republican national committee who resigned his party post last fall when a political storm brewed over his harness-racing stock holdings, says he netted $194,000 in one year on the sale of stock he bought for $2,000.

Sprague was one of nine witnesses testifying Thursday at a special state commission's public hearings aimed at purging New York state's $250,000,000-a-year harness-racing industry.

Sprague, long a political intimate of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, said he got into racing in 1945 when he was Nassau county executive, an elective job.

In that year, the 67-year-old Sprague said, the late Andrew Weston, a Long Island contractor, gave him a chance to buy a 40-percent share of the old Cedar Point Trotting Association, then running at Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island, for $2,000.

Sprague said he sold the stock at net-after-taxes for $196,000 the following year, when Cedar Point's racing licence was bought by the Nassau Trotting Association.

If he had hung onto his original stock, Sprague said, it currently would be worth about $3,000,000.

Officer Acquitted Of Manslaughter

COCHRANE, Ont. (CP)—Staff Sgt. William Villard, 26, of the U. S. Air Force base at Ramore was acquitted Thursday of manslaughter in connection with a highway fatality.

The defence contended the Crown had not presented sufficient evidence to prove its case. Mr. Justice H. A. Ayten agreed and directed the Ontario Supreme Court jury to return an acquittal verdict.

The sergeant was charged last October following the death of Technical Sgt. Earl Reynolds, 38, also of the Ramore base, some 60 miles southeast of here, in a car-truck collision near South Porcupine. Villard was the driver of the car.

Taxes Lower For '54 To Run Norwood Dist. High School

NORWOOD (ENS) — Taxes to operate the Norwood District High School have been cut by more than 50 per cent this year. For maintenance expenditures the high school board is this year requisitioning $25,000 as opposed to $50,086.80 in 1953.

This figure does not include a levy of $29,981.60 for debenture payments. Since the amount of this levy varies, it is collected by townships on recommendation of the high school board. The townships then turn over the sum to the county. Taxpayers are thus being asked to pay a total of $54,981.70.

The equalized assessment for the eight municipalities on the school district is $4,211,127. Biggest chunk of this comes from Asphodel township which is assessed for $1,147,476 and which will pay 27 per cent of the levies.
